School of Medicine

Anesthesiology

ANEST 498 Undergraduate Thesis (*) Sivarajan
By special arrangement. Time and credit to be arranged. Offered: AWSpS.

ANEST 499 Undergraduate Research (*) Sivarajan
Specific research problems relating to pulmonary, cardiovascular, renal, obstetric, and central nervous system functions, and their alteration by anesthetic techniques and agents. (Six weeks, full-time. Limit: two students.) Offered: AWSpS.

ANEST 501 P-Preceptorship in Anesthesiology (1) Sivarajan
An opportunity for first- and second-year medical students to gain experience with medical practice situations by observing clinical faculty members in their offices. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

ANEST 680 P-Basic Anesthesia Clerkship (4) Sivarajan
Introduction to the principles of airway management, ventilatory support, use of local anesthetics, techniques of patient monitoring and fluid therapy. Skills taught include airway management, venipuncture, lumbar puncture and endotracheal intubation. Prerequisite: third- or fourth-year student. (Two weeks, full-time. Limit: three to five students each two-week period.) Affiliated hospitals. Offered: AWSpS.

ANEST 681 P-Advanced Clerkship in Anesthesiology (8) Sivarajan
Clerkship for students desiring greater exposure to anesthesiology as a specialty. Individual programs can be arranged in the following areas: surgical anesthesia, obstetrical anesthesia, and pain clinic. Prerequisite: Third- or fourth-year student. (Four weeks, full-time. Limit: two students per period.) Affiliated hospitals. Offered: AWSpS.

ANEST 697 P-Anesthesiology Special Electives (*, max. 24) Sivarajan
Special clerkships, externships, or research opportunities can at times be made available at institutions other than the University of Washington. Students wishing to elect this course should contact the Dean's office at least one month before advance registration. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. (Four to twelve weeks, full-time.) Offered: AWSpS.

ANEST 699 P-WWAMI Anesthesiology Special Electives (*, max. 24)
By special arrangement for qualified students, special clerkships or externships may be available at institutions other than the University of Washington located within the WWAMI region. Prerequisite: permission of department.

Biochemistry

BIOC 405 Introduction to Biochemistry (3) NW Brockerhoff, Daum, Hol
Survey of basic principles of biochemistry and molecular biology, emphasizing broad understanding of chemical events in living systems in terms of metabolism and structure-function relationships of biologically important molecules. Suitable for pre-majors, for students interested in careers in medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, medical technology. Prerequisite: either BIOL 200, BIOL 201, or both BIOL 101 and GENET 371; either CHEM 223, CHEM 237, or CHEM 335. Offered: A.

BIOC 406 Introduction to Biochemistry (3) NW Hurley, Mez
Survey of basic principles of biochemistry and molecular biology, emphasizing broad understanding of chemical events in living systems in terms of metabolism and structure-function relationships of biologically important molecules. Suitable for pre-majors, for students interested in careers in medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, medical technology. Prerequisite: BIOC 405. Offered: W.

BIOC 426 Basic Techniques in Biochemistry (4) NW Chung, Petra
Introduction to basic biochemistry experiments. Acquaints students (largely Biochemistry majors) with basic biochemical laboratory techniques. Prerequisite: BIOC 440, which may be taken concurrently. Offered: ASp.

BIOC 440 Biochemistry (4) NW Bosch, Klevit
Biochemistry and molecular biology (with quiz sections) for undergraduate students in molecular and cellular biology, for biochemistry majors, and graduate students in other science departments. Prerequisite: 2.5 in either BIOL 201 or BIOL 200; 2.5 in either CHEM 224, CHEM 239, or CHEM 337; 2.0 in either MATH 124, MATH 134, or MATH 144. Offered: A.

BIOC 441 Biochemistry (4) NW Parson, Young

BIOC 442 Biochemistry (4) NW Kimelman, Palmiter
Biochemistry and molecular biology (with quiz sections) for undergraduate students in molecular and cellular biology, for biochemistry majors, and graduate students in other science departments. Prerequisite: either 2.2 in BIOC 406 or 2.2 in BIOC 441. Offered: Sp.

BIOC 496 Research Seminar for Undergraduates (1, max. 2) NW Chung, Petra
Formal presentations of student research. One credit applies to research component of a relevant major. Credit/no credit only. Offered: Jointly with CHEM 496; Sp.

BIOC 499 Undergraduate Research (*) Investigative work on enzymes, proteins, lipids, molecular biology, developmental biology, intermediary metabolism, physical biochemistry, and related fields. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

BIOC 515-519 (For description, see listing for "Current Literature Conferences" at the end of this section.)

BIOC 520 Seminar (1) Seminar dealing with timely topics in the field of biochemistry. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

BIOC 525-529 (For description, see listing for "Current Literature Conferences" at the end of this section.)

BIOC 530 Introduction to Structural Biology (3) Baker, Gebb, Hol, Klevit, Stenkamp, Stoddard
Graduate-level discussion of the structure, function, and chemistry of proteins, control of enzymatic reactions. Prerequisite: a comprehensive course in biochemistry and permission. Offered: A.

BIOC 533 Topics in Biochemistry (1, max. 30)
Provides in-depth examination of current topics in biochemistry, molecular biology, and structural biology. Designed to help participants in basic science departments become acquainted with latest ideas on selected topics. Emphasis on analysis of key concepts in the field with reference to classical papers and recent literature. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

BIOC 534 Topics in Molecular Biophysics (1.5)
Emphasizes on methods used to study macromolecular structure and dynamics, including x-ray crystallography, NMR, optical spectroscopy, computer modeling, protein folding and ligand binding. Two topics covered each quarter; students may register for one or both. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

BIOC 540 Literature Review (2) Parson

BIOC 541 Literature Review (2) Palmiter

BIOC 542 Literature Review (2) Morris
Emphasizes critical evaluation of original articles in the literature. For first-year graduate students in biochemistry and students of other science departments, with permission. Offered: Sp.

BIOC 546-548 (For description, see listing for "Current Literature Conferences" at the end of this section.)

BIOC 555-559 (For description, see listing for "Current Research Conferences" at the end of this section.)

BIOC 565-569 (For description, see listing for "Current Research Conferences" at the end of this section.)

BIOC 575-579 (For description, see listing for "Current Research Conferences" at the end of this section.)

BIOC 581 Introduction to Biochemical Research (4, max. 16)
Student works with one of the research groups within the department for one quarter and then rotates to other laboratories for second and third quarters. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in biochemistry or permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

BIOC 586-588 (For description, see listing for "Current Research Conferences" at the end of this section.)
BIOC 600 Independent Study or Research (*)
Offered: AWSpS.

BIOC 700 Master's Thesis (*) Offered: AWSpS.

BIOC 800 Doctoral Dissertation (*) Offered: AWSpS.

Current Literature Conferences

BIOC 515-519, 525-529, 535-539, 546-548
Current Literature Conference in Biochemistry Weekly literature reviews of topics pertinent to ongoing research in biochemistry. Students may register for more than one conference each quarter. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. (Only 25 credits may be counted toward degree.)

BIOC 515 Matrix Macromolecules in Morphogenesis and Development (1, max. 30)

BIOC 516 Molecular Mechanisms of Blood Clotting (1, max. 30) Daveie Offered: AWSp.

BIOC 517 Protein Structure (1, max. 30) Baker Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

BIOC 518 Signaling in Development (1, max. 30) Ruohola-Baker Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

BIOC 525 Phytoremediation (1, max. 4)

BIOC 526 Control of Growth and Differentiation During Development (1, max. 30) Hauschka Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

BIOC 528 Signal Transduction (1, max. 30) Hurley Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

BIOC 535 Macromolecular Structure (1, max. 30) Klevit Offered: AWSpS.

BIOC 536 Control of Cell Growth (1, max. 30) Morris Offered: AWSp.

BIOC 537 Regulation of Gene Expression (1, max. 30) Palmiter Offered: AWSpS.

Current Research Conferences

BIOC 555-559, 565-569, 575-579, 586-588
Current Research Conferences in Biochemistry Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate student and postdoctoral research in biochemistry. Students may register for more than one conference each quarter. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. (Only 25 credits may be counted toward degree.)

BIOC 555 Cell and Molecular Biology of Connective Tissue Proteins (1, max. 30) Bornstein Offered: AWSpS.

BIOC 557 Growth Regulation by Calcium Binding Proteins (1, max. 30) Davis Offered: AWSpS.

BIOC 559 Membrane Biochemistry and Cell Growth (1, max. 30) Glomset Offered: AWSpS.

BIOC 560 Protein Folding (1, max. 30) Baker Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

BIOC 561 Origin of Polarity (1, max. 30) Ruohola-Baker Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

BIOC 565 Plant Molecular Genetics (1, max. 30)

BIOC 566 Growth and Differentiation of Skeletal and Cardiac Muscle (1, max. 30) Hauschka Offered: AWSpS.

BIOC 568 Molecular and Genetic Aspects of G Protein Signal Transduction (1, max. 30) Hurley Offered: AWSpS.

BIOC 569 Inductive Events in Early Development (1, max. 30) Kimelman Offered: AWSpS.

BIOC 575 NMR Analysis of Proteins and Nucleic Acids (1, max. 30) Klevit Offered: AWSp.

BIOC 577 Gene Regulation in Transgenic Mice (1, max. 30) Palmiter Offered: AWSpS.

BIOC 588 Molecular Biology of Yeast Gene Regulation (1, max. 30) Young Offered: AWSpS.

Biological Structure

B STR 499 Undergraduate Research (*)
Individual research projects in cellular and developmental biology, experimental immunology, reproductive biology, neurobiology, molecular structure, morphometrics, computer modeling, and related fields under the supervision of an instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

B STR 501 Gross Anatomy and Embryology (1-13, max. 13) Clark Lecture and laboratory dissection course in regional anatomy: thorax, abdomen, pelvis, perineum. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A.

B STR 502 Gross Anatomy (1-5, max. 5) Graney Lecture and laboratory dissection course in regional anatomy: upper and lower extremities. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: W.

B STR 510 Seminar in Anatomy (1) Graney Scientific and historical basis of selected studies in biological structure, anatomy, and human development. Original literature used as basis for textbook descriptions is reviewed. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A.

B STR 515 Biological X-Ray Structure Analysis (3) Stenkamp Theory of x-ray diffraction, with emphasis on applications to biological systems. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: W.

B STR 519 Current Problems in Macromolecular Structure (2, max. 10) Stenkamp A discussion of macromolecular structures related to specific areas of biological research. Emphasis on discussion of relevant research papers and use of computer graphics to visualize the molecular structures. Offered: AWSpS.

CONJ 520 Anatomy and Autopsy (1/2, max. 2) Fligner See Conjoint Courses.

B STR 520 Structure Based Design of Drugs (3) Hol, Verlinde Lecture and discussion on research papers illustrating protein structure based design of new drugs. Review of methods and extensive discussion of all known mechanisms of drug resistance. Offered: even years; W.

B STR 521 Advanced Biomacromolecular Crystallography (3) Hol, Merritt, Stenkamp Aspects of protein crystallography ranging from crystal growth, phase determination methods, density averaging to refinement, fiber diffraction of DNA and proteins. Offered: odd years; Sp.

CONJ 524 Structural Basis of Neural Transduction (1.5) See Conjoint Courses.

UCONJ 524 Developmental Neurobiology (3) Ralbe, Reh, Roelink, Rubel See University Conjoint Courses.

B STR 530 P-Gross Anatomy and Embryology for Dental Students (8/13, max. 13) Broderson, Clark Normal anatomy of the thorax, abdomen, pelvis, and perineum are discussed and dissected employing cadavers. The development of the organ systems is presented and related to definitive adult structure. Developmental anomalies and diagnostic anatomy are also discussed. Prerequisite: admission to School of Dentistry. Offered: A.

B STR 540 Special Problems in Anatomy (1-6, max. 6) Special projects in anatomy under sponsorship of faculty member. Prerequisite: graduate, medical, or dental student standing and permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

B STR 541 P-Microscopic Anatomy for Dental Students (4) Muller Lecture and laboratory work in microscopic anatomy. For dental students taking HUBIO 510; others by permission of instructor. Offered: A.

CONJ 542 Development (1.5) See Conjoint Courses.

CONJ 545 Molecular Interactions and Medicine (1.5) See Conjoint Courses.

B STR 555 Laboratory Rotation in Biological Structure (*, max. 5) Introduction to experimental design, research methods, and scientific thought in laboratories of faculty members. Provides hands-on experience, an entrance into the literature of the field, and opportunities for discussion with all members of the laboratory. First-year dental students only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

B STR 557 Biomolecular Structure Seminar (1) Hol Literature review of key research in Biomolecular Structure in the form of short presentations by participants followed by discussion. Critical evaluation of methods and results regarding properties and protein structure determination. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in biological structure or biochemistry and permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

B STR 580 P-Anatomy Teaching Practicum (*, max. 8) Clark Opportunity for medical student (or other professional student) to gain teaching experience in biological structure and human biology courses, including gross anatomy, histology, and neuromuscular anatomy. May include lecture, laboratory, conference, depending on student interest, experience. Credit based on course credit in which student is assisting. Prerequisite: permission of course chairperson. Offered: AWSpS.

B STR 584 Seminar in Neurogenesis (1) Bemingham-McDonogh Discussion of current research on process by which neurons are generated in the nervous system. Offered: AWSpS.

CONJ 585 Surgical Anatomy (1-3, max. 12) Graney See Conjoint Courses.

B STR 591 X-Ray and NMR Analysis of Macromolecular Structure (1, max. 9) Hol Weekly discussion of current topics in research on molecular structure, usually emphasizing techniques of x-ray crystallography. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

B STR 598 Reading in Biological Structure (2) Critical evaluation of research in biological structure, including current problems, methods and future directions by reading and discussing research and review papers. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

B STR 600 Independent Study or Research (*) Offered: AWSpS.

B STR 700 Master's Thesis (*) Offered: AWSpS.

B STR 800 Doctoral Dissertation (*) Offered: AWSpS.

Comparative Medicine

C MED 407 Principles of Animal Experimentation: The Mouse (3) Brabb, Grossmann, Treuting Focus on biology and care of mice used in medical research, and the experimental design and ethics of animal research. Includes lectures and problem-based learning. For graduate and advanced undergraduate students. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

C MED 499 Undergraduate Laboratory Research (1-6, max. 6) Ladiges, Price Specific problems in comparative medicine. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

C MED 512 Introduction to the Anatomical Analysis of Animal Disease (2) Brabb, Iritani, Treuting Use of animals in experimental study of disease; techniques of animal necropsy, characterization, interpretation of gross and microscopic lesions, correlation of lesions with altered physiological processes, differentiation between naturally occurring and experimentally induced lesions. Prerequisite: PATH 444, PATH 445, or equivalent, and permission of instructor. Enrollment limited: two students per quarter. Offered: AWSpS.

C MED 514 Comparative Pathology Conference (1, max. 6) Ligget Critical evaluation of recent articles on laboratory animal medicine and science. Emphasis on literature dealing with spontaneous diseases of laboratory animals, biology and husbandry, zoonotic diseases, and animal models of human disease. Experimental design, use of animals in research, and methods of reviewing manuscripts. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

C MED 516 Current Literature in Laboratory Animal Medicine (1, max. 12) Ligget Critical evaluation of current articles on laboratory animal medicine and science. Emphasis on literature dealing with spontaneous diseases of laboratory animals, biology and husbandry, zoonotic diseases, and animal models of human disease. Experimental design, use of animals in research, and methods of reviewing manuscripts. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

C MED 518 Clinical Conference Seminar (1, max. 12) Price Clinical reports of cases of spontaneous and induced diseases, animal models of human disease, and zoonotic diseases discussed. Disease prevalence and preventive medicine measures. Diagnostic exercises. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

C MED 520 Biology of Laboratory Animals (1) Brabb, Frevert, Iritani, Treuting Fundamentals of the morphological, functional, and applied aspects of anatomy, physiology, pharmacology, biochemistry, and immunology of the commonly used laboratory animal species. Similarities and differences within, and between, species, including man. Husbandry, genetics, behavior, and nutrition. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A.

C MED 521 Biology of Laboratory Animals (1) Brabb, Iritani, Treuting Fundamentals of the morphological, functional, and applied aspects of anatomy, physiology, pharmacology, biochemistry, and immunology of the commonly used laboratory animal species. Similarities and differences within, and between, species, including man. Husbandry, genetics, behavior, and nutrition. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: W.

C MED 526 Epidemiology of Diseases Communicable from Nature (3) DiGiacomo, Rausch, Weigler Explores the public health aspects of zoonotic diseases, their epidemiology and approaches to control. Focuses on the major viral, rickettsial, bacterial, protozoal, helminthi, and fungal diseases transmitted from wild and domesticated animals to humans. Prerequisite: C MED 511, C MED 512, or C MED 520 or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with EPI 526; Sp.

C MED 540 Animal Models (1) Brabb, Iritani, Treuting Naturally occurring and experimentally induced analogs of human diseases in animals with emphasis on diseases in search of animal models, and approaches to identifying new models. Animal models of categorical disease (e.g., cancer, atherosclerosis, gerontology) discussed. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: Sp.

C MED 590 Selected Topics in Animal Medicine (2-5, max. 10) Brabb, Frevert, Iritani, Treuting Radiation biology, genetics, anesthesiology and experimental surgery, preventive medicine, and ethical aspects of use of animals in biomedical teaching and research. Specific topics vary from year to year, depending on the expertise of the annual visiting professor. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

C MED 600 Independent Study or Research (*) Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

C MED 700 Master's Thesis (*) Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

Conjoint (Medicine)

CONJ 401 Human Anatomy and Physiology (4) Linder, Melby An integrated course on the structure and function of the human body with laboratory work in gross anatomy, histology, and physiology. Primarily for pharmacy doctoral students. Others by special permission of instructors. Prerequisite: either BIOL 201, BIOL 202, and BIOL 203, or BIOL 220; either CHEM 155, CHEM 160, or CHEM 162. Offered: A.

CONJ 402 Human Anatomy and Physiology (4) Linder, Melby An integrated course on the structure and function of the human body with laboratory work in gross anatomy, histology, and physiology. Primarily for pharmacy doctoral students. Others by special permission of instructors. Prerequisite: CONJ 401. Offered: W.

CONJ 403 Human Anatomy and Physiology (4) Linder, Melby An integrated course on the structure and function of the human body with laboratory work in gross anatomy, histology, and physiology. Primarily for pharmacy doctoral students. Others by special permission of instructors. Prerequisite: CONJ 402. Offered: W.

CONJ 475 Alcoholism: A Course for Medical Students and Students in the Allied Health Sciences (2) Kivlahan, Samson A lecture course for medical students in the allied health sciences in any year that will cover an introduction to the epidemiology, diagnostic strategies, natural history, physiologic effects, and treatment of alcohol-related disorders. Offered: W.

CONJ 480 Neuroscience for Rehabilitation Professionals (5) Anderson, Mulligan, Simp Survey of the structure and function of the central nervous system, emphasizing sensorimotor systems and higher integrative functions, coupled with clinical correlations. Required for occupational therapy, physical therapy, and prosthetic/orthotic students. Others by permission.

CONJ 504 Topics of Molecular Medicine (1.5) Monnat Focuses on an important topic in medicine and science. Lectures introduce clinical and basic science background, followed by a seminar/discussion with speakers. Prerequisite: Graduate standing and permission of instructor. Offered: Sp.

CONJ 505 P-Pain Clinic Preceptorship (1) One morning a week for a total of 30 hours per quarter spent observing patient care in either inpatient or outpatient settings at University of Washington Medical Center; associated readings. Prerequisite: first- or second-year medical student standing. Coordinator: Pain Center.

CONJ 515 Interdisciplinary Health and Human Services Delivery in Rural Communities (1) House Provides opportunities for students in health and human services to explore current trends and issues of service delivery in rural communities. Demographics, economics, community structure, culture, and professional/personal issues are addressed. Prerequisite: major standing in a health or human services profession. Credit/no credit only. Offered: W.

CONJ 516 What Every Physician Should Know About Oral Health (1) Lewis, Mouradian, Slayton Didactic elective for students interested in understanding oral health and its relationship to systemic health. Special interest to students planning careers in primary care, public health, or who are likely to practice in rural or underserved communities. Includes weekly seminars and clinical demonstrations. Credit/no credit only. Offered: Sp.

CONJ 520 Anatomy and Autopsy (1/2, max. 2) Fligner Students attend autopsies at UWMC affiliated hospitals for demonstration of normal anatomic relationships and gross pathological changes in various diseases. Offered as elective concurrent with HUBIO 520P. Prerequisite: HUBIO 510P or equivalent, permission of instructor, and orientation. Offered: WSp.

CONJ 524 Structural Basis of Signal Transduction (1.5) Xu Focuses on the structure-function relationship of key enzymes in signal transduction (protein/lipid kinases; phosphatases etc.) and the structural consequences of protein phosphorylation. Teaches students to look into critical structural details using PC or Mac. Prerequisite: undergraduate course in biochemistry and basic cell biology, or permission of instructor. Offered: W.

CONJ 526 Introduction to Systems Biology and Quantitative Approaches to Biomedical Sciences (1.5) Alchison Covers philosophy of systems biology, experimental design, and the linkages between discovery and hypothesis driven science. Reviews quantitative systems biology tools for genomics, proteomics, modeling and data integration, and emerging technologies. Offered: W.

CONJ 530 Directing Stem Cells Toward Regenerative Medical (1.5) Covich A course in general biochemistry and molecular biology. A topic of current research interest is covered in depth in order to follow a line of investigation and critically evaluate the strengths and limitations of various experimental strategies. Offered: jointly with BIOL 546.

CONJ 531 Signaling Mechanisms in Excitable Cells (1.5) Hille Membrane electricity. Structure and roles of voltage-gated and ligand-gated ion channels in electrical signaling. Calcium as a second messenger. Excitability and its regulation. Phototransduction in photoreceptors. Prerequisite: comprehensive undergraduate course in general biochemistry and molecular biology, or permission of instructor. Offered: A.

CONJ 532 Signal Transduction from the Cell Membrane to the Nucleus (1.5) Beavo, Moon Storm Intracellular signaling pathways leading from cell membrane receptors to nucleus. Pathways activated by seven transmembrane receptors and G-proteins, insulin/Pi3 kinase, nitric oxide and WNTs and mechanisms of signal termination. Cytokine/Jak/Stat signaling and role of subcellular localization in signal transduction. Prerequisite: basic knowledge of biochemistry. Offered: A.

CONJ 533 The Dynamic Chromosome (1.5) Henikoff, Roth The chromosome viewed as the ultimate organelle. How chromosomes are maintained and propagated. Epigenetic regulation of genes. Genetic, biochemical, and cytogetic methods for understanding chromosome functions. Prerequisite: cell biology, biochemistry, and genetics. Offered: A.

CONJ 534 Selected Problems in Nervous System Development (1.5) Introduces students to current issues in developmental neurobiology. Topics include regionalization of the neuroectoderm, mechanisms of neurogenesis, axon patterning and plasticity, and cell death. Not intended to be comprehensive; examines the experimental basis for current views in the field of a few topical issues.

CONJ 535 RNA Structure and Biological Function (1.5) Ferre-D’Amare, Stoddard Survey of the diversity of RNA roles played by RNA with emphasis on structural principles and structure-function relationships. Readings from the current literature to cover both, methods for the study of RNA, and examples of the functions of this nucleic acid as part of the machinery for gene expression. Offered: W.

CONJ 536 Experimental Design in Cell Biology (1.5) Focuses on experimental design in cell biology. A topic of current research interest is covered in depth in order to follow a line of investigation and critically evaluate the strengths and limitations of various experimental strategies. Offered: jointly with BIOL 546.

CONJ 537 Mechanism of Transcriptional Regulation (1.5) Taub and/or others Focuses on biochemical mechanisms of gene transcription covering a broad range of transcriptional regulation, including mechanisms of transcriptional initiation, elongation and termination. Discusses regulation of transcription by chromatin. Includes a special lecture regarding regulation of transcription in cell growth and differentiation. Offered: A.

CONJ 538 Genetic Instability and Cancer (1/ 1.5) Mazde and others, Monnat Seminar focusing on molecular pathways that maintain genomic stability in all cells and that carry out programmed changes in genomic structure in the immune system. Special attention devoted to understanding how failure in these pathways leads to genomic instability and malignancy. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

CONJ 539 Biological Basis of Neoplasia (1.5) Kemp, Zarbi Lecture/discussion on cellular and molecular mechanisms underlying phenotypes associated with cancer, including genetic predisposition, injury, and instability; alteration in control of cell division and cell death; failure of differentiation; tumor angiogenesis and metastasis. Molecular biology of tractable model systems is emphasized. Prerequisite: introductory biochemistry and cell biology. Offered: S.

CONJ 540 Basic Science of Urologic Complications (3) Introduction to the multidisciplinary nature of the most common urologic complications ranging from prostate cancer to erectile dysfunction. Covers epidemiology, clinical and surgical treatments, current dogmas and approaches/models in basic study of underlying disease mechanisms, and a journal review of each complication. Prerequisite: biological science course.

CONJ 541 Molecular Biology of Cellular Processes (1.5) Bornstein Translational control; cytoskeleton and molecular motors; protein targeting, sorting, and degradation; regulation of cell function by extracellular matrix. Prerequisite: comprehensive undergraduate course in biochemistry and molecular biology or permission of instructor. Offered: Sp.

CONJ 542 Development (1.5) Raible, Roelink Molecular mechanisms of development; molecules and pathways used for the patterning of developing organisms. Similarities and differences in the making of plants, invertebrates, and vertebrates. Prerequisite: Comprehensive undergraduate courses in Biology, Molecular Biology, or permission of instructor. Offered: W.

CONJ 544 Protein Structure, Modification and Regulation (1.5) Shodt, Strong Overlapping principles of protein structure, including forces that contribute to folding and stabilization, followed by an extended coverage of the means by which protein structure and function are modified and regulated. Examples from recent developments in protein folding, processing, and allosteric regulation. Prerequisite: introductory biochemistry and cell biology.

CONJ 545 Molecular Interactions and Medicine (1.5) Verlinde Forces governing molecular interactions in biology; with a focus on medicine. Principles of computer modeling techniques in use for predicting the molecular behavior of proteins, ligands and their complexes. In computo ligand discovery; drug design, and the understanding at the atomic level of some genetic diseases. Two computer lab sessions. Offered: Sp.

CONJ 546 Survey of Technologies for Molecular Biology (1.5) Bumgarner Provides a broad overview of modern technologies used in molecular biology, with particular emphasis on DNA sequencing and gene expression. In addition to methods and applications for the technologies, examines the theoretical basis and underlying instrumentation through which these technologies are implemented. Offered: A.

CONJ 547 Molecular Evolution of Viral-Host Interactions (1.5) Katzke Focuses on the interactions between viruses and the cells they infect, with special emphasis on evolutionary battle that occurs between the invading virus and its host. Examines new technologies being used to molecularly dissect virus-host interactions. Offered: Sp.

CONJ 548 Modeling Proteins and Proteomes (1.5) Samudrala Provides hands-on experience for modeling protein structures, using the models to predict function, and applying the prediction methods to all proteins encoded by an organismal genome. Provides an overview of protein structure, how it mediates function, and its importance for understanding protein interaction networks. Focuses on the technologies involved for protein structure modeling. Prerequisite: familiarity with Unix/Linux operating systems and protein structure from a biochemical/biophysical perspective. Offered: W.

CONJ 549 Microbial Population Biology (1.5) Mittler Principles of ecology and evolution as they apply to microorganisms. Prerequisite: advanced undergraduates with permission of instructor. Offered: even years; Sp.

CONJ 550 P-Clinical Infectious Diseases (3) Spaich Lecture series by faculty members from various departments, authorities in the field of clinically important infectious diseases. Lectures, reading assignments, and handouts emphasize epidemiology, clinical manifestations, laboratory findings, diagnosis, treatment, and prevention. Oriented for second-year medical students. Credit/no credit only. Offered: W.

CONJ 551 Immunity (1.5) Strong Provides an understanding of the central cellular and molecular players in the mammalian immune system at a level appropriate for the non-specializing graduate student. Selected topics include the molecular basis of B and T cell activation and effector functions and the mechanisms of innate immunity. Offered: Sp.

CONJ 552 Metabolic Flexibility in Biology (1.5) Focuses on small molecules and the ways that chemistry of these molecules facilitates life under changing conditions. Includes systems from microbiology to human physiology to understand aspects of cancer, aging, and animation. Explores topics including bioenergetics, metabolic flux, adaptation, and allometric scaling. Prerequisite: undergraduate organic chemistry and biochemistry.

CONJ 553 Clinical Management of HIV and STIs (3) Through weekly seminars and a web-based curriculum, provides in-depth case-based training on the diagnosis and clinical management of HIV and other STIs. Interactive course with speakers who have experience in both resource-rich and resource-limited settings.

CONJ 555 Drug Addiction: Mechanisms, Prevention, and Treatment (2) Chavkin Presents the key advances, insights, methods, and challenges for our understanding of drug addiction from psychological, pharmacological, psychiatric, community prevention, legal, and neurodevelopmental perspectives. Enhances familiarity with the multidisciplinary approaches required to understand addiction as a disease. Offered: A.

CONJ 556 Surgical Anatomy (1-3, max. 12) Graney Guided dissection of selected regions, supplemented by conferences. Offered conjointly by the departments of Biological Structure and Surgery. Prerequisite: permission of department. Coordinator: Department of Biological Structure.

CONJ 677 P-Clinical Allergy and Immunology (*, max. 12) Callanan (Boise Veterans Affairs Hospital), Henderson (University of Washington Medical Center) Clinic and office experience in diagnosing and managing allergic disease. Clinical conferences, hospital rounds on clinical immunology and allergy. Student may elect a flexible program, emphasizing adult or pediatric allergy. Prerequisite: MED 665 or basic clerkships in Departments of Family Medicine or Pediatrics. (Four weeks, full-time.) Offered: AWSpS.

CONJ 678 P-Pain Clinic Clerkship (8) Full-time, four-week clerkship emphasizing comprehensive care of patients with chronic pain from benign diseases and cancer. Faculty members from multiple departments provide student with didactic and bedside experiences; student member of treatment team. Involves both inpatient and outpatient activities. Prerequisite: completion of human biology series, MED 665.

CONJ 680 P-Detoxification and Rehabilitation Program for Alcoholism and Drug Abuse (*, max. 16) Reuxx Supervised introduction to alcoholic detoxification and rehabilitation and drug abuse. Supervised clinical experience in a variety of alcoholism and drug abuse treatment programs; accompanied by a core series of lectures and discussions. For medical students only. Prerequisite: PBSCI 664, PBSCI 665, PBSCI 666, PBSCI 667, or PBSCI 668.

CONJ 690 P-Clerkship in Chronic Care (8) Exposure to four areas: Rehab Medicine, Geriatrics, Pain, and Palliative Care. While students choose one focus area; weekly group didactic sessions expose students to all areas through lectures, group discussions, standardized patients, and case scenarios. Offered: AWSpS.

CONJ 691 P-Clerkship in Chronic Care - Boise (8) Required clerkship for 4th Year Medical students, concentrating on geriatrics, palliative care, and rehab medicine using lectures, group discussions, standardized patients, and case scenarios.

CONJ 696 P-WRITE Clinical Electives (*, max. 24) Clinical electives for WRITE program. Offered: AWSpS.

CONJ 697 International Exchange Clerkship (12) Hunt Participation in health care delivery systems in developing countries; observation of relationship of host country’s traditional medicine with Western medicine. Students live in cross-cultural setting to better understand their own assumptions about health care and life styles. Offered: Sp.

CONJ 698 P-Foreign Medical Student Clerkship (*, max. 24) A limited number of students from foreign medical schools are accepted for individually designed clinical clerkships at available sites after all UWMC students are accommodated. Prerequisite: permission of Associate Dean for Academic Affairs, School of Medicine.

CONJ 699 P-Clinical Clerkships (*, max. 32)

Family Medicine

FAMED 499 Undergraduate Research (*) Research activities arranged with University or community-based physicians in diversified areas relating to family medicine. Prerequisite: permission of course coordinator. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 501 P-Introduction to Family Medicine: Preceptorship (2.5) Students spend one morning per week for one or more quarters working with a practicing community family physician. Prerequisite: first- and second-year medical students, permission of course coordinator. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 505 P-Rural/Urban Preceptorship (*, max. 12) Opportunity to work in a variety of FAMED 545 Preclinical Geriatric Elective (2) Covers disease and disability prevention, health promotion, and positive attitudes that can contribute to successful aging. Emphasis on optimum aging, site visits, and extensive contact with diverse older people. Prerequisite: permission of course coordinator. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 546 Preclinical Hospice Volunteer Training Elective (3) Using lectures, small groups, role play, and readings, covers the basic knowledge, skills and attitudes that need to be mastered as a hospice volunteer. Students participate as hospice volunteers as part of their field experience. Offered: jointly with MHE 517.

FAMED 547 Spirituality in Health Care (2) Examination of the beliefs, values, meaning, and spirituality of health professionals for the well-being of their patients as well as for themselves. Offered: jointly with MHE 518/SOC W 587.

FAMED 555 P-Wilderness Medicine (1/2) Elective provides didactic and field experience for third-year medical students in types of medical emergencies and clinical problems unique to rural and wilderness communities, including trauma, survival hypothermia, altitude, frostbite, heat illness, lightning, and river rescue. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of course coordinator.

FAMED 556 Spanish for Health Professionals (1) Instruction in interviewing Spanish-speaking patient. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of course faculty or coordinator.

FAMED 557 Hispanic Health and Health Care Disparities (1) Acosta Covers Hispanic culture and language, history of Hispanics in the United States, Hispanic health status issues, and effective strategies for working across cultures and linguistic barriers. Designed to help the learner understand and respond better to the healthcare needs of the Hispanic community.

FAMED 560 P-Indian Health Problem-Based Learning Cases (1) Presents common Indian health problems via problem-based learning cases. Prerequisite: permission of course coordinator.

FAMED 630 P-WRITE Family Medicine Clinical Clerkship (*, max. 24) Basic clinical clerkship for students enrolled in the WRITE Program. Prerequisite: permission of course coordinator.

FAMED 640 P-Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine — Boise (12) Stresses ambulatory primary care with emphasis on comprehensive, integrated care to patients of both genders and all ages. Student functions as clerk in community or residency site, and participates in care of assigned patients in a variety of settings: office, hospital, home, community resources. Prerequisite: third- or fourth-year medical students. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 641 P-Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine — Spokane (12) For description and prerequisite, see 640. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 642 P-Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine — Madigan (12) For description and prerequisite, see 640. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 643 P-Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine — Tacoma (12) For description and prerequisite, see 640. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 644 P-Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine — University of Washington Medical Center (12) For description and prerequisite, see 640. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 645 P-Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine — Group Health (12) For description and prerequisite, see 640. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 646 P-Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine — Swedish First Hill (12) For description and prerequisite, see 640. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 647 P-Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine — Swedish Cherry Hill (12) For description and prerequisite, see 640. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 648 P-Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine — Renton Valley (12) For description and prerequisite, see 640. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 649 P-Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine — Olympia (12) For description and prerequisites, see 640. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 650 P-Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine — Anacortes (12) For description and prerequisite, see 640. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 651 P-Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine — Omak (12) For description and prerequisite, see 640. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 652 P-Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine — Spokane Valley (12) For description and prerequisite, see 640. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 653 P-Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine — Anchorage (12) For description and prerequisite, see 640. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 655 P-Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine — Havre (12) For description and prerequisite, see 640. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 656 P-Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine — Whitefish (12) For description and prerequisite, see 640. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 657 P-Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine — Pocatello (12) For description and prerequisite, see 640. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 658 P-Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine — Sea Mar Clinic (12) For description and prerequisite, see 640. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 659 P-Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine — Country Doctor (12) For description and prerequisite, see 640. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 660 P-Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine — Yakima (12) For description and prerequisites, see 640. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 661 P-Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine — Bremerton (12) For description and prerequisites, see 640. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 662 Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine - Buffalo (12) For description and prerequisites, see 640. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 663 P-Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine — Petersburg (12) For description and prerequisites, see 640. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 664 P-Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine — Billings(12) Stresses ambulatory primary care with emphasis on comprehensive, integrated care to patients of both genders and all ages. Students function a clerk in community/residency site. Participates in care of assigned patients, using office, hospital, home, community resources. Prerequisite: third- or fourth-year medical student. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 665 P-Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine — Missoula (12) Stresses ambulatory primary care with emphasis on comprehensive, integrated care to patients of both genders and all ages. Students function a clerk in community/residency site. Participates in care of assigned patients, using office, hospital, home, community resources. Prerequisite: third- or fourth-year medical student. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 666 P-Clinical Clerkship in Family Medicine — Torrington (12) Stresses ambulatory primary care with emphasis on comprehensive, integrated care to patients of both genders and all ages. Students function a clerk in community/residency site. Participates in care of assigned patients, using office, hospital, home, community resources. Prerequisite: third- or fourth-year medical student. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 670 P-Advanced Preceptorship in Underserved WWAMI Area (*, max. 24) Students gain experience, knowledge, and skills needed to care for rural, specific ethnic or underserved populations in Washington, Wyoming, Alaska, Montana, and Idaho. Prerequisite: third- or fourth-year medical students, permission of course coordinator. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 671 P-Advanced Preceptorship in United States (*, max. 24) Supplemental experience in rural/urban practice or a family medicine department in a setting not already established through the family medicine curriculum. Prerequisite: third- or fourth-year medical students, permission of course coordinator. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 672 P-Advanced Preceptorship International (*, max. 24) For medical students desiring primary care experience abroad. Special project deals with influences of social, cultural, educational, and economic forces on health care delivery. Prerequisite: third- or fourth-year medical students, permission of course coordinator. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 673 P-Advanced Preceptorship at WWAMI Clinical Centers (*, max. 12) Supplemental experience in Family Medicine for late third- or fourth-year students at selected WWAMI clinical centers. Prerequisite: completion of basic 6-week clerkship in Family Medicine; permission of course coordinator. Offered: AWSpS.

FAMED 674 Advanced Interviewing in Primary Care (8) Emphasizes developing competency in patient-centered interviewing, interview organization and time management and will be introduced to primary care counseling skills and methods of health behavior change. Prerequisite: permission of course faculty.
some mapping, genetic pathways; mutational analysis biological processes emphasizing changes in molecule transmission. Introduction to genomics—cloning and sequence analysis of whole genomes. Emphasizes formal genetic mechanisms, molecular techniques. For biological sciences majors. Prerequisite: minimum grade of 1.5 in either BIOL 200 or BIOL 201; may not be repeated. Offered: AWSpS.

GENOME 372 Genomics and Proteomics (5) NW Covers emerging fields of genomics and proteomics. Discusses key technologies and their applications to the study of human and model organisms. Prerequisite: GENOME 371. Offered: W.

GENOME 373 Genomic Informatics (4) NW Focuses on methods for analyzing large genetic data sets and their application to biological problems, including sequence alignment and search methods, gene prediction, phylogenetic trees, and microarray analysis. Requires basic programming skills.

GENOME 411 Gene Action (5) NW Molecular genetics: description of fundamental genetics processes such as mutation, repair, genetic exchange, recombination, and gene expression. Use of genetic strategies to analyze complex biological processes. Focus is on prokaryotic organisms. Prerequisite: BIOL 201; either CHEM 223, CHEM 237, or CHEM 335. Offered: jointly with MICROM 411; W.

GENOME 414 Molecular Evolution (5) NW Survey of empirical approaches to the study of molecular evolution and ecology, drawing on examples from a wide range of taxa and the recent literature. Topics include DNA sequencing and systematics, fingerprinting approaches in behavioral ecology, and adaptive evolution at the molecular level. Prerequisite: BIOL 354. Offered: jointly with BIOL 414.

GENOME 453 Genetics of the Evolutionary Process (3) NW Contributions of genetics to the understanding of evolution. Processes of mutation, affecting genetic events as they affect the genetic architecture of natural populations and the process of speciation. Emphasis on experimental data and observation, rather than mathematical theory. Prerequisite: either GENOME 371 or GENOME 372.

GENOME 454 The Origins of Genetics (4) NW Discovery and eventual triumph of Mendelism in the early twentieth century. Concepts of heredity from ancient times to the nineteenth century. Mendel’s work and its rediscovery. Evidence contributing to cornerstone of classical genetics — the chromosome theory of heredity. Prerequisite: either GENOME 351, GENOME 371, or GENOME 372. Offered: A.

GENOME 463 Hands-On Science for Elementary School Teachers (5) Offers prospective and practicing teachers an opportunity to learn science through the hands-on teaching methods recommended for teaching science at the elementary level.

GENOME 465 Advanced Human Genetics (4) NW Eichler, King Explores genetic analysis of naturally occurring variation in humans; origins and consequences of mutation, as mediated by selection, migration, population structure and drift; approaches to finding human disease genes and characterizing them at the molecular level; relevance of to other species to analysis of human genes. Prerequisite: GENOME 371; either GENOME 372 or BIOL 440. Offered: W.

GENOME 466 Cancer Genetics (3) NW Focuses on three types of cancer-related genetics. DNA repair, mitotic recombination, chromosome loss and imbalance, and other aspects of genomic instability. Metastatic cancer as an example of natural selection and evolution. Yeast and nematodes as models for the study of cancer genetics. Prerequisite: either GENOME 371 or GENOME 372. Offered: odd years.

GENOME 475 Debates in Genetics (3) Utilizes the original scientific literature as the basis for discussion of a range of genetic issues that impact society. Discussions are student-tutored evaluations are based both on participation in class and on a research paper. Prerequisite: BIOL 200; either GENET 371 or GENOME 371.

GENOME 490 Undergraduate Seminar (2, max. 6) NW Seminar for advanced undergraduate students engaged in individual research projects or those who wish to gain an understanding of genetic research by analysis of the primary literature. Assignments emphasize the rationale for research projects and the presentation and interpretation of research findings. Offered: AWSp.

GENOME 496 Peer Teaching Assistants in Genome Sciences (1-5, max. 5) Direct experience in the classroom teaching a discussion section for non-majors in genome sciences courses. Peer teaching assistants attend lectures and weekly preparation meetings and gain in-depth background on the subject material. In addition, peer TAs are given training in teaching techniques and course preparation. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: GENOME 371.

GENOME 499 Undergraduate Research (*, max. 30) Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

GENOME 501 Introduction to Research Materials (1-10) The student undertakes a research project in one of the research groups within the department for a quarter at a time. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in the Department of Genome Sciences or permission of graduate program coordinator. Offered: AWSpS.

GENOME 503 An Inquiry Approach to Teaching Genetics at the Introductory High School Level (2, max. 6) Provides advanced science content on topics in genetics and bioethics that are taught in secondary biology classrooms, as well as pedagogical strategies for conveying concepts to pre-college students. Workshop participation required.

GENOME 504 StarNet: Research Experiences for Students and Teachers (3, max. 9) Explores the scientific knowledge, technical skills, and pedagogical strategies related to teaching DNA sequencing and bioethics in a high school classroom. Workshop participation required.

GENOME 505 StarNet: Teacher Research Experience (9) Participating teachers carry out an independent research project in a University of Washington laboratory. Teachers, scientists, and StarNet staff meet weekly for an informal research talk.
GENOME 506 The Science Education Partnership (5, max. 15) Provides secondary school teachers training in molecular biology, genetics and biotechnology, as well as resources and ongoing support designed to enhance biology instruction. Workshop participation required.

GENOME 520 Seminar (1, max. 15) Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in the Department of Genome Sciences or permission of graduate program coordinator. Offered: AWSp.

GENOME 522 Journal Club (1) Presentation and discussion of current scientific literature. For Genome Sciences graduate students only. Credit/No credit only. Offered: AWSp.

GENOME 523 Research Reports (1) Thomas Presentation and discussion of current student research. Fore Genome Sciences grad students only. Credit/No credit only. Offered: AWSp.

GENOME 525 Current Literature in Human Genetics (1) Topics from current literature in human genetics. Students and faculty each present one topic per quarter. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate or postdoctoral status. Offered: AWSp.

GENOME 540 Introduction to Computational Molecular Biology: Genome and Protein Sequence Analysis (4) Algorithmic and probabilistic methods for analysis of DNA and protein analysis. Students must be able to write computer programs for data analysis. Prior coursework in biology and probability highly desirable. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: W.

GENOME 541 Introduction to Computational Molecular Biology: Molecular Evolution (4) Computational methods for studying molecular evolution. Students must be able to write computer programs for data analysis. Prior coursework in biology and probability highly desirable. Prerequisite: GENOME 540 or permission of instructor. Offered: Sp.

GENOME 547 Scientific Writing (1.5) For graduate students principally in their second and third year. Focuses on the preparation of research manuscripts for publication. Also considers other scientific writing such as thesis proposals and fellowship and grant applications.

GENOME 549 Molecular Basis of Neurodegenerative Disease (2) La Spada, Muchowski, Pallanck Introduces a broad range of neurodegenerative diseases, focusing upon the approaches that have led to recent discoveries and emphasizing the elucidation of mechanisms and pathways of disease pathogenesis. Offered: jointly with NEUVEH 549/PHCOL 549; W.

GENOME 550 Methods and Logic in Genetics (3) Critical reading and detailed discussion of genetics-related scientific research papers. Material emphasizes methodological and logical themes of importance in modern genetics, for example: origin of mutants, genetic epistasis, pulse labeling, and in vivo gene function. Prerequisite: first-year genetics graduate students only. Offered: A.

GENOME 551 Mechanisms of Gene Regulation in Prokaryotes and Eukaryotes (1.5) I&S A detailed examination of the mechanisms of transcription and translation in prokaryotes and eukaryotes as determined by experimental genetics, molecular biology and biochemistry.

GENOME 552 Technologies for Genome Analysis (1.5) Discussion of current and newly-emerging technologies in genome analysis with regard to applications in biology and medicine and to potential advantages and limitations. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A.

GENOME 553 Advanced Genetic Analysis (1.5) Classical genetic analysis is a powerful approach to dissect complex biological processes. Selective removal, addition, or alteration of specific proteins to identify and order genes in a pathway, define protein function, determine tissue and temporal requirements for gene function, and distinguish among competing hypotheses to explain biological phenomena.

GENOME 554 Genomic Informatics (1.5) Many complete genome sequences are known. Each of these encodes the instructions for making an entire organism, but what hope do we have to decipher the code? Focuses on methods for analyzing genome sequences, ranging from large-scale organizational pattern to gene prediction and detailed local alignment methods.

GENOME 555 Protein Technology (1.5) Focuses on current and emerging technologies and approaches in protein analysis, and considers applications of these technologies in biology, biotechnology and medicine. Prerequisite: BIOL 440; GENOME 551; GENOME 552; GENOME 553; GENOME 554.

GENOME 556 Developmental Genetics (1.5) Genetic control of early development in a range of organisms, emphasizing systems in which cellular, genetic, and molecular approaches have combined to make significant contributions to understanding. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: W.

GENOME 557 Melosis (1.5) A comprehensive consideration of meiotic mechanisms emerging from genetic and molecular analysis of model organisms focuses on the molecular basis of chromosomal synapsis, homologous recombination, and meiotic dysfunction. The relationship of these mechanisms to the structure of the human genome and the analysis of complex traits are also considered.

GENOME 559 Introduction to Statistical and Computational Genomics (3) Rudiments of statistical and computational genomics. Emphasis on basic probability and statistics, introduction to computer programming, and relevant Web databases.

