

Training FOR THE REAL WORLD™

SIMUNITION®

THE UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON
POLICE DEPARTMENT

IS PROUD TO HOST THE

SIMUNITION® SCENARIO INSTRUCTOR And SAFETY CERTIFICATION CLASS

June 2 - 4, 2009

Does your unit have anyone factory certified? In today's world of liability, problems are everywhere. You have to validate all aspects of your training coverage. Because of recent court cases, agencies are required to train their personnel as close to reality as possible. Nothing comes as close as training against a real person that has the ability to replicate an actual lethal force encounter, just like you may encounter any day on the job.

The class is designed to provide instructor level training to those who will run training in your perspective agencies. The class covers all aspects of reality-based training and provides product information, program development, scenario design and implementation, instructor development and procedures and protocols on training safety.

Operators are injured enough on the job; they should not be injured in training.

Students can obtain additional information and register for the class on the web site; www.simunition.com . You may register by going to Training – US. Class size is limited so early registration is recommended. Students will receive a confirmation letter with an equipment list. All classes start at 8 am local time.

AT NO TIME ARE ANY LETHAL WEAPONS OR AMMUNITION NEEDED, OR ALLOWED DURING ANY OF THE TRAINING EVENTS.

Host information may be obtained from:

Det. Allen Beard @ 206-685-2599 or beardla@u.washington.edu