The Kendo Club at the University of Washington is dedicated to the martial art of Kendo, the “Way of the Sword.” No martial arts experience is necessary to join the club. Kendo can be practiced regardless of age, experience, or physical condition. It involves learning various sword-wielding techniques derived from medieval Japanese swordsmanship. These techniques involve the coordination of hand, foot, and body movements with the sword and the spirit. Kendo helps with one’s coordination and discipline, which assists in developing a controlled attitude towards life.

The Kendo Club at UW is a recognized member of the Pacific Northwest Kendo Federation and the All United States Kendo Federation. Members of the club are eligible to become members in good standing of both federations and are entitled to all privileges.