GENOME 561 Molecular Population Genetics and Evolution (1.5) Surveys recent literature to gain an understanding of the basic principles of molecular population genetics and evolution as applied to analysis of genome data. Requires some computer analysis of genome data.

GENOME 562 Population Genetics (4) Felsenstein Mathematical and experimental approaches to the genetics of natural populations, especially as they relate to evolution. Emphasis on theoretical population genetics. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: alternate years; W.

GENOME 565 Advanced Human Genetics (4) NW Eichler, King Explores genetic analysis of naturally occurring variation in humans; origins and consequences of mutation, as mediated by selection, migration, population structure and drift; approaches to finding human disease genes and characterizing them at the molecular level; relevance of to other species to analysis of human genes. Prerequisite: GENOME 371, either GENOME 372 or BIOL 440. Offered: W.

GENOME 570 Phylogenetic Inference (3) Felsenstein Methods for inferring phylogenies (evolutionary trees) — biogeographical assumptions, statistical foundations, and computational methods. A comprehensive introduction for graduate students in the biological sciences to phylogenetic methods using data from molecular sequences, continuous and discrete characters, and gene frequencies. Prerequisite: introductory courses in evolution and in statistics. Offered: alternate years; W.

GENOME 576 Genetic and Genomic Analysis of Bacteria (1.5) In-depth coverage of genetic and genomic strategies used to analyze complex biological processes in bacteria. Focuses on genetic approaches, with examples drawn from studies of pathogenic organisms where possible. A combination of lectures and seminar-style discussions of primary literature.

GENOME 580 Ethics in Biomedical Research and Teaching (1) Explores ethical issues in research and teaching and discusses avenues of responsible conduct.

GENOME 582 Seminar in Mouse Genetics (1) Braun Discussion of contemporary research in and novel methods for genetic, cell biological, and molecular analysis of mammalian development, with utilization of transgenic techniques. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSp.

GENOME 583 Seminar in Molecular Cytology (1) Byers Discussions of contemporary research in and novel methods for genetic, cell biological, and molecular biological analysis of spindle behavior in the mitotic cell cycle of budding yeast. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSp.

GENOME 584 Seminar in DNA Replication (1) Brewer, Fagnman Discussions of contemporary research in and novel methods for genetic, cell biological, and molecular biological analysis of budding yeast, with emphasis on the mechanisms and control of DNA replication. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSp.

GENOME 585 Seminar in Bacterial Genetics (1) Manoil Discussions of contemporary research in and novel methods for genetic, cell biological, and molecular biological analysis of bacterial assembly mechanisms, with emphasis on the topogenesis of membrane proteins. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSp.

GENOME 586 Seminar in Mammalian Genetics (1) Sibley Discussions of contemporary research in and novel methods for genetic, cell biological, and molecular biological analysis of mammalian genetics, with emphasis on lymphoblast development. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSp.
GENOME 587 Seminar in Nematode Genetics
(1) Thomas Discussions of contemporary research in and novel methods for genetic, cell biological, and molecular biological analysis of nematode development, with emphasis on neurogenesis and other developmental processes. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSp.

GENOME 590 Population Genetics Seminar
(1) Felsenstein Weekly presentation by participants of current literature and ongoing research in evolution, molecular evolution, evolutionary genetics of natural populations, human population genetics, and quantitative genetics applied to animal and plant breeding. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: GENOME 562 or permission of instructor.

GENOME 599 Special Topics in Molecular Biotechnology

GENOME 600 Independent Study or Research

GENOME 800 Doctoral Dissertation
(*) Offered: AWSpS.

HUBIO 511 P-Gross Anatomy and Embryology
(8/13, max. 13) Clark Structural organization of human body at the macroscopic level to provide a foundation for physical examination and functional assessment of the human organism. Integrates embryological development with study of the cadaver and examination of the normal living body. Concentrates on exploration of the body cavities and the viscera they contain. Offered: A.

HUBIO 512 P-Mechanisms in Cell Physiology
(5) Detwiler Physiology of the cell membrane, including ionic and electrical potential gradients; active transport, excitability, and action potentials; biophysics of sensory receptors; neuromuscular transmission; muscle energetics and contractility; spinal reflexes and central synaptic transmission; autonomic nervous system; energy metabolism and temperature regulation; epithelial transport; gastrointestinal motility and secretions. Offered: A.

HUBIO 513 P-Introduction to Clinical Medicine
(3) Goldstein Instruction in communication skills and interview techniques to form the basis for the doctor-patient relationship and for the skills of communicating with patients. The patient profile is obtained. Attention to developing comfort in the physician role. Offered: A.

HUBIO 514 P-Biochemistry I-A (4-) Maizels Classical molecular and cellular biochemistry, cellular physiology and molecular genetics. Metabolic interrelationships as they occur in the individual stressed and related to disturbances in disease states. Offered: A.

HUBIO 516 P-Systems of Human Behavior I-A
(3-4) Murray, Walker Effects of behavioral factors in major management problems faced in medical practice relating to cultural background, social role, sexual identity, and belief systems. Acquisition of skills in analyzing behavior, defining objectives, and designing precise treatment strategies. Offered: A.

HUBIO 520 P- Molecular and Cellular Basis of Disease
(6) Norwood Patterns of cell and tissue response to injury. Mechanisms of cell injury, the inflammatory process, immunology, immunopathology, thrombosis, normal and abnormal growth, neoplasia, clinicopathological correlation. Offered: W.

HUBIO 522 P-Introduction to Clinical Medicine
(4-) Goldstein Medical history is introduced and instruction in data collection is begun. Experience in conducting medical interviews with patients to obtain the medical history and patient profile. Special problems related to interviewing are addressed. Offered: W.

HUBIO 523 P-Introduction to Immunology
(2) Wilson Basic concepts such as antigens; antibodies; complement; B- and T-lymphocyte function, including interactions with each other and with accessory cells; immunological tolerance; major histocompatibility complex; and role of these basic concepts in immunopathology (immunodeficiencies, hypersensitivities, autoimmunity, blood transfusion, and transplantation). Offered: W.

HUBIO 524 P-Biochemistry I-B (4-) Maizels Classical molecular and cellular biochemistry, cellular physiology and molecular genetics. Metabolic interrelationships as they occur in the individual stressed and related to disturbances in disease states. Offered: W.

HUBIO 526 P-Systems of Human Behavior I-B
(2) Johnston, Walker Effects of behavioral factors in major management problems faced in medical practice relating to cultural background, social role, sexual identity, and belief systems. Acquisition of skills in analyzing behavior, defining objectives, and designing precise treatment strategies. Offered: W.

HUBIO 530 P-Clinical Epidemiology and Evidence-Based Medicine
(2) Kentenbaum Community health and disease assessment; assessment of disease risk and mechanisms of epidemic detection, spread, and control; interpretation of research design, data analysis, bias source; and clinical epidemiology, including evaluation and application of diagnostic tests, natural history of disease, and quantitative aids for clinical decision making. Offered: W.

HUBIO 531 P-Head, Neck, Ear, Nose, and Throat

HUBIO 532 P-Nervous System
(8) Dacey, Mulligan An integrated approach to the normal structure and function of the nervous system, including the eye. Presents neuropathological examples as well as clinical manifestations of neurological disease.

HUBIO 534 P-Microbiology and Infectious Disease

HUBIO 535 P-Introduction to Clinical Medicine

HUBIO 540 P-Cardiovascular System
(6) Feigl Interdisciplinary approach to cardiovascular medicine, including anatomy, physiology, radiology, pathology, medicine, and surgery. Function of the cardiovascular system in health and disease. Offered: A.

HUBIO 541 P-Respiratory System
(4-) Culver Interdisciplinary approach to the respiratory system, including anatomy of the upper and lower respiratory tracts, ventilation mechanics, blood-gas transport, gas exchange, acid-base balance, and the physiology and pathology of obstructive, restrictive, and pulmonary-vascular diseases. Offered: A.

HUBIO 542 P-Introduction to Clinical Medicine
(4-) Goldstein Advanced instruction in interview technique, history taking, and physical examination, with emphasis on detection of abnormalities. Offered: A.

HUBIO 543 P-Principles of Pharmacology
(5) Vincenzi Includes general principles of pharmacology and the specific pharmacology of major drugs acting on the autonomic and cardiovascular systems. Offered: A.

HUBIO 544 P-Endocrine System
(3) Anawalt Normal, gross, and microscopic anatomy and physiology of the endocrine system. Illustrations examining the clinical relevance of homeostasis, feedback, and other controlling mechanisms previously learned. Endocrine integration of metabolism. Clinically important endocrine pathophysiology. Offered: A.
HUBIO 546 P-Systemic Pathology (4) Schmidt
Multidisciplinary approach to some diseases that affect more than one organ system (nervous, cardiovascular, respiratory) and that are caused by different mechanisms (congenital, inflammatory, vascular, traumatic, metabolic, neoplastic).
Offered: Sp.

HUBIO 550 P-Introduction to Clinical Medicine (-4) Goldstein
Advanced instruction in interview technique, history taking, and physical examination, with emphasis on identification of problems and correlation of findings with pathophysiological mechanisms. Offered: W.

HUBIO 551 P-Gastro-Intestinal System (4) Saunders
Anatomy of the gastrointestinal system; physiology and pathology of digestion and hepatic function; and physical and laboratory examination. Offered: W.

HUBIO 552 P-Hematology (3) Becker
Familiarizes students with the basic pathophysiologic mechanisms leading to disturbances of red cell, white cell, and platelet production, as well as abnormalities of hemostasis presenting clinical problems. Pathophysiology, rather than minute details of individual disease, is stressed.
Offered: W.

HUBIO 553 P-Musculoskeletal System (4) Schmale
Gross, surface, applied, and radiographic anatomy. Clinical manifestations in the musculoskeletal system and pathophysiology of trauma, aging, infection, and inflammation, as well as congenital and metabolic disorders. Dissections, physical examinations, and problem-based learning. Offered: W.

HUBIO 554 P-Genetics (2) Horwitz
Review of basic genetic principles and their applications in clinical medicine. Includes human chromosomal disorders; patterns of inheritance, genetic counseling, amniocentesis; pathogenesis of hereditary diseases, monogenic and multifactorial; role of genetics in common diseases; behavioral genetics; drug-gene interactions; and prevention and treatment of genetic diseases, including prenatal diagnosis and population screening. Offered: A.

HUBIO 555 P-Medicine, Health, and Society (3) Harris
Interdisciplinary introduction to health services designed for future health care practitioners. Examines the history, organization, and effectiveness of the U.S. health care system. Stresses the student’s ability to adopt a broad perspective across health care disciplines and traditional boundaries. Offered: W.

HUBIO 559 P-Problem Based Learning (3) Teitz
Teaches students to methodically solve medical problems by gathering, sorting, and interpreting data. Students learn life-long self-education and self-evaluation skills. Provides practice working as a health care team by including medical, nursing, and physician assistant students in each group. Offered: W.

HUBIO 560 P-Introduction to Clinical Medicine (-5) Goldstein
Introduction to clinical and laboratory diagnosis. Offered: Sp.

HUBIO 562 P-Urinary System (4) Ryan
Anatomy, physiology, and pathology of the kidney, ureter, bladder, and prostate; pathophysiology and treatment of common fluid and electrolyte problems; renal pharmacology; major clinical urinary system syndromes, with current diagnostic approaches and therapy. Offered: Sp.

HUBIO 563 P-Brain and Behavior (3) Paschaly
Major psychiatric disorders are defined and described, and a systematic approach to differential diagnosis is presented. Conceptual development, pathogenesis, epidemiology, nomenclature, and the terminology used in psychiatry are discussed. Offered: Sp.

HUBIO 564 P-Principles of Pharmacology II (3) Chavkin
Lectures and conferences on drugs that act on the central nervous system. Emphasis on physiological and biochemical mechanisms, with consideration of therapeutic and adverse effects. Offered: Sp.

HUBIO 565 P-Reproduction (4) Steiner
Normal development of the human reproductive system. Sexual differentiation, puberty, endocrine control of testicular and ovarian function, gamete biology, fertilization, implantation, immunology and endocrinology of pregnancy, labor and delivery, pathology of the male and female reproductive organs, contraception, prolactin and lactation, aging and infertility. Offered: Sp.

HUBIO 567 P-Skin System (2) Colven
Gross and microscopic anatomy. Physiology, protection, temperature control, pigmentation, and photosensitivity. Pathology and genetics of skin abnormalities and tumors. Introduction to clinical evaluation, including physical examination and illustrating examples of inflammatory, vascular, immunological (including drug hypersensitivity), and neoplastic diseases. Offered: A.

HUBIO 568 P-Central Issues in Immunology (2, 44)
Principles and practice of clinical nutrition, including role of nutrients in normal growth and development, pathogenesis of chronic disease, and nutrition in the management of certain disease states. Offered: Sp.

HUBIO 590 P-Medical Information for Decision Making (1) Tarzey-Hornoch
Introduces methods for: a) identifying and retrieving high quality, relevant documents for clinical decision making, b) applying rigorous criteria when reading primary research studies, reviews of primary studies, or other medical information sources that report on the effectiveness of therapeutic or preventive interventions.
Prerequisite: first-year medical students.
Offered: W.

HUBIO 596 P-Non-Clinical Selectives II (*)

HUBIO 597 P-Independent investigative Inquiry (8)
Independent research with faculty sponsor and completion of paper in fulfillment of the independent investigative inquiry graduation requirement. Offered: Sp.

HUBIO 598 P-Non-Clinical Selectives (*)
Courses offered at WWAMI university sites designed to satisfy the non-clinical selective graduation requirement for medical students.
Offered: AWSp.

HUBIO 599 P-Independent Study in Medical Science (6)
Marshall Independent research with faculty sponsor and completion of paper as partial fulfillment of non-clinical selective graduation requirement. Offered: Sp.

HUBIO 600 PA-Capstone Course: Preparation for Residency (2)
Norma A combination of large group lectures and small group discussions and workshops reviewing clinical skills in history-taking and physical examinations, imaging studies, common and emergency drugs, ACLS, infectious disease control, common clinical problems, and other topics that are encountered in residency training. Offered: Sp.

Immunology

IMMUN 441 Introduction to Immunology (4)
NW General properties of immune responses; cells and tissues of immune system; lymphocyte activation and specificity; effector mechanisms; immunity to microbes; immunodeficiency and AIDS; autoimmune diseases; transplantation. Prerequisite: either BIOL 220 or BIOL 202; may not be repeated; recommended: GENET 371, GENET 372, BIOL 405, or BIOL 440. Offered: jointly with MICROM 441; A.

IMMUN 499 Undergraduate Research (*, max. 24)
Investigative work on a variety of topics, including mechanisms of antigen recognition by T-cell development and differentiation, immunogenetics, lymphocyte activation, MHC gene structure and function, retrovirology, and the pathogenesis of autoimmune diseases, among others. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.
Offered: AWSp.

IMMUN 532 Advanced Immunology (4)
Weinmann Examines the molecular and cellular basis of immune function. Students must have completed a baccalaureate degree in a biological specialty and be conversant with molecular genetics. Topics include: hematopoiesis, antigen receptor structure, lymphocyte development, antigen presentation, and cytokines. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology; other graduate students with permission of instructor.
Offered: W.

IMMUN 533 Host Defense to Cancer (2) Clark
Addresses the mechanisms of cellular homeostasis, balancing cells of immune system, programmed cell death, immune surveillance, cancer immunotherapy. Companion course with IMMUN 535. Prerequisite: graduate standing in immunology; other graduate students with permission of instructor. Offered: odd years, Sp, weeks 1-5.

IMMUN 534 Central Issues in Immunology (2, max. 4)
Presentations by participants of topics relating to the broad study of immunology. Prerequisite: graduate standing in immunology. Offered: Sp.

IMMUN 535 Host Defense to Infection (2) Clark
Addresses the mechanisms protecting against pathogens that infect patients with cancers; immune regulation; new developments in vaccines. Companion course with IMMUN 533. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology; other graduate students with permission of instructor. Offered: even years, Sp, weeks 1-5.

Current Research Conferences Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate students and postdoctoral research in immunology. Students may register for more than one conference each quarter.

IMMUN 550 Selected Topics in Immunology (1, max. 30)
Formal seminar-discussion course for advanced students focused on recent developments in the field and consisting of literature research and intensive in-depth study of important and timely topics. Credit/no credit
IMMUN 551 Research Conference in Regulation of T Cell-Dependent B Cell Maturation (1, max. 30) Clark Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate students and postdoctoral research in immunology. Students may register for more than one conference each quarter. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSpS.

IMMUN 552 Immunogenetics and Autoimmunity (1, max. 30) Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSpS.

IMMUN 553 Research Conference in Recombination and Repair in B Cell Development (1, max. 30) Maizels Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate students and postdoctoral research in immunology. Students may register for more than one conference each quarter. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSpS.

IMMUN 554 Research Conference in Immunogenetic Aspects of Human Autoimmunity (1, max. 30) Nepom Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate students and postdoctoral research in immunology. Students may register for more than one conference each quarter. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSpS.

IMMUN 555 Research Conference in Model of Autoimmune Disease and Their Regulation (1, max. 30) Goveman Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate students and postdoctoral research in immunology. Students may register for more than one conference each quarter. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSpS.

IMMUN 556 Research Conference in Regulation of Autoimmunity and Allergic Inflammation (1, max. 30) Ziegler Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate students and postdoctoral research in immunology. Students may register for more than one conference each quarter. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSpS.

IMMUN 557 Research Conference in Thymic Environment (1, max. 30) Farr Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate student and postdoctoral research in immunology. Students may register for more than one conference each quarter. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSpS.

IMMUN 558 Research Conference in Apoptosis and Autoimmunity (1, max. 30) Elkon Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate student and postdoctoral research in immunology. Students may register for more than one conference each quarter. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSpS.

IMMUN 559 Cytokine Gene Regulation (1, max. 30) Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSpS.

IMMUN 560 Research Conference in Progress in T Cell Research (1, max. 30) Bevan, Fink, Goverman, Kaja, Rudensky Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate student and postdoctoral research in immunology. Students may register for more than one conference each quarter. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSpS.

IMMUN 561 Research Conference in Mechanisms of Peripheral Tolerance (1, max. 30) Fink Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate student and postdoctoral research in immunology. Students may register for more than one conference each quarter. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSpS.

IMMUN 562 Research Conference in Developmental Regulation of T Cell Function (1, max. 30) Wilson Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate student and postdoctoral research in immunology. Students may register for more than one conference each quarter. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSpS.

IMMUN 563 Research Conference in Macrophage Biology, Signaling and Phagocytosis (1, max. 30) Aderem Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate student and postdoctoral research in immunology. Students may register for more than one conference each quarter. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSpS.

IMMUN 564 Research Conference in Cellular/Molecular Regulation of T Cell Responses (1, max. 30) Greenberg Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate student and postdoctoral research in immunology. Students may register for more than one conference each quarter. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSpS.

IMMUN 565 Research Conference in Innate Immune Defenses Against Virus Infection (1, max. 30) Gale Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate students and postdoctoral research in immunology, with a major focus placed on understanding virus and host regulation of innate immune processes. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSpS.

IMMUN 566 Research Conference in Role of Innate Mechanisms in Generation and Maintenance of Protective Immune Memory (1, max. 30) Kaja Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate students and postdoctoral research in immunology. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSpS.

IMMUN 567 Research Conference in Antigen Processing and Presentation (1, max. 30) Rudensky Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate students and postdoctoral research in immunology. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSpS.

IMMUN 568 Research Conference in Regulation of the Inflammatory Response of Myeloid Cells (1, max. 30) Hamerman Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate students and postdoctoral research in immunology, with a major focus placed on understanding the regulation of the inflammatory response of myeloid cells. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSpS.

IMMUN 569 Genetics of Diabetes (1, max. 30) Lernmark Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate students and postdoctoral research in immunology. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSpS.

IMMUN 570 Cytokine Signaling in Lymphocytes (1, max. 30) Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology.

IMMUN 571 Research Conference in Development and Activation of B Cells (1, max. 30) Rawlings Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate student and postdoctoral research in immunology. Students may register for more than one conference each quarter Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSpS.

IMMUN 572 Research Conference in Signal Transduction in B-Cells (1 max. 30) Scharenberg Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate student and postdoctoral research in immunology. Students may register for more than one conference each quarter Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSpS.

IMMUN 573 Immunology Seminar Series (1, max. 30) Weekly discussion in which original research results are presented and discussed. Emphasis is on new and original contributions to field of immunology and related areas; occasional seminars are concerned with review of important topics. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology; other graduate students with firm background in Immunology and permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

IMMUN 574 Research Conference in Kaposi's Sarcoma-Associated Herpesvirus: Interactions with B-Cells and Endothelial Cells (1, max. 30) Lagunoff Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate student and postdoctoral research in immunology. Students may register for more than one conference each quarter Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSpS.

IMMUN 575 Research Conference in Infection and Immunity (1, max. 30) Bevan Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate student and postdoctoral research in immunology. Students may register for more than one conference each quarter Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSpS.

IMMUN 576 Research Conference in Transcriptional Regulation in the Immune System (1, max. 30) Weinmann Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate student and postdoctoral research in immunology. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSpS.

IMMUN 577 Research Conference in Lymphocyte Homing and Function (1, max. 30) Campbell Weekly group conferences... concerning ongoing graduate student and postdoctoral research in immunology. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSp.

IMMUN 578 Research Conference in Immunology and the Pathogenesis of Tuberculosis (1, max. 30) Latchman Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate student and postdoctoral research in immunology. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSp.

IMMUN 579 Research Conference in Costimulation and Autoimmune Disease (1, max. 30) Latchman Weekly group conferences concerning ongoing graduate student and postdoctoral research in immunology. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSp.

IMMUN 599 Introduction to Immunology Research (1-7, max. 7) Current problems in immunological research. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSp.

IMMUN 600 Independent Study or Research () Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSp.

IMMUN 700 Master’s Thesis () Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSp.

IMMUN 800 Doctoral Dissertation () Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Immunology. Offered: AWSp.

Laboratory Medicine

LAB M 321 Medical Technology: Introductory Clinical Hematology (6) Calvo Lecture and laboratory coverage of the theoretical and practical aspects of hemostasis and the laboratory evaluation of blood cells, to include their production, morphology, function, and associated pathology. Instrumentation used in testing included, as well as quality control and quality assurance issues. Offered: W.

LAB M 322 Medical Technology: Introductory Clinical Chemistry (5) Chen-Levy Lecture and laboratory covering the theoretical and practical concepts associated with testing procedures performed in clinical chemistry. Offered: A.

LAB M 418 Topics in Clinical Chemistry (5) Chen-Levy Continuation of LAB M 322. Lecture and laboratory exercises covering fundamentals of instrumentation and methodology in the clinical chemistry laboratory. Offered: Sp.

LAB M 419 Clinical Coagulation (4) Calvo Lecture and laboratory coverage of the theory of the hemostatic system, to include tests used in the diagnosis/monitoring of patients with abnormal bleeding and/or thrombosis. Instrumentation as appropriate for testing included. Quality control and quality assurance discussed. Offered: S.

LAB M 420 Laboratory Analysis of Urine and Body Fluids (3) Lampe Lecture and laboratory covering urinalysis testing procedures and associated disease entities. Analysis of other body fluids. Methods of microscopic examination by use of bright-field, phase, and polarizing microscopy. Offered: S.

LAB M 421 Medical Microbiology (1/6, max. 6) Lampe Lecture and laboratory coverage of human infections and diagnostic procedures used for isolation, identification, and antimicrobial susceptibility testing of the microorganisms associated with disease. Offered: S.

LAB M 424 Clinical Microbiology (-, max. 24) Lampe Techniques used in the diagnostic microbiology laboratory, including quality control, specimen evaluation, identification of pathogenic microorganisms, and antimicrobial susceptibility testing. Offered: AWSp.

LAB M 425 Clinical Hematology (-, max. 24) Calvo Clinical study of techniques used in the diagnostic evaluation of blood cells, including production, proliferation, survival, morphologic, and functional features. Assessment of proteins and cells important in hemostasis included. Quality control and quality assurance issues considered. Biomolecular techniques appropriate for evaluation of the hematologic and hemo-static systems discussed. Offered: AWSp.

LAB M 426 Clinical Immunohematology (1-7, max. 7) Nestor Lecture and laboratory covering theory of transfusion medicine and serological procedures used in the evaluation of cellular antigen systems. Principles of immunology and genetics included as appropriate for the techniques performed; screening of donor units to provide a safe product discussed. Quality control and quality assurance issues considered. Offered: W.

LAB M 427 Selected Studies in Laboratory Medicine (-, max. 24) Lampe Selected clinical study in the major scientific disciplines of laboratory medicine, to include molecular diagnostics, or pursuance of a clinical research study. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSp.

LAB M 499 Undergraduate Research () Specific project in clinical laboratory investigations. Offered: AWSp.

LAB M 502 Laboratory Medicine Grand Rounds (1, max. 6) Fine Grand rounds are concerned with current topics in the field of laboratory medicine. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSp.

LAB M 510 Laboratory Medicine Research Conference (1, max. 6) Tait Presentation and discussion of ongoing research and development projects by faculty, residents, fellows, and graduate students. Open to graduate students in laboratory medicine and other medical sciences. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSp.

LAB M 520 Seminar in Organization and Management in Laboratory Medicine (3) Chandler Core course for the Master of Science degree in laboratory medicine. Prerequisite: graduate student standing in laboratory medicine or permission of instructor. Offered: odd years; Sp.

LAB M 521 Advanced Laboratory Hematology (1, max. 6) Sabath Lectures on diagnostic clinical hematology with emphasis on clinical-pathological correlation. For laboratory medicine graduate students with special interest in diagnostic clinical hematology. Prerequisite: graduate standing and permission of instructor. Offered: AWSp.

LAB M 522 Hematopathology Seminar (2) Wood Identification of normal lymphocyte and bone marrow subpopulations, and hematopathology of leukemias, lymphomas, and benign conditions that resemble them. Emphasis on histopathology, cytochemical, immunological, and molecular markers. Clinico-pathologic correlation. Offered: jointly with PATH 522; even years; W.

LAB M 590 P-Research Projects in Laboratory Medicine () Taft Opportunity for laboratory experience on a research problem related to laboratory medicine. Students investigate areas of potential clinical importance. Projects selected from areas such as chemistry, coagulation, hematology, immunology, microbiology, virology, molecular diagnostics, and computer applications. Research goals established by instructor in discussion with student. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSp.

LAB M 596 Clinical Chemistry Seminar (2) Rainey Theory and practice of clinical chemistry. For postdoctoral and graduate students in clinical chemistry. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSp.

LAB M 601 Internship (3-9, max. 9) Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in laboratory medicine. Offered: AWSp.

LAB M 680 P-Clinical Laboratory Testing: Methods and Interpretation () Wener Provides the third- and fourth-year medical student with the opportunity to evaluate clinical laboratory data in the clinical laboratory setting. One-on-one teaching using case material and actual clinical samples. Offered: AWSp.

LAB M 685 P-Laboratory Case Studies for Clinical Diagnosis (4) Astion Clinical case presentations and discussions aimed at test selection, disease-induced alterations, efficient algorithms, factors confusing interpretation, testing economics. Prerequisite: completion of required clerkships. (Four weeks half-time) Offered: A.

LAB M 699 P-WWAMI Laboratory Medicine Special Electives (-, max. 24) By special arrangement for qualified students, special clerkships or externships may be available at institutions other than the University of Washington located within the WWAMI region. Prerequisite: permission of department.

LAB M 700 Master’s Thesis () Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSp.

MEDEX Northwest

MEDEX 450 Basic Science in Clinical Medicine (6) Review of important basic science concepts that include relevant topics for a health care clinician. Prerequisite: permission of the MEDEX Program. Offered: WS.

MEDEX 451 Anatomy and Physiology for the MEDEX Practitioner (6) Anatomy and physiology of the following organ systems:
HEENT, respiratory, cardiovascular, gastrointestinal, reproductive, renal, musculoskeletal, and neurologic. Required for entering students to the MEDEX program who have not satisfied program prerequisites in anatomy and physiology.

Offered: S.

MEDEX 452 Pathophysiology for Primary Care (6) Basic pathological and pathophysiologi- cal concepts of diseases commonly encountered in primary-care practice. Pathophysiology studied per organ system. Offered: A.

MEDEX 453 Basic Clinical Skills (5) Provides the student with mastery of a screening history and physical examination and thoroughness in data-collection skills. Offered: ASp.

MEDEX 454 Adult Medicine I (7) Problem-oriented approach to the diagnosis and management of common primary care conditions. Introduction to relevant laboratory and radiological procedures. Organ system approach. Offered: W.

MEDEX 456 Maternal and Child Health for the MEDEX Practitioner I (3) Designed to acquaint students with principles of prenatal care and primary-care pediatrics. Offered: W.

MEDEX 457 Behavioral Medicine I (2) Develops and demonstrates skills needed for assessment, diagnosis and management of common emotional problems in a clinical setting. Offered: A.

MEDEX 458 Behavioral Medicine II (2) Develops and demonstrates skills needed for assessment, diagnosis and management of common emotional problems in a clinical setting. Offered: W.

MEDEX 459 Behavioral Medicine II (2) Develops and demonstrates skills needed for assessment, diagnosis and management of common emotional problems in a clinical setting. Offered: SP.

MEDEX 460 Principles of Patient Management (3) Provides systematic approach to pharma- cological therapies including drug choice, risk factor identification and administration. Includes non-pharmaceutical therapies and emphasizes health education and health promotion strategies. Offered: W.

MEDEX 463 Clinical Clerkships I (19) Full-time clinical clerkship spent in institution-based or specialty practice settings with the supervision of licensed health care providers. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

MEDEX 465 Clinical Clerkships II (19) Continuation of clinical clerkships spent in institution-based or specialty practice settings with supervision of licensed health care providers. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

MEDEX 466 Family Practice Clerkship for the MEDEX Practitioner I (19) Ballweg Family practice under the supervision of physicians throughout the Pacific Northwest. Common primary-care problems. Students and preceptors are educated in the utilization and management of the physician assistant in practice. Students keep computerized records of patient encounters and complete a variety of written assignments. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

MEDEX 467 Family Practice Clerkship for the MEDEX Practitioner II (19) Ballweg Further experience in primary-care practice with emphasis on independent patient management by the student supervised by family practitioners. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

MEDEX 468 Emergency Medicine I for the MEDEX Practitioner (2) Approach to the diagnosis and management of common emergency conditions for primary care physician assistants. Organ system approach. Offered: W.

MEDEX 470 Professional Role Development (1) Explores professional role development, health access issues, licensing issues, health care quality, interdisciplinary relationships, diverse populations and the health care environment. Offered: A.

MEDEX 471 Professional Role Development (1) Explores professional role development, health access issues, licensing issues, health care quality, interdisciplinary relationships, diverse populations and the health care environment. Offered: W.

MEDEX 472 Professional Role Development (1) Explores professional role development, health access issues, licensing issues, health care quality, interdisciplinary relationships, diverse populations and the health care environment. Offered: W.

MEDEX 473 Technical Skills (1) Introduces clinical skills and procedures through hands-on experiences. Offered: A.

MEDEX 474 Technical Skills (1) Introduces clinical skills and procedures through hands-on experiences. Offered: W.

MEDEX 475 Technical Skills (1) Introduces clinical skills and procedures through hands-on experiences. Offered: Sp.

MEDEX 499 Special Field Projects/Independent Study (1-19, max. 19) Clinical clerkships and independent study activities. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

Medical Education

MEBI 499 Undergraduate Research (*, max. 12) Investigative research or directed readings in medical education and in biomedical and health informatics. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

MEBI 510 Topics in Medical Education Research (1/3, max. 12) Selected research topics in medical education. Development of skills in critical analysis and production of original research. Optional: 1 additional credit for seminar focusing on application of issues in education practice. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSp.

MEBI 511 Current Issues in Medical Education (2) Addresses current issues in medical education in the context of historic and contemporary developments. Topics include curriculum development, teaching, and learning, clinical knowledge and reasoning, assessment, professional development, program evaluation, and certification. Offered: A.

MEBI 512 Leadership in Academic Medicine (1) Explores the theoretical and practical aspects of leadership in academic medicine. Topics include qualities of effective leadership, leadership styles, and impact of institutional organization and culture on leadership. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: S.

MEBI 520 Teaching Methods in Medical Education (2) Ambrozy Empirical and theoretical merits of different teaching methods as applied to medical education. Structuring and leading group discussions, using questions, organizing and delivering lectures, identifying styles of clinical supervision, providing constructive feedback, and presenting effective clinical demonstrations. Offered: W.

MEBI 521 Evaluation of Learning in the Health Sciences (3) Carline Basic issues and methods for evaluation of learning and training in the health sciences. Concepts, theories, and applications with particular emphasis on the evaluation of cognitive performance, psychomotor skills, and reasoning abilities in classroom, laboratory, and clinical settings. Practical applications of instruments such as multiple-choice questions, essays, oral examinations, checklists, rating scales, simulations, and patient management problems. Recommended: MEBI 520. Offered: Sp.

MEBI 522 Research in Medical Education (2) Scott Individualized, problem-based overviews of research methods and research design pertinent to research and scholarship in medical education. Development and sequencing of research projects from concept to completion through literature review, including proposal development, project implementation, data management, analysis, and write-up. Assessment and critical reading of related literature stressed. Offered: A.

MEBI 530 Medical Informatics (3) Tarczy-Homoch Overview of biomedical and health informatics concepts, theories, and applications, including the historical evolution and the current and future research directions within the context of information flow in health care settings. Offered: A.

MEBI 531 Life and Death Computing (3) Kalet Computing and programming concepts and methods underlying the solution of safety-critical and complex problems in biology, medicine, and health for both research and practice. Includes an introduction to program- ming in Common Lisp, network programming, and bioinformatics. Prerequisite: CSE 142 or equivalent. Offered: A.

MEBI 532 Computing Concepts for Medical Informatics (3) Kalet Continuation of topics begun in MEBI 531: multiprogramming and operating system principles, client-server, MEBI 532 Public Health and Informatics (3) Introduction to the emerging field of public health informatics. Covers general public health topics as well as key public health informatics issues and applications. Evaluates a public health information system. Prerequisite: either MEBI 530 or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with HSERV 529/EPI 532.

MEBI 534 Biology and Informaticists (3) Brinkley A computing and information oriented treatment of the core concepts of human biology, addressing structure and function at three levels or organization: organism, cell, and gene. Each level includes examples of key anatomic and physiologic concepts, presented from a computational perspective and with the use of electronic resources. Offered: A.

MEBI 535 Clinical Topics for Informaticists (3) Medical/Psychology for Informaticists and introduces the student to a variety of clinical disciplines, representative clinical problems from these disciplines, and informatics issues and applications within these disciplines. Lectures from the faculty at the Schools of Medicine, Nursing, Pharmacy, and Dentistry. Prerequisite: MEBI 530, MEBI 531, MEBI 534. Offered: W.

MEBI 536 Bioinformatics and Gene Sequence Analysis (3) Rose Nature and relevance of molecular sequence information, computer-based protein, and DNA sequence analysis, molecular and genomic databases, and methods for database accession and interrogation. Prerequisite: background in molecular biology and permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with PABIO 536/PHG 536; Sp.

MEBI 537 Informatics Research and Evaluation Methods (4) Gennari Introduces the many facets of evaluation and research for Biomedical and Health Informatics projects. Focuses on formal studies of the application of information technology in medicine, conducted while an information resource is under development and after the resource is in routine service. Offered: A.

MEBI 540 Critically Appraising and Applying Evidence in Health Care (3) Wolf Literature appraisal skills for various articles (therapy effectiveness, diagnostic tests, literature reviews, clinical measurement, prognosis, quality of care, decision analysis, causation/etiology, guidelines, and economic evaluation). Appraisal of clinical information from literature, strengths/weaknesses of data, analyses, study design/applicability to a current patient’s problem. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with HSERV 528; W.

MEBI 541 Introduction to Systematic Reviews and Meta-analysis of Evidence (2) Wolf Conceptual understanding of the quantitative methods used to synthesize evidence. Methods for pooling evidence across independent studies, pooling binary/continuous outcomes, differences between fixed and random effects models, and guidelines for appraising published systematic reviews/meta-analyses. Prerequisite: introduction to level courses in statistics, epidemiology or biostatistics. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with HSERV 529/EPI 541; Sp.

MEBI 550 Knowledge Representation and Applications (3) Kafel A readings class in knowledge representation, as described in the primary artificial intelligence and biomedical informatics literature. Topics may include: frame-based systems, description logics, theorem proving, complexity vs. tractability, ontologies, rule-based systems, and biomedical domain applications. Prerequisite: any artificial intelligence course (e.g., CSE 415 or better), or permission of instructor.

MEBI 552 Clinical Decision Support (3) Doctor Provides foundation in clinical decision making and support (including decision analysis, Bayesian analysis, belief networks, artificial intelligence, neural networks) presented in the context of local and national decision support systems and the movement to decrease errors in healthcare. Prerequisite: MEBI 530, MEBI 531, MEBI 535, MEBI 537, CSE 415 or permission of instructor. Offered: W.

MEBI 554 Biomedical Information Interactions and Design (3) Demenis, Pratt Introduction to theoretical frameworks and research methodologies that underpin the study of human-information interactions and the design of biomedical information systems to support them. Emphasis on understanding informational needs and specifications that drive the design of health information systems. Offered: Sp.

MEBI 570 Health Sciences Information Needs, Resources, and Environment (3) Fuller Characteristics of users of health sciences information; health professionals, researchers, consumers and patients; environments (academic health sciences centers, hospitals, clinics, and public libraries); evaluation of information resources in health care; types and uses of health information management systems; policy issues, professional standards, education, and certification. Offered: jointly with LIS 528.

MEBI 580 Computing Fundamentals for Health Providers (3) Enables health professionals to solve work/practice challenges using existing features of desktop computers. Emphasizes productivity concepts. Introduces extended features of common software packages, as well as basic concepts/methods of small system management and support. Prerequisite: admission to Health Informatics Certificate Program or by instructor permission. Offered: jointly with NURS 521; W.

MEBI 590 Selected Topics in Health Informatics (1-3, max. 12) Computers and information technology are improving and changing healthcare education, research, and clinical practice. Informatics faculty and researchers from the UW and affiliated institutions present their research findings as well as discuss their views of national developments in their respective disciplines. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AW/Sp.

MEBI 591 Biomedical Health Informatics Research Colloquium (1) Provides forum for extensive interactive research discussions. Format is round table with short presentations and long facilitated discussion amongst students and core BHI faculty. Both students and faculty present. Topics primarily research focused (ongoing and proposed research), but also journal articles, current topics of debate, and other. Credit/no credit only.

MEBI 598 Special Topics in Biomedical and Health Informatics (1-4, max. 12) Readings, lectures, and discussions pertaining to a significant biomedical and health informatics problem or an emerging issue. Topics vary. Offered: AW/Sp.

MEBI 599 Independent Study or Research (1-10) Individual readings or study, including independent study in preparation for doctoral examinations, research, etc. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

MEBI 700 Master’s Thesis (1-15) Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AW/Sp.

MEBI 800 Doctoral Dissertation (1-10)

Medical History and Ethics

MHE 401 History of Modern Medicine (3) I&S Berryman Survey of evolution of medical theory, practice, and institutions in European and American society from the late 18th century to the present. Medical background not required. Recommended: prior courses in sciences and/or history.

MHE 402 Ethical Theory (5) I&S Jecker Reviews the principal theories for normative ethical discourse, such as utilitarianism and deontology, and major metaethical commentary on those theories. Illustrated by classical and modern authors. Recommended: one basic course in ethics. Offered: jointly with PHIL 412.

MHE 404 Metaethical Theory (5) I&S Jecker Study of major ethical writings in the twelfth century, with principal emphasis on the Anglo-American tradition. Recommended: one introductory philosophy course. Offered: jointly with PHIL 413.

MHE 411 Introduction to Bioethics (3) I&S Jecker Basic concepts, principles, and methods of analysis, with application to some major issues in the field of bioethics. Case studies utilized to illustrate nature of questions arising in bioethics and to provide students with opportunity to develop skills in ethical analysis.

MHE 417 Disease in History (3) I&S Whorton Study of Western civilization’s experience with epidemic disease, the growth of understanding of the causes of disease, the formation of a philosophy of prevention, and the development of programs to protect the public health. Emphasis on the last two centuries. Medical background not required.

MHE 440 Philosophy of Medicine (5) I&S Jecker Familiarizes students with central issues in the philosophy of medicine. Focuses on the nature of medical knowledge, the connection between theory and observation, the meaning of medical concepts, and the relationship between theories and the world. Recommended: prior courses in philosophy, history of science, or history of medicine. Offered: jointly with PHIL 459.

MHE 474 Justice in Health Care (5) I&S/VLPA Jecker Examination of the ethical problem of allocating scarce medical resources. Emphasis on fundamental principles of justice that support alternative health policies. Recommended: prior courses in philosophy or medical ethics. Offered: jointly with PHIL 411.

MHE 481 The Pursuit of Health in American Society (3) &S Berryman, Whorton Examination of the development of concern for personal health over the past two centuries, and of the evolution of philosophies and practices of health promotion. Emphasis on the influence of both medicine and popular culture on shaping of attitudes toward diet, exercise, alcohol, drugs, sex, and other health behavior.

MHE 483 The Rise and Development of Sports Medicine (3) &S Berryman Evolution of medical thought related to exercise for good health, training for sport participation, and treatment of sport-related injuries. Begins with ancient period, concludes with present. Development of specialization in sports medicine, sport team physicians, preventive medicine, concepts of fitness and wellness as related to exercise prescription, and exercise science.

MHE 485 Concepts of the Body in Nineteenth- and Twentieth-Century America (3) &S Berryman Investigation of ideas relating to corporeal self in nineteenth- and twentieth-century America. Evolution of physical ideals of manliness/femininity, how ideals related to surrounding culture, how different bodily activities developed to realize ideals. Athleticism, physiognomy, beauty contests, body building, decorations, cosmetics, anthropometry, and phrenology.

MHE 497 Medical History and Ethics Special anthropometry, and phrenology.

MHE 498 Undergraduate Thesis (*)

MHE 499 Undergraduate Research (*, max. 5) Investigative work in biomedical ethics or history of the biomedical sciences.

MHE 501 Alternative Approaches to Healing (2) Schneeweiss Philosophies and practices of the major alternative approaches to healing. Historical characterization of alternative medicine accompanied by presentations by practitioners of chiropractic, naturopathic, homeopathic, and traditional Chinese medicine. Credit/no credit only.

MHE 505 Professional Seminar I (3) Methods for identifying a bioethics research question and developing a systematic approach to investigating it, including utilization of bibliographic sources in bioethics, philosophy, history. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

MHE 506 Professional Seminar II (2) Capstone course for M.A. in Bioethics. Includes conducting research in ethics, writing, giving oral presentations, facilitating seminars, developing curriculum vitae, and career planning.

MHE 511 P-Medical Ethics (2) Ethics course designed especially for first-and second-year medical students. Study of ethical problems arising in clinical setting of medicine, introducing students to philosophical analysis and argument in practical contexts. Seminar-discussion format with readings from contemporary authors. Credit/no credit only.

MHE 512 P-The Human Face of Medicine (2) Foundation of human values underlying medical practice. Images of physician motivations for medicine, empathy versus detachment in doctor-patient relationship, health for the health-professional — the art of coping with limits of power — when medicine fails to cure, uses/abuses of technology, physician's role in public health issues, the healing process.

MHE 513 P-Ethical Responsibilities of Medical Practice (2) Provides intensive and practical guidance about management of principal ethical and legal problems that arise in clinical practice: informed consent, confidentiality, decisions regarding life-support, advance directives and surrogate decision-makers, duty to care for indigent and risky patients. Offered: one-week intensive; S.

MHE 514 Legal, Ethical, and Social Issues in Public Health Genetics (3) Kuszier, Mastroianni Equips the student to anticipate and assess potential legal, ethical, and social barriers complicating the incursion of new genetic advances, information, and technologies into public and private health care delivery efforts. Prerequisite: GENET 371 or equivalent. Offered: jointly with LAW H 504/PHG 512.

MHE 515 Public Commentary on Ethical Issues in Health Genetics (3) Explores issues in public health genetics through academic commentary, personal experiences, science fiction, and film using ethical frameworks from narrative ethics, feminist ethics, and principlism. Includes cloning, assisted reproduction, prenatal genetic testing, presymptomatic genetic testing, gene therapies, scientific responsibility, and GMOs. Graduate students only. Offered: jointly with PHG 525.

MHE 516 Ethical Frameworks for Public Health Genetics (2) Mastroianni Case-based application of ethical principles in genetics to range of problems arising in genetics practice, policy, research. Examination of traditional problems including eugenics and testing/screening for genetic disease, as well as emerging problems in population and environmental genetics. Prerequisite: MHE 514/PHG 512. Offered: jointly with PHG 522.

MHE 517 Preclinical Hospice Volunteer Training Elective (3) Farber, McCormick Using lectures, small groups, role play, and readings, covers the basic skills and attitudes that need to be mastered as a hospice volunteer. Students participate as hospice volunteers as part of their field experience. Offered: jointly with FAMED 546.

MHE 518 Spirituality in Health Care (2) Farber, McCormick Examination of the beliefs, values, meaning, and spirituality of health professionals for the well-being of their patients as well as for themselves. Offered: jointly with FAMED 547/ SOC W 587.

MHE 521 The Ethical Challenges of Modern Medicine (3) McCormick Case-study approach to contemporary ethical issues in medicine, utilizing techniques of ethical analysis and argument in examining actual cases arising in our pluralistic culture, where values are often in conflict. Open to graduate and professional students and others with appropriate background.

MHE 522 Ethical Problems Surrounding Death (3) McCormick Examination of in care and treatment of dying patients and their families, including truthful disclosure, use of life-supports, “euthanasia,” coping with death and grief. Intersection of patient and professional values related to care in terminal phase of illness. Open to graduate and professional students and others with appropriate background.

MHE 523 Biomedical Ethics (3) McCormick Selected topics in medical ethics emphasizing methods of ethical reasoning about moral dilemmas and contributions of philosophical theories and principles to practical problems of medicine. Students provided with opportunities to test their value assumptions and analytical skills. Open to graduate and professional students and others with appropriate background.

MHE 530 Genetic Discovery in Medicine and Public Health (3) Burke Addresses the clinical and societal implications of genetic knowledge, with an emphasis on the ethical and policy issues surrounding the use of genetic technology in medicine and public health from 1900 to the present. Offered: jointly with PHG 542.

MHE 536 Research Ethics and Regulation (3) Mastroianni Explores the ethical principles and concepts and U.S. laws related to (1) research conducted with animals, (2) research on humans, and (3) the responsible conduct of research Required for graduate students in the Department of Medical History and Ethics, School of Medicine. Offered: jointly with LAW H 536.

MHE 541 Exercise in Modern Medicine (1) Berryman Survey of role and place of exercise in modern medicine. Historical and contemporary analysis of physical activity and sports medicine in the American health system. Presentations by clinicians about their experiences in: orthopaedics, exercise physiology, sports nutrition, sports psychology, pediatric sports medicine, special issues of female athletes, environmental medicine.

