Effective Fall Quarter, 2010 the AAUP Full-Time faculty selection process has been revised. The current process: 1) excludes all faculty in the College of Medicine, 2) includes full-time research instructional faculty, and 3) excludes teaching assistants.

Effective Fall Quarter, 2005 the IPEDS Salaries, Tenure and Fringe Benefits of Full Time Instructional Faculty reporting instructions were revised once again. This revision has rendered this report inconsistent with previous report protocols. Use of the IPEDS Salaries, Tenure and Fringe Benefits of Full Time Instructional Faculty report is no longer recommended. Use of the AAUP report is recommended and supported.

Effective Fall Quarter, 2003 the IPEDS Salaries, Tenure and Fringe Benefits of Full Time Instructional Faculty reporting instructions were revised. This revision has necessitated a reporting criteria change. Beginning Fall Quarter 2003 all faculty from the School of Medicine are excluded from the IPEDS Salaries, Tenure and Benefits report. Formerly, only faculty in the clinical sciences of the School of Medicine were excluded. Reporting criteria for the AAUP Salaries, Tenure and Fringe Benefits of Full Time Instructional Faculty Survey remains unchanged. Hence, the AAUP report includes all of the School of Medicine faculty except for clinical sciences and is comparable to previous years and all previous IPEDS reported Faculty Salary and Benefit data. Because of the changed IPEDS reporting criteria the former consolidated IPEDS and AAUP survey responses have been severed. Use of the AAUP report rather than the IPEDS report is recommended.