MHE 542 Legal and Ethical Issues in Advanced Practice Nursing (3) Shannon Reviews selected ethical issues in health care and legal guidelines relevant to health care decision-making. Explores bioethics as a type of applied ethics. Focuses on preparing students for ethical challenges in advanced nursing roles. Offered: jointly with NURS 522.

MHE 548 Introduction to Clinical Ethics (5) Burke Introduction to history, practice, and research methods in clinical ethics. Case-based examination of methods including principism, casuistry, narrative methods, virtue ethics. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

MHE 549 Current Topics in Clinical Ethics I (3) Dudzinski Analysis of complex ethical cases from UW SOM clinical departments, literature, and media. Case discussion focuses on implications for delivery of medical care. Prerequisite: MHE 548 or permission of instructor.

MHE 550 Current Topics in Clinical Ethics II (3) Fryer-Edwards Analysis of complex ethical cases from UW SOM clinical departments, literature, and media. Case discussion focuses on public policy implications. Prerequisite: MHE 548 or permission of instructor.

MHE 551 Human Genomics: Science, Ethics, and Society (4) Fullerton Places recent advances in human molecular genetics and genomics in ethical and social context. Focuses on the rise of population-based approaches to complex trait mapping and their impact on societal understandings of community, ancestry, and public health. Prerequisite: GENOME 371;
GENOME 372; PHG 512; or instructor permission. Offered: jointly with PHG 551; A.

MHE 552 Advanced Qualitative Methods (4) Starkes Examines and compares phenomenology, discourse analysis, and grounded theory. Reviews the history of ideas and critically reads examples of published articles to appreciate how each method frames questions and produces different analyses.

MHE 595 Ethics Practicum (1-6, max. 6) Students participate in clinical ethics rounds, case discussions, review of research protocols, or other professional activities related to bioethics. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: by permission of instructor.

MHE 596 Masters Research Project (11-12), max. 12) Research project culminating in a scholarly paper suitable for publication in a peer-reviewed journal. Credit/no credit only. Majors only.

MHE 597 Special Topics in Medical Ethics (1-, max. 15) Various special topics in medical ethics. Offered: AWSpS.

MHE 600 Independent Study or Research (*) See University Conjoint Courses.

Medicine

MED 498 Undergraduate Thesis (*) Paauw Offered: AWSpS.

MED 499 Undergraduate Research (*) Paauw Case studies, with laboratory research. Available to undergraduates and medical students. Offered: AWSpS.

MED 505 P-Preceptorship in Medicine (1) Paauw To provide opportunity for first- and second-year medical students to gain personal experience with medical practice situations by being stationed with carefully selected clinical faculty members in their offices. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of department. Offered: AWSpS.

MED 506 P-Emergency Medicine Preceptorship (1) Joe, Richling Provides opportunities for first- and second-year medical students to gain experience working in an emergency setting. Students shadow faculty in Emergency Medicine during their shifts. Includes learning about common conditions seen in the emergency department and the opportunity to work on history taking and physical exam skills. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

MED 510 Health Issues of Sexual Minorities (1) Greenberg Introduction to the special health care needs and issues of people identifying as bisexual, gay, lesbian, or transgendered. Includes lectures, panels, and case presentations by faculty and community experts. Offered: Sp.

MED 530 AIDS: A Multidisciplinary Approach (2) Hawes Comprehensive overview of the public health, clinical, and laboratory aspects of human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) infection and disease. Topics include the pathogenesis, natural history, and management of (HIV) infections. The impact of HIV/AIDS on community and global health care and prospects for prevention and control. Credit/no credit only. Offered: jointly with EPI 530/GLOBLH 570; A.

MED 531 P-Human Genetics (*) Stamatakisopoulos Weekly seminar dealing with a variety of topics in medical genetics given by faculty of the Division of Medical Genetics and related departments and divisions. Open to medical students with a good foundation in genetics. Offered: AWSpS.

MED 533 P-Clinical Endocrinology (2) Cummings Emphasis on the most major and dependable symptoms, signs, laboratory tests, and therapy for clinical endocrinopathies. Patient illustrated. Limited to second-year medical students. Offered: W.

MED 534 Wilderness Medicine (1) Dickemnas Provides training in medical emergencies and clinical situations unique to wilderness settings where access to medical care is limited. Experience gained in patient assessment and the management of common wilderness situations including altitude illness, burns, trauma, diving injuries, hypo- and hyperthermia, and toxin exposures.

MED 546 Clinical Applications of Gene Therapy (2) Lieber Overview of the current status of gene therapy. Discusses its role in the future practice of medicine. Lecture and literature reviews. Offered: S.

MED 547 Quantitative Methods in Medical Genetics (2) Computational methods of use for medical genetics. Review of problem sets. Topics range from basic probability to linkage analysis. Prerequisite: genetics and permission of instructor.

MED 549 Clinical Medical Genetics (1) Review of current clinical advances in medical genetics. Includes lectures and discussion of cases from medical genetics clinic. Prerequisite: genetics or human genetics and permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

MED 550 P-An Introduction to Emergency Medicine (1) Mengert Presentation of common medical and surgical emergencies and their urgent management, especially within the framework of rapid patient assessment and stabilization. Lecture topics include chest pain and myocardial infarction, basic arrhythmia management, and burn and wound care. Offered: Sp.

CONJ 550 P-Clinical Infectious Diseases (3) Spach See Conj Joint Courses.

MED 555 P-Mind, Body, and Pen: Writing and the Art of Becoming a Physician (1) Provides forum for medical students to write about issues in medicine and medical education. Focuses on writing as a process for giving voice to the conflicting demands and dilemmas of becoming a physician. Explores personal narratives, dreams and disappointments, chronic illness and death, empathy and revulsion, authenticity and power. Offered: W.

UCONJ 555 Principles of STD/HIV Research (3) Lukehart See University Conj Joint Courses.

MED 556 Visual Thinking: How to Observe in Depth (1) Uses Visual Thinking Strategies to look at art and enhance diagnostic acumen. Expands observational and critical thinking skills, and encourages open-ended discussion. Skills applied in assessing patients. Combination of slide sessions and observation of original objects at Seattle museums.

MED 560 P-Advanced Global Health (2) Kimball Prepares health profession students for work in developing countries. Includes health care delivery systems, political, social, and economic determinants of health, major global health issues, and personal well-being while abroad. Lecture and seminar format with guest speakers, student presentations, and discussion. Offered: Sp.

MED 561 Tropical Medicine (1) Intended for professional health science students interested in learning the pathophysiology, epidemiology, and clinical presentation of disease conditions that are more commonly seen in less-developed countries, resource-limited settings, or tropical climates, and how to diagnose, treat, and follow the resolution of these diseases with commonly limited resources. Credit/no credit only.

MED 565 P-The Healer's Art: Awakening the Heart of Medicine (1) Wicks Encourages cultivation of human dimensions in practice of medicine while strengthening personal commitment to medicine as a life's work. Facilitates student recognition of commonality of personal concerns among peers and student response to the dimension of mystery in the experience of illness as well as development the capacity for awe. Offered: W.

MED 599 P-Transfusion Machine (3) Reiner Group discussions and didactic sessions cover broad category of transfusion medicine. Hands-on laboratory experience in red cell serology/compatibility, coagulation, and histocompatibility with emphasis on diagnosis and management of clinical problems. Based at Puget Sound Blood Center. Prerequisite: fourth-year medical student standing; third-year student standing with permission of instructor.

MED 604 P-Clinical Preceptorship in Internal Medicine (8) Shima (Forke) Working closely with primary-care physicians, the student is exposed to the private practice of internal medicine in a small community. Operating on a one-to-one basis with an internist, the student evaluates and manages inpatients and outpatients on a primary care, consultative, and emergency basis. Prerequisite: MED 665. Offered: W. (four weeks, full-time.)

MED 630 P-WRITE Medicine Clinical Clerkship (*, max. 24) Basic clinical clerkship for students enrolled in the WRITE Program. Prerequisite: completion of basic curriculum; third- and fourth-year students; acceptance in the WRITE program.

MED 640 P-Dermatology Clinic (*, max. 5) Olerud Students attend dermatology clinic on Monday mornings and Thursday afternoons for twelve weeks. Two half-days per week. Prerequisite: MED 665. Offered: AWSpS.

MED 642 P-Clinical Oncology (8) Stewart (Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center) Students functioning as primary physicians are responsible for the workups and daily care of patients receiving marrow transplants, high-dose chemotherapy or immunotherapy on an intensive-care research ward. Emphasis is on the management and supportive care of patients with pancytopenia and immunosuppression, transplantation biology, cancer chemotherapy, and infectious disease problems. Prerequisite: MED 665. Offered: W. (four weeks.) Offered: AWSpS.

MED 644 P-Management of Sexually Transmitted Diseases (2) Golden, Handfield
Instruction and clinical experience in diagnosis, treatment, management, and patient counseling of sexually transmitted diseases. Instruction in genitourinary physical examination skills; relevant laboratory techniques and management of patients with STDs. Prior to the elective, each student must review a packet of didactic materials.

MED 655 P-Advanced Medical Genetics (*, max. 5) Jarvik, Horvitz, Stamatoyanopoulos Summer course intended for third-year students who would like to increase their background in specific areas of medical genetics. Involves seeing patients with the instructor, reviewing the literature, analyzing clinical information, and writing a review on a selected topic. Prerequisite: HUBIO 554. Offered: S.

MED 655 P-Clinical HIV Care (8) Harrington Full-time outpatient and inpatient elective in HIV care for senior medical students. Students see patients for routine care and acute medical problems that do not require hospitalization, as well as provide inpatient consults. Prerequisite: MED 665.

MED 656 P-Clinical Nutrition (8) E. Bruenner, Purnell, Weigle Instruction in nutritional assessment and care of both inpatients and outpatients. Students work with preceptors at a variety of hospital and clinic teaching sites, attend nutrition-related seminars, and practice interview skills on standardized patients. Prerequisite: HUBIO 668; MED 665.

MED 660 P-Emergency Medicine Clerkship (*, max. 16) Copass, Strote Clerkship emphasizes the management of ambulatory emergencies, severely injured, and critically ill patients. Requirement can be met at either HMC or UWMC Emergency Departments. Prerequisite: FAMED; MED; OB/GYN; PEDS; PBSCI; and SURG required clerkships.

MED 661 Emergency Medicine Elective (8) Basics of emergency medicine, including the primary survey, secondary survey, and approach to the critically ill patient. Students supervised by emergency boarded staff physicians at Madigan Army Medical Center Emergency Department. Prerequisite: basic clerkship in medicine, surgery, obstetrics, or pediatrics.

MED 665 P-Clinical Clerkship (*, max. 24) Pauw Third-year medical students assume increasing responsibility for care of hospitalized patients in a teaching-hospital setting and participate in a four-week outpatient experience emphasizing continuity of care. Daily rounds with resident and attending physicians, with lectures and conferences. Progress evaluated by supervising physicians and a written examination. (Twelve weeks, full-time.) Offered: AWPSP.

MED 666 P-Advanced Clinical Clerkship in Internal Medicine-WWAMI (12) Pauw Advanced clinical clerkship in internal medicine in three small urban communities. Supervised, structured experience in dealing with situations commonly encountered by the practicing internist. Continuity of care and the relationship between care given in the ambulatory setting and in the hospital, as well as by other community health services, is emphasized. Prerequisite: MED 665. (Six weeks, full time. Limit: six students.) Offered: AWPSP.

CONJ 677 P-Clinical Allergy and Immunology (*, max. 12) Henderson See Conjoint Courses.

MED 678 P-Clinical Dermatology (8) E. Otten Full-time inpatient-outpatient clerkship in dermatology. Instruction and clinical experience in diagnosis and treatment of skin diseases, and surgical procedures. Prerequisite: MED 665. Offered: AWPSP.

MED 679 P-Clinical Gastroenterology (8) Lee, Novan (Sacred Heart Spokane) Participation in consulting ward rounds, conferences, and selected clinics with full-time divisional staff at University and Veterans Administration hospitals, and at Pacific and Harborview medical centers, plus directed tutorial work. Prerequisite: MED 665. (Four weeks, full-time.) Offered: AWPSP.

MED 680 P-Rheumatology (8) E. Otten Full-time inpatient-outpatient clerkship in rheumatology. Clinical experience provided in diagnosis and treatment of rheumatic diseases, utilizing outpatient and inpatient-hospitalized patients at the University of Washington Medical Center, Harborview Medical Center, or VAMC. Emphasis on concepts in pathophysiology, diagnosis, and treatment of these diseases. In addition to patient contact, reading, seminars, and preceptorship sessions are the methods of instruction. Prerequisite: MED 665. Offered: AWPSP.

MED 681 P-Dermatologic Surgery (8) Dermatologic surgery elective for senior medical students. Instruction in Mohs surgery, conventional skin surgery, cosmetic procedures, wound healing and closure, and intraoperative and postoperative patient management. Prerequisite: MED 665.

MED 682 P-Clinical Cardiology and Electrocardiography (8) Caldwell (Seattle V.A. Hospital), Corson (Harborview Medical Center), Herzog (Anchorage Veterans Administration Hospital), Masette (Madigan Hospital Medical Center), Nelson (Spokane), Otto (University of Washington Medical Center) Clinical clerkship in clinical cardiology-combined inpatient-outpatient assignments, ECG interpretation. Prerequisite: MED 665. (Four weeks.) Offered: AWPSP.

MED 683 P-Clinical Respiratory Disease and Critical Care Medicine (8) Lakshminarayanan (Seattle V.A. Hospital), Pierson (Harborview Medical Center), Roth (Madigan) Thompson (Boise Veterans Administration Medical Center), Tonelli (University of Washington Medical Center) Training in respiratory disease diagnosis and pulmonary therapy, with special emphasis on cardiopulmonary function testing and interpretation. Inpatient and outpatient teaching rounds, conferences, and basic science integration. Prerequisite: MED 665. (Four weeks.) Offered: AWPSP.

MED 684 P-Clinical Hematology/Oncology (8) Abkowitz (University of Washington Medical Center), Broudy (Harborview Medical Center), Collins (Boise Veterans Administration Medical Center), Roth (Seattle V.A. Hospital), Zuckerman (Boise Veterans Administration Medical Center) Outpatient and inpatient experience with hematologic/oncologic disorders. The elective includes teaching rounds, conferences, and evaluation of laboratory work. Prerequisite: MED 665. (Four weeks.) Offered: AWPSP.

MED 685 P-Clinical Genetics (*, max. 24) Bird, Byers, Motulsky, Stamatoyanopoulos Full-time clinical clerkship in medical genetics. Provides extensive exposure to variety of genetic diseases and genetic counseling. Students work in three clinics (Monday, Tuesday, Thursday), responsive to in-house consults, and attend rounds at Children’s Hospital and Medical Center and University of Washington Medical Center and seminars at University of Washington Medical Center (Wednesday, Friday). Prerequisite: MED 665. Offered: AWPSP.

MED 686 Medical Consultation (8) Hamlin Full-time outpatient and inpatient elective in perioperative medical consultation for senior medical students. Students see patients in the medical consultation clinic, then follow them daily when they come in for surgery. Prerequisite: MED 665. Offered: AWPSP.

MED 688 P-Ward Medicine Subinternship (*, max. 24) Harvey (Anchorage), R. Jones (Madigan Hospital Medical Center), McGee (Veterans Administration Medical Center), Pauw (University of Washington Medical Center), Schoene (Providence), Sheffield (Harborview Medical Center) Students act in the capacity of interns on the medical wards under supervision of house staff and visiting physicians. They attend all regular medicine rounds and conferences as their schedules permit. Prerequisite: MED 665. (Four or six weeks.) Offered: AWPSP.

MED 689 P-Clinical Infectious Diseases (8) Stamm (University of Washington Medical Center) Students participate in the consulting service throughout the hospital, attend daily plate rounds, conferences, and seminars. (Four weeks.) Corey (Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center), Holmes (Harborview Medical Center), Miller (Seattle V.A. Hospital), Morris (Madigan Army Medical Center), Novan (Spokane), Stevens (Boise Veterans Administration Hospital). Participate in consulting service throughout hospital to learn microbiological aspects of infectious diseases through the clinical laboratories. Prerequisite: MED 665. (Four weeks.) Offered: AWPSP.

MED 690 P-Cardiology Subinternship (8) Otto (University of Washington Medical Center) Students act in the capacity of interns on the cardiology service under the supervision of house officer. Prerequisite: MED 665. (Four weeks.) Offered: AWPSP.

MED 691 P-Primary Care (8/12) Pauw Six-week, full-time ambulatory care block in primary care internal medicine. Students participate in several clinics at University of Washington Medical Center following a panel of patients in medicine, rheumatology, and virology clinics. Prerequisite: MED 665 and permission of instructor. Offered: AWPSP.

MED 692 P-Clinical Endocrinology and Metabolism (*, max. 12) Weigle (Seattle-based program); Bunner (Madigan) Clerkship in clinical endocrinology and metabolism combined inpatient and outpatient assignments at selected hospitals. Prerequisite: MED 665. Offered: AWPSP.
Microbiology

MICROM 101 Microbes and Society (5) NW Anderson, Bril Designed for liberal arts majors and students not majoring in the biological sciences. Focuses on activities of bacteria, viruses, and other microorganisms, and their influence on humans. Microbe-related topics include disease, bioterrorism, food, biotechnology, and ecology. Examines the nature of scientific inquiry, along with major biological concepts. Offered: W.

MICROM 301 General Microbiology (3) NW Anderson, Lara, Nester Acquaints students with microorganisms and their activities. Topics include microbial cell structure and function, metabolism, microbial genetics, and the role of microorganisms in disease, immunity, and other selected applied areas. Prerequisite: either CHEM 120, CHEM 140, CHEM 142, or CHEM 145; recommended: biology; organic chemistry. Offered: ASpS.

MICROM 302 General Microbiology Laboratory (2) NW Anderson, Chandler, Gray Laboratory course primarily for students taking 301. Covers a variety of microbiological techniques, with experiments designed to illustrate major concepts of bacteriology, virology, and immunology. No auditors. Recommended: MICROM 301 which may be taken concurrently. Offered: ASpS.

MICROM 402 Fundamentals of General Microbiology (3) NW Fulton, Gray Isolation of a broad range of nonpathogenic bacteria from natural sources, using selective and enrichment techniques, with microscopic, biochemical, and molecular identification. Related exercises include genetics, physiology, quantitation, and growth energetics. Prerequisite: either BIOL 200 or BIOL 201; recommended: MICROM 410 which may be taken concurrently. Offered: ASp.

MICROM 410 Fundamentals of General Microbiology I (3) NW Lara, Traxler Survey of the microbial world, metabolism, biosynthesis, regulation, classification, and function. Required for students majoring in microbiology; recommended for students majoring in biology. Prerequisite: either BIOL 200 or BIOL 201; either CHEM 223, CHEM 237, or CHEM 355. Offered: A.

MICROM 411 Gene Action (5) NW Gray, Libby, Manoll Molecular genetics: description of fundamental genetic processes such as mutation, repair, genetic exchange, recombination, and gene expression. Use of genetic strategies to analyze complex biological processes. Focuses on prokaryotic organisms. Prerequisite: either BIOL 200 or BIOL 201; either CHEM 223, CHEM 237, or CHEM 355. Offered: jointly with Genome 411: W.

MICROM 412 Fundamentals of General Microbiology II (3) NW Leigh Structure, biochemical properties, and genetics of the major groups of prokaryotes. Prerequisite: either BIOL 200, BIOL 201, or BIOL 203; recommended: either CHEM 223, CHEM 237, or CHEM 355; MICROM 410. Offered: Sp.

MICROM 431 Prokaryotic Recombinant DNA Techniques (3) NW Anderson, Chandler Laboratory course emphasizing concepts and techniques/methodologies in recombinant DNA research employing bacteria and their viruses. Topics and experiments/demonstrations include genomic and plasmid DNA isolation, restriction mapping, cloning, transposon mutagenesis, sequencing, and Western and Southern blotting. No auditors. Prerequisite: either BIOL 200, BIOL 201, or MICROM 301. Offered: W.

MICROM 435 Microbial Ecology (3) NW Staley Consideration of the various roles that microorganisms, particularly bacteria and cyanobacteria, play in environmental processes. The interrelationships among microorganisms and the effects of the physical, chemical, and biological properties of their environment are discussed and assessed. Prerequisite: either BIOL 180, BIOL 201, or BIOL 203. Offered: even years; Sp.

MICROM 440 Introductory Bacteriology for Medical Technologists (1) NW Anderson Limited introduction to basic microbiology, with focus on structure, metabolism, and genetics of medically important organisms. Open only to medical technology students. Credit/no credit only. Offered: A.

MICROM 441 Introduction to Immunology (4) NW General properties of immune responses, cells and tissues of immune system; lymphocyte activation and specificity; effector mechanisms; immunity to microbes; immunodeficiency and AIDS; autoimmune diseases; transplantation. Prerequisite: either BIOL 220 or BIOL 202; recommended: either GENET 371, GENET 372, BIOL 405, or BIOL 440. Offered: jointly with IMMUN 441; A.

MICROM 442 Medical Bacteriology (3) NW Cookson, Fulton Medically important bacterial pathogens are discussed in terms of the clinical, therapeutic, and epidemiological aspects of diseases caused by them, molecular mechanisms of pathogenesis and their identification in the clinical laboratory. Laboratory course 443 coordinates. Prerequisite: either BIOL 200 or BIOL 201; recommended: MICROM 410; MICROM 441. Offered: W.

MICROM 443 Medical Microbiology Laboratory (3) NW Anderson, Chandler, Fulton Required for medical technology students, microbiology majors; elective for medical students. Procedures for isolation and identification of pathogenic bacteria, testing their susceptibility to antibiotics. No auditors. Prerequisite: either BIOL 200 or BIOL 201; recommended: MICROM 410. Offered: AW.

MICROM 444 Medical Mycology and Parasitology (4) NW Anderson, Fulton, Schmer, White Consideration of medically important fungi and parasites, with emphasis on their biology in relation to disease and its laboratory diagnosis. For medical technology students, microbiology majors, and medical students as an elective. Prerequisite: either BIOL 200 or BIOL 201; recommended: immunology. Offered: Sp.

MICROM 445 Medical Virology (2) NW Lagunoff An introductory course emphasizing basic understanding of medical virology and viral pathogenesis. The biochemical, replication, host-parasite relationships and pathogenesis of animal viruses are examined. Prerequisite: either BIOL 180, BIOL 200, or BIOL 201; Sp.

MICROM 450 Molecular Biology of Viruses (3) NW Champoux Introduction to the molecular biology of viruses and virus-host relationships. Designed for advanced undergraduates and graduate students in the biological sciences. Coverage includes bacterial and animal viruses, with an emphasis on the molecular mechanisms of viral gene expression and regulation. Prerequisite: either BIOL 200 or BIOL 201; recommended: MICROM 410, MICROM 411, GENET 371, or GENET 372. Offered: W.

MICROM 482 Peer Teaching Assistants in Microbiology (1-5, max. 10) Direct experience in teaching a microbiology laboratory class. Peer TAs attend concurrent accompanying lecture course, meet weekly to coordinate, give introductory lab remarks, supervise the execution of lab exercises, and assist in preparing/grading of quizzes/exams. Training in teaching techniques, approaches. Student evaluation provided. CR/NC only. Prerequisite: MICROM 402; MICROM 410. Offered: AWSpS.

MICROM 490 Aquatic Microbiology (3) NW Herwig Basic principles of aquatic microbiology and aquatic microbial ecology: role and identity of aquatic microorganisms; introduction to modern methodologies for research. Laboratory work with local freshwater and marine samples for those enrolled in the five-credit section.
Recommended: 15 credits of biological science, 10 credits of chemistry. Offered: jointly with FISH 490; Sp, odd years.

MICROM 495 Honors Undergraduate Research (*) - Leigh Specific problems in microbiology or immunology. Offered: AWSpS.

MICROM 496 Undergraduate Library Research (2) An introduction to library research techniques and to microbiological literature. Staff assign a topic and supervise the project. Offered: AWSpS.

MICROM 499 Undergraduate Laboratory Research (*) - Leigh Specific problems in microbiology or immunology. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

MICROM 500 Introduction to Research (*, max. 20) Introduction to research areas of the faculty and the techniques employed in their investigations. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in microbiology or permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

MICROM 510 Physiology of Bacteria (3) Harwood Topics of current interest concerning the molecular biology and physiology of bacteria. Prerequisite: MICROM 410 and BIOC 440, 441, and 442, or permission of instructor. Offered: odd years; W.

MICROM 520 Seminar (1) Leigh Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSp.

MICROM 522 Current Research in Microbiology (1) Champoux Weekly student and faculty seminar presentations based on the current literature. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in microbiology. Offered: AWSp.

MICROM 526 Research of Cell Surface Problems (1) Traylor Weekly research seminar and discussion of scientific literature pertaining to the process of membrane protein biogenesis. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

MICROM 529 Mechanisms of Bacterial Pathogenesis (1) Fang Student and faculty seminar presentations based on current research pertaining to mechanisms of bacterial pathogenesis at the molecular and cellular levels. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate standing in microbiology. Offered: AWSp.

MICROM 530 Evolution of Prokaryotic Diversity (3) Leigh Evolution, diversity, and genomics of prokaryotic microorganisms. Lectures, discussions, and reading of current literature. Open to graduate students in the biological sciences and advanced undergraduates with permission of instructor. Offered: even years; W.

MICROM 531 Prokaryotic Diversity and Evolution Laboratory (2) Leigh Enrichment, isolation, and molecular phylogenetic characterization of selected prokaryotic organisms. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: even years; W.

MICROM 532 Seminar in General Microbiology (1, max. 15) Leigh Weekly seminar concerning research topics in the genetics and biochemistry of selected bacteria. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: MICROM 410, permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

MICROM 533 Herpesvirus Research Meeting (1) Lagunoff Weekly research seminar and discussion of scientific literature pertaining to the study of molecular virology of Kaposi’s Sarcoma-associated herpesvirus. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

MICROM 534 Research Seminar in Salmonella Pathogenesis (1) Fang Provides a formal group setting for discussion and evaluation of a student's research progress. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

MICROM 553 Molecular Mechanisms of Bacterial Pathogenesis (3) Collins Mechanisms of bacterial pathogenesis explored at the molecular, genetic, and cellular levels through selected models as presented in the current scientific literature. Prerequisite: MICROM 411 or equivalent. Offered: odd years; A.

MICROM 554 Seminar in Molecular and Medical Microbiology (1, max. 15) Collins, Cookson Weekly one-hour seminar in which recent advances in molecular biology of microbial pathogenesis or the current research of the participants is presented and discussed critically. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSp.

MICROM 555 Advanced Clinical Microbiology (2.5) Limaye Attendance at daily plate rounds of the Division of Clinical Microbiology. Designed to increase understanding of clinical microbiological work and its application to the care of the patient. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: MICROM 443 and permission of instructor. Offered: AWSp.

MICROM 556 Research and Journal Club in Retrovirology (1) Linial Weekly research seminar and discussion of literature in areas of retroviral replication and transformation. Prerequisite: graduate or permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

MICROM 562 Oncogene and Retrovirus Research Seminar (1) Linial, Overbaugh Weekly discussions on ongoing research related to retroviral replication, retroviral oncogenes and pathology. Prerequisite: graduate standing or permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

MICROM 563 Research Seminar in Mycobacterial Pathogenesis (1) Ramakrishnan Discussion of research topics in the study of the pathogenesis of tuberculosis and the microbial and host factors contributing to this complex infection. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

MICROM 565 Research in Cell and Molecular Biology (1, max. 15) Champoux Weekly research seminar. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

MICROM 588 Research in Applied Microbiology (1) Lidstrom Weekly research seminar and discussion of scientific literature pertaining to applied microbiology. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with CHEM E 588; AWSpS.

MICROM 599 Research Presentations (2) Current research review. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

MICROM 600 Independent Study or Research (*) Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

MICROM 700 Master's Thesis (*) Credit/no credit only.

MICROM 800 Doctoral Dissertation (*) Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

Molecular Medicine

MOLMED 514 Molecular Medicine (3) Rosen Graduate-level introduction to the interplay of basic science and clinical medicine. Covers inflammation, vascular disease, metabolic disorders, cancer biology, and molecular, gene-, and cell-based therapies. Each topic introduced with a patient history. Offered: jointly with CONJ 514; W.

Neurological Surgery

NEUR S 498 Undergraduate Thesis (*) Avellino, Bobola, D'Ambrosio, Ellenbogen, Horner, Moroud, Morrison, Rostomily, Sekar Offered: AWSpS.

NEUR S 499 Undergraduate Research (*) Avellino, Bobola, D'Ambrosio, Ellenbogen, Horner, Moroud, Morrison, Rostomily, Silber Investigation of special problems as an intimate member of the research team in the neurological surgery laboratories. Research to lead to a thesis, if desired. List of projects available on request. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

NEUR S 505 P-Preceptorship in Academic Neurosurgery (1) Avellino, Britz, Ellenbogen, Goodkin, Klotz, J. Ojemann, Rostomily, Sekar, Silbergeld Opportunity for first- and second-year medical students to observe the research, teaching, and patient-care activities of academic neurosurgery. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

NEUR S 542 Clinical and Basic Research Correlates of Epilepsy (2) Avellino, G. Ojemann, J. Ojemann, Silbergeld Clinical symptoms and treatment of epilepsy; related basic research in neuroanatomy, neurophysiology, neuropsychology, and neuropharmacology of epilepsy. Prerequisite: HUBIO 532 for medical students; permission of instructor for others.

NEUR S 680 P-Neurological Surgery Clerkship (*, max. 8) Avellino, Ellenbogen Student serves clinical clerkship as an intimate member of the staff, participating in inpatient and outpatient care, both preoperative and postoperative, involving neurological surgery patients. University of Washington Medical Center or a University-affiliated hospital may be selected, subject to approval of the department. Prerequisite: HUBIO 563. (Four weeks.) Offered: AWSpS.

NEUR S 697 P-Neurological Surgery Special Electives (*, max. 24) Avellino, Ellenbogen By specific arrangement, for qualified students, special clerkship, externship, or research opportunities can be made available at institutions other than the University of Washington. Students wishing to elect this course should obtain from the Dean’s office a special assignment form at least one month before preregistration. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.
Neurology

NEURL 495 Community Rehabilitation of the Neurologically Impaired: Internship (*), max. 5) Fraser, Clemons Supervised work with a neurologically disabled vocational rehabilitation population within a multidisciplinary vocational rehabilitation unit. Offered: AWSpS.

NEURL 499 Undergraduate Research (*, max. 25) Provides an opportunity to gain research experience and direct participation in clinical or basic science investigation in neurological topics. Offered: AWSpS.

NEURL 505 P-Preceptorship in Neurology (1) Kraus Provides an opportunity for first and second-year medical students to gain personal experience with neurology practice situations by being stationed with carefully selected faculty members in their offices. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: Sp.

NEURL 536 Topics in Clinical Neurology (1) Spain Lectures on epilepsy, stroke, coma, drug overdose, dementia, headache, myelopathies, infectious disease. Offered: S.

NEURL 555 Frontiers in Neuroimmunology (1) Moeller Current concepts and developments in neuroimmunology. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: either NBIO 301 or IMMUN 441. Offered: AWSpS.

NEURL 559 Neurobiology of Disease (3) Garden, Moeller, Neuhauser, Weiss Introduces medically important neurological and psychiatric diseases and experimental approaches to understanding the basis for diseases and their treatments. Covers stroke, epilepsy, autoimmune diseases of the CNS, neurodegenerative diseases, autism, psychosis, anxiety disorders and mood disorders. Offered: jointly with NEUBEH 559/P BIO 559.

NEURL 634 P-Introduction to Neurology -- Anchorage (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at Alaska Native Medical Center in Anchorage, Alaska. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery, or pediatrics.

NEURL 637 P-Introduction to Neurology -- Missoula (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at Montana Neurobehavioral Specialist in Missoula, MT. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery or pediatrics.

NEURL 638 P-Introduction to Neurology -- Great Falls (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at Advanced Neurology Specialists in Great Falls, Montana. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery or pediatrics.

NEURL 639 P-Introduction to Neurology -- Neurology Associates, Billings (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at Neurology Associates in Billings, Montana. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery, or pediatrics.

NEURL 640 P-Introduction to Neurology -- Billings Clinic (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at Billings Clinic in Billings, Montana. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery, or pediatrics.

NEURL 643 P-Introduction to Neurology -- Dr. Lyons, Boise (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at the office of Dr. George Lyons in Boise, Idaho. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery, or pediatrics.

NEURL 644 P-Introduction to Neurology -- Dr. Vincent, Idaho Falls (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at the office of Dr. Stephen Vincent in Idaho Falls, Idaho. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery, or pediatrics.

NEURL 645 P-Introduction to Neurology -- Dr. Garland, Idaho Falls (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at the office of Dr. Ench Garland in Idaho Falls, Idaho. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery, or pediatrics.

NEURL 647 P-Introduction to Neurology -- Dr. Lindholm, Boise (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at the office of Dr. Karin Lindholm in Boise, Idaho. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery, or pediatrics.

NEURL 648 P-Introduction to Neurology -- Dr. Coats, Coeur d'Alene (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at the office of Dr. Michael Coats in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery, or pediatrics.

NEURL 654 P-Introduction to Neurology -- Dr. Greeley, Spokane (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at the office of Dr. David Greeley in Spokane, Washington. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery, or pediatrics.

NEURL 655 P-Introduction to Neurology -- Dr. Clark, Spokane (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at the office of Dr. Robert Clark in Spokane, Washington. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery, or pediatrics.

NEURL 656 P-Introduction to Neurology -- Wenatchee (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at Wenatchee Valley Medical Center in Wenatchee, Washington. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery, or pediatrics.

NEURL 657 P-Introduction to Neurology -- Dr. Sloop, Yakima (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at the office of Dr. Richard Sloop in Yakima, Washington. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery, or pediatrics.

NEURL 658 P-Introduction to Neurology -- Olympia Neurology (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at Olympia Neurology in Olympia, Washington. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery, or pediatrics.

NEURL 659 P-Introduction to Neurology -- NW Neurology, Lakewood (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at Northwest Neurology, a Franciscan Medical Group clinic, in Lakewood, Washington. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery, or pediatrics.

NEURL 660 P-Introduction to Neurology -- Madigan (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at Madigan Army Medical Center in Tacoma, Washington. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery, or pediatrics.

NEURL 661 P-Introduction to Neurology -- Neurology and Neurosurgery Associates, Tacoma (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at Neurology and Neurosurgery Associates in Tacoma and Puyallup, Washington. Students will spend time at both clinics. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery, or pediatrics.

NEURL 662 P-Introduction to Neurology -- Group Health Tacoma Medical Center in Tacoma, Washington. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery, or pediatrics.

NEURL 663 P-Introduction to Neurology -- Group Health Eastside Specialty Center in Redmond, Washington. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery, or pediatrics.

NEURL 664 P-Introduction to Neurology -- Burien (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at South Seattle Neurology Associates in Burien. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery, or pediatrics.

NEURL 665 P-Introduction to Neurology -- UWMC (8) Kraus Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology, at UWMC. For third- or fourth-year students. Prerequisite: medicine, or family medicine, or surgery, or pediatrics. Offered: AWSpS.

NEURL 666 P-Introduction to Neurology -- HMC (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at Harborview Medical Center in Seattle, Washington. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery, or pediatrics.

NEURL 667 P-Introduction to Neurology -- VA (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at the VA Medical Center in Seattle, Washington. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery, or pediatrics.

NEURL 668 P-Introduction to Neurology -- Northwest Hospital (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at Northwest Hospital in Seattle, Washington. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery, or pediatrics.

NEURL 669 P-Introduction to Neurology -- Virginia Mason (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at Virginia Mason Medical Center in Seattle, Washington. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery, or pediatrics.

NEURL 670 P-Introduction to Neurology -- Minor and James (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at Minor and James Medical in Seattle, Washington. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery, or pediatrics.

NEURL 671 P-Introduction to Neurology -- Swedish (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at Swedish Medical Center in Seattle, Washington. Prerequisite: completion of one required clerkship in medicine, family medicine, surgery, or pediatrics.

NEURL 672 P-Introduction to Neurology -- Group Health, Seattle (8) Provides the medical student with a general understanding of basic clinical neurology at Group Health Cooperative of Puget Sound in Seattle. Students spend time in delivery room, surgery, and clinic, and have a specific preceptor assigned. Prerequisite: HUBIO 565. (Six weeks. Limit: one student.) Not offered summer quarter.

NEURL 673 P-Introduction to Obstetrics and Gynecology, Anchorage (12) Clerkship equivalent to 665 offered at Anchorage, Alaska (WWAMI). Includes experience in several private physicians’ offices as well as Providence Hospital. Prerequisite: HUBIO 565. (Six weeks. Limit: four students.)

NEURL 674 P-Introduction to Obstetrics and Gynecology, Spokane (12) Clerkship equivalent to 665 offered at Spokane (WWAMI). Includes experience in several private physicians’ offices. Prerequisite: HUBIO 565. (Six weeks. Limit: two students.)

NEURL 677 P-Introduction to Obstetrics and Gynecology, Billings (*, max. 12) Clerkship equivalent to OB GYN 665 offered at Billings (WWAMI). Includes experience in several private physicians’ offices. Prerequisite: HUBIO 565. (Six weeks. Limit: one student.)

NEURL 679 P-Neurology Special Electives (*, max. 24) By special arrangement for qualified students, special clerkships or externships may be available at institutions outside the WWAMI region. Students should obtain special assignment form from the Dean’s Office at least one month prior to preregistration. Prerequisite: permission of department advisor. Offered: AWSpS.

NEURL 697 P-Neurology Special Electives (*, max. 24) By special arrangement for qualified students, special clerkships or externships may be available at institutions other than the University of Washington located within the WWAMI region. Prerequisite: permission of advisor. Offered: AWSpS.

Obstetrics and Gynecology

OB GYN 498 Undergraduate Thesis (*) By arrangement.

OB GYN 499 Undergraduate Research (*)

OB GYN 550 P-Voluntary Pregnancy Termination: An Overview of Medical and Social Issues (2) Easterling, Miller A flexible curriculum which allows the medical student to observe in an abortion clinic, read articles and a textbook on abortion. Can be used by medical student as elective credit.

OB GYN 551 Perinatal Care Elective (1) Provide an introduction and overview of perinatal care for first- or second-year medical students with emphasis on late third trimester, labor and delivery, and postpartum. Opportunity to observe the patient-provider relationship. Optional labor and delivery observation. Offered: AWSp.

OB GYN 579 P-Obstetric and Gynecologic Investigation (*) The investigation may cover any one of the following fields: normal and complicated pregnancy, hormone assays in obstetrics and endocrinology, obstetric and gynecologic oncology, genetics. By arrangement.

OB GYN 590 HIV and STIs in Women and Children (3) Examines the emerging global public health crisis and the plight of women and children with HIV/STIs. Reviews targeted approaches pertaining to women and children and their vulnerability to HIV/STIs. Prerequisite: EPI 511 or EPI 512-513. Offered: jointly with EPI 507; Sp.

OB GYN 665 P-Introduction to Obstetrics and Gynecology, UH-HMC (*, max. 12) Introductory clerkship providing comprehensive medical care and counseling to female patients. Includes management and delivery of obstetrical patients, diagnosis and management of gynecologic diseases, hospital rounds, outpatient clinics, seminars, tutorial, and community health-care agencies for women. Rotations occur at UWMC and Harborview Medical Center. Prerequisite: HUBIO 565. (Six weeks. Limit: four students.)

OB GYN 666 P-Introduction to Obstetrics and Gynecology, Boise (*, max. 12) Clerkship equivalent to 665 offered at Boise, Idaho (WWAMI). Includes experience in several private physician offices. Prerequisite: HUBIO 565. (Six weeks. Limit: one student. Not offered summer quarter.)

OB GYN 667 P-Introduction to Obstetrics and Gynecology, Madigan (*, max. 12) Clerkship equivalent to 665 offered at Madigan Army Medical Center, Tacoma. Prerequisite: HUBIO 565. (Six weeks. Limit: three students.)

OB GYN 668 P-Introduction to Obstetrics and Gynecology, Spokane (12) Clerkship equivalent to 665 offered at Spokane (WWAMI). Includes experience in several private physicians’ offices. Prerequisite: HUBIO 565. (Six weeks. Limit: two students.)

OB GYN 669 P-Introduction to Obstetrics and Gynecology, Swedish (12) Clerkship equivalent to 665 offered at Swedish Hospital Medical Center. Prerequisite: HUBIO 565. (Six weeks. Limit: one student.) Not offered summer quarter.

OB GYN 670 P-Introduction to Obstetrics and Gynecology, GH-Central (12) Clerkship equivalent to 665 offered at the Central facility of Group Health Cooperative of Puget Sound in Seattle. Students spend time in delivery room, surgery, and clinic, and have a specific preceptor assigned. Prerequisite: HUBIO 565. (Six weeks. Limit: two students.)

OB GYN 671 P-Introduction to Obstetrics and Gynecology, Anchorage (12) Clerkship equivalent to 665 offered at Anchorage, Alaska (WWAMI). Includes experience in several private physicians’ offices as well as Providence Hospital. Prerequisite: HUBIO 565. (Six weeks. Limit: four students.)

OB GYN 672 P-Introduction to Obstetrics and Gynecology, GH-East (12) Clerkship equivalent to 665 offered at the Eastside facility of Group Health Cooperative of Puget Sound in Redmond. Students spend time in delivery room, surgery, and clinic, and have a specific preceptor assigned. Prerequisite: HUBIO 565. (Six weeks. Limit: one student.)

OB GYN 673 P-Introduction to Obstetrics and Gynecology, Missoula (12) Clerkship equivalent to 665 offered in Missoula, Montana. Students spend time in delivery room, surgery, and clinic, and have a specific preceptor assigned. Prerequisite: HUBIO 565. (Six weeks. Limit: one student.)

OB GYN 677 P-Introduction to Obstetrics and Gynecology, Rock Springs (12) Equivalent of OB GYN 665, offered in Rock Springs, Wyoming. Student rotates among outpatient clinic, labor and delivery, operating suites, and medical/surgical inpatient areas. (Limit: two students.) Offered: AS.

OB GYN 678 P-Introduction to Obstetrics and Gynecology, Billings (*, max. 12) Clerkship equivalent to OB GYN 665 offered at Billings (WWAMI). Includes experience in several private physicians’ offices. Prerequisite: HUBIO 565. (Six weeks. Limit: one student.)

OB GYN 679 P-Introduction to Obstetrics and Gynecology, Cheyenne (*, max. 12) Clerkship
Physician offices. Prerequisite: HUBIO 565. (Six weeks. Limit: one student.)

OB GYN 697 P-Obstetrics and Gynecology Special Electives (°, max. 24) By arrangement, for qualified students, special clerkship or research opportunities can sometimes be made available at other institutions. Students wishing this course should obtain special assignment form one month before preregistration. Department evaluates student performance. Prerequisite: permission of department.

OB GYN 699 P-WWAMI Obstetrics and Gynecology Special Electives (°, max. 24) By special arrangement for qualified students, special clerkships or externships may be available at institutions other than the University of Washington located outside the WWAMI region. A special assignment form must be obtained one month in advance of preregistration. Prerequisite: permission of department.

OPHTH 498 Undergraduate Thesis (°) Kinyoun (University of Washington Medical Center) Thesis-based research in vision and ophthalmology. Elective. Offered: AWSpS.

OPHTH 499 Undergraduate Research (°) Kinyoun (University of Washington Medical Center) Laboratory or clinical research in morphology, biochemistry, immunology, experimental pathology, or clinical studies of the eye and visual system. Offered: AWSpS.

OPHTH 501 P-Ophthalmology Preceptorship (1) Kinyoun Individualized experiences with one or more of the full-time faculty members of the department covering research, teaching, and patient care. Student observes activities in the clinic, hospital ward, operating room, and research laboratories. Prerequisite: first- and second-year medical student standing and permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

OPHTH 681 P-Ophthalmology Clerkship (4) Sires (Harborview Medical Center) Students gain experience in the diagnosis and treatment of common ocular disorders. Basic examination techniques, including slit-lamp biomicroscopy, and funduscopy. Prerequisite: completion of human biology series. (Limit: one student.) Offered: AWSpS.

OPHTH 683 P-Pediatric Ophthalmology Clerkship (4) Weiss (Children’s Hospital and Regional Medical Center) Student examines and observes treatment of children with ocular diseases and learns to differentiate trivial from potentially blinding disorders. Programmed text in general ophthalmology furnished. Prerequisite: University of Washington student and completion of human biology series. (Two weeks, full-time. Limit: one student.) Offered: WS.

OPHTH 685 P-Ophthalmology Clerkship (4) Orcutt (VA Puget Sound Health Care System) Participation in diagnosis and treatment of medical and surgical ocular disease. Outpatient examinations, inpatient surgery, as well as neuro-ophthalmologic, retinal, and glaucoma consultations. Basic techniques involved in tonometry, ophthalmoscopy, and biomicroscopy of eye. Prerequisite: completion of human biology series. (Limit: one student.) Offered: AWSpS.

OPHTH 686 P-Ophthalmology Clerkship (4) Gorman (Group Health Central) Diagnosis and treatment of ocular diseases in outpatients. Weekly assignment to Group Health ophthalmologist responsible for the care of walk-in and urgent patients, which may demonstrate findings pertinent to the future practice of primary-care physicians. Examination techniques, including slit-lamp biomicroscopy, and funduscopy. Prerequisite: completion of human biology series. (Limit: one student.) Offered: AWSpS.

ORTH 498 Undergraduate Research (°) Eyre Investigation of pertinent musculoskeletal problems in the orthopaedic laboratories as part of the research group. Offered: AWSpS.

ORTH 505 P-Preceptorship in Orthopaedic Surgery (1) Opportunity for first- and second-year medical students to gain experience with clinical faculty members in the community. Students observe general aspects of private practice from a longitudinal perspective. Prerequisite: permission of department. Offered: AWSpS.

ORTH 585 P-Sports Medicine (2) O’Kane Lectures, patient problem presentations, and seminar discussions to explore impact of exercise and sport participation on various body systems. Emphasis on biomechanics of certain sports injuries and cardiovascular, pulmonary, and musculoskeletal concerns. Prerequisite: second-year medical student standing. Offered: Sp.

ORTHP 675 P-Preceptorship in Orthopaedics (*, max. 4) Student spends full time with the preceptor during all his or her working day in order to gain better understanding of the diagnosis and the management of problems of the musculoskeletal system as seen in the private orthopaedic practice. Prerequisite: SURG 665 or HUBIO 553 and permission of department. (Two weeks, full-time.) Offered: AWSpS.

ORTHP 676 P-Pediatric Orthopaedics (*, max. 8) Conrad, Mosca, Schmale, Song, White Acquaints students with all aspects of musculoskeletal problems in childhood. Didactic conferences and seminars, and opportunities for active participation in both inpatient and outpatient care at Children’s Hospital and Medical Center, and joint conferences and seminars, and opportunities for active participation in the orthopaedic practice at the University of Washington Medical Center. Emergency room, wards, operating room, and outpatient clinic. Instruction in general and special principles of orthopedics, including hand, hip, foot, and fracture, with emphasis placed on physical examination of the patient. Students take rotating anatomy and pathology. Prerequisite: SURG 665, HUBIO 553 or HUBIO 565. (Four weeks, full-time.) Offered: AWSpS.

ORTHP 677 P-Musculoskeletal Trauma (*, max. 5) Allison, Banerjee, Bellabarba, Benirschke, Bransford, Chapman, Dunbar, Hanel, Hansen, Henley, Katolik, Mirza Harborsview Medical Center. Emergency room, wards, operating room, and outpatient clinic. Instruction in general and special principles of orthopedics, including hand, hip, foot, and fracture, with emphasis placed on physical examination of the patient. Students take rotating anatomy and pathology. Prerequisite: SURG 665, HUBIO 553 or HUBIO 565. (Four weeks, full-time.) Offered: AWSpS.

ORTHP 678 P-Musculoskeletal Oncology (8/12) Conrad, Weissstein In-depth experience on musculoskeletal oncology service with primary involvement in initial evaluation, staging, treatment, and postoperative follow-up of patients with various musculoskeletal malignancies. Elective involves experience in surgical, oncologic, radiologic, and pathologic principles of managing sarcomas. Prerequisite: basic orthopaedic elective or permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

ORTHP 680 P-General Orthopaedic Clerkship (*, max. 8) Bransford, Chansky, Van, Kéraly, Kadel, Teitz, Wahl Orthopaedic subspecialty clerkship at University of Washington Medical Center. Preceptor-based outpatient, inpatient, emergency, or operative orthopaedic care. Students work primarily in one subspeciality area and in one general orthopaedic clinic. For students who plan careers in orthopaedic surgery. Prerequisite: completion of HUBIO series, third- and fourth-year medical students. Enrollment limited to three. Offered: AWSpS.

ORTHP 681 P-Sports Medicine Orthopaedic Clerkship (8) Green, Larson, O’Kane, Kadel, Teitz, Wahl Orthopaedic subspecialty clerkship at University of Washington Medical Center. Preceptor-based outpatient, inpatient, emergency, or operative orthopaedic care. Students work primarily in one subspeciality area and in one general orthopaedic clinic. For students who plan careers in orthopaedic surgery. Prerequisite: completion of HUBIO series, third- and fourth-year medical students. Offered: AWSpS.

ORTHP 682 P-Outpatient Orthopaedics (8) Outpatient orthopaedic experience at University of Washington Medical Center. Emphasis on physical exam, diagnosis, radiographic evaluation, and non-operative treatment. Rotation through general orthopaedics as well as all subspecialty areas. For students who plan careers in primary care. Prerequisite: completion of HUBIO series. Offered: AWSpS.

ORTHP 684 Disorders of the Spine (8) Chapman, Lee, Wagner Evaluation and assessment strategies of spinal disorders for patients of all ages and a wide variety of clinical conditions including trauma, deformity, degenerative disorders, metabolic, and inflammatory diagnoses. Opportunities exist to participate in outpatient, surgical, and conference based teaching sessions aimed at all experience levels and individualized for practitioners with interest in medical specialties, emergent care, radiology, physiatry, intervention pain management, and surgical specialties. Offered: AWSpS.

ORTHP 685 P-Adult Reconstruction: Total Joint Service (8) Preceptor-based outpatient, inpatient, emergency, and operative orthopaedic care. Students work with faculty in the Total Joint Service which specializes in lower extremity adult reconstructive surgery, including: complex primary hip/knee arthroplasty; less invasive approaches to hip/knee arthroplasty; revision hip/knee arthroplasty; peritrochanteric and proximal femoral osteotomy; osteotomy about the knee; and hip arthroscopy. Offered: AWSpS.

ORTHP 687 P-Shoulder and Elbow (8) Matsen, Warne Preceptor-based outpatient, inpatient, emergency, and operative orthopaedic care. Work with the faculty in the Shoulder and Elbow Service, which provides comprehensive evaluation and management for a wide range of shoulder and elbow problems, including: arthritis, dislocation or instability, fractures, rotator cuff/tennis tendons, joint stiffness, and unsuccessful previous surgery. Offered: AWSpS.

ORTHP 689 P-Orthopaedic External Elective (*, max. 12) Special arrangements can be made for students desiring to take orthopaedic electives at other institutions. Programs generally approved include orthopaedic clerkships at other universities or at large orthopaedic institutes. Prerequisite: HUBIO 553 and permission of department. Offered: AWSpS.

ORTHP 699 P-WWAMI Orthopedics Special Electives (*, max. 24) By special arrangement for qualified students, special clerkships or externships may be available at institutions other than the University of Washington located within the WWAMI region. Prerequisite: permission of department.

Otolaryngology—Head and Neck Surgery

OTOHN 498 Undergraduate Thesis (*) Rubel, Weymuller Student works directly with department faculty in selecting a suitable area for laboratory or clinical research in the area of otolaryngology, and develops a thesis for recognition. Offered: AWSpS.

OTOHN 499 Undergraduate Research (*) Rubel, Weymuller Research opportunities offered under direction in the area of otolaryngology. (Twelve weeks.) Offered: AWSpS.

OTOHN 501 P-Preceptorship in Otolaryngology — Head and Neck Surgery (1) Hilil, Hill, One morning a week for a total of 30 hours per quarter spent observing patient care in either inpatient or outpatient settings at the University of Washington Medical Center; associated readings. Prerequisite: first- or second-year medical student standing. Coordinator: OTOHNS office. Offered: AWSpS.

OTOHN 680 Otolaryngology — Head and Neck Surgery Clerkship UW (4/8, max. 24) Futran, Hallett, Manning, Whipple Introduction to surgical subspecialty of otolaryngology-head and neck surgery. Structured to allow broad introduction to breadth of specialty. Students see patients in clinic, join inpatient rounds, have an opportunity to go to operating room. Rotations at UWMC, VAH, HMC, CHMC, Swedish. Prerequisite: human biology series; recommended: MED 665 or SURG 665. Offered: AWSpS.

OTOHN 683 P-Otolaryngology — Head and Neck Surgery Clerkship Madigan (*, max. 8) Medwin—Army Medical Center Clinical Clerkship, offered to students desiring to take a 4 month away externship training at an outpatient clinic, where visits average twelve hundred per month, supplemented by inpatient assignments. Students may reside at the hospital during externship, using facilities of bachelor officer quarters and hospital mess. Prerequisite: completion of human biology series. (Two or four weeks, full-time,); recommended: MED or SURG 665. Offered: AWSpS.

OTOHN 684 P-Otolaryngology — Head and Neck Surgery Clerkship Greater Seattle Private Practice (*, max. 4) Weymuller Clinical in-depth study for the student whose interest lies in pathology of the head and neck. Reasonable flexibility to arrange course content that provides exposure to all aspects of patient care. Prerequisite: permission of chairman; recommended: MED 665 or SURG 665. Offered: AWSpS.

OTOHN 685 P-Otolaryngology — Head and Neck Surgery Away Externship (8) Weymuller By specific arrangement. Special clerkship, externship, or research opportunities can at times be made available at institutions other than the University of Washington. Students wishing to elect this course should obtain a special assignment form from the Dean’s office at least one month before preregistration. Prerequisite: permission of chairman. Offered: AWSpS.

OTOHN 689 P-Otolaryngology — Head and Neck Surgery Clerkship WWAMI (4/8, max. 8) By special arrangement for qualified students, special clerkships or externships may be available at institutions other than the University of Washington located within the WWAMI region. Prerequisite: permission of department.

Pathology

PATH 450 Cell Biology of Aging (3) Martin, Rabinovitch, Wolf Pathophysiology of aging at cell and tissue levels (cell replication limits, telomere shortening, accrual of oxidative damage, caloric restriction effects, loss of postreplicative cells, longevity assurance genes). Proseminar based on student participation. Undergraduate honors students, graduate students with biology, zoology, genetics or... medical sciences back grounds. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: W.

PATH 498 Undergraduate Thesis (*) Elective.

PATH 499 Undergraduate Research (*) Elective.

PATH 500 Molecular Basis of Disease (3) Parks Designed for first and second-year graduate students to introduce the concepts of general pathology at the cellular and molecular level. Offered: W.

PATH 501 Pathology Proseminars (1) Small group discussions and presentations by students based on critical reading of original papers, or on concurrent seminars, in many areas of experimental pathology and medicine. Topic varies by quarter. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

PATH 502 Inflammation and Repair (2) Lecture/seminar; a seminar course dealing with an in-depth examination of the processes involved in inflammation and repair. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: even years.

PATH 507 Introduction to Pathology Research (2) Bornfeldt, Swisshelm Current developments and approaches to investigation of the molecular and cellular basis of disease. Members of the Pathology faculty present and discuss their own research projects. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A.

PATH 510 Introduction to Pathology Methods (3) Dichek, Clowes-Pope, Bowen-Pope, Bornfeldt Laboratory course designed to introduce graduate students to the fundamentals of image analysis, histology, histopathology, post mortem evaluation, surgical pathology, and other methods used to investigate disease etiology, progression, and manifestation in humans and in animal models. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: Sp.

PATH 511 Topics in Experimental Pathology (1-2, max. 10) Bornfeldt Focus on areas of research relevant to experimental pathology. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

C MED 512 Introduction to the Anatomical Analysis of Animal Disease (5, max. 10) See Comparative Medicine courses.

PATH 512 Molecular Basis of Disease: Death and Repair (1.5) First in a series designed to introduce students to medically important diseases and physiologic processes and experimental approaches to elucidating the cellular processes underlying these diseases. Covers basic cell/tissue processes that underlie normal homeostasis and most disease and, including apoptosis, necrosis, stem cells, inflammation, granulation tissue, tissue regeneration, repair and fibrosis.

PATH 513 Mechanisms of Neurodegeneration (1.5) Introduction to the cellular and molecular mechanisms that underlie neurodegenerative diseases, including introduction to the normal development and anatomy of the central nervous system, a review of epidemiologic, genetic, and clinical research tools used in the investigation of these diseases, and a systematic review of the major neurodegenerative diseases.

C MED 514 Comparative Pathology Conference (1, max. 6) See Comparative Medicine courses.

PATH 515 Molecular Basis of Disease: Atherosclerosis and Myocardial Infarction (1.5) Bornfeldt, Bowen-Pope, Clowes, Dichek, Swisshelm. PATH Introduces medically important diseases and experimental approaches to understanding the basis for diseases and their treatments. Covers atherosclerosis, including lipids, extracellular matrix, cell signaling, inflammation, and downstream complications such as myocardial infarction and arrhythmias. Offered: Sp.

PATH 516 Molecular Basis of Human Genetic Disease (3) Introduces the underlying mechanisms in human genetic disorders, ranging from the single nucleotide, through genomic instability, and chromosomal rearrangements. Includes tissue and organ specific examples of the manner in which these disorders provide insights into human biology. Offered: Sp.

PATH 517 The Biology and Pathology of Aging (3/4) Wolf Surveys the biology and pathologies of the aging phenomena in multiple species and at multiple organismal levels from whole animals to molecules. Prerequisite: coursework in biology, biochemistry, molecular biology, and genetics. Offered: Sp.

PATH 520 Experimental Pathology Seminar (1) Review of current research in various areas of experimental pathology by members of the department and visiting scientists. Credit/no credit only.

PATH 521 Anatomy and Autopsy (1) Fligner Students view an autopsy, and learn how autopsy can diagnose disease, determine cause of death, and improve patient care. Requirements include orientation session, autopsy, and a Clinical-Autopsy conference. Participants must be free at least one morning per week to attend an autopsy at UWM. Prerequisite: UW medical students only. Offered: WSp.

PATH 522 Hematopathology Seminar (2) Sabath Identification of normal lymphocyte and bone marrow subpopulations, diagnosis of leukemias, lymphomas, and benign conditions that resemble them. Emphasis on histopathology, cytotoxicity, cytochemical, immunological, and molecular markers. Clinopathologic correlation. Offered: jointly with LAB M 522; W, even years.

PATH 530 Human Cytogenetics (*, max. 4) Distech Sources and methods of preparation and identification of human chromosomes. Molecular structure and mapping of chromosomes. Human cytogenetic pathology, karyotype-phenotype interactions, chromosome breakage, and cancer cytogenetics. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: even years.

PATH 544 General and Systemic Pathology (2-3, max. 5) Narayanan Basic pathologic processes that underlie disease, including cell alterations, genetic and developmental pathology, environmental pathology, neoplasia, immunopathology, inflammation, infection, and systemic diseases. Correlates gross, functional, and biochemical alterations. For first-year dental students and graduate students. Requires reasonable grounding in biological and chemical sciences. Prerequisite for nonmedical students: permission of instructor.

PATH 551 Experimental and Molecular Pathology (2-5, max. 20) Introduction to experimental pathology. A tutorial course designed to introduce a graduate student (medical, dental) or senior undergraduate to selected methods and problems through literature surveys and/or laboratory experience. Exploration of causes at the cellular and molecular levels in the study of disease is emphasized. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

PATH 552 Contemporary Anatomic Pathology (2-5, max. 30) Schwartz Study of recent developments in anatomic pathology. Subject includes areas of basic science and review of systemic pathology. Recent developments and interpretation of these findings are stressed. For pathology residents, fellows, and trainees. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

PATH 555 Environmental Pathology (3) Monnat, Rhim Modern morphologic, cell biological, and molecular approaches to environmental disease associated with exposure/predisposition. Lectures, seminar discussion, and student presentations. Prerequisite: PATH 410 or PATH 444 or HUBIO 520; recommended: ENV H 514 and ENV H 515. Offered: alternate years.

CONJ 560, 561 Tumor Biology (3, 2) See Conjoint Courses.

PATH 560 Molecular Analysis of Human Disease (*, max. 10) Review and discussion of contemporary research on molecular basis of human disease. Focus on mutational mechanisms, genetic instability, AIDS, and cancer. Students participate in weekly group discussion and work with faculty to select, develop, and present discussion topic. Prerequisite: medical, graduate, or professional standing and permission of instructor. Offered: AWSp.

PATH 562 P-Cardiovascular Pathology Conference (*) Reichenbach Course consists of two parts: a laboratory review of gross and microscopic cardiovascular pathology of selected autopsied cases followed by a combined clinical (medical and/or surgical) and pathology conference discussing these cases. Prerequisite: HUBIO 540 and permission of instructor.

PATH 600 Independent Study or Research (*) Credit/no credit only.

PATH 667 P-Renal Pathology Laboratory (*, max. 6) Laboratory elective for third- and fourth-year medical students. Read current literature, review various renal biopsies and urine sediments, and read standard texts prior to a weekly topic-oriented conference. All students earn 1 credit for one-hour seminar per week. May be taken concurrently with MED 693. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

PATH 680 P-Diagnostic Pathology Clerkship — University of Washington Medical Center (*, max. 24) Swanson Medical student participation in dissection and study of autopsy and surgical pathology cases. Cases worked up under senior staff, including dissection, microscopic examination, and literature review. Attendance at pathology conferences and seminars expected. Prerequisite: third- or fourth-year student standing.
PATH 681 P-Diagnostic Pathology Clerkship — Harborview Medical Center (°, max. 24) Deutner

Pediatrics

Peds 498 Undergraduate Thesis (°) Bennett For medical students. Offered: AWSpS.

Peds 499 Undergraduate Research (°) Bennett Participation in various clinical or basic research programs in progress, specifically: child development, developmental biology, human embryology and teratology, medical genetics, infectious diseases, neonatology, neuroembryologic cardiology, endocrinology and metabolism, immunology, respiratory disease. Offered: AWSpS.

Peds 505 P-Preceptorship in Pediatrics (°) Bennett To provide opportunity for first- and second-year medical students to gain personal experience with medical practice situations for pediatricians by being stationed with carefully selected clinical faculty members in their offices. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Enrollment limited. Coordinator: Department of Pediatrics. Credited credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

Peds 530 P- Homeless Youth and Their Medical Care (1) Bonnar, Breuner Clinic-based setting for seminar and interview practice with adolescents; students learn how to deal with special health problems and other related problems of “street kids” through interviews and observations. Credited credit only. Offered: W.

Peds 611 City Doc FREE-TEEN Clinic (°, max. 24) Breuner, Giesell Participation in a free clinic for out-of-home youth, either Monday or Tuesday evenings. Clinical services include general medical care, with a focus on reproductive health, STD evaluations/treatment, and the impact of a homeless lifestyle on general health. Offered: AWSpS.

Peds 625 Pediatric Emergency Medicine (8) Elective in Pediatric Emergency Department at Children’s Hospital and Regional Medical Center. Students manage patients with the supervision of a Pediatric Emergency Medicine attending or fellow. Includes the opportunity to manage patients with a wide spectrum of disease processes as well as learn key emergency medicine procedural skills. Prerequisite: 4th-year medical students who have completed their core pediatrics rotation. Offered: AWSpS.

Peds 630 P-WRITE Pediatrics Clinical Clerkship (°, max. 24) Basic clinical clerkship for students enrolled in the WRITE Program. Prerequisite: completion of basic curriculum; third- and fourth-year students; acceptance in the WRITE program.

Peds 657 P-Pediatric General Clerkship - Missoula (°, max. 24) General introductory inpatient and outpatient pediatric clerkship. Provides exposure to diverse settings where children receive health services. The six-week experience takes place in three active pediatric practices with appropriate outpatient and inpatient opportunities and at Community Medical Center.

Peds 658 P-Pediatric General Clerkship - Boise (°, max. 24) General introductory inpatient and outpatient pediatric clerkship. Provides exposure to diverse settings where children receive health services. The six-week experience takes place in three active pediatric practices with appropriate outpatient and inpatient opportunities and at St. Luke’s Medical Center.

Peds 659 Pediatric General Clerkship -- Cheyenne, WY (°, max. 24) Horan Introductory inpatient and outpatient pediatric clerkship that exposes students to diverse settings where children receive health services. The six-week experience takes place primarily in two active pediatric group practices with appropriate outpatient and inpatient opportunities. Offered: AWSpS.

Peds 660 Pediatric General Clerkship -- Anchorage (°, max. 24) McArthur General introductory pediatric clerkship. One-half in hospital setting; one-half in outpatient department, clinic, or private office. Open to all third- and fourth-year medical students. Prerequisite: HUBIO 563. (Six weeks, full time. Limit: twenty-four students.) Offered: AWSpS.

Peds 662 P-Pediatric General Clerkship (°, max. 24) Newman General introductory pediatric clerkship. One-half in hospital setting; one-half in outpatient department, clinic, or private office. Location preferences are considered. Open to all third- and fourth-year medical students. Prerequisite: HUBIO 563. (Six weeks, full time. Limit: twenty-four students.) Offered: AWSpS.

Peds 663 P-Pediatric General Clerkship -- Mary Bridge (°, max. 24) Kodama General introductory pediatric clerkship. One-half in hospital setting; one-half in outpatient department, clinic, or private office. Location preferences are considered. Open to all third- and fourth-year medical students. Prerequisite: HUBIO 563. (Six weeks, full time. Limit: twenty-four students.) Offered: AWSpS.

Peds 664 P-Pediatric General Clerkship -- Pocatello, ID (°, max. 24) Denton General introductory pediatric clerkship. One-half in hospital setting; one-half in outpatient department, clinic, or private office. Open to all third- and fourth-year medical students. Prerequisite: HUBIO 563. (Six weeks, full time. Limit: twenty-four students.) Offered: AWSpS.

Peds 665 P-Pediatric General Clerkship -- Seattle, WA (°, max. 24) Bennett General introductory pediatric clerkship. One-half in hospital setting; one-half in outpatient department or clinic. Open to all third- and fourth-year medical students. Prerequisite: HUBIO 563. (Six weeks, full time. Limit: twenty-four students.) Offered: AWSpS.

Peds 666 P-Pediatric General Clerkship -- Great Falls, MT (°, max. 24) Marron General introductory pediatric clerkship. One-half in hospital setting; one-half in outpatient department, clinic, or private office. Open to all third- and fourth-year medical students. Prerequisite: HUBIO 563. (Six weeks, full time. Limit: twenty-four students.) Offered: AWSpS.

Peds 667 P-Pediatric General Clerkship -- Madigan (°, max. 24) Newman General introductory pediatric clerkship. One-half in hospital setting; one-half in outpatient department, clinic, or private office. Open to all third- and fourth-year medical students. Prerequisite: HUBIO 563. (Six weeks, full time. Limit: twenty-four students.) Offered: AWSpS.

Peds 669 P-Neonatal Pediatrics-Clerkship (°, max. 24) Loren Participation in the activities in the newborn and premature divisions; ward rounds, seminars, conferences, and familiarization with certain laboratory techniques, particularly those relating to acid-base balance. Prerequisite: Peds and OB GYN core clerkships. (Limit: two students.) Offered: AWSpS.

Peds 670 P-Pediatric Infectious Diseases (°, max. 24) Smith Students see and work up clinic consultations and present in detail to attending physicians. Daily rounds include problem-solving discussions and didactic presentations in broad category of infectious diseases. Opportunity for experience in clinical research and laboratory techniques. Prerequisite: Peds and Med Core clerkships; third- or fourth-year medical student standing. (Limit: one student.) Offered: AWSpS.

PEDS 671 Pediatric Endocrinology (*, max. 24) Fechner Focuses on the evaluation of the normal progression of hormone mediated processes in childhood and the recognition, diagnosis and management of a variety of endocrine problems. Includes participation in clinics, inpatient endocrine rounds and a variety of conferences at Children’s Hospital and Regional Medical Center.

PEDS 673 P-Office Practice (*, max. 12) Bennett Opportunity to observe and function in the private office settings of a number of pediatric faculty and to accompany pediatricians as they pursue their daily activities in the community. Prerequisite: PEDS 665. Offered: AWSpS.

CONJ 677 P-Clinical Allergy and Immunology (*, max. 12) See Conjoint Courses.

PEDS 679 P-Clinical Problems in Developmental Disabilities (*, max. 12) Bennett Experience in multidisciplinary evaluation and management of the handicapped child. Student performs pediatric evaluations, obtains appointments in advance, observes additional professional assessments (e.g., psychological testing), and plans rehabilitation program. Opportunity to provide parent counseling. Prerequisite: PEDS 665. (Limit: one student.) Offered: AWSpS.

PEDS 680 P-Pediatric Clinics (*, max. 24) Bennett One to ten half-day sessions may be elected each week for four weeks in the following areas: general pediatrics, endocrinology, neurology, immunology, arthritides; cardiology, congenital defects and retardation, well-child, teratology, adolescent medicine, allergy, cystic fibrosis, hematology, premature, neonatology, and poison control. Enrollment limited. Prerequisite: PEDS 665.

PEDS 681 P-Pediatric Genetics (*, max. 24) Raff Clinical focus on evaluation and management of children with genetic disorders. Exposure to genetic counseling, the evaluation of children with hereditary structural defects, and diagnosis and management of children with inborn errors of metabolism. Emphasis on genetic mechanisms that cause human disease. Prerequisite: PEDS 665. (Two, four, six, or twelve weeks. Limit: one student.) Offered: AWSpS.

PEDS 683 P-Pediatric Nephrology (8) Symons Four-week elective clerkship at Children’s Hospital and Medical Center. Students participate in nephrology and transplant rounds, consult with renal fellows and attending, and work up patients in renal clinics. Participation in seminars; special course in fluid balance. Prerequisite: third- or fourth-year medical student, PEDS 665, and MED 665 or equivalent. (Limit: two students.) Offered: AWSpS.

PEDS 684 P-Pediatric Pulmonary Medicine (8) Rodding Respiratory disorders, diagnostic techniques and treatments unique to children in the inpatient, intensive care, and outpatient settings. Application of principles of pulmonary physiology to clinical problems. Students conduct consultations under the supervision of the attending and present a topic of choice. Inpatient rounds and clinics. Prerequisite: PEDS 665, fourth-year medical student standing. (Limit: one student.) Offered: AWSpS.

PEDS 685 P-Pediatric Hematology and Oncology (*, max. 24) Geyer One-on-one teaching plus four weekly didactic sessions. Specific training in techniques and interpretation of bone marrow aspirations, intravenous chemotherapy, transfusions, and laboratory techniques of hematologic evaluation. Self-learning programs available. Prerequisite: PEDS 665. (Two, four, six, or twelve weeks, full-time.) (Limit: one student.) Offered: AWSpS.

PEDS 686 P-Pediatric Cardiology (*, max. 24) Johnston Emphasis on physical diagnosis and electrocardiography and on clinical knowledge of diagnostic techniques and surgical possibilities for inpatients and outpatients with cardiovascular problems. Opportunity to observe catheterizations and cardiovascular operations. Weekly clinics and twice-daily inpatient rounds. Prerequisite: PEDS 665. (Limit: one student.) Offered: AWSpS.

PEDS 691 P-Advanced Pediatric Clerkship (*, max. 24) Bennett Inpatient and/or outpatient experience with responsibilities comparable to intern for patient work-up, diagnosis, and care. Available at any one, or combination, of affiliated hospitals, including WWAMI units in Alaska, Idaho, Montana, or Washington. Students interested in this option should make arrangements well in advance of registration. Prerequisite: PEDS 665. (Limit: two students.) Offered: AWSpS.

PEDS 697 P-Pediatric Special Electives (*, max. 24) Bennett By special arrangement, for qualified students, special clerkship externship or research opportunities at institutions other than University of Washington. The faculty can advise of possible sites. Obtain special assignment form from Dean’s office at least one month before preregistration. Prerequisite: permission of instructor at away site. Offered: AWSpS.

PEDS 699 P-WWAMI Pediatrics Special Electives (*, max. 24) Bennett By special arrangement for qualified students, special clerkships or externships may be available at institutions other than the University of Washington located within the WWAMI region. Prerequisite: permission of department at away site.

Pharmacology

PHCOL 402 General Pharmacology II (3/4) Storm General pharmacology of drugs acting on the autonomic, cardiovascular, and central nervous systems. For Pharmacy students and other undergraduates. Prerequisite: PHCOL 401. Offered: W.

PHCOL 434 General Pharmacology (2) Grubbs, Watson Lectures concerning the actions of drugs on physiological and pathological processes with special emphasis on agents of special importance in the practice of dentistry. For dental students. Offered: A.

PHCOL 435 General Pharmacology (2) Grubbs Lectures concerning the action of drugs on physiological and pathologic processes with special emphasis on agents with special importance in the practice of dentistry. For dental students. Offered: W.

PHCOL 498 Undergraduate Thesis (*) Offered: A.

PHCOL 499 Undergraduate Research (*) Participation in departmental research projects. Offered: AWSpS.

PHCOL 507 Pharmacology Seminar (1) Presentation of comprehensive reports on recent medical and scientific literature in fields of current importance. Research progress reports, and reports on results of completed research. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSpS.

PHCOL 510 Drug Discovery and Emerging Therapeutics (2) Zheng Consideration of the general principles and current approaches involved in modern drug discovery and development, with an emphasis on agents with special importance in drug action, delivery, and metabolism. Discussion of novel drug discovery techniques and emerging non-standard therapeutics. Prerequisite: organic chemistry, biochemistry, and introductory anatomy and physiology. Offered: W.

PHCOL 511 Autonomic/Cardiovascular Pharmacology (2.5) Nathanson Consideration of the pharmacology of the cardiovascular and autonomic nervous systems. Emphasizes the mechanisms of neurotransmitter, hormone, drug action at autonomic synapses, and the molecular basis for physiology and pathophysiology of the cardiovascular system. Lectures, group discussion, and analysis of recent research. Prerequisite: organic chemistry, biochemistry, introductory anatomy, and physiology. Offered: W.

PHCOL 512 Neuropharmacology (2) Bajjalieh Consideration of the neurobiological basis of drug action on the central nervous system, including mechanisms of action and therapeutic use in psychiatric disorders; neyrodegeneration/neuroinflammation; control of neuronal excitability and pain; and drug abuse and addiction. Lecture, group discussion, and analysis of recent research. Recommended: organic chemistry, biochemistry, introductory anatomy, and physiology. Offered: Sp.

PHCOL 513 Endocrine Pharmacology and Chemotherapeutics (2) McKnight Consideration of the pharmacology of endocrine systems including the hypothalamic/pituitary regulatory peptides, glycoprotein hormones/growth factors, peptide and steroid hormones. Basic principles of chemotherapy of endocrine and other cancers, as well as viral and microbial diseases. Lecture, group discussion, and analysis of recent research. Prerequisite: organic chemistry, biochemistry, introductory anatomy, and physiology. Offered: Sp.

PHCOL 514 Current Topics in Pharmacology (1) McKnight Current research related to the mechanisms of drug action presented in a seminar format. Presentations include relevant background material as well as detailed PHCOL 515 General Pharmacology Laboratory (*, max. 9) Laboratory course for professional and graduate students who wish to do independent laboratory research under the direction of a specific faculty member. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A.W.Sp.

PHCOL 519 Introduction to Laboratory Research in Pharmacology (4) Storm On a rotation basis students carry out individual research projects in the laboratories of different faculty members. At the end of each quarter students make formal presentations of their work. For first-year graduate students in pharmacology. Offered: A.W.Sp.S.

PHCOL 529 Ion Channel Pharmacology (2) Catterall, Tempel Current topics in ion channel structure, function, genetics, and pharmacology, including consideration of role in electrical signaling in cell membranes and information transfer and processing in nervous system, inherited diseases of ion channels, and sites and mechanisms of action of drugs and toxins. Prerequisite: CONJ 532 and CONJ 536 or permission of instructor. Offered: odd years; W.

PHCOL 530 Neuronal Signaling Pathways (2) Beavo, Pham, Storm, Xia Advanced consideration of the molecular events between drug or hormone binding to receptors and the resulting responses. Emphasizes roles played by signal transduction pathways in regulation of synaptic plasticity, memory formation, neuronal apoptosis and developmental neurobiology. Prerequisite: UCONJ 532 or permission of instructor. Offered: even years; W.

PHCOL 531 Genetic Analysis of Signaling Systems (3) McKnight Current topics involving signal transduction are discussed with an emphasis on genetic analysis of multicellular systems and creative experimental design. Prerequisite: 9 credits of graduate-level courses in molecular and cellular biology, biochemistry, or genetics, or permission of instructor. Offered: odd years; Sp.

PHCOL 534 Molecular Basis of Addictive Drug Action (2) Chavkin, Mackie, Stella Advanced consideration and discussion of current literature addressing the basis of opiate, phencyclidine, and cannabinoid effects on signal transduction events, electrical activity of neurons, and drug-motivated behaviors in animal models of human drug abuse. Prerequisite: PHCOL 512 or permission of instructor. Offered: even years; A.

PHCOL 535 Transcriptional Control in Human Disease (3) Bornsztay, Wang Advanced consideration and discussion of the mechanisms regulating transcription/gene expression and of aberrant transcription factors which disrupt this process found in cancer and other human diseases. Prerequisite: PHCOL 512 or permission of instructor. Offered: even years; Sp.

PHCOL 550 An Overview of Faculty Research (1) Wang Reviews research topics currently being studied in pharmacology. Student receives articles published on each topic. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: first-year student standing in pharmacology. Offered: A.

PHCOL 556 Regulation of Cell Function by Cyclic Nucleotide Phosphodiesterases (1) Beavo Discussion of cell signaling pathways, methodologies, and literature relating to regulation of cyclic nucleotide levels in the cell. Emphasis on practical problem solving, data analysis, and presentation of methods important to understanding published data and designing new experiments in this area of research. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A.W.Sp.S.

PHCOL 561 Molecular Properties of Ion Channels (1) Catterall Discussion of research strategies, methodologies, and literature concerning the structure, function, and regulation of sodium and calcium channels and the mechanism of action of drugs on them. Emphasis on experimental problem solving, data analysis, and presentation. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A.W.Sp.S.

PHCOL 562 Regulation of Synaptic Physiology (1) Chavkin Discussion of research strategies and methodologies involved in the regulation of signal transduction and synaptic physiology. Emphasis on practical problem solving, data analysis, and presentation methods important to modern scientific work. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A.W.Sp.S.

PHCOL 563 Signal Transduction Mechanisms in Neuroplasticity and Neuron Growth (1) Storm Discussion of research strategies, methodologies, and literature relating to practical problem solving, data analysis, and presentation methods important to modern scientific work. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A.W.Sp.S.

PHCOL 564 Cellular Regulation by Protein Kinases (1) McKnight Analysis of research problems, techniques, and emerging concepts in the study of the function of protein kinases. Emphasis on critical evaluation of research and development of presentation skills. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A.W.Sp.S.

PHCOL 565 Intercellular Signaling in Development (1) Moon Molecular genetic approaches to dissecting the roles and mechanisms of intracellular signaling during development. Emphasis on vertebrate genes related to Drosophila segment polarity genes. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A.W.Sp.S.

PHCOL 566 Molecular Pharmacology of Neurotransmitter and Neurokinine Receptors (1) Nathanson Discussion of research strategies and methodologies in the areas of molecular neurobiology and signal transduction of muscarinic receptors, G-proteins, and neurokinine receptors. Emphasis on practical problem solving, data analysis, and presentation methods important to modern scientific work. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A.W.Sp.S.

PHCOL 567 Mechanisms of Carcinogenesis (2) Xia Lectures/presentations of biochemical and molecular basis of carcinogenesis induced by environmental agents, including approaches to identification of carcinogens. Role of cell proliferation and cell death (apoptosis) in cancer formation and cancer treatment. Molecular mechanisms that regulate proliferation and apoptosis. Prerequisite: ENV H 516, ENV H 405, or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with ENV H 567; A.

PHCOL 568 Pharmacology of Free Radicals (1) Vincenzi Advanced considerations of current literature and experimental design, interpretation and intervention of research dealing with the effects of reactive oxygen species and free radicals on cell membranes and cells. Discussion of the relationships of such phenomena to human disease and the effects of drugs thereon. Emphasis on experimental problem solving, data analysis, and presentation. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A.W.Sp.S.

PHCOL 569 Molecular Genetics of Potassium Channel Function (1) Tempel Discussion of research strategies, methodologies, and literature concerning the structure, function, and regulation of potassium channel genes and their role in behavior as studied in mutant mice. Emphasis on experimental problem solving, data analysis, and presentation. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A.W.Sp.S.

PHCOL 570 Molecular Mechanisms of Neurosecretion (1) Bagaielieh Discussion of research strategies, methodologies, and literature relating to regulation of cyclic nucleotide levels in the cell. Emphasis on experimental problem solving, data analysis, and presentation. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A, W, Sp, S.

PHCOL 571 Molecular Mechanisms of Neuroinflammation (1) Weller Discussion of research strategies, methodologies, and literature relating to proliferative growth control, cellular differentiation, and gene expression. Emphasis on experimental problem solving, data analysis, and presentation. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A, W, Sp, S.

PHCOL 572 Transcriptional Regulation of Growth Control Genes (1) Wang Discussion of research strategies, methodologies, and literature relating to neuroinflammation, microglial cell activation, and the cannabinoid signaling pathway. Emphasis on experimental problem solving, data analysis, and presentation. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A, W, Sp, S.

PHCOL 573 Structural Biology of Ubiquitination (1) Zheng Discussion of research strategies, methodologies and literature concerning the structure, function, and regulation of ubiquitin-protein ligases and the mechanism underlying ubiquitination and ubiquitin-dependent proteolysis. Emphasis on experimental problem solving, data analysis, and presentation. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A.W.Sp.S.

PHCOL 574 Pharmacological, Molecular, and Functional Characterization of G-Protein Coupled Receptors (1) Hague Discusses research strategies, methodologies, and literature relating to the pharmacological characterization, molecular biology, and functional coupling of GPCRs. Emphasizes practical problem solving, data analysis, and presentation. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Credit no credit only. Offered: A.W.Sp.S.

PHCOL 577 Regulatory Roles of Ubiquitin in the Nucleus (1) Gardner Focuses on the design and implementation of research aimed at understanding the nuclear functions of the small protein modifier ubiquitin. Strongly emphasizes the system, temperature regulation, neuroendocrinology, and reproductive physiology. Required for second-year P BIO students. Prerequisite: completion of one year of P BIO graduate study. Offered: A.

P BIO 512 Physiology Survey (2) Reading and discussion of the research literature in cellular, molecular, and systems physiology. Students write a critical evaluation of each paper in the manner of a peer review. All three quarters are required for second-year P BIO students. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: Sp.

P BIO 513 Practicum in Teaching Physiology (1.5) Students undertake guided study of the teaching of human physiology. Emphasis is on experimental design, methodological, and pedagogical approaches. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: Sp.

P BIO 514 Motor Systems I: Peripheral, Sensory, and Biophysical Mechanisms (3) Prerequisite: NEUBEH 501-503 or permission of instructor. Offered: W.

P BIO 515 Motor Systems II: Brainstem, Thalamic, and Cerebellar Mechanisms (3) Prerequisite: NEUBEH 502 and NEUBEH 503 or permission of instructor. Offered: W.

P BIO 516 Physiological Proseminar (7) Hlastala Guided survey of the experimental literature in cardiovascular and respiratory physiology. Course conducted as seminar with oral analysis of assigned papers and topics. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A.

P BIO 518 Research Topics in Cardiovascular Physiology (1) Feigl Graduate students and faculty members present and discuss current literature and research. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

P BIO 519 Membrane and Muscle Biophysics Seminar (1) Hildebrandt Lectures on current research topics in cell membrane function and muscle contraction. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AW.

P BIO 522 Selected Topics in Respiratory Physiology (1-3, max. 3) Hildebrandt Advanced seminar on selected topics, including pulmonary mechanics, gas exchange, lung fluid balance, regulation of breathing, pulmonary circulation, respiration in the neonate, liquid breathing, airway dynamics, lung structure and development, cardiopulmonary interactions, exercise physiology. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AW.

P BIO 523 Heat Transfer and Temperature Regulation (2-5, max. 5) Brenglalmann Thermal exchange between the body surface and the environment. Heat production and distribution within the body. Properties of cutaneous and deep temperature receptors. Neural integration and homeothermy. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

P BIO 525 Readings in Advanced Physiology and Biophysics (*) Guided study of the experimental literature of physiology and biophysics. Essays are written and discussed with the staff. Emphasis is placed on critical analysis, accuracy of expression, bibliographical technique, and other factors of good scholarship. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A.

P BIO 526 Readings in Advanced Physiology and Biophysics (*) Guided study of the experimental literature of physiology and biophysics. Essays are written and discussed with the staff. Emphasis is placed on critical analysis, accuracy of expression, bibliographical technique, and other factors of good scholarship. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: W.

P BIO 527 Readings in Advanced Physiology and Biophysics (*) Guided study of the experimental literature of physiology and biophysics. Essays are written and discussed with the staff. Emphasis is placed on critical analysis, accuracy of expression, bibliographical technique, and other factors of good scholarship. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: Sp.

CONJ 531 Signaling Mechanisms in Excitable Cells (1.5) See Conjoint Courses.

P BIO 532 Discussion in Cell Signaling and Molecular Physiology (2) Discusses fundamental issues in cell excitability and molecular and cellular physiology. Focuses on problems solved and reading from current literature. Emphasizes student participation. Prerequisite: first-year graduate students in neurobiology or physiology and biophysics. Offered: jointly with NEUBEH 532; W.

P BIO 541 Motor Systems I: Peripheral, Spinal, and Cortical Mechanisms (3) Binder, Fetz Discussion of research papers on the physiology of the motor unit and the spinal and cortical neurons that control motor unit activity. Prerequisite: NEUBEH 501-503 or permission of instructor.

P BIO 542 Motor Systems II: Brainstem Mechanisms (3) Anderson, Fuchs Critical discussion of research papers and resulting concepts regarding the roles of various brainstem systems in controlling somatic and ocular movements. Each student is responsible for leading the discussion of one topic. Prerequisite: NEUBEH 502 and NEUBEH 503 or equivalent and permission of instructor.

P BIO 545 Quantitative Methods in Neuroscience (3) Rieke, Shadlen Discusses quantitative methods applicable to the study of the nervous system. Rotates around computer

Physiology and Biophysics

CONJ 401, 402, 403 Human Anatomy and Physiology (4, 4, 4) Linder, Melby See Conjoint Courses.

P BIO 424 Vision and Its Physiological Basis (5) NW Teller Behavioral neurobiology of human vision: color vision, acuity and spatial vision, light and dark adaptation, visual development. Correlation of visual functioning with known optical, biochemical, physiological, and anatomical substrates. Prerequisite: 2.0 in either PSYCH 333, NBIO 302, or PHIL 160. Offered: jointly with PSYCH 424; W.

P BIO 498 Undergraduate Thesis (*) Offered: AW.

P BIO 499 Undergraduate Research (*) Offered: AW.

P BIO 505 Human Physiology (4) Wordeman Intensive coverage of physiology across the life span through lectures, conference. Includes excitable tissue, neurophysiology, skeletal muscle; spinal reflex; autonomic nervous system; temperature regulation, neuroendocrinology, and reproductive physiology. Required for dental, graduate nursing, and bioengineering students. Also offered for graduate students. Offered: A.

P BIO 506 Human Physiology (4) Hlastala Intensive coverage of physiology across the life span through lectures, conference. Includes cardiovascular, respiratory physiology renal, body fluids; gastrointestinal, and acid base balance. Required for dental, graduate nursing, and bioengineering students. Also offered for graduate students. Offered: W.

P BIO 507 Cardiovascular and Respiratory Physiology (3) Cardiovascular physiology: the heart, microcirculation, hemodynamics, regional circulation, and reflex integration. Respiratory physiology: the lung, pulmonary circulation, alveolar ventilation, gas exchange, control of breathing, acid-base regulation, exercise. Offered: W.

P BIO 508 Introduction to Laboratory Research in Physiology (2-5) Students participate in the performance of ongoing projects in designated research laboratories. Emphasis is on experimental design, methodology and techniques. For first- and second-year graduate students in physiology and biophysics exercises/discussion of journal papers. May include linear systems theory, Fourier analysis, ordinary differential equations, stochastic processes, signal detection and information theory. Prerequisite: NEUBEH 501, 502, 503, or by permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with NEUBEH 545; W; odd years.

P BIO 547 Readings in Cell Physiology (2, max. 15) Hillie Reading and discussion of research literature on excitable cells. Emphasis on synaptic currents from dendrites to soma, and transformation of driving force on synaptic currents, effects of concurrent synaptic inputs. Includes: effects of neurons in the central nervous system integrate on membrane excitability, transport, contractility, growth factors, and extracellular matrix. Topics vary. Prerequisite: CONJ 501 or equivalent. Offered: W.

P BIO 550 Biophysics of Calcium Signaling (1) Hillie, Santana Introduction to cellular calcium signaling including theoretical and technical issues of calcium signal detection and biological conclusions. Prerequisite: CONJ 501. Offered: jointly with NEUBEH 550; Sp.

P BIO 551 Mouse Models (1) Powers Illustrates the use of transgenic and targeted-gene disruption technology for developing mouse models of the disease. Introduces the methodology of producing transgenic and knock out mice. Discusses several examples of disease models using the most recent primary literature as a source. Offered: jointly with NEUBEH 551.

P BIO 552 Synaptic Integration (1) Binder, Powers Discussion of recent papers on how neurons in the central nervous system integrate concurrent synaptic inputs. Includes: effects of driving force on synaptic currents, effects of conductances on dendritic properties, transfer of currents from dendrites to soma, and transformation of currents into spike train outputs. Offered: jointly with NEUBEH 565.

P BIO 553 Learning and Memory: Synapses and Systems (2) Jagadeesh, Sullivan Five-week mini-course evaluates the current state of knowledge on the mechanisms that allow people to learn and remember. After introductory overview of the cellular and molecular mechanisms underlying long-term synaptic plasticity and the multiple systems existing for learning and memory, students choose specific topics for discussion. Offered: jointly with NEUBEH 553.

P BIO 554 Motor Learning: Cellular and Network Mechanisms (1) Fetzer, Perlmutter Five-week mini-course reviews the current state of research on cellular and network mechanisms of motor learning. After an introductory overview of behavioral and physiological examples of motor learning in various species and systems, students choose specific topics for discussion, using the primary literature as a source. Offered: jointly with NEUBEH 554.

P BIO 555 Sensory Receptors (1) Detwiler, Pliske Five-lecture mini-course examines how different kinds of sensory receptors detect and respond to different modalities of sensory stimuli. Discussion focuses on the cellular and molecular mechanisms of the underlying transduction processes and the experimental evidence that they are based on. Offered: jointly with NEUBEH 555.

P BIO 556 Axon Pathfinding Mechanisms (1) Bothwell Examines mechanisms governing axon growth cone behavior during embryonic development and during regeneration in the injured adult. Discusses approaches employing both invertebrate and vertebrate model systems. Offered: jointly with NEUBEH 556.

P BIO 557 Ion Channel Gating (1) Zagotta Compares and contrasts mechanisms of gating in ligand-gated and voltage-gated ion channels. Covers basics of ligand gating and voltage gating, kinetic schemes, inactivation and desensitization, gating currents and partial agonists, and ion channel structure. Offered: jointly with NEUBEH 557.

P BIO 558 Concepts and Mechanisms in Mitosis (2) Ashbury, Wordeman Examines how the mitotic spindle organizes and separates duplicated chromosomes during cell division. Overview of spindle components and key mechanistic concepts. Discusses recent or classic papers from the primary literature.

P BIO 559 Neurobiology of Disease (3) Garden, Moeller, Neumaier, Weiss Introduces medically important neurological and psychiatric diseases and experimental approaches to understanding the basis for diseases and their treatments. Covers stroke, epilepsy, autoimmune diseases of the CNS, neurodegenerative diseases, autism, psychosis, anxiety disorders and mood disorders. Offered: jointly with NEURL 559/NEUBEH 559.

P BIO 554 Neurological Study Unit (0.5) Faculty and student discussion of neurological topics illustrated with clinical cases or demonstrations include the following: physiology, neuroanatomy, neurology, neuropathology, neurosurgery, and psychiatry. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite for medical students: HUBIO 532. Offered: AW.

P BIO 600 Independent Study or Research (*) Offered: AWSp.

P BIO 700 Master’s Thesis (*) Offered: AWSpS.

P BIO 800 Doctoral Dissertation (*) Offered: AWSpS.

CONJ 475 Alcoholism: A Course for Medical Students in the Allied Health Sciences (2) See Conjunct Courses.

PBSCI 498 Undergraduate Thesis (*) Opportunity to complete work on psychiatric research projects to pursue a specific psychiatric topic in depth, for instance, through library research.

PBSCI 499 Undergraduate Research (*, max. 15) Opportunities are available for participation in a wide variety of ongoing research in the behavioral sciences and clinical psychiatry, or for the development of an individual investigative project under the supervision of a faculty sponsor.

PBSCI 505 P-Psychiatry Preceptorship (1) Combines opportunity for first- and second-year medical students to gain direct experience with clinical faculty members in psychiatry. Includes opportunities to observe different areas of psychiatry including addiction, child, geriatrics, community, crisis, and consultation. Prerequisite: permission of department. Offered: AWSp.

PBSCI 515 War and Mental Health (1) Examines the impact of war on mental health in both military and civilian populations. Focuses on posttraumatic stress disorder, including assessment, treatment, epidemiology, and neurobiology. Addresses other psychiatric disorders, substance abuse, brain injury, and psychosocial effects. Credit no credit only.

PBSCI 525 P-Psychiatry and the Law (3) Goldenberg Concentration on major issues in psychiatry and law. Outside speakers from relevant disciplines. Offered: jointly with NEUBEH 551.

PBSCI 530 P-Developmental Psychoanalytic Psychotherapy (2) Schimmelbusch Examines how failures of psychological development lead to disorders of regulation of affect and cognition, and how psychoanalytic treatment reestablishes normal development. Treatment process viewed from a psychoanalytic and psychobiological perspective. Clinical case discussion integrates theoretical concepts.

PBSCI 535 Modern Concepts of Psychoanalysis (2) Schimmelbusch Examines childhood developmental stages in light of inborn and environmental determinants. Correlates developmental phases with adult personality functioning. Views emotional development from a psychoanalytic and psychobiological point of view. Clinical case discussion integrates theoretical concepts.

PBSCI 546 Psychiatric Epidemiology (3) Vander Stoep Applies epidemiological methods to the study of mental illnesses. Topics include historical studies; distribution of mental illness, classification and measurement; epidemiology of depression; genetic and environmental etiological factors; developmental epidemiology, Prerequisite: either EPI 511, EPI 512, HSERV 591, or permission of instructor. Offered: Sp.

PBSCI 548 P-Aging and Adult Development (1-3, max. 3) Aging in Western technologically advanced societies frequently involves losses in status, stamina, and economic and social supports. Consideration given to losses among the aged. Students select projects in the area of aging and work at their own levels of expertise and sophistication. Seminar format with guided reading.

PBSCI 560 P-Psychological Interventions for Primary Care Physicians (1) Kent Focuses on the integration of primary care and mental health issues. Reading, lectures, videos, and role plays are utilized to review evidenced-based psychological interventions which can be employed in an outpatient primary care setting. Emphasizes issues of somatization, depression, anxiety, and health behavior change.

PBSCI 591 P-Seminars and Conferences in Psychiatry: Seminar in Clinical Neurophysiology (*) Introduction to neuropsychological studies of brain-behavior relationships. Exposure to neuropsychological assessment procedures and manifestation of neurocognitive deficits in selected mental and medical disorders, e.g., epilepsy, AIDS, sleep disorders, trauma, toxin exposure, vascular disorders, psychiatric disorders. Develop knowledge of neuropsycho- logical assessment procedures and applications to diverse medical conditions. Prerequisite: psychological assessment experience.

PBSCI 600 Research in Psychiatry (1-15) Independent laboratory research under the guidance and supervision of research scientists in the Psychiatry Department. Faculty permission required. Offered: .

PBSCI 630 P-WRITE Psychiatry Clinical Clerkship (*, max. 24) Basic clinical clerkship for students enrolled in the WRITE Program. Prerequisite: completion of basic curriculum third- and fourth-year students; acceptance in the WRITE program.

PBSCI 662 P- Basic Psychiatry Clerkship - Missoula (12) Students work at St. Patrick Hospital with adult and adolescent inpatients and in the emergency room for emergent care exposure. Students will have outpatient experience through the Adult Intensive Outpatient program, Pain Treatment Center and in faculty outpatient practices. Didactics include psychopharmacology, addiction, psychosis, mood disorders, child and geriatric psychiatry. Prerequisite: completion of the HUBIO series; third and fourth year students.

PBSCI 663 P- Basic Psychiatry Clerkship - Billings (12) Students work at St. Patrick Hospital with adult and adolescent inpatients and in the emergency room for emergent care exposure. Students will have outpatient experience through the Adult Intensive Outpatient program, Pain Treatment Center and in faculty outpatient practices. Didactics include psychopharmacology, addiction, psychosis, mood disorders, child and geriatric psychiatry. Prerequisite: completion of the HUBIO series; third and fourth year students.

PBSCI 665 P-Basic Clinical Clerkship (12) Dagadakis, McCreery, Mehta Inpatient clerkship in psychiatry. Students have primary responsibility under the direction of attending psychiatrists and residents for diagnosis and care of patients at University of Washington Medical Center, Harborview Medical Center, or Veterans Administration Hospital. Emergency room, crisis intervention, consultation to patients with psychiatric dysfunction. Familiarity with psychopharmacology and short-term hospitalization emphasized. (Six weeks, full-time.)

PBSCI 666 P-WWAMI Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences Clerkship (12) Kletti Rotation aims to increase student’s skills in basic psychiatry, social psychiatry, transcultural psychiatry, and community psychiatry. Orientation is around the diagnosis, treatment, and clinical management of White, Aleut, Indian, and Eskimo children and adults in outpatient, inpatient and community settings. Third-, fourth-year medical students. Prerequisite: HUBIO 563. (Limit: three students.)

PBSCI 667 P-Basic Psychiatry Clerkship - Boise (12) Hines Basic psychiatry clerkship at Veterans Administration Medical Center in Boise, Idaho. Fulfills graduation requirement for clerkship in Psychiatry.

PBSCI 668 P-Psychiatry Clerkship, Spokane (12) Bakker Students work on adult, geriatric, and adolescent inpatient psychiatric units of Sacred Heart Medical Center, following patients after transfer to partial hospitalization or outpatient clinic. Didactics include basic psychiatric diagnosis, treatment, and pharmacotherapy. Prerequisite: completion of HUBIO series; third and fourth-year medical students.

PBSCI 669 Basic Psychiatry Clerkship, Wyoming (12) Students work in the Wyoming Behavioral Institute with adult, adolescent, and child inpatients. Students have some outpatient experience and emergent care assessment experience at the Wyoming Medical Center. Didactics and discussion include topics such as psychopharmacology, emergent care and assessment, diagnosis, and substance abuse issues.

PBSCI 670 P-Clerkship in Consultation/Liaison Psychiatry UWMC (*, max. 24) Walker Assessment of patients with major psychosocial problems associated with physical disease, including: problems stemming from the way the illness is perceived and experienced, liaison with other clinical disciplines on complex diagnosis and treatment of problems. (Limit: one student; four weeks.) Prerequisite: HUBIO 563; either PBSCI 665, PBSCI 666, PBSCI 667, or PBSCI 668.

PBSCI 671 P-Clerkship in Consultation/ Liaison Psychiatry HMC (*, max. 24) Elliott Prerequisite: either PBSCI 665, PBSCI 666, PBSCI 667, or PBSCI 668. (Limit: two students.)

PBSCI 672 P-Elective Clerkship in Primary Care Psychiatry at Boise VAMC (8/12) Blackburn, Leone, Marsh Assessment and treatment of patients with acute psychiatric problems in a primary care/rural setting. Consultation work on general medicine and surgery; assessment and dealing with outpatient psychiatric emergencies; they initially present; Evaluations, crisis intervention strategies, and brief therapies stressed. Prerequisite: either PBSCI 665, PBSCI 666, PBSCI 667, or PBSCI 668. (Four to six weeks; UW students only.)

PBSCI 673 P-Outpatient Psychiatry Elective (*, max. 24) Foster Offered at Harborview Outpatient Center. Students function as subinterns, conducting diagnostic interviews, initiating and managing pharmacotherapy treatment regimens, and providing crisis intervention, under the supervision of the full-time attending at Psychopharmacology Clinic. (Continued) Prerequisite: either PBSCI 665, PBSCI 666, PBSCI 667, or PBSCI 668. (Four to six weeks, full-time.)

PBSCI 676 P-Inpatient Clerkship in Psychiatry at American Lake VA (8/12) Chandran For medical students with a defined interest in psychiatry who wish to develop their knowledge and skills in the evaluation, management, and treatment of a wide range of acute and chronic psychiatric conditions requiring inpatient hospital treatment. Prerequisite: either PBSCI 665, PBSCI 666, PBSCI 667, or PBSCI 668. (Four to six weeks, full-time.)

PBSCI 677 P-Alcohol and Drug Treatment Clerkship at American Lake VA (8/12) Lim Student assists in every phase of the substance-abuse treatment, including admission interviews, patient evaluation, problem identification, group and individual psychotherapy, assertiveness training, anger control, human sexuality, medical evaluation and treatment, couples therapy, discharge and aftercare planning, and treatment of a primarily clinically. Prerequisite: either PBSCI 665, PBSCI 666, PBSCI 667, or PBSCI 668. (Four to six weeks, full-time.)

PBSCI 678 P-Clerkship in Psychiatric Long-Term Care and Rehabilitation (*, max. 12) Chandran Two- to six-week clerkship provides learning experiences in rehabilitation of long-term psychiatric patients with medical illness. Multidisciplinary team approach, working with homeless mentally ill. Diagnostic skills emphasized. Spectrum of disabilities (cardiovascular, Huntington’s, organic brain syndrome) is such that physical rehabilitation is not an emphasis. Prerequisite: HUBIO 563; either PBSCI 665, PBSCI 666, PBSCI 667, or PBSCI 668.

PBSCI 680 P-Clerkship in Emergency Psychiatry (*, max. 24) Gardiner Emphasis on clinical evaluation, acute management, and treatment planning for individual patients. Experience in coordinating these activities with other emergency room personnel, and various hospital and community resources. Emphasis on skills useful to physicians in any specialty. Third- and fourth-year medical students only. Prerequisite: either PBSCI 665, PBSCI 666, PBSCI 667, or PBSCI 668. (Four or six weeks, full-time.)

PBSCI 685 P-Geriatric Psychiatry Clerkship (*, max. 12) Pascualy Two- to six-week elective (four weeks highly recommended). Participation in the evaluation and care of patients with psychopathology, such as intellectual impairment and depression, in a variety of settings. Emphasis on improving clinical skills regarding diagnosis and treatment of common behavioral problems in the elderly. Prerequisite: either PBSCI 665, PBSCI 666, PBSCI 667, or PBSCI 668.

PBSCI 688 P-Subinternship in General Psychiatry (*, max. 16) Students function as interns under the supervision of house staff and attending psychiatrists. Further development of their diagnostic and therapeutic skills emphasized. Special areas of interest, such as family intervention, substance abuse, psychoses, neuropsychiatry, community psychiatry, administration, research pursued. Prerequisite: either PBSCI 665, PBSCI 666, PBSCI 667, or PBSCI 668; permission of instructor. (Four or six weeks, full-time.)

PBSCI 696 P-Advanced Clerkship in Child Psychiatry (*, max. 24) Chandran This clerkship provides students an opportunity to participate in evaluation and treatment. Experiences in specialized clinics are also available. It is suggested that the student contact the instructor prior to enrollment. Prerequisite: either PBSCI 665, PBSCI 666, PBSCI 667, or PBSCI 668; permission of instructor. (Four or six weeks, full-time.)

PBSCI 697 P-Psychiatry Special Electives (*, max. 24) By special arrangement, clerkships, externships, and research opportunities can be made available at the University and other institutions. Students obtain permission from Dr. Hunt before obtaining a special assignment form from the Dean’s office one month before advance registration. Students contact affiliating institutions. Does not fulfill the requirement for a basic clerkship in psychiatry.

PBSCI 699 P-WWAMI Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences Special Electives (*, max. 24) By special arrangement for qualified students, special clerkships or externships may be available at institutions other than the University of Washington located within the Radiation Oncology

R ONS 499 Undergraduate Research (*, max. 24) Douglas, Kalet, Kane, Kelly, Koh, Laramore, Liao, Patel, Phillips, Russell, Schwartz, Wang, Wilbur. Opportunities in clinical or laboratory investigation in radiation oncology, radiation physics, or computer-related research. Student participation in ongoing or new projects. Open to students in the biological or physical sciences. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

R ONS 695 P-Clinical Cancer Management (*, max. 8) Douglas. Participation in the clinical management of patients with cancer, emphasizing a multi-modality approach. Includes clinical assessment, planning of radiation treatment, and follow-up evaluation of patients. Special procedures include three-dimensional treatment planning, implant brachytherapy and intraoperative radiation. Daily teaching conferences with faculty and residents. Prerequisite: MED 665 or permission of instructor.

R ONS 697 P-Radiation Oncology Special Elective (*, max. 24) Douglas. By specific arrangement for qualified students, special clerkships or externships may be available at institutions other than the University of Washington. Students should obtain a "Special Assignment" form from the Dean's Office at least one month before advance registration. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

R ONS 699 P-WWAMI Radiation Oncology Special Electives (*, max. 24) Douglas. By special arrangement for qualified students, special clerkships or externships may be available at institutions other than the University of Washington located within the WWAMI region. Prerequisite: permission of department.

Radicalogy

RADGY 498 Undergraduate Thesis (*) Supervised clinical and/or laboratory research in the broad field of medical imaging, culminating in a thesis. Offered: AWSpS.

RADGY 499 Undergraduate Research (*) Opportunity to gain research experience and direct participation in either clinical or basic sciences investigation in diagnostic and/or nuclear medicine. Offered: AWRSpS.

RADGY 505 P-Preceptorship in Nuclear Medicine (1, max. 24) Early. (University of Washington Medical Center) Opportunity for first- and second-year medical students to gain experience with faculty in clinical and academic environments. Students observe general aspects of the Nuclear Medicine Division, including clinical problems, the different relationships in the clinic between physician and patient, and several research aspects of the division. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWRSpS.

RADGY 508 Physical Aspects of Medical Imaging (4) Stewart. Quantitative physical principles and medical imaging are presented for electromagnetic and sonic radiation. Methods of image formation and analysis are discussed for conventional film radiography, CT, DSA, PET, B-mode ultrasound and Doppler ultrasound. Offered: jointly with BIOEN 508/ENV H 528.

RADGY 550 Nuclear Magnetic Resonance in Biomedicine (2) Hayes, Kushnirnik, Richards, Yuan. Basic physics of nuclear magnetic resonance (NMR) imaging and spectroscopy are presented. Research applications of NMR in physiology and biochemistry are reviewed with emphasis on the brain. Grade based on written tests and small research paper. Prerequisites: permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with BIOEN 565; odd years; Sp.

RADGY 580 P-Nuclear Medicine Technique, Physics, and Instrumentation (2.5) Lewinien. Provides familiarization with basic nuclear phenomena and with the instrumentation used in the practice of nuclear medicine. There are discussions and laboratory exercises. Practical experience in instrument operation and sample counting are provided. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: S.

RADGY 693 P-Introduction to Diagnostic Radiology (4) Schulte. Half-time clerkship in the field of medical imaging. Lectures, case discussions, film reading, and independent study provide an overview of the subspecialty areas of diagnostic radiology and nuclear medicine. Emphasis on utilization and selection of imaging tests, radiologic anatomy, and interpretation of commonly encountered studies. Offered: AWSpS.

RADGY 695 P-Advanced Clinical Clerkship (8) Schulte. Full-time clerkship provides a more in depth experience in diagnostic radiology and nuclear medicine. Required rotations in the subspecialty areas of radiology augment the basic lecture series and case discussions of Radiology 693. For those with a special interest in diagnostic radiology. Prerequisite: permission of instructor and departmental education coordinator. Offered: AWSpS.

RADGY 695 P-Radiology Sub-specialty Elective (*, max. 8) Schulte. Clinical rotation in one of the sub-specialty areas of radiology at the University of Washington and affiliated hospitals. Requires special arrangements and permission from a preceptor and the education coordinator in Radiology. Two or four weeks. Offered: AWRSpS.

RADGY 696 P-Nuclear Medicine Clerkship (*, max. 12) Early. Daily participation at University of Washington Medical Center nuclear medicine clinic emphasizing technical performance, diagnostic interpretation, and clinical relevance of nuclear imaging. Daily clinical teaching conferences of the division. Four- and six-week clerkships can be preplanned in areas such as pulmonary, cardiovascular, renal, bone, computer analysis. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWRSpS.

RADGY 697 P-Radiology Special Elective (*, max. 24) Schulte. Radiologic training in a nonaffiliated institution. Permission and arrangements must be made at the time of registration through the R. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWRSpS.

RADGY 699 P-WWAMI Radiology Special Elective (*, max. 24) By special arrangement for qualified students, special clerkships or externships may be available at institutions other than the University of Washington located within the WWAMI region. Prerequisite: permission of department.

Rehabilitation Medicine

REHB 300 Introduction to Occupational Therapy (1) Rollinger. Introduction to occupational therapy profession. Provides historical perspectives, theoretical foundations, and clinical case studies in various practice arenas. Credit/no credit only. Offered: ASp.

REHB 340 Spinal Orthotics (5) Yamane. Instruction and review of anatomy and biomechanics of the spine, patient evaluation, and prescription considerations as related to spinal orthotics. Lectures provide background knowledge of orthotic treatment principles for spinal pathologies. Laboratory experience includes patient evaluation, impression and measurement techniques, fabrication methods, and fitting criteria. Required for prosthetics and orthotics majors.

REHB 343 Upper Extremity Orthotics (2-4, max. 4) Yamane. Lecture and laboratory instruction in patient evaluation, prescription considerations, componentry, and fabrication procedures for upper extremity orthoses. Required for prosthetics and orthotics majors.

REHB 400 Medical Science (4) Lectures in fields related to: general surgery, obstetrics and gynecology, internal medicine, neurology, rehabilitation medicine, orthopaedics, psychiatry and behavioral sciences, rheumatology, and pediatrics. Required for occupational therapy, prosthetics and orthotics, and physical therapy students. Credit/no credit only.

REHB 401 Medical Science (4) Lectures in fields related to: general surgery, obstetrics and gynecology, internal medicine, neurology, rehabilitation medicine, orthopaedics, psychiatry and behavioral sciences, rheumatology, and pediatrics. Required for occupational therapy, prosthetics and orthotics, and physical therapy students. Credit/no credit only.

REHB 402 Medical Science Laboratory (1, max. 2) To introduce students to the role of allied and follow-up of orthoses that support, assist, or address. Focus is placed on development of Yamane REHAB 424 Lower Extremity Orthotics II (1-4, max. 13) Experience in patient management under the preceptorship of certified practitioners at clinical affiliation sites. Required for prosthetics and orthotics majors.

REHAB 442 Applied Kinesiology (4) Guthrie Study of joint motion and muscle function in relation to both the normal and abnormal state, emphasizing gait. Specific techniques employed in the field of rehabilitation medicine are analyzed. Required for Department of Rehabilitation Medicine students; others by permission.

REHAB 444 Functional Musculoskeletal Anatomy (4) Guthrie Functions of musculoskeletal system as applied to patterns of motion. Anatomy of peripheral-vascular and peripheral-nervous system. Required for occupational therapy students, prosthetics and orthotics students, and physical therapy students; others by permission of instructor.

REHAB 445 Functional Musculoskeletal Anatomy (4) Guthrie Functions of musculoskeletal system as applied to patterns of motion. Anatomy of peripheral-vascular and peripheral-nervous system. Required for occupational therapy students, prosthetics and orthotics students, and physical therapy students; others by permission of instructor.

REHAB 448 Applied Kinesiology Laboratory (1) Guthrie, Okumura, Powell, Robinson, Rollinger Instruction and laboratory focus on practical experience and clinical problem solving in kinesiology. Potential topics include muscle and joint motion testing, sensory/perceptual assessment, prosthetic and orthotic devices, wheelchair use, gait training.

REHAB 451 Functional Anatomy Laboratory (1) Bennett, Rollinger Study of musculoskeletal, peripheral-vascular, and peripheral-nervous systems from processed material. Required for physical therapy, occupational therapy, and prosthetic/orthotic students.

REHAB 452 Functional Anatomy Laboratory (1) Bennett, Rollinger Study of musculoskeletal, peripheral-vascular, and peripheral-nervous systems from processed material. Required for physical therapy, occupational therapy, and prosthetic/orthotic students.

REHAB 475 Prosthetic and Orthotic Evaluation and Use (2) Okumura Instruction in mechanical component substitution for functional losses. Emphasis is on biomechanical principles, prosthetic-orthotic components, and alignment and fitting techniques. Credit/no credit only. Required for physical therapy students.

REHAB 496 Special Topics in Rehabilitation (1-9, max. 14) Guided opportunity for in-depth study in specific areas of rehabilitation. Topics vary.

REHAB 498 Undergraduate Thesis (*)

REHAB 499 Undergraduate Research (*) Opportunity to design, perform, and analyze research investigation in problem areas in rehabilitation medicine. These include clinical and basic research problems in, for example, head and spinal injury, chronic disease, pain neurophysiology, electrodagnosis, communication, and bioengineering.

REHAB 500 Clinical Clerkship in Physical Therapy (4) Robinson Observation, instruction, and supervised practice in clinical clerkship in physical therapy. Students in diverse clinical settings. Emphasis is given to the application of previously learned material and skills to specific clinical problems. Required for physical therapy students. Credit/no credit only.

REHAB 502 Pediatric Physical Therapy (4-6, max. 8) McCoy Provides foundational knowledge in development and an overview of pediatric physical therapy practice for children with atypical development. Presents examination, evaluation, and development of physical therapy plans of care for children with various disabilities within the frameworks of family-centered care and disablement models.

REHAB 503 Lifespan III: Geriatric Physical Therapy (3) Matsuda Theory and principles of exercise procedures used when treating the geriatric patient. Includes a discussion of age related changes in the systems essential to movement control; factors contributing to physical disability and frailty with aging; adaptation of assessment and treatment procedures to the geriatric patient. Lectures and laboratories.

REHAB 504 Physical Therapy Procedures I: Assessment (2) Mailand Development of clinical competence in patient assessment techniques from a neuromusculoskeletal perspective. Special emphasis on upper and lower extremity anatomy, posture evaluation and medical record documentation.

REHAB 505 Introduction to Pharmacology (2) Guthrie Pharmacological survey of drugs commonly prescribed for clients seen in a physical therapy practice setting. Presentations on basic principles. Additional data search and group reports. Overview of medical emergen- cies. Credit/no credit only.

REHAB 506 Physical Therapy Procedures II: Assessment (2) Development of clinical competence in patient assessment techniques from a neuromusculoskeletal perspective. Discussion of normal and pathological findings. Special emphasis on lower extremity anatomy, posture evaluation, and medical record documentation skills. Lecture and laboratory format.

REHAB 507 Physical Therapy Procedures III: Modalities (3-4) Principles and practice of physical therapy clinical treatment procedures utilizing therapeutic modalities. Lecture and laboratory format.

REHAB 509 Physical Therapy Procedures: Functional Skills Assessment (1) Robinson
Development of clinical competence in assessment and training of basic patient functional skills, including handling techniques, transfers and assisted ambulation.

REHAB 510 Rehabilitation Psychology (2) Pepping Processes and management methods for assimilation of disability, enhancing patient participation in rehabilitation process, and for helping in maintenance of performance; behavioral management and case conference strategies; rehearsal of contingency management techniques. Required for residents; others by permission of instructor.

REHAB 511 Musculoskeletal IV: Clinical Management (5) Physical therapy clinical evaluation and management of patients with musculoskeletal dysfunction. Special emphasis on upper quadrant anatomy. Lecture and laboratory format.

REHAB 512 Musculoskeletal V: Clinical Management (4) Mailtand Physical therapy clinical evaluation and management of patients with musculoskeletal dysfunction. Special emphasis on lower quadrant anatomy. Lecture and laboratory format.

REHAB 513 Special Studies in Physical Therapy (1-5, max. 15) Theory and practice in specialized areas of physical therapy. Includes organization and administration of specialized programs, advanced evaluation and treatment techniques, role of the consultant. Credit/no credit only.

REHAB 514 Systems Review for Physical Therapists (3) Mailtand Development of advanced physical assessment skills to provide students with the ability to determine if a patient's disorder is within the scope of practice for physical therapy or requires referral to another healthcare provider. Lectures and laboratory format, with an emphasis on the lab component. Credit/no credit only.

REHAB 516 Medical Information for Rehabilitation Counselors (3) Johnson Lecture in medical science field regarding the etiology, prognosis, and physical restoration of common disabling conditions. Case studies are used extensively, and major emphasis is placed on vocational implications of physical disability. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

REHAB 517 Physical Therapy Seminar (2-3, max. 21) Kartin Group seminar format focused on practical therapy topics pertaining to transcurricular and professional practice issues. Credit/no credit only.

REHAB 519 P-Preceptorship in Rehab Medicine (1) Hayes Explores the field of physical medicine and rehabilitation. Students observe a physiatrist one half day each week, and gain understanding of the management of acute injuries, chronic disease, and disabilities. Offered: AWSpS.

REHAB 520 Seminar (1-5, max. 5) Conferences, seminars, discussions of advanced physical medicine and rehabilitation topics for graduate students, residents and postdoctoral fellows in rehabilitation medicine. Lectures, discussion, and laboratory work in selected aspects appropriate to elected area of study for applicants for master-degree level.

REHAB 522 Neurophysiological Topics in Rehabilitation Medicine (2) Anderson Review of traditional neurophysiological concepts and an exposition of recent advances in neurophysiological research related to the practice of rehabilitation medicine. Prerequisite: resident standing in rehabilitation medicine or permission of instructor.

REHAB 523 Neuroscience III: Applied Neurology (4) Kelly Theory and principles of advanced exercise procedures used when treating patients with neurologic pathology. Includes the application of principles of motor learning and control; facilitation and inhibition of variables affecting functional motor performance; adaptation of assessment and treatment procedures to patients with different types of neurologic impairments. Lectures and laboratories.

REHAB 527 Neuroscience IV: Special Topics in Neurologic Rehabilitation (3) Kelly Critical analysis and application of physical therapy assessment and treatment techniques to problems related to specific adult neurologic disorders. Neurological disorders to be covered include stroke, spinal cord injury, traumatic brain injury, and multiple sclerosis.

REHAB 528 International Clinical Clerkship (2) Robinson Short-term clinical education experience outside the United States. Participants work in a mentored relationship as part of a multi-disciplinary rehabilitation team providing direct clinical services and consultation to patients and their care-givers. Sponsored sites selected and screened by Clinical Coordinator. Students may choose area of clinical focus. Credit/no credit only.

REHAB 529 Professional and Practice Issues in Physical Therapy (2) Guthrie Augments the student's understanding of the profession and current issues in healthcare. Includes healthcare delivery, scope of practice, professional organization, political activism, specialist certification, licensure, collaboration, therapeutic relationships, disclosure, privacy, and informed consent. Credit/no credit only.

REHAB 530 Medical Aspects of Vocational Counseling (2-3) Johnson Introduction to vocational implications of physical and emotional disabilities. Methods, counseling techniques, therapeutic modalities, community resources used in producing vocational assistance for persons with disabilities. Prerequisite: resident standing in rehabilitation medicine or permission of instructor.

REHAB 532 Clinical Affiliation for Rehabilitation Counselors (5-6) Johnson Under preceptorship of rehabilitation counseling staff, students counsel and evaluate patients with severe physical, emotional, or social problems; administer vocational testing; obtain placement on job stations; work with community resources for vocational/educational placement; and develop activity-oriented schedules. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

REHAB 536 Patient Evaluation and Clinical Decision Making (1-2, max. 8) General principles and practice of physical therapy patient evaluation and use of the clinical decision-making models. The application of patient management principles through examination techniques and documentation strategies. Lecture and laboratory format.

REHAB 537 Functional Mobility Skills (2) Matsuda Principles and practice of physical therapy interventions related to functional mobility skills, including transfer training, wheelchair fitting, wheelchair mobility, gait training, and caregiver training. Lecture and laboratory format.

REHAB 538 Integumentary, Edema Management, and Circulatory Screening for PT (2) Robinson Principles and practice of physical therapy evaluation and interventions related to wound care, burn care, edema management, circulatory screening, and splinting applications. Lecture and laboratory format.

REHAB 539 Communication Disorders in Rehabilitation Medicine (1) Yorkston Overview of communication disorders secondary to central and peripheral nervous system impairment. Emphasis on facilitating identification of speech/language disorders with discussion of implications for rehabilitation.

REHAB 540 Acute Care Practice in Physical Therapy (2) Robinson Principles and practice of physical therapy evaluation and interventions related to individuals with diagnoses in the recent onset (or acute) stage of development.

REHAB 544 Functional Anatomy for Physiatrists (2-3) Goldstein Lectures and demonstrations to illustrate functional anatomy as applied by physicians in the practice of clinical rehabilitation. Intended to enhance functional assessments and to improve neuro/musculo/skeletal diagnosis and treatment through greater understanding of the underlying anatomy. Prerequisite: resident standing in rehabilitation medicine; others by permission of instructor.

REHAB 545 Functional Anatomy for Physiatrists (2) Goldstein Lectures and demonstrations to illustrate functional anatomy as applied by physicians in the practice of clinical rehabilitation. Intended to enhance functional assessments and to improve neuro/musculo/skeletal diagnosis and treatment through greater understanding of the underlying anatomy. Prerequisite: resident standing in rehabilitation medicine; others by permission of instructor.

REHAB 546 Teaching Practicum in Rehabilitation (1-3, max. 3) Integration of knowledge and skills in teaching through teaching in the classroom or presentation of a minicourse, workshop, or in-service training series. Prerequisite: MEDED 520 and permission of instructor.

REHAB 550 Neuropsychology in Rehabilitation (2) Bombardier, Ehde Examination and management of patients with brain lesions, as well as an understanding of the consequences of such conditions. Prerequisite: graduate standing in rehabilitation medicine.

REHAB 555 P-Neuromuscular Electrodiagnosis (2.5) Kraft Demonstration of fundamentals of electromyography and peripheral nerve stimulation followed by participation in clinical electrodiagnosis examinations. Develops awareness of knowing when such procedures are indicated for patients and interpreting results rather than developing proficiency in performing these examinations. Prerequisite: HUBIO 560 and permission of instructor.

REHAB 556 Foundations of Rehabilitation Science (3) Johnson, Yorkston Overview of Therapy (5)

REHAB 570 Foundations of Occupational Therapy (5) Dudgeon Provides an overview of the practice of occupational therapy, emphasizing the role of occupational performance in context, frames of reference, clinical reasoning, and purposeful activity. Introduces the diversity of occupational therapy practice environments through didactic and clinical experiences. Offered: A.

REHAB 571 Occupational Performance through the Life Span (4) Stewart Overview of human development as it relates to occupational performance and functional adaptation in the ages and stages of life from infancy through old-old age. Emphasis will be placed on environmental influences, activity, and occupational roles, tasks, and component behaviors as they relate to individuals in different ages and stages. Offered: W.

REHAB 572 Occupational Therapy Theory and Practice in Psychosocial Dysfunction I (1-7, max. 7) Enge An overview of bodies of knowledge in psychosocial practice as related to occupational performance. Learning topics include major frames of reference, effects of psychosocial disorders on occupational performance (life activities), and occupational therapy evaluation and intervention skills. Lectures, readings, class discussions, role-playing, problem-based learning, and fieldwork comprise the learning experiences. Offered: SpS.

REHAB 573 Occupational Therapy in Community Practice (4) Engel Bodies of knowledge in occupational performance as they relate to the emerging area of community-based practice. Includes traditional and evidence based practice in the realms of health promotion, prevention, evaluation, and intervention. Lectures, assigned readings, class discussions, role playing, site visits, films, laboratory exercises, and problem-based learning tutorials. Offered: Sp.

REHAB 574 Occupational Therapy Theory and Practice in Physical Disabilities I (6) Dudgeon Provides theoretical bases and clinical practice skills used in evaluation and intervention of occupational performance (life activities). Focus is on individuals with sensorimotor (physical) and/or cognitive impairments. Practical applications of theory occur through lecture, laboratory, and problem-based learning approaches. Offered: A.

REHAB 575 Occupational Therapy Theory and Practice in Physical Disabilities II (5) Powell Provides theoretical bases and clinical practice skills used in evaluation and intervention of occupational performance (life activities). Focus is on individuals with sensorimotor (physical) and/or cognitive impairments. Practical applications of theory occur through lecture, laboratory, and problem-based learning approaches. Offered: W.

REHAB 576 Occupational Therapy Theory and Practice in Pediatrics (1-7, max. 7) Provides knowledge and skills necessary for providing occupational therapy evaluation, intervention, and transition services focused on occupational performance (life activities) for children and teens with disabilities and their families. Offered: W.

REHAB 578 Occupational Performance Analysis (3) Kanny Provides knowledge and skills related to functional performance in the contextual environments within which occupational performance occurs. Focuses on performance components (sensorimotor, cognitive, psychosocial, psychosocial, psychological, temporal aspects (chronological, developmental), and environmental aspects (physical, social, cultural). Offered: S.

REHAB 579 Therapeutic Communication (3) Kanny Introduces basic principles and skills of effective interpersonal communication in dyadic interactions and in groups. Emphasis on effective listening, interviewing, and principles and concepts of occupational therapy groups. Lectures, readings, class discussions, role playing, and in-class exercises comprise the learning experiences. Offered: Sp.

REHAB 580 Introduction to Research in Rehabilitation (3) Dudgeon Provides a basis for understanding the research literature and design of research studies relevant to rehabilitation. Offered: S.

REHAB 581 Application of Measurement Systems (3) Deitz Provides a basis for critically evaluating and using tests and measurements in occupational therapy evaluation. Focus on reliability, validity, norms, test development process, statistics relevant to tests and measurement, and ethical implications of testing. Critical evaluation of selected standardized test used in occupational therapy. Offered: A.

REHAB 582 Assistive Technology in Rehabilitation (3) Dudgeon Provides an overview of the field of assistive technology as it impacts occupational performance in self-care, work, and leisure activities. Covers interface devices, computer applications, environmental controls, augmentative communications, power mobility, seating and positioning systems, and sensory enhancements. Offered: W.

REHAB 584 Health-Care Trends and Issues (3) Kanny Overview of the health services system in the United States and current trends and issues facing occupational therapists within this system. Content includes: health service providers, reimbursement of health care services, regulation, personnel and role delineation, and health policy and advocacy. Offered: A.

REHAB 585 Leadership: Administration and Management (4) Kanny Provides student with knowledge and skills needed for leadership positions in occupational therapy practice. Focuses on administration and management functions including strategic planning, program planning, marketing, fiscal management, program evaluation, and personnel management. Offered: W.

REHAB 587 Industrial Rehabilitation (3) Dudgeon Provides knowledge and skills related to vocational assessment and industrial rehabilitation for individuals with medical or psychosocial problems. Emphasizes worker characteristics, job analysis, and accommodation in business and industrial settings. Clinical simulation components provide applications to specific diagnostic, impairment, or disability conditions. Offered: Sp.

REHAB 591 Graduate Project (1-4, max. 7) Grad project focused on research, administration, education, practice, policy, or other scholarly or creative work. Required of graduate, entry-level occupational therapy and physical therapy students. Offered: AVSpS.

REHAB 592 Principles of Orthotic Use in Rehabilitation (2) Chang General principles and clinical applications of orthoses in patient management, with exposure to research issues in orthotic design.

REHAB 593 Principles of Prosthetic Use in Rehabilitation (1) Czerniecki General principles of prevention of amputation, prosthetic design, biomechanics, and clinical applications of upper and lower extremity prostheses.

REHAB 594 Clinical Fieldwork in Occupational Therapy (10, max. 20) Rollinger 12-week, full-time, fieldwork, delivering occupational therapy services to clients focusing on application of meaningful occupation under direct supervision. Exposure to varied clients across the lifespan and in various setting reflective of current practice. Students must complete a minimum of two 12-week placements. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AVSpS.

REHAB 595 Clinical Affiliation in Physical Therapy (2-10, max. 30) Robinson Clinical practice of physical therapy techniques under supervision in community-based clinics. Credit/no credit only.

REHAB 596 Electromyography and Clinical Neurophysiology (4) Kraft Didactic course covering electromyography and clinical neurophysiology. First part covers basic neurophysiology and second covers electromyography, nerve conduction studies, somatosensory-evoked potentials, residual- and auditory-evoked potentials, single fiber EMG, late response, quantitative analysis, and macro EMG. Prerequisite: resident standing in rehabilitation medicine; others by permission of instructor.

REHAB 597 Electromyography and Electrodia<eurology Laboratory (1-7) Kraft Elective work in clinical electromyography and other electrodagnostic methods. Prerequisite: resident standing in rehabilitation medicine; others by permission of instructor.

REHAB 598 Electromyography and Electrodia<eurology Laboratory (1-7) Kraft Elective work in clinical electromyography and other electrodagnostic methods. Prerequisite: resident standing in rehabilitation medicine; others by permission of instructor.

REHAB 599 Electromyography and Electrodia<eurology Laboratory (1-7) Kraft Elective work in clinical electromyography and other electrodagnostic methods. Prerequisite: resident standing in rehabilitation medicine; others by permission of instructor.

REHAB 600 Independent Study or Research (*) Credit/no credit only.

REHAB 685 P-Chronic Disease and Disability (4) Cox, Hays Meets chronic-care requirement for medical students. Structured clinical experience on rehabilitation medicine services. Differences between acute and chronic medicine, identification of disability problems, and therapeutic techniques for removing disability. Hospitals are within University system, local area, or WWAMI area. Prerequisite: third-year medical student standing.

REHAB 686 P-Rehabilitation Medicine Clerkship — Pediatrics (8/12) Hays, Jaffe, Massagli Meets chronic-care requirement for medical students. Incorporates material of 685 and expands into disabling pediatric disease. School planning, family counseling, community support services included. Four- or six-week package permits inpatient, outpatient, and consultation experience. Recommended for students contemplating pediatrics. Prerequisite: third-year medical student standing.

REHAB 687 P-Rehabilitation Medicine Clerkship (8/12) Hays Structured clinical experience in inpatient and treatment of disability problems in rural (nonmajor urban) communities. Satisfies chronic care/rehabilitation medical graduation requirements. Prerequisite: completion of at least six months of clinical clerkships, permission of instructor.

REHAB 697 P-Rehabilitation Medicine Special Elective (*) Credit/no credit only.

SURG 498 Undergraduate Thesis (*) Langdale Offered to those students who have engaged in undergraduate research in general surgery. (Full- or part-time.)

SURG 499 Undergraduate Research (*) Langdale Provides an opportunity to participate in ongoing research projects or carry out an independent research project under supervision of Department of Surgery faculty. Practical experience in experimental design and execution is provided under direct supervision of selected faculty members. (Full- or part-time.)

SURG 505 P-Preceptorship in Surgery (1) Langdale Opportunity for first- and second-year medical students to gain personal experience with clinical faculty members in the community. Students observe general aspects of private practice, including clinical problems seen; practice limitation; doctor-doctor, doctor-patient, and doctor-nurse relationships in the office and hospital. Prerequisite: permission of department.

SURG 600 Independent Study or Research (*) Langdale

SURG 630 P-WRITE Surgery Clinical Clerkship (*, max. 24) Basic clinical clerkship for students enrolled in the WRITE Program. Prerequisite: completion of basic curriculum; third- and fourth-year students; acceptance in the WRITE program.

SURG 665 P-Clinical Clerkship (*, max. 12) Langdale (Harborview Medical Center, Providence Medical Center, University of Washington Medical Center, Veterans Affairs Medical Center, Virginia Mason Medical Center) Diagnosis and management of problems amenable to surgical therapy. Physiological basis of surgical care, differential diagnosis and decision making, and the basic principles of surgical management. Care of inpatients and outpatients, including participation in the operating rooms. Prerequisite: HUBIO 563. (Six weeks. Limit: twenty students.)

SURG 666 P-Clinical Clerkship Boise (12) Diagnosis and management of surgical problems. Physiological basis of surgical care, differential diagnosis and decision making, and basic principles of surgical management. Care of inpatients and outpatients, including participation in the operating rooms. Fulfills graduation requirement for Surgery. Prerequisite: completion of HUBIO series. (Six weeks. Limit: two students.)

SURG 667 P-Clinical Clerkship Spokane (12) Diagnosis and management of surgical problems. Physiological basis of surgical care, differential diagnosis and decision-making, and basic principles of surgical management. Care of inpatients and outpatients, including participation in the operating rooms. Fulfills graduation requirement for Surgery. Prerequisite: completion of HUBIO series.

SURG 668 P-Clinical Clerkship Casper (12) Text Offered: Diagnosis and management of problems amenable to surgical therapy. Physiological basis of surgical care, differential diagnosis and decision making, and the basic principles of surgical management. Care of inpatients and outpatients, including participation in the operating rooms. Prerequisite: HUBIO 563.

SURG 669 P-Clinical Clerkship Billings (12) Faculty Diagnosis and management of problems amenable to surgical therapy. Physiological basis of surgical care, differential diagnosis and decision making, and the basic principles of surgical management. Care of inpatients and outpatients, including participation in the operating rooms. Prerequisite: HUBIO 563.

SURG 670 P-Clinical Clerkship Missoula (12) Faculty Diagnosis and management of problems amenable to surgical therapy. Physiological basis of surgical care, differential diagnosis and decision making, and the basic principles of surgical management. Care of inpatients and outpatients, including participation in the operating rooms. Prerequisite: HUBIO 563.

SURG 671 P-Clinical Clerkship Madigan (12) Diagnosis and management of problems amenable to surgical therapy. Physiological basis of surgical care, differential diagnosis and decision making, and the basic principles of surgical management. Care of inpatients and outpatients, including participation in the operating rooms. Prerequisite: HUBIO 563.

SURG 681 P-Peripheral Vascular Disease (4/8, max. 8) Clowes (Veterans Affairs Medical Center) Peripheral arterial and venous problems, including methods of clinical evaluation; new diagnostic procedures; and the available methods of treatment. Patient workup, performance of diagnostic studies, and presentation of case material to the staff. Prerequisite: SURG 665, HUBIO 563. (Two or four weeks. Limit: one student.)

SURG 682 P-Clinical Burn Care (*, max. 12) Heimbach (Harborview Medical Center) Offered on the burn unit of Harborview Medical Center. Exposure to the care of patients with thermal injury, including management of severe metabolic and septic problems and opportunity to participate in surgical procedures. Exposure to plastic and reconstructive surgery. Prerequisite: SURG 665. (Four or six weeks. Limit: two students.)

SURG 683 P-Pediatric Surgery Externship (8/12) Tapper (Children’s Hospital and Regional Medical Center) Surgical conditions peculiar to the particular age group with a preponderance of congenital and neoplastic conditions that are amenable to surgical treatment. A reasonable background of knowledge in human embryology and genetics is recommended. Prerequisite: SURG 665. (Four or six weeks. Limit: two students.)

SURG 685 P-Cardiothoracic Surgery Externship (*, max. 12) Verrier (University of Washington Medical Center) Serve as intern, participate in patient care while learning cardiovascular hemodynamics of cardiac and thoracic surgery. Observe a wide variety of both cardiac and thoracic disease entities. Participate in all-open-heart procedures in the operating room. Opportunity to gain additional understanding of physiology of cardiopulmonary bypass. (Four or six weeks. Limit: two students.)

SURG 686 P-Plastic Surgery Clerkship and Preceptorship (*, max. 12) Vedder (University of Washington affiliated hospitals) Introduces fundamental techniques and enhances knowledge of plastic surgery, wounds, trauma, burns, cancers, and pediatric and adult cosmetic and reconstructive surgery. Participate in all surgery-related activities. Prerequisite: SURG 665; MED 665. MS III only, two weeks, 4 credits, limit 2; MS III/MS IV four/six weeks (recommended); 8/12 credits, limit 4.

SURG 687 P-Transplantation Surgery Clerkship (B) Perkins (University of Washington Medical Center) Clerkship is in the University regional multi-organ transplantation center. Student participates fully in the care of all transplant patients, on twice daily multidisciplinary rounds, in pre-operative conference, and in the operating room and on the donor harvest team. Weekly didactic teaching sessions. Prerequisite: SURG 665 and MED 665. (Four weeks. Limit: two students.)

SURG 688 P-Subinternship in General Surgery (*, max. 16) Langdale (Veterans Affairs Medical Center, Harborview Medical Center, Providence Medical Center, University of Washington Medical Center) Offered on the general surgery wards of the University affiliated hospitals. Diagnosis, preoperative care, and postoperative care; management of surgical emergencies, the ICU patient, and outpatient follow-up of discharged patients. Students function at the intern level under close supervision of the staff and house staff. Prerequisite: SURG 665. (Four or six weeks. Limit: six students.)

SURG 689 P-Community Surgery Clerkship (B) Langdale Designed to supplement basics learned in 665. Excellent opportunity to participate in general, thoracic, vascular, and plastic surgery in a group practice in a smaller city. Recommended for students entering primary care. Prerequisite: SURG 665 and permission of department. (Four or six weeks. Alaska Native Medical Center, Anchorage. Limit: one student.)

SURG 691 P-Surgical Intensive Care Unit Sub-Internship (B) Langdale Designed to augment experience gained in 665. Excellent opportunity to participate in the management of critically ill patients under the close supervision of the staff/house staff. Recommended for students entering surgery or primary care. Prerequisite: SURG 665; MED 665. (Veterans Affairs Medical Center. Limit: two students. Veterans Affairs Medical Center. Limit: one student.)

SURG 692 P-Ambulatory Surgery Clerkship (B) Waldhausen Rotation focuses on increasing the student’s ability as a primary care physician to recognize and form an initial plan of management for common surgical problems seen in the outpatient setting. Offered: AWSPs.

SURG 693 P-Rural Surgery Clerkship, Buffalo (B) Designed to supplement basics learned in SURG 665. Opportunity to participate in general surgery and various other subspecialties in a smaller city. Recommended for students entering primary care. Prerequisite: SURG 665, permission of department. (Four weeks. Buffalo. Limit: one student.)

SURG 694 P-Rural Surgery Clerkship, Riverton (B) Designed to supplement basics learned in SURG 665. Opportunity to participate in general surgery and various other subspecialties in a smaller city. Recommended for students entering primary care. Prerequisite: SURG 665, permission of department. (Four weeks. Riverton. Limit: one student.)

SURG 697 P-Surgery Special Electives (*, max. 24) Langdale Special clerkship, externship, or research opportunities can at times be made available at institutions other than the University of Washington. Students wishing to elect this course should obtain from the Dean’s office a special assignment form at least one month before preregistration. Prerequisite: SURG 665 and departmental permission. (Four, six, or twelve weeks.)

SURG 698 P-Clinical Clerkship Away (*, max. 24) Clerkship equivalent to SURG 665, at sites outside the Seattle metropolitan area.

The refugee phenomenon, its emergence in postcolonial world, and structure of life history of refugees. Ethnic change, involuntary deculturation, and acculturation as they occur in refugee life histories. Prerequisite: one 200-level ANTH course or LING 203. Offered: jointly with ANTH 492.

NURS 495 Child Rearing, Culture, and Health (3) I&S Cross-cultural study of the child-rearing practices, cultural norms, and health behavior of children and adolescents in different societies. Comparative approaches, diverse theoretical postures, and empirical research findings are used. Offered: jointly with ANTH 440.

NURS 499 Special Electives (1-4, max. 15)
Seminars on selected nursing issues of clinical problems, with independent study option, under supervision of nursing faculty. Offered: A/WSpS.

NURS 500 Children and Adolescents with Special Health Needs, Their Families and Communities (3/4, max. 4)
Acker, Brandt, Kieckhefer, Jolley, Magyary Includes advanced health care approach for providers of children and adolescents with chronic physical, neurobiological, developmental, or psychosocial problems. Emphasizes evidence based, culturally competent, and comprehensive assessment, referral and management strategies. Describes exemplars of leadership processes related to policy, care coordination, family centered, and multidisciplinary approaches. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A.

NURS 501 Advanced Mental Health Interventions with Children (3) Developmentally based assessment and therapeutic approaches relevant for children with psychosocial health problems. Consideration to matching therapeutic approaches with specific nature of symptomatology and other child, family, cultural, and environmental characteristics, including social and educational systems. Individual and group evaluation research emphasized. Prerequisite: NURS 500.

NURS 502 Human Responses in Health and Illness I (3)
Survey of selected human responses to environmental demands in health and illness as expressed at physiologic, pathophysiologic, experiential, and behavioral levels. Such concepts as host defenses, ventilation, circulation, elimination, and nutrition are discussed. Prerequisite: graduate standing.

NURS 503 Human Responses in Health and Illness II (3)
Survey of selected human responses to environmental demands in health and illness at physiologic, pathophysiologic, experiential, and behavioral levels. Such concepts as immune response, stress response, circadian rhythms, pain, sleep, cognition, and consciousness. Prerequisite: graduate standing.

NURS 504 Clinical Nursing Therapeutics (1-6, max. 6)
Critical analysis of therapeutic modalities to assist patients with a variety of responses to health problems. Includes selected therapies such as suction/drainage, positioning to address responses in critical, life threatening, and chronic/continuing health states. Varying credits assigned for modules covering particular therapies. Prerequisite: NURS 502, NURS 503, or permission of instructor.

NURS 505 Selected Topics in Psychosocial and Community Health Nursing (2-10, max. 10) In-depth exploration of the major theoretical issues in psychosocial nursing. Seminar with analysis and discussion of selected topics and readings and implications for research and health care.

NURS 506 Role and Context of Advanced Practice Psychiatric Mental Health Nursing (3) Introduction to advanced practice roles in Psychiatric Mental Health Nursing. Diverse populations, practice settings, health care systems, standards of practice, certification, and licensing criteria relevant to the advanced practice role examined within the context of a broad range of ethical, clinical, and educational issues. Examines future directions. Credit/no credit only.

NURS 507 Mental Health of Older Adults (3)

Examines evidenced-based approach to pediatric pulmonary conditions. Includes lung structure and function from infancy through adolescence with detailed analysis of the components parts of the pulmonary system, i.e., neurological control, upper and lower airways, parenchyma, and chest wall.

NURS 517 Pediatric Pulmonary Pathophysiology: Clinical Applications (2)
Evidenced-based approaches to pediatric pulmonary pathophysiology and current treatment. Critical analysis and application of interdisciplinary management and long-term follow-up for children with pulmonary special health care needs. Emphasizes family centered care and professional leadership role of the advanced practice nurse. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

NURS 518 Advanced Practice Pediatric Primary Care Management (3)
Focuses on use of clinical decision making framework to develop theoretically and empirically sound individualized management plans for the young child, with physical and behavioral symptoms of common pediatric illness, in the primary care setting. Prerequisite: PNP or FNP specialty, or permission of instructor.

NURS 519 Curriculum Development in Nursing Education (3) Theoretical rationale for curriculum development, study of curricular problems in nursing in relation to the elements of the curriculum as described in a curricular design. Prerequisite: graduate standing.

NURS 520 Evaluation of Clinical Performance in Nursing (3) For graduate students preparing for faculty or staff development positions in nursing. Theory and principles of evaluation. Instruments to appraise clinical nursing performance developed as part of course requirements. Prerequisite: graduate standing or permission of instructor.
by children and their families in primary care setting. Emphasis on the developmental, family, and cultural aspects of assessment and management of the common issues.

NURS 530 Conceptual Frameworks for Parent-Child Nursing (3) Designed to assist graduate students to integrate human development, critique, and analysis of selected concepts, frameworks, and models relevant to parent-child nursing practice. Group seminar work focuses on the discussion of issues influencing the roles and practice of clinical nurse specialists in parent-child nursing. Skills necessary for developing a conceptual framework for practice.

NURS 531 Selected Topics in Family and Child Nursing (1-6, max. 12) In-depth examination of the literature pertinent to major theoretical issues in parent and child nursing. Seminar with analysis and discussion of selected topics and readings. Implications for research, prevention, and health care stressed. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

NURS 532 Professional Issues in Advanced Parent and Child Nursing (2-5, max. 5) History and current issues in advanced parent and child nursing practice and interface with health care systems. Advanced practice roles in provision, implementation, and evaluation of health care services for women, children, and families. Opportunity for application to specific advanced practice roles. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

NURS 533 Healthcare of Cancer Survivors (2) Focuses on teaching the health science graduate students about cancer survivorship issues. Discusses the emotional, physical, and social needs of those who have been cured of their initial malignancy but are still at risk of long-term effects of chemotherapy, radiation, and surgery.

NURS 534 Seminar in Nursing in Gerontology (3) Gerontological research findings applied to complex nursing problems in maintenance of health and maximum functioning in the aged.

NURS 535 Seminar in Neuroscience Nursing (3) Guided survey of clinical and experimental literatures regarding selected concepts of human functioning mediated by the nervous system: consciousness, movement, sensation, integrated regulation, coping with disability. Clinical and research measurement, current research and implications for further research, clinical applications.

NURS 536 Biological Aspects of Cancer: Implications for Care (3) Survey of major concepts from tumor biology and implications for advanced oncology nursing practice. Areas covered include carcinogenesis, cancer epidemiology, pathology, metastasis, treatments (chemotherapy, radiation, surgery, immunotherapy), and cancer detection and prevention. Discussion of role of advance nurse clinician and complex patient responses are incorporated into discussion of basic biological concepts.

NURS 537 Symptom Management in Cancer Care and Serious Illness (3) Berry, Nguyen Focuses on assessment, integration of research findings into clinical decision-making, diagnostic reasoning, and management of common symptoms experienced by adult patients with cancer and their families. Explores individual and family responses to serious illness and malignant processes. Emphasizes concepts of prevention, tailored patient/family education, management and evaluation strategies. Offered: Sp.

NURS 538 Management of Adults with Respiratory Dysfunction (3) In-depth examination of problems such as abnormal secretions and shortness of breath associated with respiratory dysfunction due to pulmonary diseases and other pathophysiological states.

NURS 539 Seminar in Critical-Care Nursing (3, max. 8) Systematic inquiry into pathophysiology, initial nursing management, and systems of care for the critically ill adult or child.

NURS 540 Special Topics in Biobehavioral Nursing and Health Systems (3-6, max. 9) Guided survey of the experimental literature of major topics in physiological nursing, including cardiopulmonary, biology of aging, neuromuscular, cancer, and endocrine. Course conducted as a seminar with analysis and discussion of selected topics and readings. Implications for future research and health care are emphasized.

NURS 541 Women’s Health Care: Diagnosis and Management (1-6, max. 6) Examines advanced practice women’s health care issues including unique health issues for women, health maintenance, contraceptive care, diagnosis, and treatment of women’s health issues across the lifespan. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

NURS 542 Theoretical Foundations of Advanced Practice Nursing: Childbearing I (4) (1-4, max. 4) Analyzes and applies concepts of advanced practice nursing/nurse-midwifery care, specific to the normal childbearing woman, during preconception, antepartum, intrapartum, and postpartum. Studies primary care management of a pregnant client within the context of the individual, family, socio-cultural environment, and health care system. Prerequisite: NURS 541.

NURS 543 Theoretical Foundations of Advanced Practice Nursing: Childbearing II (1-4, max. 4) Examines advanced practice nursing/nurse-midwifery care, specific to at-risk childbearing woman, during preconception, antepartum, intrapartum, and postpartum. Examines primary care management of at-risk pregnant client within the context of the individual, family, socio-cultural environment, and health care system. Offered: W.

NURS 544 Psychosocial Adaptations of Individuals and Families during the Perinatal Period (3) Adaptation of individuals and families during the perinatal period, with emphasis on psychosocial adaptation, consumer education, transition to parenthood, parent-infant interaction and community based support. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

NURS 545 Care of the Neonate and Infant (2-3, max. 3) Adaptation of neonate to the extraterine environment and continuum of care to promote the health of infants within the context of family, community, and other environments. Prerequisite: NURS 514, NURS 528, or permission of instructor.

NURS 546 Individual as Psychosocial Adaptation (3) Selected theories in relation to psychosocial development and adaptation across life span for individuals, families, and small groups and as explanatory models of major psychosocial disabilities. General and psychosocial nursing models evaluated for heuristic value for research and practice. Prerequisite: graduate standing or permission of instructor.

NURS 547 Biologic Aspects of Psychosocial Disabilities (3) Analysis of biologic processes influencing psychosocial behavior in response to internal and external stimuli. Research and theory of neuroendocrine mechanisms in psychosocial disabilities. Analysis of nursing management and evaluation of biopsychosocial modalities used in modification of behavior. Prerequisite: graduate standing in nursing or permission of instructor.

NURS 548 Introduction to Infant Mental Health (3) Reviews the basics of infant mental health (IMH) and development from a developmen interdisciplinary perspective. Special attention on brain development, sensory integration, early communication, emotion regulation. Emphasizes history of infant mental health field, incorporating IMH into policies, systems, and various treatment approaches.

NURS 549 Assessment in Psychosocial Nursing (3) Conceptual and clinical approaches to advanced-level data collection and diagnostic reasoning in psychiatric/psychosocial disorders. Synthesizes knowledge from psychosocial nursing and allied fields to enhance learners’ cognizance of principles for establishing accurate and comprehensive data bases and sound multifaceted diagnostic formulations. Emphasizes DSM diagnostic scheme.

NURS 550 White Privilege and Racism in Health and Human Services (3) Explores relationships among the psychosocial health of people of color, American cultural patterns of intersecting forms of oppression (e.g., gender, race, and class) and the role of health professionals in defining, ameliorating and/or aggravating psychosocial distress. Credit/no credit only. Offered: jointly with WOMEN 550.

NURS 551 Theoretical Foundations of Primary Care (1-3, max. 4) Presentation and interpretation of theoretical basis of advanced nursing practice in primary care. Provides students with conceptual foundation upon which to base their development as nurse practitioners. Prerequisite: graduate standing; permission of instructor.

NURS 552 Health Promotion (2-3) Emphasis on evidence for health promotion, risk reduction, screening, and disease prevention through the lifespan in primary care. Examines issues, including cultural diversity, impacting individual, family, and population health; evidence supporting risk assessment and behavior change; factors contributing to health disparities; and barriers to health at micro and macro levels. Prerequisite: permission of instructor; recommended: nurse practitioner students take fieldwork concurrently.

NURS 553 The Mentally Ill Offender in Correctional and Community Settings (3) Survey of social, political, economic, legal, and moral problems posed by individuals with mental disorders who commit crimes. Covers historical antecedents and current responses of correctional and mental health systems to mentally ill offenders, prevalence and correlates of incarceration, and roles of professionals in correctional mental health field. Credit/no credit only. Offered: W.

NURS 554 Psychosocial Interventions in Nursing (3) Course focuses on conceptual foundations and interpersonal skills for therapeutic interventions to promote personal change and effective adaptation. Emphasizes forming and maintaining a therapeutic alliance and utilizing a client-centered approach to define problems and select appropriate therapeutic interventions. Examines traditional, non-traditional, and multicultural therapeutic perspectives.

NURS 555 Psychopathology, Assessment, and Diagnostics of Children 3 and Under (2-, max. 4) Psychopathology, mental health assessment, and diagnostics in children aged 3 and under, framed by the Diagnostic Classification for Developmental and Mental Health Disorders (DC:0-3). Develops skills and techniques necessary in infant mental health. Prerequisite: acceptance into Infant Mental Health Certificate program or permission of instructor. Offered: WSp.

NURS 556 Addictions and Substance Abuse: Biopsychosocial Perspectives (3) Psychosocial and pathophysiological aspects of substance use examined for their effects on individuals and families throughout life span. Theories and empirical findings serve as basis for evaluating therapeutic approaches to substance use disorders, including those related to targeted populations. Prerequisite: basic course in biological sciences.

NURS 557 Health, Culture, and Community (3) A theory and skills class concerning development of personal and organizational cultural competence in community-based participatory research. Core concepts of cultural competence are considered as they are practiced in community settings. Fieldwork required. Offered: jointly with HSERV 576.

NURS 558 Infancy: The Context of Relationships (3) Overview of the parent-child relationship from an ecological framework. Topics include infant regulatory behaviors, parent-child interaction, attachment theory, and prevention in primary care.

NURS 559 Theories of Psychiatric Disabilities (3) Theories from psychosocial nursing, psychiatry, and behavioral sciences explanatory of psychiatric disabilities provide basis for identifying psychosocial problems. Structure and functions of mental health organizations and social networks analyzed. Prerequisite: NURS 547 or permission of instructor.

NURS 560 Dynamics of Community Health Practice (3/5) Examination of and experience with principles of clinical practice in community settings. Included are family as community constituent, populations at risk, community assessment, and community development. Prerequisite: graduate standing or permission. Offered: jointly with HSERV 508.

NURS 561 Selected Topics in Comparative Nursing Care Systems (2-3, max. 10) In-depth examination and development of the literature pertinent to major theoretical perspectives in cross-cultural nursing and health-care systems. Seminar with analysis and discussion of selected topics and readings. Implications for research and health care practice.

NURS 562 Clinically Applied Anthropology (3) Anthropology as it relates to interdisciplinary delivery of culturally relevant health care. Cultural variation in illness beliefs and behavior, types of healing practices, illness prevention, social support networks. Prerequisite: graduate standing, permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with ANTH 562.

NURS 563 Advanced Community Health Nursing (3) Systematic inquiry into the nature and foundations of community health nursing. Analytic and theoretical perspectives on health risk assessment and nursing interventions in the community. Implications for community health nursing services. Prerequisite: permission of instructor and graduate standing.

NURS 564 Biopharmacological Management in Psychosocial Nursing (3) Biological and pharmacological interventions pertinent to practice of psychosocial nursing, including psychopharmacology, electroconvulsive therapy, and phototherapy. Emphasis on empirical neuroendocrine bases and then nursing management issues pertaining to these interventions. Legal and ethical issues pertaining to advanced practice and putative neurological mechanism are examined. Prerequisite: NURS 547 or permission of instructor.

NURS 565 Self-Management Strategies and Techniques in Patient Care (3) Theories underlying cognitive/behavioral self-management strategies and techniques in patient care. Evaluation of the clinical appropriateness and utility for nursing. Application to such clinical problems as abstinence in the recovering alcoholic, depression, and eating disorders. Prerequisite: graduate standing or permission of faculty.

NURS 566 Occupational Stress and Stress Management (3) Relationships between occupational stressors and worker’s health, well-being, productivity. Analyzes models of occupational stress. Investigates similarities, differences between job-related stressors and stress responses in various occupations. Explores elements of worksite stress management programs. Prerequisite: graduate standing in nursing or allied health discipline; advanced undergraduates with permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with ENVH 565.

NURS 567 Theoretical Basis of Management of Stress Response (3) Theories of physiological responses linked to theories of cognitive/affective and behavioral responses to stressors. Conceptual basis of self-management techniques. Research findings relevant to these theories and techniques examined and analyzed. Prerequisite: course in human physiology or physiologic psychology, permission of instructor.

NURS 568 Health Politics and Policy (3) Analyzes the formal and informal political context of health care delivery, professionals, and institutions in the United States. Addresses medical coverage and public persuasion, as well as policy analysis. Special attention is paid to women’s political resources and participation. Credit/no credit only.

NURS 569 Observation and Assessment of Relationships (3) Spieler Recognizing patterns of behavior in interactions between young children and their caregivers. Assessment of relationships in the early years. Students learn to incorporate an attachment theory approach and observation tools from research into the work of their own discipline or field. Offered: Sp.
NURS 570 Family Concepts: Health and Illness (3) Emphasizes the family as unit of care across the life span. Predominant themes: factors influencing family health promotion, including resilience, vulnerability, risk reduction, and health policy; continuity, change and transition; and promotion of family health during acute and chronic illness episodes.

NURS 571 Advanced Interpersonal Therapeutics with Families (3) Models and research on therapeutic and interpersonal processes evaluated and applied to group interactions among family members, among professionals, and between the family, professionals, and macrosystems. Partnership building emphasized. Individual and group characteristics examined across the life span in social, cultural, and health contexts. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

NURS 572 Professional Issues for Nurse Practitioners (2-3) Presentation and analysis of current health care trends and key professional issues influencing nurse practitioner practice. The NP role, role in influencing health policy, accountability to the profession/public, marketability, and legal dimensions of practice are stressed. Prerequisite: NP student or permission of instructor. (Limit: 60.)

NURS 573 Family Interpretation and Management of Disordered Behavior across Cultures (3) Examines interpretation and management of disordered behavior from the perspective of families — intergenerational and across cultures. Critically reviews selected theoretical frameworks for understanding families. Emphasizes theory, cultural perspective, and family assessment skills to plan relevant family interventions to assist families in managing disordered behaviors of family members.

NURS 574 Grief and Loss in Clinical Practice (2-4, max. 4) Analysis and study of social, cultural, and psychological conditions that influence human loss, grief, and death in modern society. Research findings, selected readings, and direct experience provide direction for examination of philosophical, theoretical, and pragmatic issues underlying choices and decisions in clinical practice. Open to graduate students with permission of instructor. (Limit: sixteen students.)

NURS 576 Assessment and Collaboration with Communities and Systems (3) Examines, critiques, and applies theory in assessing communities, populations, and systems cross-culturally. Focuses on advanced practice, executive leadership/policy, and practice inquiry; broad definition of community includes organizations. Emphasizes team work in assessment implementation, i.e., survey, interview, focus groups, observation/participant observation to advance understanding of social determinants of health.

NURS 577 Seminar in Infant Mental Health Intervention Models, Consultation, and Leadership (1-, max. 3) Capstone course in Infant Mental Health Certificate Program. Explores intervention models, role of consultation and leadership in the field. Field work in Infant Mental Health Program serves as context for exploring consultation and leadership roles. Synthesis and reflection of personal preparation and role encouraged. Offered: AWS.

NURS 578 Social Determinants of Health (3) Analyze the distribution and causes of health disparities in populations and communities, including but not limited to social, psychological, biological and environmental factors, to assess social determinants of health problems and their remedies. BSN senior with permission of instructor.

NURS 579 Transcultural Nursing Practices (3) Seminars examine four decades of nursing practice literature and other disciplines related to appropriate and competent care of diverse and multicultural populations. Concepts and methods from anthropology and other behavior sciences are considered in relationship with current health practice guidelines. Graduate standing or instructor permission.

NURS 580 Current Issues in Occupational and Environmental Medicine (2-4, max. 12) Kaufman Interdisciplinary seminar on current and emerging topics in the practice of environmental and occupational health. Faculty- and student-led presentations with an interdisciplinary focus, including occupational hygiene, nursing, and medical issues. Prerequisite: environmental health graduate student, occupational health nursing student, or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with ENV H 596; AWSp.

NURS 582 Culture, Society, and Genomics (3) Examines social and cultural issues of human genome sequencing and control of genetic expression. Attitudes and behaviors toward health, illness, and disability are studied using historical, contemporary, and cross-cultural case study material. Offered: jointly with ANTH 574/PHG 521.

NURS 583 Emotions and Mental Health: From Adversity to Adaptation (3) Betrus, Elmore Provides an understanding of nature and function of emotions as well as relationship of emotion to mental health/wellness. Emphasizes adversity arising from individual and community sources and its impact on emotional health. Addresses implications for interpersonal and social policy interventions.

NURS 584 Critical and Interdisciplinary Approach to Health Policy (3) Advanced seminar to critically analyze various public health policies from a social justice framework.

NURS 585 Introduction to Forensic Nursing and Health Care (3) Baker Examination of the practice, roles, functions, and evolution of the forensic nurse specialty; its relationship to other disciplines and professions; its roles working with victims of crime, violence and abuse, along with offender populations. Introduction to ethical issues in forensic health services.

NURS 586 Forensic Nursing and Health Care for Vulnerable Populations (3) Baker Focuses on the roles of forensic nurses and other working with populations at risk for violence, assault, and abuse; emphasizing issues related to age, race/ethnicity and gender. Examines concepts of vulnerability, dependence, and victimization; interactions with criminal justice and health care systems.

NURS 587 Role Transition Seminar (2) Emphasis on transition to doctoral study and eventual post-graduate roles. Includes information to clarify expectations and skills to facilitate success: various forms of scholarly and interpersonal communication, principles of scholarly collaboration, giving and receiving critiques, and other topics developed by participants. Prerequisite: Enrolled in PhD program in Nursing Science. Credit/no credit only.

NURS 588 Philosophical Basis of Nursing Inquiry (3) Overview and critical analysis of historical and contemporary views of knowledge development and of science, with particular emphasis on the ways these views influence approaches to nursing inquiry. Emphasis on analyzing the underlying epistemological and ontological assumptions and implications of diverse approaches to knowledge generation in nursing.

NURS 589 Theoretical Perspectives in Nursing (3) Critical analysis of theory development, including evaluation of relationships among theories, evidence, and explanation. Diverse approaches used to appraise historical and contemporary milestones in the development and evaluation of nursing knowledge. Emphasis on process and implications of theory development for nursing research, practice, education, and systems. Prerequisite: NURS 588. Offered: W.

NURS 590 Ecology of Human Health (5) Focus on the pluralistic constructions of health as related to different environments. Personal and biological characteristics vary, interact with, and transform the person and the environment. Emphasis on nursing as a social construction which is interactive with the human*’s experience of health and healing.

NURS 591 Advanced Seminar in Nursing Science (3, max. 19) In-depth analysis and evaluation of literature in focused areas of research. Synthesis of literature related to selected fields of nursing science. Oral analysis of assigned papers and topics. Prerequisite: graduate standing or permission of instructor.

NURS 592 The Science of Nursing Therapeutics (4) Addresses the state of the science of nursing therapeutics. Students examine the practices of nursing to promote, maintain, and restore human health from an ecological perspective. Therapeutics considered from the perspectives of the individual, family, and community systems.

NURS 593 Preventive Therapeutics (3) Examines literature in the field of health promotion and illness prevention with the purpose of students developing their individual model of health promotion and illness prevention in their own foci of interest considering the social and political forces prevailing.

NURS 594 Advanced Seminar on Healing (3) Advanced seminar to critically analyze current thinking and practice applications that fall under the heading of “healing.”

NURS 595 Synthesis of Nursing Science (3) Provides a forum for critical analysis, integration, and synthesis of core content provided during the initial year of the Ph.D. in Nurse Scientist Program and further planning of program of study. Prerequisite: completion of first-year coursework in courses of doctoral program. Credit/no credit only.

NURS 596 Colloquium, Scientific Conduct, and Dissertation Seminar (2, max. 12) Focuses on group discussion of issues pertinent to research conduct. Scientific conduct issues include guidelines relevant to designing, conducting, and disseminating research; risk management in reference to scientific misconduct and negligence; and collaborative and peer-review skills relevant to intra- and interdisciplinary research.

NURS 599 Selected Readings in Nursing Science (1-3, max. 18) Analysis of synthesis of selected readings with faculty mentor. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

Nursing

NSG 501 Teacher Practice Essentials-Models of Teaching & Learning (3) Integrative approach to understanding teaching learning that explores how various educational models and principles frame the processes of teaching and learning. Focus toward advanced practice nurses interested in teaching. Prerequisite: permission of instructor and graduate student status.

NSG 503 Advanced Teacher Practice Essentials-Diverse Learners (3) Focus on relevance and inclusiveness of addressing diversity of learners within teaching and learning activities. Aimed toward advance practice nurses interested in teaching. Further expands content of NSG 501 and NSG 502. Prerequisite: NURS 501 and graduate student status.

NSG 504 Advanced Teacher Practice-Challenges in Teaching (3) Focus on challenges facing educator during teaching encounters. Addresses influence of belief structures on learner’s motivation for change. For advance practice nurses interested in teaching. Prerequisite: NSG 501 and graduate student status.

NSG 505 Applied Occupational Health and Safety (3) Camp, Johnson Application of occupational safety and health principles. Student teams perform evaluations, assess production methods/processing and exposures, health and safety procedures and programs, and develop engineering and administrative controls. Students perform on a consulting project with a local company including budgeting, project reporting, and presentation. Offered jointly with ENVI 559 and IND E 567. Offered: Sp.

NSG 506 Organizing and Administering Industrial Safety and Health Programs (4) Explores industrial organization and methods of integrating safety and industrial hygiene programs with industrial operations. Investigates philosophic issues related to industrial safety and health such as responsibility for safety, dependency on safe practice, and hierarchy of prevention. Contains numerous case problems and student involvement opportunities. Offered: jointly with ENVI H 560; A.

NSG 507 Technical Aspects of Safety and Health (3) Explores specific hazards associated with major industries, as well as hazards common to all industries. Covers machine guarding, exposure to toxicants, systems safety analysis, materials handling, and working at heights. Offered: jointly with ENVI H 562; W.

NSG 508 Introduction to Ergonomics (3) Basic principles of ergonomics in work environment applied to problems of worker and management. Topics include measurement of physical work capacity, problems of fatigue and heat stress, applied biomechanics, worker-machine interactions and communication, design of displays and controls. Prerequisite: basic human physiology or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with ENV H 566/IND E 566; W.

NSG 509 Pathophysiology for Advanced Practice Nursing (1) Synchronous class. Web class addresses immune and inflammatory responses with related content on infections and atherosclerosis. Focus on understanding the physiologic/pathophysiologic basis for disease processes and the relationship of various treatment modalities to these concepts. Prerequisite: Recent preterm neonatology (within 5 yrs.), upper division anatomy/physiology course or permission of instructor.

NSG 510 Assessment and Management of Neonatal Problems (5) Focus on pathophysiology of disease processes, assessment, diagnosis, and management of common health problems experienced by term and preterm neonates in neonatal intensive care settings. Includes foundations for clinical decision making for neonatal nurse practitioners and examination of interdisciplinary roles. Prerequisite: NURS 514.

NSG 511 Prevention Issues in Community Health (3) An interdisciplinary overview of community health prevention approaches focusing on the social determinants of health and health disparities among vulnerable populations. Analysis of community and population preventive strategies across the life course. Roles of advanced community health nurses as prevention leaders and consumers of prevention information are emphasized. Offered: Sp.

NSG 512 Prevention in Health (3) Critical examination of community health prevention programs that build community health capacity and show promise in facilitating long-term health equity among vulnerable populations. Focuses on the leading health disparities among USA racial and ethnic groups of people, and how to be a critical program consumer, adopter and adapter. Offered: A.

NSG 513 Psychopharmacology for Children and Adolescents (1) Tyson, Walsh Reviews pertinent issues in prescribing psychoactive medications to children and adolescents. Emphasizes empirical neuroendocrine bases, and nursing management safety of these interventions. Examines legal and ethical issues pertaining to prescribing for children and adolescents. Offered: S.

NSG 514 Integrating Health Care and Culture (2-3, max. 3) Lenart Prepares clinicians to integrate experience and knowledge with creative approaches and evidence-based strategies to improve cross-cultural health care, including complementary and alternative medicine (CAM) practices, and the relationships between clinicians, clients, and families emphasizing discovery of commonalities among cultures to enhance collaboration. Offered: W.

NSG 515 Issues in Men’s Health (2) Berry Studies selected issues in men’s health. Focuses on significant issues particular to men’s health. Includes discussion of basic management of selected men’s health issues. Credit/no credit only. Offered: S.

NSG 517 Integrating Assessment and Knowledge of CAM into Allopathic Care (3) Schwenka Explores strategies to assess and evaluate CAM use into conventional healthcare across the lifespan. Cultural, ethical, legal, and professional issues related to referral and collaboration within an integrative healthcare system. Challenges healthcare specialists to incorporate integrative principles into their practices. Offered: Sp.

NSG 518 Botanical Medicines and Dietary Supplements (2-3) Kiefer, De Pasquale Exploration of commonly used herbs and evaluation of their evidence base, treating frequently occurring acute and chronic health conditions. Optional laboratory experiences at Bastyr University herb garden and medicine-making laboratory. Field trip to identify Pacific Northwest botanicals.

NSG 519 Qi Gong and Reflexology (1) Marazita Focuses on history, evidence, and self-practice of traditional Chinese medicine’s Qi gong and reflexology. Examines how Qi gong combines movement, meditation, and breathing regulation to enhance qi energy flow. Explores how reflexology re-education, re-patterns, and re-conditions neurological reflexes in the soles of the feet to maximize health. Offered: S.

NSG 521 Infectious Disease and Infection Control (2) Critical analysis of factors that influence infectious disease control including delivery of therapeutics, and the role of nursing and other health disciplines in health care and public health system responses, with a population-based perspective of infectious disease prevention, control, and management.

NSG 522 Life Span Physiology and Pathophysiology for Advanced Practice (3) Analysis of normal and abnormal human responses in major organ systems in individuals across the life span. Examination of normal physiology, evidence based and selected disorders pertaining to each system.

NSG 525 Privilege, Oppression, and Social Justice in Health Care (3-4, max. 4) Allen, Schroeder, Ward Focusses on professional development skills that challenge white privilege, racism, and other oppressions in health care. Analysis of racism and privilege, application of that analysis to other oppressions such as gender, class, heterosexism, ableism, etc. Overall goal to enable health care professionals create a more socially just health care system. Credit/no credit only.

NSG 530 Professional Identity and Leadership Processes in Nursing (2-4, max. 4) Analysis of professional identity and effective leadership processes. Clarification and advancement of professional identity; analysis of self as leader; critical examination of perspectives of leadership and change; development and application of skills in leadership, conflict management, and collaboration to advance the profession and improve health outcomes. Offered: AS.

NSG 597 Synthesis of Advanced Practice Nursing (3) Synthesize new or higher levels of knowledge and skills of advanced practice nursing specialty, practice inquiry, and leadership to demonstrate competency of doctoral essentials and program objectives. Recommend concurrent clinical practicum. Prerequisite: doctoral candidacy or supervisory committee permission.

Nursing Clinical

NCLIN 302 Practicum: Health Assessment (1-5, max. 5) Lecture and lab emphasize nursing skills in communication, interviewing, functional and physical health assessment. Includes: basic communication skills, beginning physical and psychosocial assessment of the individual across the lifespan, and family assessment. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AS.

NCLIN 306 Practicum: Basic Skills of Nursing Practice (4) Practicum in communication, interviewing, health assessment, identification of threats to health in clinical settings. Explores risk, vulnerability identification, communication, physical/psychosocial assessment of individuals across lifespan, nursing care planning, documentation, psychomotor skills development. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: NCLIN 302, which may be taken concurrently.

NCLIN 402 Practicum: Care in Illness I (4) Provides supervised nursing care to individuals/families with acute/chronic illness across the lifespan. Emphasizes beginning skills in systematic assessment, including person/environment fit, developing competency in selected nursing therapies, and developing role as care agent for persons of all ages. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: NCLIN 401, which may be taken concurrently.

NCLIN 406 Practicum: Care in Illness II (1-10, max. 10) Provides supervised nursing care to individuals and families with acute and chronic illness. Emphasis on increasing skill in systematic assessment, developing competency in selected nursing therapies, and developing role as caring agent for persons of all ages. Credit/no credit only.

NCLIN 409 Partnerships in Community Health (6) Analysis, application, and evaluation of community partnership process for health. Analysis of nursing role in community/public health, including community building, collaboration, policy, development and formulation of community interventions to maintain/promote biopsychosocial health/promotion of health/prevention of injury and disease.

NCLIN 411 Transition to Professional Practice (6-12) Emphasis on mastering theoretical concepts, applying theory and research findings, improving skill competency, and development of leadership capabilities. Recommended: completion of first five quarters in the BSN program.

NCLIN 416 Practicum: Nursing of Families: Childbearing and Childrearing (4) Provides the opportunity for supervised nursing of childbearing and childrearing families and individuals. Emphasizes expanding nursing process skills, especially health promotion, with individuals and families during childbearing and childrearing. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: NURS 415, which may be taken concurrently. Offered: AW.

NCLIN 418 Practicum: Psychosocial Nursing (4) Provides supervised psychosocial nursing care to individuals/families/groups/communities with threats to or alterations in psychosocial health. Emphasizes increasing skill in systematic assessment, developing competency in selected psychosocial nursing interventions, and evaluation of treatment outcomes. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: NURS 417, which may be taken concurrently. Offered: AW.

NCLIN 490 Special Laboratory Elective (1-4, max. 4) Altman Provides supervised laboratory experience to enhance and document clinical skills and decision making. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

NCLIN 500 Comprehensive Health Assessment (3) Provides framework for systematic collection, interpretation, and communication of data to determine health status of individuals. Develops beginning advanced practice competence in history-taking and screening physical examination of adolescents and adults. Analysis of multiple health indicators to determine health status. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

NCLIN 501 Diagnostic Health Assessment I (1-5, max. 5) Provides framework for learning symptom analysis, selection/performance of examination techniques, and selection/interpretation of common diagnostic procedures. Develops beginning competence in focused history-taking and directed physical exam to evaluate common health problems in adolescents and adults. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: NCLIN 500, which may be taken concurrently.

NCLIN 502 Pediatric Health Assessment and Promotion (1-5, max. 5) Gives experience in obtaining a health history and performing a physical assessment of infants, children, and adolescents. Interviewing techniques, problem-oriented charting, and a systems approach to physical examination. Emphasis on screening principles, health promotion, and wellness care for children/families. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

NCLIN 503 Advanced Fieldwork Community Health Nursing (2-6, max. 12) Guided experience in delineating nursing roles in community settings. Development of a philosophy of community health nursing. Application of core concepts pertaining to health, ethics, care, and community. A minimum of four hours of guided experience weekly. Prerequisite: graduate standing and permission of instructor.

NCLIN 505 Diagnostic Testing and Monitoring in Serious Illness (2) Lecture, discussion, and laboratory sessions to develop students' assessment, diagnostic, and monitoring expertise in the care of acutely ill individuals. Students refine clinical decision-making skills, apply specialized assessments, gain insight into clinical expertise critical thinking, and refine assessment skills for a specific patient population. Prerequisite: NCLIN 501 or equivalent.

NCLIN 508 Seminar in Group Treatment (1) Seminar on the theoretical basis for working with various treatment groups. Analysis of selected approaches to group treatment. Analysis of leader responsibilities and functions in the development of therapeutic group experiences.

NCLIN 509 Teaching Methods and Practicum in Nursing Education (2-10, max. 10) Guided experience in selected teaching-learning situations in nursing, in both classroom and clinical situations. Identification, analysis, and solution of teaching-learning problems in clinical nursing. Minimum of seven hours of guided experience weekly.

NCLIN 510 Group Work with High-Risk Youth (3-6, max. 6) Theory and application course in group counseling for high-risk youth. Central theme is group leader effectiveness in helping young people increase school performance, decrease drug involvement, and increase emotional well-being. Open to graduate students in nursing, education, and related human services professions.

NCLIN 512 Advanced Practicum in Parent and Child Nursing I (2-12, max. 25) Clinical seminar and practicum provide opportunities to develop advanced nursing practice competencies in the care of women, parents, children, and/or adolescents. Application of theory and principles to direct care, consultation, education and/or care coordinator roles with individuals and/or groups.

NCLIN 514 Seminar in Home Care for Chronic Illness (3) Home-care services as component of community health nursing. Understanding effects of direct nursing functions on care of chronically ill persons and their families. Selected field study experiences in community health settings. Prerequisite: NURS 563, graduate standing, and permission of instructor.

NCLIN 515 Health Assessment for Advanced Practice Neonatal Nursing (1 or 3) Develops knowledge and skills to obtain and evaluate health histories and perform systematic physical assessment on newborns and young infants using a diagnosis reasoning process and evidence-based approach. Analyses data to develop differential diagnoses and management plans. Prerequisites: Required for NNP, NCNS, NM students; others with permission of instructor. Credit/no credit only.

NCLIN 526 Managing Organizational Effectiveness Within Care Systems (1) Analysis of management strategies for attaining effective and efficient organizational structures and processes within health care systems. Prerequisite: NURS 524 or permission of instructor.

NCLIN 531 Nursing Process in Parent-Child Nursing (4) Includes lecture, seminar, and laboratory instruction designed to assist the student with knowledge and skill acquisition related to nursing care of individuals and families with regard to childbearing and childrearing. Prerequisite: NURS 530.

NCLIN 540 Infant Mental Health Practice: Parent-Child Relationships and Intervention (3-6, max. 15) Through interaction with young children and their families in treatment settings, examines children’s development in relationships with primary caregivers and relationship-based interventions for relationship problems in the early years. Includes written observations, seminar presentations, and an individuals professional development plan. Credit/no credit only. Offered: A/W/S.

NCLN 541 Advanced Practice Specialist Clinical Practicum (1-10, max. 10) Apply, synthesize, evaluate, and communicate knowledge about a specific domain of advanced medical/surgical or forensics nursing practice. Emphasis is on specialization and role development. Prerequisite: Related sciences (CNS, NE, APGN, ID-CNS, IC-APN), or NURS 509 and NURS 585; or permission of instructor.

NCLN 542 Advanced Practice Specialist Clinical Practicum II (1-10, max. 10) Apply, synthesize, evaluate, and communicate knowledge about a specific domain of advanced medical/surgical or forensics nursing practice. Fieldwork emphasizes greater depth/complexity/independence in specialization and role development. Seminars emphasize critical analysis of role-related issues. Capstone experience for clinical practicum. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: NCLN 541.

NCLN 543 Advanced Practice Specialist Clinical Practicum III (1-10, max. 10) Apply, synthesize, evaluate, and communicate knowledge about a specific domain of advanced medical/surgical or forensics nursing practice. Role development within specialty context. Emphasis is on critical analysis of leadership-related issues. For students in final clinical, serves as capstone. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: NCLN 542.

NCLN 544 Advanced Practice Specialist Clinical Practicum IV (1-10, max. 20) Apply, synthesize, evaluate, and communicate knowledge about a specific domain of advanced medical/surgical or forensics nursing practice. Fieldwork serves as capstone experience. Seminar emphasis is on consultation and collaboration. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: NCLN 543.

NCLN 546 Management of Acute and Chronic Wounds (2-3) Evaluation and treatment of acute and chronic wounds. Includes wound healing physiology, pathophysiology, patient evaluation, evaluation of environmental and systemic factors related to risk of impaired healing, methods for assessing wound progress, and evidenced based treatment options. Optional one credit clinical and lab experience. Prerequisite: standing or permission of instructor.

NCLN 549 Nurse Practitioner Clinical Practicum I: Adults/Older Adults (1-10, max. 10) Clinical fieldwork and seminar in advanced nursing practice with individual/groups. Students practice under clinical preceptor supervision. Focuses on data collection/critical thinking related to health status and threats to health, incorporating knowledge from the biological, behavioral, and social sciences. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor, or NCLN 501 or equivalent.

NCLN 550 Nurse Practitioner Clinical Practicum II: Adults/Older Adults (1-10, max. 10) Clinical fieldwork and seminar in advanced practice nursing. Builds on NCLN 549, emphasizing critical thinking related to the differential/diagnosis/management of health problems and human responses. Students practice under clinical preceptor supervision. Addresses selected role issues in advanced practice nursing. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: NCLN 549 or permission of instructor.

NCLN 551 Advanced Practice Nursing Clinical Practicum III: Adults/Older Adults (1-10, max. 10) Clinical fieldwork and seminar in advanced practice nursing. Builds on NCLN 550, emphasizing the integration and application of previous learning in the care of people with multiple health problems. Students practice under preceptor supervision. Addresses selected role issues in advanced practice nursing. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: NCLN 550 or permission of instructor.

NCLN 552 Nurse Practitioner Clinical Practicum IV: Adults/Older Adults (1-10, max. 10) Intensive clinical experience in which students integrate previous learning to assume responsibility for care of older adults and/or adults with multiple health problems. Students practice as an advanced practice nurse supervised by a preceptor, assuming increasing responsibility for planning/implementing therapies and for documenting/evaluating outcomes. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: NCLN 551.

NCLN 553 Seminar in Primary Care I: Health Promotion (2-6, max. 6) Focus on the clinical application of major theories of health promotion, risk assessment, health behavior change, and disease prevention across the age span. Emphasizes an evidence-based approach, with consideration of cultural, socio-economic, and diversity factors. Includes clinical practicum. Prerequisite: NURS 552, which may be taken concurrently; permission of instructor.

NCLN 554 Seminar in Primary Care II: Evidence Based Management of Common Health Concerns (3) Examines clinical application of theories of illness management across the age span. Emphasizes an evidence-based approach to assessment, differential diagnosis, and management with consideration of cultural, socio-economic and diversity factors. Utilizes technology to support clinical decision-making. Includes clinical practicum. Taught in conjunction with NURS 510 and NURS 518. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: standing and permission of instructor.

NCLN 555 Seminar in Primary Care III: Evidence Based Management of Common Health Concerns (3) Examines clinical application of theories of illness management across the age span. Emphasizes an evidence-based approach to assessment, differential diagnosis, and management with consideration of cultural, socio-economic and diversity factors. Utilizes technology to support clinical decision-making. Identifies opportunities for leadership and inquiry in clinical practice. Taught in conjunction with NURS 510. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: standing and permission of instructor. of individuals, groups, communities, or care systems. Individually arranged with faculty member for applications of theory and principles to direct care, consultation, education or care coordinator roles. Prerequisite: matriculated MN student or post-masters student, and permission of academic adviser and instructor. Offered: A WS Sp.

Nursing Methods

NMETH 403 Introduction to Research in Nursing (3) Organization of the structure of nursing knowledge through research. Concepts and processes of research utilized in the investigation of nursing science.

NMETH 499 Undergraduate Research (1-5, max. 12) Supervised individual scholarly inquiry on a specific nursing problem.

NMETH 515 Sociobehavioral and Prevention Research Methods for HIV and STI (3) Kurth Focuses on prevention methods for controlling HIV/STI epidemics, identifying a range of alternatives along the prevention continuum as most appropriate and feasible for settings and populations, and solutions to increase HIV/STI prevention agenda in public health and clinical policy and practice. Offered: jointly with EPI 549; Sp.

NMETH 520 Scholarly Inquiry for Nursing Practice (4) Killien, Schepp, Simpson Analyzes conceptual, theoretical, and empirical knowledge as a basis for evidence-based practice. Examines methodological approaches to scholarly inquiry and research applied to nursing practice. Evaluates role of advanced practice nurses in research. Offered: AWS.

NMETH 521 Methods of Research in Nursing (2) Continuation of 520, with emphasis on methods of research applied to the solution of problems in all fields of nursing.

NMETH 522 Data Management for Research Professionals (4) Surveys industrial strength data management, using techniques applicable to multi-center, longitudinal research trials with survey instruments. Involves challenges research professionals face as they graduate from a student project to a study with hundreds of cases, variables, multiple survey instruments and a staggered, repeated sampling protocol. Credit/no credit only.

NMETH 523 Project Management and System Analysis for Health Informatics (3) Masuda Overview of information technology project management principles as contained within the Project Management Body of Knowledge (PMBOK) and the Systems Development Life Cycle within formal Systems Analysis. Offered: A.

NMETH 524 Healthcare Information Systems and the Electronic Health Records (3) Masuda, Murphy Overview and analysis of healthcare informatics issues, including patient safety and Information Technology (IT), infrastructure, clinical systems, definitions and functions of Her systems, IT leadership in health care organizations, informatics change management, including key user roles evaluating Her and workflow changes. Offered: W.

NMETH 526 Patient-Centered Interactive Health Communication Technologies (3) Overview of current and emerging consumer-centric eHealth tools and technologies. Researchers and practitioners from multiple disciplines present theories, concepts, and principles from health, information, cognition, and human-factors sciences as they relate to development and use of these tools and technologies.

NMETH 527 Introduction to Health Informatics and Systems Thinking (3) Masuda, Oyler Examines how informatics aids in the transformation of healthcare delivery and how to most effectively use the theories and best practices in informatics toward building and deploying informatics solutions. Offered: A.

NMETH 528 Computing Concepts: From Theory to Application (3) Johnson Survey of conceptual and applied computing concepts. Conceptual topics include a global survey of hard/software, networking, information systems analysis/design, and programming. The applied component emphasizes desktop system management skills and the creative use of spreadsheets to enhance personal productivity. Offered: W.

NMETH 529 Database Concepts and Applications in Clinical Informatics (3) Oyler Introduction to relational database theory and technology from a health informatics perspective. Focuses on transactional database theory, architecture and implementation in a socio-technical context. Analyses database applications used in clinical environments. Introduces knowledge bases and data warehouses. Prerequisite: NMETH 528. Offered: Sp.

NMETH 530 Scholarly Proposal Development (2) Reuet, Killien, Simpson Focuses on the application of methods of inquiry to develop a scholarly proposal through faculty-guided small group discussion and individual composition. Prerequisite: NMETH 520. Offered: A WS Sp.

NMETH 532 Developing an Evidence Base for Complementary and Alternative Medicine Practices (2/3) Berry, Booth-LaForce, Brandt, Magyary Focuses on skill enhancement for evaluation CAM-related evidence and the implications for translating evidence to practice. Examines the challenges of CAM studies and describes strategies for improvement. Examines factors such as environment, culture, provider-patient relationship, and personal characteristics influencing research. Prerequisite: NMETH 520 or equivalent. Offered: W.

NMETH 533 Appraising Evidence for Clinical Practice (4) Teaches skills for evaluating and appraising health related evidence for clinical practice. Develops advanced competency in searching and evaluating literature. Examines the merits of different types and levels of evidence; analyzing the generalizability and implications for clinical practice. Prerequisite: basic statistics course, NMETH 520, or equivalent. Offered: A WS Sp.

NMETH 570 Seminar in Clinical Research in Nursing (3) Philosophy, problems of design; use of criterion measures in terms of patient care.

NMETH 575 Methodological Issues in Family Research (3) Emphasizes research with the family as unit of analysis. Examines patterns of family functioning in relation to responses to heal situations. Reviews family units from generational and intergenerational perspectives. Critiques methods assessing dyadic and triadic relationships and therapeutic interventions on family outcomes. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

NMETH 580 Methodological Perspectives in Nursing Inquiry (5) Allows students to translate philosophical and theoretical perspectives into research methodologies. Foci will include: the relationship of theoretical perspectives to methodologies; the methodological issues among and between varying schools of thought (including contemporary empiricist, interpretive, and critical/postmodern); and how the methodologies influence choices of research design and methods.

NMETH 581 Observational Research Methods (2-6, max. 6) Examines observational methods for conducting verbal and nonverbal behavioral research. Emphasizes critical analysis and rigor in research question formulation, measurement, analysis, decisions, coding scheme development, data collection, and analysis and interpretation of data. In-depth application of observational method optional. Prerequisite: graduate standing and basic research methods course or permission of instructor. Offered: W.

NMETH 582 Interpretive Methods in Nursing Research (4) Seminar and field practice for interpretive research methods. Study on health-related issues using a selected tradition in interpretive methods. Prerequisite: permission of Instructor.

NMETH 583 Interpretative Methods in Nursing Research (4) Seminar and field practice for interpretive research methods. Study on health-related issues using a selected tradition in interpretive methods. Prerequisite: permission of Instructor.

NMETH 584 Methods: Physiologic Measures (4) Exploration of the measurement of physiologic functioning in human and animal models. Examples include biochemical and biophysical measure. Students develop beginning skills with one physiologic measure. Prerequisite: physiology and chemistry and permission of instructor.

NMETH 585 Meta-Analysis (4) Meta-analysis examined as a method to synthesize research. Overview of meta-analytic methods; description of the collection, analysis, synthesis, and reporting of studies; explanation of statistical calculations; and discussion of reliability and validity measures incorporated into meta-analytic design. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

NMETH 586 Instrument Development and Testing (4) Includes measurement theory, reliability, validity, level of measurement, and the process of scale development, modification, or translation. Students learn to evaluate, develop, modify, translate, and test instruments for use in research. Prerequisite: student in health sciences discipline and permission of instructor.

NMETH 587 Methods of Theory Testing: Causal Modeling with Path Analysis and Structural Equation Modeling (4) Includes causal inferencing and theory testing through causal modeling with path analysis and structural equations modeling. Students learn to evaluate theory models and to apply the content by developing and testing models. Prerequisite: student in health science discipline and permission of instructor.

NMETH 590 Special Topics in Nursing Research (2-5, max. 9) Examination of a specific research method, with evaluation of appropriateness, efficiency, rigor of measurement, and potential for inference for nursing research. Prerequisite: minimum of 5 credits of basic nursing research methodology at graduate level and permission of instructor.

NMETH 591 Clinical Outcome Research I (4) Examination of philosophical, analytical, and methodological decisions and processes in evaluating the effectiveness of interventions and programs designed to enhance health outcomes. Alternative designs are addressed in consideration of underlying assumptions about prevention/cause and effect research; clinical human phenomena; design sensitivity; and threats to validity. Theory development emphasized. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

NMETH 592 Clinical Outcome Research II (2-4, max. 4) Application and evaluation of philosophical, methodological, and analytical concepts and issues examined in 591. Two modules are offered: a) case study and small-n studies and b) large-n studies. Students are expected to apply the content of decision-making processes involved in development of clinical outcome study. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

NMETH 593 Time Series and Sequential Analysis (4) Basic introduction to terminology and methods of time series and sequential analysis as applicable to nursing-relevant processes in the form of samples of interval and categorical data collected over time; autocorrelation, autoregression, spectrum, regression; Markovian, lag sequential, and log-linear analyses. Development of practical analysis skills on real data sets. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Credit/no credit only.

NMETH 596 Special Projects (1-12, max. 12) Fulfills the requirements of the non-thesis option for Master’s students in nursing. Projects involve scholarly inquiry with in-depth focused analysis, culminating in a written product/report for dissemination. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: NMETH 520 or permission of instructor.

NMETH 600 Independent Study or Research (*) Credit/no credit only.

NMETH 700 Master’s Thesis (*) Credit/no credit only.

NMETH 799 Capstone Clinical Investigative Project (1-12, max. 28) Capstone project reflects culmination practice in nursing knowledge and competency. Students collaborate with clinicians, consumers, faculty or fellow students to examine clinical questions which involve translating evidence to practice, and ultimately inform and enhance health outcomes. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of supervisory committee. Offered: AWSpS.

NMETH 800 Doctoral Dissertation (*) Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of Supervisory Committee chairperson or graduate program advisor.

College of Ocean and Fishery Sciences

Fisheries

FISH 101 The Living Aquatic World (5) I&S/ NW Freshwater and marine biodiversity, population, biology, ecosystem structure and function, evolution, conservation genetics, physiology, aquaculture, environmental effects of human activities, role of law, government, and human communities in resource conflicts management. Three case studies. Suitable for non-majors.

FISH 210 Methods in Fisheries and Aquatic Sciences: Theory and Applications (5) NW Comprehensive survey of the theory and techniques of field research in aquatic sciences. Topics emphasize sampling design, data collection, and interpretation across a broad suite of topics and approaches. Field trips and laboratory sections are mandatory.

FISH 221 Ecology and Evolution of the Microbe (5) NW Explores microbial diversity, hands-on methods, microbes as agents of disease, where microbes fit in the ecosystem, extreme environments and microbes, and microbes as the start of life.

FISH 250 Marine Biology (3/5) I&S, NW Lecture-laboratory course in Marine Biology focusing on physical, biological, and social aspects of the marine environment. Topics include oceanography, ecology, physiology, behavior, conservation, fisheries, exploration, and activism. Weekend field trip. Honors section research project. Offered: jointly with BIOL/OCEAN 250.

FISH 296 Study Abroad: Aquatic and Fishery Sciences (0) NW For participants in UW study abroad program. Specific content varies and must be individually evaluated. Credit does not apply to major requirements without approval.

FISH 297 Special Topics in Fisheries (1-5, max. 5) NW Selected topics in aquatic science and fisheries.

FISH 310 Biology of Shellfishes (5) NW Commercially important mussels, crustaceans, and other harvested invertebrates highlighted with respect to systematics, anatomy, reproductive strategies, feeding, and growth. Examples of species that demonstrate variability in recruitment and complex life cycles. Laboratories, field trips. Recommended: 10 credits biological science.

FISH 311 Biology of Fishes (3/5) NW Lecture and laboratory. Of the morphological, physiological, behavioral, and ecological diversity of fishes of the world; designed to provide a basic foundation for advanced courses in all areas of finfish fisheries. 3-credit option does not include laboratory. Recommended: 10 credits biological science. Offered: jointly with BIOL 311; W.

FISH 312 Fisheries Ecology (3/5) NW Ecological characteristics of fishes and shellfishes in the important freshwater and marine habitats of North America. Relationship between physical aspects of the habitats and community structure. Impacts of human activities on diversity and abundance. Prerequisite: either BIOL 162 or 220; recommended: FISH 210; FISH 311. Offered: Sp.

FISH 323 Conservation and Management of Aquatic Resources (5) NW Topics include population growth rates, extinction risk, dynamics of populations at low densities, meta-populations, marine reserves, endangered species classification, sustainable harvesting and management institutions. Examines case studies such as sharks, hake, dorado, marlins, and whales as representative of conservation issues in aquatic sciences. Sampling, experimental design, computer skills and research writing.

FISH 324 Aquatic Animal Physiology and Reproduction (3/5) NW Adaptations of aquatic animals to environmental challenges. Energy pathways from feeding and digestion through maintenance (metabolism, movement, repair), homeostasis (respiration, osmoregulation, thermoregulation), growth and reproduction (sex determination, manipulation, sex change). Roles of sensory, nervous, and endocrine systems in mediating environmental information. Hands-on laboratory. Prerequisite: either BIOL 161 or BIOL 220.

FISH 328 Forestry-Fisheries Interactions (4) NW Characteristics of forestry-fisheries interactions in terrestrial and aquatic landscapes. Effects of changes in landforms on forest and aquatic communities. River basin and watershed features. Forest stand dynamics, forest hydrology, fish and wildlife histories and behavior. Resource conflicts and resolution. Offered: jointly with ESRM 328; even years; Sp.

FISH 330 Climate Change Impacts on Marine Ecosystems (5) NW Links the physics of climate to marine ecosystem processes, exploring both observed climate impacts from the past and projected ecosystem changes due to human-caused climate change in the future. Case studies include polar, sub-artic, temperate, tropical and upwelling ecosystems, and ocean-acidification and its projected impacts. Required: high school or college physics and algebra with a basic understanding of Newton’s laws and the ability to comprehend and construct vector diagrams. Offered: jointly with ENVIR 330.

FISH 340 Genetics and Molecular Ecology (5) NW Application of molecular markers to ecology, evolution, and the management of living resources. Emphasis on understanding the strengths and weaknesses of the approach based on case studies. Offered: jointly with BIOL 340. Prerequisite: either BIOL 102, BIOL 162, or BIOL 200.
Biology (5) FISH 350 Field Investigations in Marine environment. Recommended: BIOL marine organisms in coastal systems, including kelp forests and coral reefs, the physical forces that shape these systems, and the impacts of environmental change. Recommended: BIOL 250/FISH 250/OCEAN 250. Offered: jointly with SMA 350.

FISH 351 Field Investigations in Marine Biology (5) Evaluates the relationships between man and marine systems in a field-oriented class. Case studies directly investigate marine biology. Studies include human activities and our effects on marine species and communities. Multiple field trips, lectures, and labs. Prerequisite: FISH 350/OCEAN 350. Offered: jointly with OCEAN 351; Sp.

FISH 404 Diseases of Aquatic Animals (5) NW Overview of communicable and noncommunicable diseases that affect fish and shellfish. Major pathogens of free-ranging as well as captive animals discussed. Students learn to recognize, prevent, and control economically and ecologically important disease syndromes. Recommended: 10 credits biological science.

FISH 420 Ecology of Marine Fishes (4) NW Focuses on the unique ecological challenges facing marine fishes, including individual population, community, and ecosystem-scale processes. Prerequisite: either FISH 311 or FISH 312.

FISH 423 Aquatic Invasion Ecology (4) QSR Explores the patterns, drivers, and consequences of species invasions in freshwater, estuary, and marine ecosystems. Focuses on the science and management needs for preventing, controlling, and eradicating invasive species. Topics illustrated with cases from the Pacific Northwest and the world. Prerequisite: either BIOL 462 or BIOL 180.

FISH 424 Biology and Culture of Aquatic Organisms (5) Explores the concept of sustainability and the interrelationship between environment, aquatic species, and culture of aquatic animals and plants species globally. Current practices, animal biology and health, near-shore ecosystem conservation, water quality, and strategies to improve the sustainability of aquaculture for food production and species conservation. Lecture and lab.

FISH 428 Restoration of Fish Communities and Habitats in River Ecosystems (5) NW Examines opportunities to encourage recovery through natural developmental processes that enhance the complexity of habitats and connectivity between habitats in the river basin. Class discussion and participation on field trips focus on current restoration concepts for ecosystems, designs of projects, and case studies. Recommended: fish ecology and hydrology courses. Offered: odd years; Sp.

FISH 437 Fisheries Oceanography (4) NW Investigates how the environment influences distributions and abundances of marine vertebrate and invertebrate species. Uses studies to understand fish and zooplankton life histories, predict trends in populations, reduce uncertainty in resource management, and to decouple anthropogenic from natural effects on aquatic populations.

FISH 439 Attaining a Sustainable Society (1/3, max. 3) I&S/NW Karr Discusses diverse environmental issues, the importance of all areas of scholarship to evaluating environmental challenges, and the connections between the past and the future, to reveal integrative approaches to protect the long-term interests of human society. Offered: jointly with ENVIR 439.

FISH 444 Conservation Genetics (5) NW Advanced genetic concepts and methods related to aquatic species' conservation and management. Includes genetic diversity, small populations and fragmentation, genetic viability, management of wild and captive populations (including aquaculture), reintroductions, hatchery-wild interactions and forensics. Labs include molecular techniques. Recommended: GENET 371.

FISH 447 Watershed Ecology and Management (3) NW Explores fundamental ecological processes at the watershed scale, identifies human-induced changes to ecological systems, and discusses approaches to improve watershed management. Includes lectures, field trips, and discussions with organizations and agencies about how they are addressing ways to improve watershed management. Offered: W.

FISH 450 Salmonid Behavior and Life History (3/5) NW Marine distribution, homing migration, and spawning behavior of adult salmon: incubation, emergence, migration, and residence of fry; fingerling distribution and residence with reference to species interaction and population evolution. Recommended: FISH 311. Offered: A.

FISH 453 Spatial Information Technologies in Ecosystem Sciences (3) NW Logsdon Introduction to the use of GPS, GIS, and Remote Sensing in the ecosystem sciences. Integrates these technologies in an applied research setting. Two overnight weekend field trips required. Offered: jointly with OCEAN 452.

FISH 455 Fish and Wildlife Toxicology (3/5) NW Overview of fish/wildlife toxicology: history of the field; regulations; methods used to assesses risks contaminants pose to fish/wildlife; classes of contaminants and their direct, sublethal and indirect effects; and contemporary threats of contaminants to fish/wildlife, their habitats and prey. Includes laboratory. Offered: jointly with ESRM 457; W.

FISH 458 Fisheries Stock Assessment (4) NW Francis Emphasizes quantitative analysis of fisheries data to determine how the fishery would respond to alternative management actions. Major topics include production models, stock and recruitment, catch at age analysis, and formulation of harvest strategies. Recommended: either Q SCI 456 or FISH 456. Offered: jointly with Q SCI 456; Sp.

FISH 473 Limnology (3) NW Ecology, conservation, and management of inland aquatic ecosystems. Explores interactions among biological, chemical, and physical features of lakes and other aquatic habitats. Prerequisite: either BIOL 102, BIOL 162, BIOL 180 0, or BIOL 203. Offered: jointly with BIOL 473.

FISH 474 Limnology Laboratory (2) NW Examination of biota of fresh waters, survey of limnological methods, analysis of data, and writing of scientific papers. Prerequisite: BIOL473/FISH 473/OCEAN 462, which may be taken concurrently. Offered: jointly with BIOL 474/CCE 463; A.

FISH 475 Marine Mammalogy (3/5) NW Evolution, taxonomy, physiology, life history, and behavior of marine mammals; techniques of studying and the management and conservation of them. Recommended: 15 credits of biological science, vertebrate anatomy, and physiology, for laboratory sections.

FISH 490 Aquatic Microbiology (3/5) NW Basic principles of aquatic microbiology and aquatic microbial ecology; role and identity of aquatic microorganisms; introduction to modern methodologies for research. Laboratory work with local freshwater and marine samples for those enrolled in 5-credit section. Offered: jointly with MICROM 490; Sp, odd years. Recommended 15 credits of biological science, 10 credits of chemistry.

FISH 491 Aquatic Ecological Research in Alaska (12) NW Intensive, full-time research training experience where a team of students works on focused research problems guided by a group of faculty, postdoctoral, and graduate student mentors. Examines behavioral ecology, limnology, and population dynamics. Students also choose specific research questions for their own exploration. Course location: Alaska. Offered: S.

FISH 492 Friday Harbor Labs Apprenticeship (9/15) NW Intensive, full-time research training experience where teams of students work on focused research problems guided by a group of faculty, postdoctoral and graduate student mentors. Research questions vary. Course location: Friday Harbor Laboratories.

FISH 493 Capstone Preparation (1) Includes defining a capstone research question, choosing a faculty advisor, conducting a literature review, preparing a project proposal and budget, and attending/critiquing the quarterly capstone symposium.

FISH 494 Capstone Project I (1-9, max. 9) Self-directed research or project under direction of a faculty member. Includes defining research question, determining methodology, data
FISH 495 Capstone Project II (-3) Self-directed research project under direction of a faculty member. Typically includes defining a research question, determining methodology, data collection and analysis, writing a paper, and presenting findings. May be taken concurrently with FISH 494 with permission of instructor. Credit does not apply to major requirements without approval.

FISH 496 Study Abroad: Aquatic and Fishery Sciences (1-15, max. 30) NW For participants in UW study abroad program. Specific content varies and must be individually evaluated. Credit does not apply to major requirements without approval.

FISH 497 Special Topics in Aquatic and Fishery Sciences (1-15, max. 15) NW One-time offerings of topics in fisheries by resident or visiting faculty.

FISH 498 Internship/Experiential Learning (1-15, max. 15) Structured, practical training in the fishing industry, government agencies and other areas utilizing fisheries, food science, or quantitative science expertise. Experiences are supervised and evaluated. Written reports required. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSPs.

FISH 499 Undergraduate Research (1-15, max. 15) Individual research within the School of Aquatic and Fishery Sciences. Each project supervised by an individual faculty member. Written reports required.

FISH 507 Special Topics in Fisheries (1-15, max. 15) Recommended: permission of instructor.

FISH 510 Current Topics in Genetics and Physiology (1-5, max. 15) Contemporary problems and issues in genetics and physiology as they relate to fisheries and aquatic sciences.

FISH 511 Current Topics in Evolution, Ecology, and Behavior (1-5, max. 15) Contemporary problems and issues in evolution, ecology and behavior as they relate to fisheries and aquatic sciences.

FISH 512 Current Topics in Quantitative Science (1-5, max. 15) Contemporary problems and issues in quantitative science as they relate to fisheries and aquatic sciences.

FISH 513 Current Topics in Management, Conservation, and Restoration (1-5, max. 15) Contemporary problems and issues in management, conservation, and restoration as they relate to fisheries and aquatic sciences.

FISH 514 Current Topics Aquaculture, Utilization, and Pathology (1-5, max. 15) Contemporary problems and issues in aquaculture, utilization, and pathology as they relate to fisheries and aquatic sciences.

FISH 521 Research Proposal Writing for Graduate Students (4) Practice in reading, writing, critiquing, and evaluating research grant and contract proposals. Lecture and discussion of funding resources, structure of proposals, proposal review, evaluation criteria, and agency feedback. Examples of successful and unsuccessful grant applications. Preparing proposals and critiquing other’s efforts.

FISH 522 Hot Topics in Aquatic and Fishery Sciences (2) Discussion of the primary literature of aquatic and fishery sciences. All readings are current, high profile papers which spark a new avenue of investigation, set out a new paradigm, define a central problem, etc. Credit/no credit only. Offered: A.

FISH 526 Ecology of Aquatic Ecosystems (3) Explores natural and human-driven processes regulating the structure and functioning of freshwater and marine ecosystems. Topics include biogeochemistry, energy, and material flows among habitats, evolution in ecological time, commonality of marine and freshwater habitats, and the issues of scale in understanding ecosystem dynamics. Recommended: upper division ecology, limnology, or oceanography.

FISH 529 Water Center Seminar (1) Steinmann Weekly seminars covering water resources and watershed topics with lectures from scientists on and off campus. Credit/no credit only. Offered: jointly with CFR 529/AF FB 521; AWSp.

FISH 530 Application of Bioenergetics Models to Aquatic Food Webs (4) Modeling framework quantifying bioenergetics, including consumption, growth, nutrient recycling and contaminant bioaccumulation; links physiology and behavior of individual organisms to ecological processes within populations and aquatic food webs. Common applications include estimating predation, carrying capacity, or growth potential in different habitats. Recommended: regression course.

FISH 535 Aquatic Toxicology (3) Principles of toxicology applied to aquatic organisms. Recognition of effects at cellular, biochemical, and subcellular levels. Techniques include DNA extraction and quantitation, PCR, DNA sequencing, RFLP and other molecular approaches in common use by ecologists. Emphasizes conceptual understanding and practical use of the methods, illustrated with ecological case studies. Prerequisite: Q SCI 482 or equivalent.

FISH 558 Advanced Analysis in Fisheries Management (1-5, max. 15) Deterministic and stochastic representations of age-dependent and size-dependent models for stock assessment; analysis of multi-species models; risk analysis and uncertainty in fisheries management strategies; analysis of population data on computers. Recommended: 456, 458, 557, or permission of instructor.

FISH 560 Applied Multivariate Statistics for Ecologists (4) GE Use and interpretation of multivariate analysis, including the majority of approaches in common use by ecologists. Emphasizes the conceptual understanding and practical use of the methods, illustrated with ecological case studies. Prerequisite: Q SCI 482 equivalent.

FISH 581 Fishery Management: Case Studies (3) Examination of historical case studies chosen to illustrate specific fishery management problem areas. Faculty presentations occupy first half of quarter, student presentations the second half. Prerequisite: FISH 580. Offered: jointly with SMA 581.

FISH 600 Independent Study or Research (*) Credit/no credit only.

FISH 700 Master’s Thesis (*) Credit/no credit only.

FISH 800 Doctoral Dissertation (*) Credit/no credit only.

School of Marine Affairs

SMA 103 Society and the Oceans (5) I&S/NW

Explores the social and policy dimensions of the ocean environment and ocean management policy. Attention to how human values, institutions, culture, and history shape environmental issues and policy responses. Examines case studies and influential frameworks, such as the ocean as "tragedy of the commons". Offered: jointly with SIS 103.
SMA 433 Environmental Degradation in the Tropics (5) I&S/NW Gallucci, Miller
SMA 455 Marine Business Environment in Russia and Eastern Europe (3) I&S Kaczynski
SMA 476 Introduction to Environmental Law and Process (3) I&S Bryant, Hershman
SMA 480 Marine Resource Conservation and Management (3) I&S/NW Gallucci, Miller
SMA 485 Pacific Recreation and Tourism Issues (3) I&S/NW Miller
SMA 499 Undergraduate Research (1-15, max. 15) Huppert
SMA 500 Integrated Marine Affairs Practice (3) Huppert
SMA 501 Integrated Marine Affairs Practice (3) Huppert
SMA 506 International Law of the Sea (3) Huppert
SMA 507 International Organizations and Ocean Management (3) Miles
SMA 508 National Marine Policy Processes (3) Huppert
SMA 509 Integrated Coastal Management (3) Christy, Hershman
SMA 510 Topics in Marine Ecology (3) Klinger
SMA 512 Interviewing Methods and Environmental Topics (3) Miller
SMA 515 U.S. Coastal and Ocean Law (4) Christie, Hershman
SMA 516 Seaport Management (3) Christie
SMA 517 Marine Uses: Transportation and Commerce (3) Hershman
SMA 519 Marine Policy Analysis (3) Leschine
SMA 521 Governmental Responses to Global Climate Change (3) Miles
SMA 523 International Science and Technology Policy (3) Miles
SMA 525 Marine Protected Area Management and Science (3) Fluharty, Klinger
SMA 536 Applied Microeconomics for Marine Affairs (3) Huppert
SMA 537 Economic Aspects of Marine Policy (3) Huppert
SMA 540 International Strategic Planning for Marine Resources (3) Kaczynski
SMA 550 Special Topics in Marine Studies (1-3, max. 18) Huppert
Intended for the joint participation by the faculty and advanced students in the investigation of selected topics. One or more groups are organized each quarter.

SMA 555 Comparative Marine Business in the North Pacific (3) Strategies of Russian, Canadian, Japanese, and American enterprises and governments in promotion of marine business in the North Pacific. Socio-economic characteristics of the four powers; role of public and private sectors in foreign trade and investment; Russia’s transition to free-market economic system; and business practices in the region. Offered: jointly with SISRE 555.

SMA 570 Thesis Presentation (1) Fluharty Completion of the thesis requirement for SMA. Prepare a professional presentation to a peer audience. Offered: AWSpS.

SMA 581 Fishery Management: Case Studies (3) Huppert Examination of historical case studies chosen to illustrate specific fishery management problem areas. Faculty presentations occupy first half of quarter, student presentations the second half. Prerequisite: SMA 580 or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with FISH 581.

SMA 585 Climate Impacts on the Pacific Northwest (4) Mantua, Snover Knowledge of past/future patterns of climate to improve Pacific Northwest resource management. Topics include the predictability of natural/human-caused climate changes; past societal reactions to climate impacts on water, fish, forest, and coastal resources; how climate and public policies interact to affect ecosystems and society. Offered: jointly with ATM S/ESS/ENVIR 585; Sp.

SMA 591 Marine Science in the Coastal Zone (3) Klinger Presentation and analysis of the marine science of estuarine, coastal, and open ocean systems, including evaluation and interpretation of scientific information necessary for management. Lectures, discussions, and readings emphasize the relevance of natural processes to marine environmental management and decision-making. Offered: jointly with OCEAN 591; A;

Oceanography

OCEAN 100 Explore Oceanography at UW (1) Explores the research and experiences of the Oceanography department-faculty, graduate students, and undergraduate students. Credit/no credit only. Offered: A

OCEAN 101 Survey of Oceanography (5) NW Holistic view of fundamental principles of ocean science; the geography and geology of ocean basins; chemistry of sea water; physical dynamics of currents, waves, and tides; coastal processes; and the biology of diverse ecosystems such as deep sea vents, coral reefs, and estuaries. Intended for nonmajors.

OCEAN 102 The Changing Oceans (5) I&S/NW Historical case studies of research on the ancient oceans, deep-sea exploration, climate change and the oceans, and human impacts on marine life. Students consider societal factors affecting progress in marine science, changing popular attitudes toward the oceans, and key current policy implications of marine science. Intended for nonmajors. Offered: W.

OCEAN 200 Introduction to Oceanography (3) NW Armbrust Description of the oceans. Emphasis on relations of biology, chemistry, geology, and physics in marine environments. Examination of relationships and interactions at macro-, meso-, and microscales in the ocean. Intended for science majors. Offered: Sp.

OCEAN 210 Ocean Circulation (3) NW The large-scale circulation of the ocean. Topics include temperature-salinity analysis; water mass identification; water, salt, and heat budgets; chemical tracer distributions; advection and diffusion. Prerequisite: either Ocean 101 or Ocean 200; recommended: either PHYS 114 or PHYS 121. Offered: A.

OCEAN 220 Introduction to Field Oceanography (3/5) NW Design and conduct a field study in oceanography. Field trip required (usually during Spring break). Focus on active learning, deployment of instruments, data collection, interpretation, and presentation. Honors section incorporates additional field experimentation and study in marine biology. Writing class. Prerequisite: either OCEAN 210 or OCEAN/FISH/BIOL 250. Offered: Sp.

OCEAN 230 Rivers and Beaches (3/5) NW Montgomery, Nittrouer Introduction to Earth surface environments, the processes that shape them, how humans affect them and are affected by them. Weekend field trips examine mountains, rivers, deltas/estuaries, beaches, and environments beyond. Focus on linkages between these environments to illustrate coupling between landscapes and seascapes. Offered: jointly with ESS 230.

OCEAN 240 Contemporary Issues in Oceanography (1-5, max. 9) NW Selected topics of contemporary interest in oceanography such as hydrothermal vents, planetary volcanism, biogeochemical cycling, the ecology of Puget Sound, and the ocean’s role in climate.

OCEAN 250 Marine Biology (3/5) I&S, NW Lecture-laboratory course in Marine Biology focusing on physical, biological, and social aspects of the marine environment. Topics include oceanography, ecology, physiology, behavior, conservation, fisheries, exploration, and activism. Evening marine biology movies and weekend field trip. Honors section research project. Offered: jointly with BIOL/FISH 250.

OCEAN 300 Study Abroad Marine Sciences (1-12, max. 12) Robagou For participants of Marine Language Exchange Scholarship Program. Specific content varies and must be individually evaluated. Credit does not apply to major requirements without approval. Offered: AWSpS.

OCEAN 310 The Puget Sound Nearshore: Processes and Problems (3) I&S/NW An introduction to the geology, ecology, and politics of Puget Sound beaches. Content focuses on beach formation and sediment dynamics, with application to nearshore ecology and shoreline management. Three field trips to local beaches complement topics discussed in class.

OCEAN 351 Field Investigations in Marine Biology (5) Evaluates the relationships between man and marine systems in a field-oriented class. Case studies directly investigate marine biology. Studies include human activities and our effects on marine species and communities. Multiple field trips, lectures, and labs. Prerequisite: FISH 350/OCEAN 350. Offered: jointly with FISH 351; Sp.

OCEAN 360 Marine Field Research (10) NW, QSR Scott Veirs, Val Veirs Intensive off-campus marine research experience. Includes 5 weeks designing a field experiment and a 5-week cruise aboard a sailing research vessel to implement it. Offered: jointly with OCEAN 365; ASp.

OCEAN 365 Practicing Sustainability Science (8) I&S/NW Scott Veirs, Val Veirs Intensive off-campus experience. Studies sustainability science, marine policy, and “clean” technologies. Includes interaction with community stakeholders for 5 weeks and experimentation with sustainable technologies and practices in the marine environment during a 5-week cruise aboard an energy-efficient sailing catamaran. Offered: jointly with OCEAN 360; ASp.

OCEAN 400 Chemical Oceanography (4) NW Physical and chemical properties of seawater and marine products; processes determining the chemical makeup of the oceans. Prerequisite: either CHEM 152 or CHEM 155; OCEAN 210. Offered: W.

OCEAN 401 Special Topics in Chemical Oceanography (3) NW.

OCEAN 410 Marine Geology and Geophysics (4) NW Sedimentological and petrologic processes that determine the geologic record. Prerequisite: either ESS 101 or ESS 210. Offered: jointly with ESS 410; A.

OCEAN 411 Special Topics in Marine Geology and Geophysics (3) NW.

OCEAN 420 Physical Processes in the Ocean (4) NW Physical properties and processes of the ocean: methods of describing ocean currents, waves, tides and mixing and their effect on movement of water parcels. Prerequisite: either PHYS 116 or PHYS 123; either MATH 126, MATH 129, MATH 146, or Q SCI 381; OCEAN 210. Offered: W.

OCEAN 421 Special Topics in Physical Oceanography (3) NW.

analysis. Applications to upper ocean dynamics, surface and internal waves, and wind-driven currents in the ocean. Prerequisite: MATH 126; PHYS 123; OCEAN 420.

OCEAN 423 Ocean Circulation and Climate (3) NW Quantitative treatment of ocean basin to global scale ocean circulation systems and their interaction with climate variability. Prerequisite: PHYS 123; either MATH 126 or MATH 129; OCEAN 410.

OCEAN 430 Biological Oceanography (4) NW Marine organisms, their quantitative distribution in time and space and their interactions with the ocean. Prerequisite: either BIOL 162, or BIOL 220; OCEAN 210. Offered: A.

OCEAN 431 Special Topics in Biological Oceanography (3) NW

OCEAN 442 Oceanography of the Puget Sound (3) NW Explores the role of oceanography in regional issues. Field opportunities and active investigation of applied oceanographic problems. Lectures, research trip, student co-teaching, discussion. Prerequisite: either CHEM 152, CHEM 221, BIOL 162, BIOL 220, ESS 101, or ESS 210, Offered: A.

OCEAN 443 Design of Oceanographic Field Experiments (3) NW Case histories, presentations, and class exercises used to teach methods of formulating a research problem and proposal writing. Methods of data analysis, presentation, error estimation, library resource and data base use; web page implementation and design. Principles of cruise planning. Prerequisite: OCEAN 400; OCEAN 410; OCEAN 420; OCEAN 430. Offered: W.

OCEAN 444 Advanced Field Oceanography (5) NW Conduct field experiment (designed in OCEAN 443) during a week-long cruise aboard a research vessel. Analyze samples data and present results in a series of drafts and a final term paper. Results are presented at a two-day-long public research symposium and on the student's individual Web sites. Prerequisite: OCEAN 443. Offered: Sp.

OCEAN 450 Climatic Extremes (4) NW Course examines earth history for extreme climatic conditions to predict future climate changes. Numerical climate models use PC-based computer programs to identify processes and feedbacks that control climate.

OCEAN 451 Fluid Dynamics Laboratory (4) NW Individual projects in experimental fluid dynamics with applications to practical problems. Experimental design, visualization, and measurement techniques applied to a problem selected by each student. Prerequisite: PHYS 123.

OCEAN 452 Spatial Information Technologies in Ecosystem Sciences (3) NW Logsdon Introduction to the use of GPS, GIS, and Remote Sensing in the ecosystem sciences. Integrates these technologies in an applied research setting. Two overnight weekend field trips required. Offered: jointly with FISH 453; A.

OCEAN 454 Hydrothermal Systems: An Interdisciplinary View (3) NW Lilley Provides a general, interdisciplinary overview of seafloor hydrothermal systems including important geological, chemical and biological processes. Topics include tectonic and volcanic controls on hydrothermal systems, water/rock reactions, phase separation, temporal variability, fluxes to the deep sea, micro- and macro biology. Offered: Sp.

OCEAN 492 Friday Harbor Apprenticeship (9/15) NW Intensive, full-time research training experience where teams of students work on focused research problems guided by a group of faculty, postdoctoral, and graduate student mentors. Research questions vary.

OCEAN 494 Field Experiences in Marine Science (1-15, max. 30) NW Faculty participants in oceanography field work. Specific content varies and is individually evaluated. Credit does not apply to major requirements without approval.

OCEAN 496 Study Abroad: Oceanography (1-15, max. 30) NW For participants in UW study abroad program. Specific content varies and is individually evaluated. Credit does not apply to major requirements without approval.

OCEAN 497 Advanced Special Topics in Oceanography (1-15, max. 15).

OCEAN 499 Undergraduate Research (1-15, max. 24) Research on assigned topics that may involve laboratory work, fieldwork, or literature surveys. Offered: AWSpS.

OCEAN 500 Current Problems in Oceanography (1) Discussion of research topics that are currently being investigated within the school. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AW.

OCEAN 501 Estuarine Circulation and Mixing (3) Observed patterns of currents, mixing, and stratification from deep fjords to shallow coastal plain estuaries. Physical understanding of basic processes, such as tides, wind stress, topographic effects on turbulence, sill hydraulics, and exchange flow. Vertical mixing and residence times important to biological and pollution studies. Prerequisite: permission of instructor

OCEAN 506 Interdisciplinary Seminar in Oceanography (1-3, max. 12) Lectures, discussions, and work on selected problems of an interdisciplinary nature. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

OCEAN 509 Seminar (1) Introduction to current research topics for beginning graduate students. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

OCEAN 510 Physics of Ocean Circulation (3) Structure of ocean basins; physical properties of seawater and the equation of state; heat, salt, fresh water budgets; tidal potential; Coriolis effect and geostrophic balance; major current systems and water masses; mixing, stirring in the ocean; simple waves; modern experimental methods in physical oceanography. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A.

OCEAN 511 Introduction to Fluid Dynamics (4) Eulerian equations for mass-motion; Navier-Stokes equation for viscous fluids, Cartesian tensors, stress-strain relations; Kelvin’s theorem, vortex dynamics; potential flows, flows with high-low Reynolds numbers; boundary layers, introduction to singular perturbation techniques; water waves; linear instability theory. Prerequisite: AMATH 403 or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with AMATH 505; A.

OCEAN 513 Geophysical Fluid Dynamics II (3) Theories, models of large-scale dynamics of oceans, atmospheres. Potential vorticity, Q principles; Rossby waves, ray tracing, Green’s function, setup of general circulation; atmospheric “channels” versus ocean “basins”; wave-mean flow interaction, mountain drag, internal momentum flux; “Lagrangian” motion of particles, tracers; cascades, eddy flux of heat, moisture. Q. Prerequisite: OCEAN 512. Offered: Sp.

OCEAN 514 Waves (3) Application of marine hydrodynamics principles to wave motion in oceans. Offered: W.

OCEAN 515 Ocean Circulation: Observations (3) Modern large- and mesoscale ocean observations, interpreted in terms of contemporary circulation theories. Spectrum of temporal variability; eddies and eddy fluxes; ventilation; advection and diffusion in the abyss; transports of heat and salt; climatic scale of variability; modern methods for determining circulation. Prerequisite: OCEAN 510 or permission of instructor. Offered: Sp.

OCEAN 516 Ocean Circulation: Theories (3) Hydrodynamic theories concerning origin and characteristics of major ocean currents. Prerequisite: OCEAN 512 or permission of instructor.

OCEAN 517 Methods and Measurements in Physical Oceanography (2) Principal instruments and experimental methods of physical oceanography. Devices and systems that measure pressure, temperature, electrical conductivity, sea state, and velocity. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: alternate years.

OCEAN 519 Seminar in Physical Oceanography (1, max. 9) Discussion of selected problems of current interest in physical oceanography. Prerequisite: OCEAN 510 or permission of instructor.

OCEAN 520 Marine Chemistry (3) Processes controlling the chemical composition of seawater. Chemical distributions in the ocean, marine physical chemistry, chemical equilibria, and concepts of mass balance. Mechanisms and models used to explain distributions of stable and radioactive isotopes, gases, trace metals, and biochemicals in the world’s oceans. Offered: A.

OCEAN 521 Aquatic Chemistry (3) Application of physical chemistry and thermodynamics to processes that control chemical composition of natural waters. Equilibrium approach. Acid/base chemistry, the carbonate system, dissolution and precipitation, metal ions in solution, oxidation-reduction chemistry, silicate mineral reactions. Prerequisite: OCEAN 520 or permission of instructor. Offered: A.
OCEAN 522 Marine Organic Geochemistry (3) Sources, reactions, and fates of organic molecules in the marine environment along with the stable isotope geochemistry of marine organic substances. Prerequisite: CHEM 237 and CHEM 239 or permission of instructor.

OCEAN 523 Geochemical Cycles (4) Descriptive, quantitative aspects of earth as biogeochemical system. Study of equilibrium, transport processes, chemical kinetics, biological processes; their application to carbon, sulfur, nitrogen, phosphorus, other elemental cycles. Stability of biogeochemical systems; nature of human perturbations of their dynamics. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with CHEM 523 and ATM S 508.

OCEAN 524 Environmental Chemical Modeling (3) Benjamin, Murray Physical/chemical principles controlling the fate and distribution of environmental pollutants, and use of models to apply those principles. Includes modeling of physical transport in conjunction with chemical equilibrium and reaction kinetics. Applications include acid mine drainage, acid deposition, and groundwater and lake water contamination. Offered: jointly with CHEM 550.

OCEAN 529 Seminar on Chemical Oceanography (*, max. 9) Lectures, discussions, and readings on selected problems of current interest. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSp.

OCEAN 530 Biological Oceanography: Bacteria and Protozoa (3) Bacteria in the marine environment; fate of organic carbon in the ocean and the interrelationship of the carbon cycle with other biogeochemical cycles. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: W.

OCEAN 531 Biological Oceanography: Phytoplankton (3) Phytoplankton in the marine environment: ecology, primary productivity, and physiology. Phytoplankton growth and photosynthetic patterns; spatial and temporal distribution of phytoplankton; methods for determining distributions and rates of production and growth. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: W.

OCEAN 532 Biological Oceanography: Zooplankton (3) Distribution and abundance of pelagic animals in space and time; analysis of their interactions. Small-scale distributions and behavior, population dynamics and energetics, trophic structure and dynamics, pelagic community structure, models of populations and food chains, secondary production and biogeochemistry. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: Sp.

OCEAN 533 Biological Oceanography: Benthos (3) Analysis of marine benthic communities; new research questions and method; ecologically important physics of benthic boundary layer; theories, mechanics, and observations of deposit feeding; succession as consequence of physical processes and biological interactions. Environments include deep-sea, continental shelves, estuaries, and intertidal, focusing on soft substrata. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: Sp.

OCEAN 534 Methods and Measurements in Biological Oceanography (2) Methods for bacteria, phytoplankton, and zooplankton population assessment. Rate measurements of phytoplankton, zooplankton, and bacterial production. Benthos measurements, including deep-sea environments. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

OCEAN 535 Biological Oceanography: An Overview (3) Principles and practice of biological oceanography for students with strong background in physical sciences but little recent exposure to biology. Ecological principles at individual, population, and community levels; overview of discipline of biological oceanography; case studies of interdisciplinary problems shared with the physical sciences. Offered: W.

OCEAN 536 Seminar in Geostatistics (1-3, max. 3) Lectures and discussions on selected problems in the applications of statistics in earth science.

OCEAN 539 Seminar in Biological Oceanography (*, max. 9) Lectures, discussions, and work on selected problems of current interest. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSp.

OCEAN 540 Marine Geologic Processes (3) McDuff Principles of thermodynamics, heat and mass transfer, fluid mechanics, continuum mechanics, and time-series analysis applied to marine geological and geophysical data with special emphasis on the thermal balance of the oceanic lithosphere. Offered: W.

OCEAN 541 Marine Sedimentary Processes (3) Investigates fundamental process of marine sedimentation, including equations characterizing boundary-shear flows, initiation of grain motion, bedload and suspended-load transport, and sediment accumulation. Applies concepts to sediment dispersal in rivers, deltas, estuaries, beaches, continental shelves, slopes, and rises, with emphasis on the relationships between active processes and resulting deposits.

OCEAN 542 Sediment Dynamics and Boundary-Layer Physics (4) Theoretical descriptions of sediment transport processes constrained by laboratory demonstrations. The physics of boundary layers, initiation of motion, suspended load, bedload, bedforms, and continua transport (turbidity currents, debris flows, and suspensions) and its application to the geological record. Offered: jointly with ESS 526; W.

OCEAN 545 Physics of the Oceanic Lithosphere (3) Basic principles of elasticity, fluid flow, and heat transport with specific applications to the formation and evolution of the oceanic lithosphere. Includes deformation of the earth, flow in porous media, heat transport, and marine seismological and potential field techniques. Prerequisite: OCEAN 540. Offered: jointly with ESS 566.

OCEAN 546 Continental-Margin Sedimentation (3) Detailed evaluation of recent studies into processes forming strata on continental margins, including the diverse time scales ranging from sediment transport to sequence stratigraphy. Highlights the linkages with physical oceanographic processes, the fate of geochronological archives and the relationship to biological communities. Offered: jointly with ESS 527.

OCEAN 549 Seminar in Geological and Geophysical Oceanography (*, max. 9) Lectures, discussions, and field and laboratory work on selected problems of current interest. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSp.

OCEAN 550 Geochemistry and Geophysics of Melt Generation (3) Mantle flow beneath mid-ocean ridges and hotspots, major element systematics, constraints from trace elements and isotopes on melting and mantle reservoirs, melt extraction, and crustal thickness and axial topography. Prerequisite: OCEAN 544 or permission of instructor. Offered: alternate years.

OCEAN 551 Marine Seismology (3) Practical application of seismic techniques to the study of the ocean basins. Analysis of refraction data, multichannel reflector profiling, surface wave studies, and earthquake analysis. Prerequisite: GPHYS 502 or permission of instructor.

OCEAN 552 Seminar in Geophysics and Geological Data Analysis (1) Practical geophysical data analysis, map projections, gridding, multibeam bathymetry processing, gravity and magnetic anomalies, downward continuation, magnetic inversion, seismic refraction and reflection, and microearthquake locations. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

OCEAN 558 Climate Modeling (3) Bitz, Thompson Principles of Earth System modeling. Emphasis on atmospheric, ocean sea ice, and land-surface components. Climate forcing. Appropriate use of models. Topics of current interest including carbon cycle, atmosphere chemistry, and biogeochemistry. Prerequisite: either ATM S/CEE/OCEAN 557, ATM S 504 or ATM S 505. Offered: jointly with ATM S 559/ESS 559; Sp; alternate years.

OCEAN 559 Advanced Seminar on Mid-Ocean Ridge Processes (*, max. 9) Lectures, discussions, and practical work on selected topics of current interest in mid-ocean ridge research. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

OCEAN 560 Atmosphere/Ocean Interactions (3) Observations and theory of phenomena of the coupled atmosphere-ocean system. El Nino/Southern Oscillation; decadal tropical variability; atmospheric teleconnections; midlatitude atmosphere-ocean variability. Overview of essential ocean and atmospheric dynamics, where appropriate. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: ATM S 500 or OCEAN 512. Offered: jointly with ATM S 560; alternate years; Sp.

OCEAN 569 Topics in Physical Oceanography (1-4, max. 9) Lecture series on topics of major importance in physical oceanography. Offered: AWSp.

OCEAN 570 Marine Microbial Interactions (1-3, max. 9) Structure, function, and dynamics of natural mixed-species populations of marine bacteria and their interactions with higher organisms; mixed-species culture methods; synecological field methods; species assemblages in specialized environments; mutualisms; sites and patterns of genetic exchange. Prerequisite: OCEAN 530 or permission of instructor. Offered: alternate years.

OCEAN 571 Primary Productivity (1-3, max. 9) Patterns and mechanisms of marine phytoplankton primary production. Small-to-global-scale patterns of seasonal variation; environmental regulation of production; absorption of electromagnetic radiation; fluorescence; carbon fixation; trophic interactions; remote sensing and other optical methods. Prerequisite: OCEAN 531 or permission of instructor. Offered: alternate years.
OCEAN 572 Zooplankton Ecology (1-3, max. 9) Life history strategies, dynamics and production of populations, vertical migration, interspecific interactions and community structure, models of complex assemblages of zooplankton, sampling methods and analysis, spatial heterogeneity. Prerequisite: OCEAN 532 or permission of instructor. Offered: alternate years.

OCEAN 573 Benthic Biological Processes (1-3, max. 9) Processes characteristic of soft-bottom benthic environments; areas and methods of rapid current progress; open research questions; deposit feeding; passive larval recruitment; physical, chemical, geological, and biological feedbacks in ecological succession; scaling of laboratory systems. Prerequisite: OCEAN 533 or permission of instructor. Offered: alternate years.

OCEAN 574 Principles and Applications of Molecular Methods (3) Applications of molecular techniques to questions in ecology, evolution, and natural resource management, with emphasis on advanced genome-enabled technologies and the analysis and interpretation of genetic data. Includes weekly discussion of empirical papers, and preparation/peer-review of a proposal Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with FISH 542; A.

OCEAN 575 Molecular Techniques (4) Laboratory on DNA methods. Experiments analyzing genetic variation at the intra- and interspecific level, including one experiment of student's own design. Techniques include DNA extraction and quantitation, PCR, DNA sequencing, RFLP analysis and cloning. Prerequisite: FISH 542 or OCEAN 574 or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with FISH 543; W.

OCEAN 576 Advanced Topics in Biological Oceanography (*) (1-4) Specialized research areas. Topic varies each year. Offered at Friday Harbor Laboratories. Prerequisite: permission of director of Friday Harbor Laboratories. Offered: S.

OCEAN 580 Aquatic Kinetics (3) Reaction rates and mass transport in water. Theories of chemical kinetics; experimental results from: CO2 hydrolysis, Fe, Mn, and H2S oxidation, stable isotope fractionation, mineral dissolution; homogeneous, heterogeneous, microbial catalysis; reaction and transport at air-water, sediment-water, and O2/H2S interfaces. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

OCEAN 581 Geochemical Modeling (3) Background to modeling concepts frequently encountered in chemical oceanography: box models, advection-diffusion problems, sediment diagenesis equations, and boundary layer (air-water and sediment-water interface) models. Problems requiring application of the models to chemical distributions in the ocean. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

OCEAN 582 River Basin Biogeochemistry (3) The function of rivers and river basins in transporting materials to the oceans and their importance in biogeochemical cycles. Origin of water and water routing within drainage basins, sources and modification of dissolved and particulate materials in transport, ecological theory, and estuarine mixing zone transformations. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

OCEAN 583 Isotope Biogeochemistry (3) The use of stable isotopes to study biogeochemical cycles in the oceans and atmosphere; specifically carbon, nitrogen, and sulfur cycles. Isotopic effects during photosynthesis, respiration, organic matter degradation. CaCO3 dissolution, methanogenesis, nitrification/denitrification, and sulfate reduction. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

OCEAN 584 Ocean Tracers and Mixing (3) The applications of tracers to studies of ocean circulation and ventilation. Processes within the ocean for which tracers have provided important information include gas exchange, mixed layer dynamics, thermocline ventilation, deep water formation and spreading, and mixing. Knowledge of partial differential equations suggested.

OCEAN 585 Paleoceanography (3) History of environmental changes on earth over the past 100 million years as reconstructed from records in deep-sea sediments, ice sheets, and other ocean/terrestrial substrates. Examination of isotopic, geochemical, micropaleontological, and dating techniques. Role of the ocean in climate change. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

OCEAN 586 Current Research in Climate Change (2, max. 20) Weekly lectures focusing on a particular aspect of climate (topic to change each year) from invited speakers (both UW and outside), plus one or two keynote speakers, followed by class discussion. Offered: jointly with ATM S 586/ESS 586.

OCEAN 587 Climate Dynamics (3) Hartman, Thompson Examines Earth’s climate system; distribution of temperature, precipitation, wind ice, salinity, and ocean currents; fundamental processes determining Earth’s climate; energy and constituent transport mechanisms; climate sensitivity; natural climate variability on interannual to decadal time scales; global climate models; predicting future climate. Offered: jointly with ATM S 587/ESS 587. Offered: A.

OCEAN 588 The Global Carbon Cycle and Climate (3) Emerson Oceanic and terrestrial biogeochemical processes controlling atmospheric CO2 and other greenhouse gases. Records of past changes in the earth’s carbon cycle from geological, oceanographic and terrestrial archives. Anthropogenic perturbations to cycles. Develop simple box models, discuss results of complex models. Offered: jointly with ATM S 588/ESS 588. Offered: W.

OCEAN 590 Advanced Topics in Oceanography (9-18, max. 18) Advanced topics examining specialized and interdisciplinary areas of oceanographic research. Offered at Friday Harbor Laboratories. Prerequisite: permission of Director of Friday Harbor Laboratories. Offered: S.

OCEAN 591 Marine Science in the Coastal Zone (3) Klinger Presentation and analysis of the marine science of estuarine, coastal, and open ocean systems, including evaluation and interpretation of scientific information necessary for management. Lectures, discussions, and readings emphasize the relevance of natural processes to marine environmental management and decision-making. Offered: jointly with SMA 591; A.

OCEAN 592 Communicating Ocean Sciences (4) Robigou Explores improving communicating scientific knowledge through instruction of inquiry-based science in school classrooms. Students practice communicating science, and receive mentoring on how to improve their presentations. Prerequisite: Marine sciences studies background. Offered: Sp.

OCEAN 600 Independent Study or Research (*) Offered: AWSpS.

OCEAN 700 Master’s Thesis (*) Offered: AWSpS.

OCEAN 800 Doctoral Dissertation (*) Offered: AWSpS.
School of Pharmacy

Medicinal Chemistry

MEDCH 400 Fundamental Concepts in Medicinal Chemistry (3) W. Nelson Principles of physical organic chemistry; chemical bonding, stereochemistry, acids/bases, and reaction mechanisms relevant to processes such as drug distribution, specificity, and metabolism. Prerequisite: either CHEM 239 or CHEM 337. Offered: A.

MEDCH 495 Special Studies in Medicinal Chemistry (*, max. 6) Opportunity to expand the breadth and depth of understanding in specific areas. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A/WSpS.

MEDCH 499 Independent Study/Research (*, max. 24) Research problems in medicinal chemistry. Prerequisite: cumulative GPA of 2.50 and permission of instructor. Offered: A/WSpS.

MEDCH 501 Advanced Medicinal Chemistry (4) S. Nelson Advanced study of the various classes of medicinal compounds, with particular emphasis on biological activity, mechanism of action, biotransformation, and the structural and physical properties governing absorption, distribution, and excretion. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A/WSpS.

MEDCH 502 Advanced Medicinal Chemistry (4) W. Nelson, Rettie Advanced study of the various classes of medicinal compounds, with particular emphasis on biological activity, mechanism of action, biotransformation, and the structural and physical properties governing absorption, distribution, and excretion. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A/WSpS.

MEDCH 503 Advanced Medicinal Chemistry (4) Atkins, W. Nelson Advanced study of the various classes of medicinal compounds, with particular emphasis on biological activity, mechanism of action, biotransformation, and the structural and physical properties governing absorption, distribution, and excretion. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A/WSpS.

MEDCH 520 Seminar (1, max. 15) Graduate students attend seminars and make one formal presentation per year while in residence; maximum of three presentations. Credit/no credit only. Offered: jointly with PCEUT 520; A/WSpS.

MEDCH 521 Advanced Medicinal Chemistry (3) Atkins, W. Nelson Application of integrated data from the physical and biological sciences to problems of chemotherapy, including transport of drugs to site of action, biotransformation of drugs, interaction of drugs with enzyme systems, and recent advances in drug design. Prerequisite: CHEM 457, CHEM 531, and BIOC 442, or permission of instructor. Offered: Sp.

MEDCH 525 Alternative and Complementary Medicines (2) Elmer Study of popular alternative and complementary medicines used in the United States. Focus on herbal products with some coverage of homeopathic and other non-nutritional dietary supplements. Demonstration of resources for current objective information on these controversial medicines. Credit/no credit only. Offered: A.

MEDCH 527 Drug Metabolism (4) Rettie, Thummel Considerations of the biochemical mechanisms for the biotransformation of drugs and foreign compounds. Includes reaction mechanisms, ultrastructural considerations, induction mechanisms, methodology, kinetics of inhibition and activation, and amine metabolism. Offered: jointly with PHCOL 527; odd years; W.

MEDCH 530 Mass Spectrometry of Drugs, Toxicants, and Metabolites (3) Howald Current approaches to the combination of liquid chromatography with mass spectrometry for small molecules. Mass spectrometry of drugs, toxicants, metabolites. Emphasis on interpretation skills, with problem sets each week. Introduction to LC/MS instrumentation, ionization methods appropriate for small molecules. Capillary LC/MS and capillary electrophoresis. Offered: even years; Sp.

MEDCH 541 Mass Spectrometry Based Proteomics (3) Goodlett Covers basics of sample preparation, data generation, instrumentation, ionization, and data interpretation of peptide tandem mass spectra manually. Uses database search engines and bioinformatics in systems biology related proteomics. Prerequisite: MEDCH 530 or permission of instructor. Offered: odd years; Sp.

MEDCH 550 Mechanistic Studies in Medicinal Chemistry (1) S. Nelson Discussion of research strategies and methods used to carry out studies of mechanisms of drug action, metabolism, and toxicities. Emphasis is on problem solving through theoretical and experimental approaches and on data analysis and interpretation. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A/WSpS.

MEDCH 551 Flavin and Heme-Containing Monooxygenases (1) Rettie, Kunze Discussion of research strategies and methodologies concerning the structure, function, and polymeric expression of human monooxygenases, especially the cytochrome P450s and flavin-containing monooxygenases. Emphasis placed on problem solving, data analysis, and presentation. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A/WSpS.

MEDCH 552 Medicinal Chemistry Aspects of Drug Action and Drug Metabolism (1) W. Nelson Discussion of research strategies, methodologies, and literature concerning the mechanisms of drug action and drug metabolism, particularly as these apply to opiate drugs and beta blockers. Emphasizes placed on problem solving, data analysis, and presentation. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A/WSpS.

MEDCH 553 Structure and Function of Macromolecular Protein Assemblies (1) Atkins Discussion of structural and current literature concerning macromolecular self-assembly processes and protein-protein interactions as they relate to biological specificity. Emphasis on experimental approaches used in current literature. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A/WSpS.

MEDCH 554 The Mechanism of Action and Pharmacokinetics of Biotherapeutic Agents and Other Natural Products (1) Elmer Discussion of the literature, research possibilities, and questions that need to be addressed in the area of the application of microorganisms and other natural products for therapeutic purposes. Emphasis on problem solving, research strategies, literature evaluation, and data analysis. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A/WSpS.

MEDCH 555 Current Topics in Biological Mass Spectrometry (1) Goodlett Emphasis on applications in the area of protein toxins, bioactive peptides, and microbial diseases and on current developments in the use of small scale separations with mass spectrometry. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A/WSpS.

MEDCH 556 Clinical and Mechanistic Aspects of Drug Metabolism (1) Totah Discussion of research methodologies and new approaches to elucidate chemical mechanisms and enzymology of reactions catalyzed by cytochrome P-450. Emphasis on clinical applications and predicting in vivo drug behavior and toxicity. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A/WSpS.

MEDCH 558 Human Cytochrome P-450 Biochemistry (1) Kunze Presentation and discussion of research strategies and methodologies related to current problems in human drug metabolism by cytochrome P-450 enzymes. Emphasizes kinetic, biochemical, and physiopathological approaches used to dissect the molecular mechanisms of motor function. Offered: A/WSpS.

MEDCH 559 Molecular Motors (1) Catalano Discussion of molecular motors, particularly those associated with virus assembly pathways. Emphasizes kinetic, biochemical, and physiopathological approaches used to dissect the molecular mechanisms of motor function. Offered: A/WSpS.

MEDCH 561 P-Immunizing and Antimicrobial Agents (4) Elmer, Totah Chemical and biologic properties of agents used to prevent or treat infectious diseases, including diagnostic, prophylactic, and therapeutic uses of immunizing biologicals and spectrum, action mechanisms, resistance patterns, toxicity, and therapeutic applications of antibiotics, antifungals, and antivirals. Prerequisite: MICROM 301, MICROM 302, MEDCH 570, or equivalent, PharmD major, or permission of instructor. Offered: Sp.

MEDCH 562 P-Medical Chemistry (3) S. Nelson Study of the various classes of medicinal compounds with particular emphasis on biological activity, mechanism of action, biotransformation, and the structural and physical properties governing absorption, distribution, and excretion. Prerequisite: MEDCH 400 or satisfactory completion of qualifying exam. Offered: A.

MEDCH 563 P-Medical Chemistry (3) W. Nelson, Rettie Study of the various classes of medicinal compounds with particular emphasis on biological activity, mechanism of action, biotransformation, and the structural and physical properties governing absorption, distribution, and excretion. Prerequisite: MEDCH 400 or satisfactory completion of qualifying exam. Offered: W.

MEDCH 564 P-Medical Chemistry (3) Atkins, W. Nelson Study of the various classes of medicinal compounds with particular emphasis on biological activity, mechanistic action, biotransformation, and the structural and physical properties governing absorption, distribution, and excretion. Prerequisite: MEDCH 400 or satisfactory completion of qualifying exam. Offered: W.

MEDCH 570 P-Medical Biochemistry I (3) Catalano Introduction to biochemistry for Pharm.D. students with an emphasis on those aspects of biochemistry which are particularly relevant to understanding human disease and therapeutic intervention strategies. Offered: W.

MEDCH 571 P-Medical Biochemistry II (3) Kunze Continuation of discussions of those aspects of biochemistry which are particularly relevant to understanding human disease and therapeutic intervention strategies. Offered: Sp.

MEDCH 582 Topics in Medicinal Chemistry (1, max. 10) Discussion of pertinent articles from current literature. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSp.

MEDCH 599 Cumulative Exams for Medicinal Chemistry (1) Quarterly cumulative examinations for graduate students. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

MEDCH 600 Independent Study or Research (*) Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

MEDCH 700 Master’s Thesis (*) Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

MEDCH 800 Doctoral Dissertation (*) Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

Pharmaceutics

PCEUT 499 Undergraduate Research (1-6, max. 12) Research problems in drug disposition, drug targeting, and drug development. Prerequisite: Cumulative GPA of 2.5 and permission of the instructor.

PCEUT 501 Advanced Pharmacokinetics I (5) Ho, Shen, Unadkat Drug absorption, distribution, excretion, metabolism, and effects in mammalian systems. Compartmental model and model-independent approaches examined. Drug disposition studied in a physiologically realistic context taking nonlinear events into account. Aimed at development of innovative methods for data analysis and evaluation in biological systems. Prerequisite: PCEUT 506 or PCEUT 532, or permission of instructor.

PCEUT 502 Pharmacokinetics of Drug Metabolism (4) Kunze, Levy, Thummel Advanced study of drug metabolism pharmacokinetics. Topics emphasize linear and nonlinear metabolic clearance kinetics, metabolite kinetics, in vitro-in vivo predictions, and drug-drug interaction kinetics. Prerequisite: PCEUT 506 or permission of instructor.

PCEUT 503 Drug Transport and Delivery (5) Ho, Hu, Mao, Shen, Unadkat, Wang Provides advance knowledge of the physico-chemical and biological concepts underlying in vivo transport and delivery of drugs. Prerequisite: PCEUT 506.

PCEUT 506 Pharmacokinetic Principles (6) Isoherranen Covers the fundamentals of pharmacokinetics. Includes lectures and laboratory exercises on the key concepts in pharmacokinetics, including compartmental kinetics, clearance, protein binding, bioavailability, pharmacodynamics, clinical pharmacokinetics, and Michaelis-Menten kinetics.

PCEUT 510 Pharmacokinetics of Drug Interactions (3) Levy, Shen, Thummel, Unadkat Common pharmacokinetic mechanisms underlying the clinically important interactions between drugs. Interactions involving gastrointestinal absorption, serum drug protein binding, excretion and metabolic clearance processes are discussed. Prerequisite: PCEUT 532 or equivalent.

PCEUT 513 Basic Concepts in Pharmacogenetics and Toxicogenomics (3) Eaton, Thummel Addresses current DNA sequencing and genotyping approaches, and basic concepts of pharmacogenomics and toxicogenomics. Emphasis placed on applications of genomic technologies to the understanding of "gene-environment" interactions that cause diseases of public health importance, including cancer, chronic neurological diseases, and adverse drug reactions. Prerequisite: GENET 372 or equivalent. Offered: jointly with ENV H 513/PHG 513.

PCEUT 520 Seminar (1, max. 15) Kelly Graduate students attend seminars and make one formal presentation per year while in residence; maximum of three presentations. Credit/no credit only. Offered: jointly with MEDCH 520.

PCEUT 531 P-Pharmaceutical Formulation: Principles and Dosage Forms (4) Bloedow, Lee, Link, Mao Physiochemical principles involved in formulating stable dosage forms suitable for human administration. Hands-on laboratory experience with formulating extemporaneous preparations routinely encountered in community and hospital pharmacies.

PCEUT 532 P-Clinical Pharmacokinetics (5) Anderson, Levy, Isoherranen Basic principles of pharmacokinetics and their application to the clinical setting, including: single-dose intravenous and oral kinetics, multiple dosing, nonlinear pharmacokinetics, metabolite kinetics, pharmacogenetics, and the role of disease in drug clearance and dose requirements, and kinetics of drug-drug interactions. Prerequisite: PCEUT 531.

PCEUT 533 P-Biopharmaceutics and Drug Delivery (3) Ho, Levy, Shen, Thummel Basic principles of biopharmaceutics and drug delivery and their application to therapeutics including oral and non-oral route of drug administration for traditional and biotechnology drugs. Fundamental principles related to assessment of bioavailability and bioequivalence, drug-drug and food-drug interactions for orally administered drugs. Prerequisites: PCEUT 532.

PCEUT 570 Advanced Research Topics (1, max. 15) Combines a discussion of the practical aspects and experimental techniques used to address the questions relating to drug disposition with comprehensive theoretical treatment of pharmacokinetic principles. Prerequisite: permission of the instructor.

PCEUT 583 Topics in Pharmacaceutics (1, max. 15) Isoherranen Discussion of pertinent articles from current literature and recent laboratory results. Credit/no credit only.

PCEUT 584 Pharmacokinetic Discussion Group (2) Lin Student initiated discussions of pharmacokinetics in relation to current literature. Preparatory to departmental cumulative examinations. Credit/no credit only.

PCEUT 586 Pharmaceutical Biotechnology (2/3, max. 3) Ho, Hu, Thummel Current topics in pharmaceuticals and biotechnology focusing on transforming small molecules, proteins, and genes into therapeutic products. Includes new drug therapies, drug design, pharmacogenomics, molecular modeling, high throughput screen, production and stability considerations, and delivery systems of protein and gene therapeutics in relation to pharmacokinetic and therapeutic responses.

PCEUT 598 Independent Research (*, max. 24) Basic and clinical research problems in drug disposition and effect. Prerequisite: 2.5 GPA and permission of instructor.

PCEUT 599 Cumulative Exams for Pharmaceutics (1) Isoherranen Quarterly cumulative examinations for graduate students. Credit/no credit only.

PCEUT 600 Independent Study or Research (*) Credit/no credit only.

PCEUT 700 Master’s Thesis (*) Credit/no credit only.

PCEUT 800 Doctoral Dissertation (*) Credit/no credit only.

Pharmacy

PHARM 301 Self-Care Products and Practices (2) Dawson, Murphy Addresses a broad range of health concerns including how to identify common conditions amenable to self-care, select appropriate treatment options ranging from non-prescription to non-drug therapies, prevent adverse effects from the use of medications, adopt strategies encouraging healthier lifestyle habits, and learn the rationale behind conventional and alternative/complementary therapies.

PHARM 494 Principles of Pharmacokinetics (2) Bauer Basic pharmacokinetic concepts to the clinical application of drug dosing in patients and master the therapeutic drug monitoring techniques used to determine doses of drugs with narrow therapeutic indices.

PHARM 497 Drug Therapy for the Elderly (3) Christiansen, Gray, Odegard Clinical application of drug knowledge in the treatment of disease in older adults with multiple comorbidities. Application of age-related changes in pharmacokinetics and pharmacodynamics in the selection and monitoring of drug regimes of older adults. Emphasis on problem solving, using case examples. Prerequisite: nurse practitioner students or permission of instructor.
PHARM 500P-Principles of Evidence Based Medicine I: Design and Conduct of Clinical Research (3) O’Sullivan Provides instruction in approaches to and sources for identifying information on the benefits and risks of pharmaceuticals in humans. Additionally, discusses the science of conducting clinical research, including methods, study design, and interpreting study findings for clinical practices. Offered: A.

PHARM 501 P-Pharmacy Practice (3) Somani Overview of the profession of pharmacy emphasizing practice opportunities and specialization. Introduction to clinical and ethics case evaluation techniques using the PharmEd Curriculum format. Off-site pharmacy visitation required. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 502 Neonatal Drug Therapy (3) Blackbum Clinical applications of drugs used with acute and chronically ill preterm and term neonates. Review of neonatal pharmacotherapeutics. Examination of selected therapeutic agents in relation to indications, efficacy, therapeutic and adverse effects, monitoring parameters, and dosing principles in the neonate.

PHARM 503 Senior Care Introductory Pharmaceutical Practice Experience (2) Dawson, Gray, Lakey, Lam, Morrissey, Murphy, Odegard, Plein Under faculty supervision, provides clinical services for senior patients in various settings. Includes reviewing charts, interviewing patients, conferring with other health care providers, and making recommendations on medication therapies to providers and patients. Prerequisite: Successful completion of the first five quarters of Pharm. D. curriculum; permission. Credit/no credit only. Offered: Sp.

PHARM 504 P-Pharmacy Practice (3) Hammer Introduces students to principles of contemporary pharmacy practice and pharmaceutical care. Lecture topics include pharmacy practice issues and general knowledge of common medications. Laboratory activities include prescription processing and problem solving, patient education, sterile products preparation, physical assessment, and other patient care activities. Prerequisite: PHARM 500, PCEUT 531.

PHARM 505 P-Foundations and Principles of Pharmacy Education (2) Dawson, Hammer Teaches principles of education that student educators and pharmacists can use in a multitude of educational environments. Focuses on pharmacy education in general as well as instructional methods and teaching principles. Open to 2nd-4th-year Pharm.D. students.

PHARM 506 Seminar in Pharmacy Education I (1) Murphy, Odegard Discussion of scholarship and teaching in pharmacy education, focusing on the critical evaluation of educational research. Designed in a journal-club format, students participate in small group discussions and write an analysis paper. Prerequisite: PHARM 505 or permission of instructor. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 507 Seminar in Pharmacy Education II (2) Hammer, O’Sullivan Students engage in weekly discussions and activities to prepare pharmacy-related presentations or faculty development workshops. Includes journal club sessions to discuss current topics in pharmacy education. Prerequisite: PHARM 505 or permission of instructor. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 508 P-Principles of Evidence Based Medicine II: Applying and Interpreting Biostatistics in Clinical Research (4) Blough Introduction to basic biostatistical concepts in the field of pharmacy. Prerequisite: PHARM 500.

PHARM 509 Medical Literature Evaluation (2) O’Sullivan Provides an introduction to the processes of critically evaluating medical literature. Offered: A

PHARM 510 Contemporary Concepts in Clinical Nutrition Support (1) Chan Addresses current topics and concepts in clinical nutrition support. Topics include assessment and management of patients requiring specialized nutrition support, enteral, nutritional, and parenteral nutrition. Prerequisite: biochemistry, anatomy, and physiology, or permission of instructor; taken concurrently with NUTR 511. Offered: A.

PHARM 511 P-Community Outreach Service (2) Dawson Work in assigned community services setting for a minimum of two hours per week to explore root causes of disability, cultural differences, preparedness, community resources, and quality of life issues. Weekly seminars assist students in applying observations and experiences to pharmaceutical care. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 512 P-Human Behavior and Communication in Pharmacy (3) Dawson Focuses on how human behavior and communication influence the pharmacist’s activities in designing, delivering, and managing patient-focused care in pharmacy. Emphasizes listening, interviewing, writing, teaching, and critical thinking as applied to pharmacy practice. Prerequisite: PHARM 511.

PHARM 513 P-Medical Devices for Home Health Care (3) Downing, Study of medical devices commonly provided by pharmacists to their patients, including their selection and adaptation for specific patient needs. Lectures include display and demonstration of actual devices.

PHARM 514 Pharmacotherapeutics for Advanced Nursing Practice (1-6, max. 6) Acker, Landis Explores pharmacogenetics, pharmacokinetics, pharmacodynamics, pharmacotherapeutic issues, evidence-based efficacy studies, clinical case applications, and patient related factors such as age, socio-economic status, and behavioral aspects that support the selection of commonly used drugs for patients of all ages across settings. Includes web-based pediatric component and specialty components.

PHARM 515 Pharmacotherapeutics for Acute/Critical Illness (3) Coyne Analysis of issues that impact the assessment, prescription, and evaluation of pharmacotherapeutic regimes for patients who are acutely or critically ill. Current research, clinical contextual considerations, and pharmacotherapeutic principles are emphasized as the basis for decisions relevant to the management of pharmacotherapy in acute care clinical practice.

PHARM 516 Introduction to Biomedical Regulatory Affairs (3) Hazlett Overview of the knowledge, terminology, and skills necessary to be an effective regulatory affairs or compliance specialist in the design, development, testing and production of drugs, biotechnology-derived therapeutics, and medical devices.

PHARM 517 Product Development and Manufacturing Systems (3) Hazlett Surveys government oversight of drugs, devices, and biotechnology derived products; laws and regulations that apply to development, testing, and production.

PHARM 518 Product Testing, Evaluation, and Post-Market Issues (3) Hazlett Medical product post-marketing requirements; reporting and enforcement actions; inspections (internal and by regulators) preparation, conduct and follow-up actions; surveillance and studies, reimbursement, and economics.

PHARM 519 Pharmacotherapeutics for Infectious Disease and Infection (2) Black Analysis of pharmacotherapeutics to control infection and manage infectious disease through seminar discussion of cases, critical analysis of a pharmacotherapeutic regimen, and development of references to enhance students' clinical expertise. Emphasis on principles of anti-infective therapy, problem solving clinical cases with complex medication regimes, and identifying judicious pharmacotherapeutic plans.

PHARM 520 P-Introduction to Pharmacoeconomics and Outcomes Research (2) Ramsey, Veenstra Provides an introduction to economic evaluation. Designed in a journal-club format, outcomes research related to pharmaceuticals and other healthcare technologies. Covers the methods of cost-effectiveness analysis and quality of life evaluation, and their use in real-world decision-making.

PHARM 521 P-Pharmacy Teaching Practicum (1-3, max. 6) Dawson, Hammer Allows students the opportunity to apply learning about education in a mentored experiences. Students serve as assistant instructors in existing pharmacy courses or engage in other approved educational experiences. Prerequisite: PHARM 505. Offered: AWSpS.

PHARM 522 P-The Nature of Scientific Truth (2) Hansten Drawing on the wisdom of scientists and philosophers, discussion of the nature and limitations of scientific truth, viewing examples from the practice of pharmacy whenever possible. Emphasizes reasoning errors that are common in science, particularly those that involve the application of scientific information to clinical practice. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 523 Survey of Biomedical Regulatory Affairs (3) Hazlett Overview of the knowledge, terminology, and skills necessary to be an effective regulatory affairs or compliance specialist in the design, development, testing and production of drugs, biotechnology-derived therapeutics, and medical devices.

PHARM 524 P-Institutional and Healthcare Systems Pharmacy Practice (2) Somani Presentation of topics regarding current contemporary institutions pharmacy practice. Discussion of new systems technology, home care programs, managed care, computer applications, budgeting, formulary systems, drug information services, intravenous admixture programs, quality assurance process, and patient oriented services.

PHARM 525 P-Advanced Compounding Skills (1) Hammer, Needham Prepares the student to create unique, patient-specific pharmaceutical dosage forms used in contemporary pharmacy practice. Includes pre-readings and assignments, a didactic session and a laboratory session, and PHARM 525 P-Introductory Pharmacy Practicum (3) O’Su Sullivan Preparation and dispensing of prescriptions at Rubenstein Memorial Pharmacy in Hall Health Center or other selected community pharmacies. Designed for Pharm.D. students with little or no experience in pharmacy. Under direct supervision of clinical faculty and other licensed pharmacy preceptors. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 527 P-Introductory Community Pharmacy Experience (4) O’Sullivan Under faculty supervision, students gain experience working in the institutional setting. Prerequisite: PHARM 504.

PHARM 528 P-Introductory Institutional Pharmacy Experience (3) O’Sullivan Under faculty supervision students gain experience working in the institutional setting. Prerequisite: PHARM 504.

PHARM 529 P-Experiential Learning (1-6, max. 12) O’Sullivan Under faculty supervision, pharmacy students gain experience working on advanced practice projects, in a pharmacy practice setting, prior to the final year of the pharmacy program. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: satisfactory completion of the first quarter of pharmacy school.

PHARM 530 P-Pharmacy and Women’s Health (2) Anderson, Gardner Participants gain an overview of the specific up-to-date knowledge of gender-based medicine; an understanding of the implications of gender-based biology and the opportunity to evaluate new research that has implications for the prevention and management of diseases and conditions in women. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 531 P-Pharmacy-Based Screening and Immunization Programs (1) Carpinito, Downing Practical training in cholesterol, hypertension, bone density, and wellness assessment techniques, vaccine administration and management, and implementation of community-based public health programs. Following didactic and laboratory sessions students conduct screening and administer vaccines at community locations. Offered following the first professional year. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: MEDCH 401.

PHARM 532 Methods in Pharmaceutical Policy Analysis (4) Hazlet Introduction to the tools used in and the framework and dominant contexts for pharmaceuticals policy development and analysis. Methods reviewed in a series of sessions presenting a specific method and case analyses involving pharmaceutical development. Project and in-class presentation required.

PHARM 533 Pharmacoepidemiology (3) Boudreau, Heckbert Overview of pharmacoepidemiology including drug development and approval; application of epidemiologic methods to study drug safety and effectiveness; exploration of the interplay between research and public policy; introduction to resources for information about drugs; introduction to pharmacology principles pertinent to pharmacoepidemiology. Prerequisite: Graduate student or with permission. Offered: jointly with EPI 533; even years.

PHARM 534 Economic Evaluation in Health and Medicine (3) Garrison, Veenstra Methods and techniques for evaluating costs and cost-effectiveness of health, medical, and pharmaceutical interventions. Emphasis on economic evaluation, decision analysis, and modeling techniques for resource allocation and decision making. Applications to technology assessment, health policy, clinical practice, and resource allocation. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with HSERV 583.

PHARM 535 Assessing Outcomes in Health and Medicine (3) Patrick Concepts and methods for evaluating cost and outcomes of health and medical interventions with a focus on cost-effectiveness analysis, pharmacoeconomics, health and quality of life assessment, resource allocation, and medical decision-making. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with HSERV 584.

PHARM 536 Principles of Publishing Clinical Evidence (2) Johnson, Olson Explains advanced methodologic principles for improving the clarity of published research. Students prepare and revise a 1000-word research letter for The Lancet using their own clinical evidence. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with EPI 534.

PHARM 537 P-Chemical Dependency Concepts (2) Kedzierski Examines the development of therapeutic frame. Includes the genesis of addiction harm reduction strategies, legal and ethical considerations, medication management in the substance-abusing population, impaired pharmacist rehabilitation, detection and dealing with substance abuse issues in pharmacists, practice, community resources. Course offered to Pharm.D. professional students. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 538 P-Chemical Dependency Issues in Practice (3) Kedzierski Emphasis on drug classes, pharmacologic management of abstinence and withdrawal, drug testing, drug use in pregnancy, treatment options and recovery, codependency and legal and ethical considerations. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: PHARM 537.

PHARM 539 P-Principles of Professional Practice Management (2) Gardener, Odegaard Emphasizes the major issues and barriers of providing pharmaceutical care in institutional and community pharmacies. Topics include evaluating workflow and facility design, complying with legal and safety standards, managing drug distribution services, payment for pharmacist services, human resource management and marketing pharmaceutical care services.

PHARM 540 P-Pharmacy Ownership and Entrepreneurship (2) Gardener, Odegaard Discusses barriers to and benefits of independent pharmacy ownership. Describes the role, responsibilities and different management styles of the pharmacy owner. Evaluates differences with regard to purchasing an existing practice vs. starting a new practice. Explains legal considerations of ownership. Discusses how to create the structure and the importance of a business plan.

PHARM 541 Pharmacy, Health Care and Society (3) Sullivan Introduces students to health services and pharmacy practice designed for future health-care practitioners. Examines the history, organization, and effectiveness of the U.S. health-care system. Stresses the student’s ability to adopt a broad perspective across health-care disciplines and traditional boundaries.

PHARM 542 P-Managed Care Pharmacy: Principles and Practice (3) Fullerton, Penna Surveys the activities, tactics, and strategies used by managed care to deliver pharmacy services to their members. Includes: formulary development, clinical improvement programs, quality improvement measures, regulatory activities, contracting with pharmaceutical manufacturers, network management, financial issues, sales and market, and provider relations. Class 2, 3, and 4.

PHARM 543 Pharmacy Laws and Ethics (4) Hazlet Studies the laws and regulations governing the practice of pharmacy, approaches to ethical dilemmas in the delivery of pharmaceutical care, and methods of regulatory and statutory reform.

PHARM 544 Survey of Pharmacy Laws (1) Hazlet Prepare, discuss, and present responses to assigned questions developed by faculty regarding laws governing pharmacy practice in the course of reviewing for the Multistate Pharmacy Jurisprudence Examination. Class meets for two consecutive Saturdays in February and March. E-mail and web-access required. Open to 4th-year Pharm.D. students; non-matriculated students by permission only. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 545 P-Pharmacy Business Plan Development (1) Downing, Gardner Develops a business plan for purchasing an independent pharmacy. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: PHARM 540.

PHARM 547 P-Gerontological Communication Skills Seminar (2) Dawson Addresses special communication needs of the elderly, ranging from individualized patient counseling to patient advocacy through development and provision of pharmacy services. Communication techniques applicable to teaching, developing innovative services, supervising, motivating, conflict resolution, and interdisciplinary interactions are explored in lecture and laboratory. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 548 P-Pharmaceutical Services for Long-Term Care (2) Lam Scope of pharmaceutical services for long-term care (LTC) and systems for services. Responsibilities of the pharmacist for distributive, administrative, and clinical pharmacy services for nursing homes and other long-term-care facilities. Economic considerations in provision of LTC pharmaceutical services, role of the consultant pharmacist for home-health-care organizations. Pharmaceutical services for independently living elderly.

PHARM 549 Pharmacotherapeutics for Older Adults (3) Gray, Odegard Clinical application of drug knowledge in the treatment of disease in older adults with multiple comorbidities. Application of age-related changes in pharmacokinetics and pharmacodynamics in the selection and monitoring of drug regimens of older adults.
Emphasis on problem solving, using case examples. Prerequisite: PHARM 560; PHARM 561 or permission of instructor.

PHARM 550 Current Topics in Geriatric Pharmacotherapy (1) Gray Review primary medical literature to discuss contemporary issues related to geriatric pharmacotherapy. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: PHARM 509 or permission of instructor.

PHARM 551 Infectious Disease Pharmacotherapy Module (1-2, max. 2) Black Advanced concepts in infectious disease pharmacotherapy in a self-study and workshop format. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 552 Cardiovascular Disease Pharmacotherapy Module (1-2, max. 2) James Advanced concepts in cardiovascular disease pharmacotherapy in a self-study and workshop format. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 553 Pulmonary Disease Pharmacotherapy Module (1-2, max. 2) Blanchard Advanced concepts in pulmonary disease pharmacotherapy in a self-study and workshop format. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 554 Gastrointestinal Disease Pharmacotherapy Module (1-2, max. 2) Albertson Advanced concepts in gastrointestinal disease pharmacotherapy in a self-study and workshop format. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 555 Neurological and Psychiatric Disease Pharmacotherapy Module (1-2, max. 2) Weber Advanced concepts in neurological and psychiatric disease pharmacotherapy in a self-study and workshop format. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 556 Renal Disease Pharmacotherapy Module (1-2, max. 2) OfSullivan Advanced concepts in renal disease pharmacotherapy in a self-study and workshop format. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 557 Endocrine Disease Pharmacotherapy Module (1-2, max. 2) Wong Advanced concepts in endocrine disease pharmacotherapy in a self-study and workshop format. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 558 Hematologic and Oncologic Disease Pharmacotherapy Module (1-2, max. 2) Kwok Advanced concepts in hematologic and oncologic disease pharmacotherapy in a self-study and workshop format. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 559 Arthritic Disease Pharmacotherapy Module (1-2, max. 2) Setter Advanced concepts in arthritic disease pharmacotherapy in a self-study and workshop format. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 560 Pharmacotherapeutics I (8) Black, McCune Clinical application of drug knowledge in the treatment of disease. Emphasis on problem-solving, using case examples. Prerequisite: a minimum grade of 7 in all 1st and 2nd year core PHarm D courses, a minimum grade of 2.0 in both PHARM 500 and 504, a minimum grade of 1.7 in PHARM 543; corequisite: PHARM 563.

PHARM 561 Pharmacotherapeutics II (9) Bauer, Horn Clinical application of drug knowledge in the treatment of disease. Emphasis on problem-solving, using case examples. Prerequisite: a minimum grade of 1.7 in PHARM 560; corequisite: PHARM 564.

PHARM 564 Applied Pharmacotherapeutics II (2) Capoccia Develops a foundation of skills that enables a pharmacist to practice collaborative patient-specific care. Prerequisite: PHARM 563; corequisite: PHARM 561.

PHARM 565 Applied Pharmacotherapeutics III (2) Capoccia Develops a foundation of skills that enables a pharmacist to practice collaborative patient-specific care. Prerequisite: PHARM 564; corequisite: PHARM 562.

PHARM 566 P-Applied Pharmacokinetics (2) Bauer Pharmacokinetics of specific drugs. Influence of age, weight, sex, and disease states on patient-specific dosage regimens emphasized. Advanced kinetic concepts are discussed and put into applied context. Prerequisite: PCEUT 532.

PHARM 567 P-Cancer Pharmacotherapeutics (2) Kwok Pharmacotherapy of cancer, covering supportive care (antibiotics, antineumetics, analgesics, nutrition) to the antineoplastic agents themselves. Specialists in each area serve as guest lecturers.

PHARM 568 Healthcare of Cancer Survivors (2) McCune Focuses on teaching the health science students about cancer survivorship issues. Discusses the health concerns of those who have been cured of their initial malignancy but are still at risk of long-term effects of chemotherapy, radiation, and surgery. Prerequisite: PHARM 561.

PHARM 569 P-Fluid and Electrolytes and Parenteral Nutrition (2) Chan Focuses on the principles of fluid electrolyte and nutritional management in patients requiring parenteral nutrition (PN) and infusion therapy. Topics include acid-base balance, macro and micronutrient requirements, nutritional assessment, complications of PN and compounding and compatibility of PN solutions. Discusses consideration in special population (e.g., ICU).

PHARM 570 P-Critical Care Pharmacotherapeutics (2) Mike Overviews pharmacotherapeutics topics for patients in the critical care setting. Discusses principles in hemodynamic monitoring, respiratory management, concepts in pathophysiology related to critical illnesses, and other timely topics reflecting current clinical practice. Prerequisite: 3rd-year PharmD student, or approval by instructor.

PHARM 571 P-Current Topics in Acute Care Pharmacotherapy (1) Chan Increases understanding and stimulates discussion in the current topics related to acute care pharmacotherapy. Reviews the management of patients in the acute care setting through current cases presented by the instructors. May be taken alone or concurrently with PHARM 570.

PHARM 572 P-Clinical Applications of Drug Interactions (2) Horn Discussion of the clinical evaluation and management of drug-drug interactions using patient situations. Focus on patient- and drug-related factors that predispose patients to adverse drug interactions, as well as clinical management of patients found to be at risk. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: 3rd- or 4th-year PharmD. student.

PHARM 573 Laboratory and Functional Assessment: Geriatrics (1) Lam Application of laboratory data and functional assessment in planning care for older adults. Case study/ seminar format in which students recommend appropriate tests, interpret test results, and gain experience in performing tests of function. Recommended: MEDCH 535 or permission of instructor.

PHARM 574 Clinical Introductory Practicum (1) O’Sullivan Students spend three days in a patient care setting, under the guidance of preceptors or advanced students, as an introduction to the practicum experience. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 575 Institutional Clinical Practicum (5, max. 15) O’Sullivan Under faculty supervision, fourth-year students provide pharmaceutical care in an inpatient environment. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 576 Ambulatory Care Clinical Practicum (5, max. 15) O’Sullivan Under faculty supervision, fourth-year students provide pharmaceutical care in an outpatient environment. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 577 Advanced Practicum (5, max. 40) O’Sullivan Under faculty supervision, fourth-year students gain experience in practice settings of their choice. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 578 Advanced Elective Practicum (1-10, max. 20) O’Sullivan Faculty-supervised practicums either in areas of traditional practice or in innovative practice plans designed by faculty and student. Objectives, activities, schedules, and lengths are site- and preceptor-specific. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 579 Senior Care Practicum (1-6, max. 12) Under faculty supervision, fourth-year pharmacy students gain experience working with drug therapy regimens in the elderly. Prerequisite: acceptance to the pharmacy school’s Geriatric Certificate program.

PHARM 580 P-Cases in Pharmaceutical Care (3, max. 9) Dawson Small groups of students work with an instructor to review cases illustrating various aspects of specific diseases: pathophysiology, clinical features, psychosocial factors, therapeutic interventions with emphasis on drug therapies, and community resources. Analytic reasoning, self-study skills, and knowledge are emphasized.

PHARM 581 P-Global Health Pharmacy: Medicines, Practice, and Policy (2) Garrison, Stergachis Introduces the critical role of pharmaceutical in addressing the major diseases, such as HIV/AIDS, malaria, tuberculosis, affecting persons in resource-limited settings. Addresses the wide range of relevant issues, including burden of disease, human resource capacity, regulation, drug safety/pharmacoovigilance, drug distribution, pharmacoeconomics, financing, intellectual property, and drug trade policies. Prerequisite: two credit enrollment requires satisfactory completion of the 1 credit lecture/discussion component.
PHARM 582 P-Special Topics in Global Health Pharmacy and Medical Products (1-3, max. 6) Garrison, Hazlet, Stewart-Gauch Provides in-depth instruction on selected special topics relating to the use, access to, and impact of pharmaceuticals, vaccines, and diagnostics/medical devices in global health. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 583 P-Overview of Contraceptive Management (2) Gardner Didactic overview of contraceptive methods, fertility interventions, and medical abortions. Establishes forum for interactive discussion. Includes patient screening criteria and selection and monitoring outcomes of currently available barrier and hormonal methods of contraception and medical abortions. Open to all Pharm.D. students, as well as other health science professional students.

PHARM 584 P-Pharmacy and Patient Advocacy (1/2, max. 3) Capoccia, Dawson, Downing, Garrison, Hazlet, Murphy, Odorval Prepares Pharm.D. students to become award of and put into action their role as change agents in the advocacy of patients and the pharmacy profession. Prerequisite: two credit option requires satisfactory completion of the 1 credit lecture/discussion component.

PHARM 587 P-Pharmacy Calculations (1) O’ Sullivan Covers basic calculations used in pharmacy practice. Offered: A.

PHARM 588 Diabetes Care (2) Capoccia, Odorval Further develops foundations in the principles of diabetes management and provides practical application in practice of diabetes care principles. Develops knowledge and ability to assess, manage, educate, and monitor patients with diabetes. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 591 Community Collaborations in Healthcare Practicum (2, max. 8) Kedzierski Faculty and students collaborate with representatives from the Salvation Army ARC and other community sites to improve health literacy and health outcomes of men and women residents/patients in addiction recovery. Credit/no credit only. Offered: ASp.

PHARM 595 Special Studies in Pharmacy (1-6, max. 24) Special studies of professional topics in pharmacy. An opportunity to expand the breadth and depth of understanding in specific pharmaceutical areas. Students may undertake independent study under the individual direction of a faculty member.

PHARM 596 Seminars in Pediatric Pharmacotherapy (2) Harvey, Weber Explores therapeutic topics pertinent in the pediatric population. Emphasized ambulatory pediatrics. Prerequisite: third-year Pharm.D. student or permission of instructor.

PHARM 597 Graduate Seminar (1) Blough, Gardner, Garrison, Hazlet, Sullivan, Veenstra Interactive discussion of topical issues, methods, or analytic techniques. Topics vary. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: graduate program student.

PHARM 598 Case Conference: Geriatrics (1) Plein Students taking geriatric pharmacy clerkships in various clinical settings meet with faculty to present case studies of elderly patients requiring complex drug therapies. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: Pharm.D. fourth-year practicum in geriatrics or general medicine.

PHARM 599 Independent Study/Research (1-6, max. 24) Applied pharmaceutical research problems. Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 600 Independent Study or Research (*) Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 700 Master’s Thesis (*) Credit/no credit only.

PHARM 800 Doctoral Dissertation (*) Credit/no credit only.

Regulatory Affairs

PHRMR 524 Introduction to Clinical Trials (3) Jonlin, Hazlet, Hoffman Introduces the major concepts under which clinical trials are designed to run. Focuses on the phases of clinical trials, the role of the Food and Drug Administration, Institutional Review Boards, the Code of Federal Regulations and ethical principles. Addresses study design and statistical concepts. Offered: A.

PHRMR 525 Implementation and Conduct of Clinical Trials (3) Jonlin, Hazlet, Hoffman Outlines the work of carrying out a clinical trial including, the complex work of study initiation, the issues of site and data managements, the preparation of the final report and study close out, as well as the details that control the study conduct. Offered: W.

PHRMR 526 Project Management and the Business of Clinical Trials (3) Jonlin, Hazlet, Hoffman Address the business dimension of clinical trials. Addressed the principles of project management, planning, analysis, contingency and follow-up within the context of clinical trials that involve a large number of tasks and people responsible for parts of the overall study. Offered: Sp.

PHRMR 527 International Regulatory Affairs (3) Hazlet Develops an understanding of international differences in the regulation of design, manufacture and post-marketing surveillance of medical products relative to US Food and Drug Administration Requirements. Prerequisite: PHARM 504. Offered: W.

PHRMR 528 Medical Risk Analysis and Management (3) Hazlet Examines the principles and application of risk management methods in the design, manufacturing and marketing of medical products. Offered: Sp.

PHRMR 545 Statistical Basis of Quality Assurance (3) Hazlet Applies statistical methods to medical products design, clinical evaluation, manufacturing and post-marketing surveillance. Prerequisite: introductory statistics. Offered: A.

PHRMR 546 Technical Writing for the Medical Products Industries (3) Hazlet Presents up-to-date information and strategies for effective technical communication within the medical product industries. Addressed the appropriate and correct use of the English language, information design, and the use of computer technology in producing professional documents. Emphasizes communicating technical information to a variety of stakeholders. Offered: A.

PHRMR 547 Advanced Topics in Medical Products Regulation (2, max. 6) Hazlet Addresses essential topics in medical products regulation. Employs a combination of lecture presentations, case studies, and participants small group discussion to achieve practical outcomes for regulatory professionals. Offered: AWSp.

PHRMR 548 Biomedical Regulatory Affairs Practicum (1-9, max. 9) Hazlet Provides a practical experience to ensure that participants are able to shepherd new medical products (drug, device, biologic) through regulator, clinical and quality assurance aspects. Includes a project and final report. Offered: AWSp.

PHRMR 560 Short Course in Multinational Biomedical Regulatory Affairs (2, max. 30) Hazlet Presents three medical products registration countries or groupings (for instance, European Union, World Health Organization). Locale based on program impact, unique features, or recent or controversial regulatory issues.
Evans School of Public Affairs

Public Affairs

PB AF 499 Topics in Public Policy (3-5, max. 6) I&S Examines selected issues of importance in all areas of public policy. Focus on in-depth analysis of major public policy issues and the integration of economic, political, and administrative perspectives on them. Offered: jointly with POL S 404.

PB AF 500 General Seminar (1, max. 9)

PB AF 501 Legislative Relations (3) Studies role of legislative bodies in American public policy making. Builds on case studies and focuses on tactics, constraints, and options involved in working within a legislative process to achieve public policy goals.

PB AF 502 Political Management of Policy Process (3) Analyzes the issues which public managers address when they seek to make and implement public policy and programs. Pays particular attention to the institutional and political constraints on policy making and the skills needed to address them.

PB AF 503 Administrative and Executive Leadership (3) Nature of executive life in the public sector, the function of leadership in implementing, making, and changing policy. Leadership styles, the relation of leadership to its constituencies and communities.

PB AF 504 Leadership Ethics (3) Addresses the moral challenges facing leaders in the public and nonprofit sectors. Examines the values and virtues important to sustained ethical leadership as well as strategies to build strong institutional cultures and support ethical practices in institutions.

PB AF 505 The Law of Public Administration (3) Legal framework of public administrative action in the United States, emphasizing constitutional requirements; operation of the administrative process; management of personnel, funds, and contracts; and judicial review of administrative activity.

PB AF 506 Ethics and Public Policy (3) Teaches students to identify moral issues in public life. Special focus on the integration of moral concerns into public discussion in a manner which contributes to good policy and does not polarize issues. Discusses moral and political theory by focusing on contemporary cases and issues.

PB AF 507 Mediation and Negotiation as Instruments of Public Management and Policy-Making (3) Possibilities offered by mediation and negotiation methods using a mixture of cases, readings, discussions, lectures, and guest speakers. Use of negotiation and mediation techniques to resolve disputes and disagreements over public-policy issues.

PB AF 508 Management Approaches to Service Delivery (3) Examines how services can be delivered in a way that is responsive to the needs of those being served and maximizes the effective utilization of resources. Topics addressed include: needs assessment, process analysis, service strategy, sustaining the service organization, case management, and services integration.

PB AF 509 Managing People in Public and Nonprofit Agencies (3) Emphasizes the role of the program manager rather than that of the personnel officer. Managing people within a variety of programmatic, bureaucratic, and political settings. Case studies form basis of class discussion, assignments.

PB AF 510 Foundations of Public Service in American Democracy (1) Discusses the role of public service in the United States through examination of historical and institutional foundations of the U.S. political regime. Pays special attention to the structures of government and constitutional values and conflicts at the heart of the political system. Offered: A.

PB AF 511 Managing Politics and the Policy Process (4) Examines broad aspects of organizational life and orients students to key internal and external challenges and opportunities of managing public and nonprofit organizations. Main topics include organizational mission, values, communication, culture, organizational environment and the policy process, legislative-executive relations, interest group advocacy, and media relations. Offered: A.

PB AF 512 Managing Organizational Performance (4) Addresses questions of organizational design, personnel, and operations management to equip students with skills to perform effectively in mission-driven organizations. Core topics include organizational design, inter-organizational networks, human resources and staff management, improving service delivery and production flows, measuring and managing for performance, and ethical leadership. Offered: Sp.

PB AF 513 Public Policy Analysis (4) Production and use of analysis to support public policy decisions. Defining problems, devising alternative solutions, evaluating the stakes in choices, predicting impacts of choices. Skills developed by working on specific policy problems. Assumes familiarity with statistics, microeconomic theory, and institutions and processes of American government. Prerequisite: PB AF 516 or permission of instructor. Offered: A.

PB AF 514 Decision Making for Public Managers (3) Considers decision making from normative, prescriptive, and descriptive perspectives. Emphasizes individual decision making, with some discussion of organizational decision practice. Focuses on decision analysis; presents tools for structuring decisions; and considers the role of analysis as a basis for negotiation.

PB AF 516 Microeconomic Policy Analysis (4) Ways in which microeconomic analysis can contribute to the analysis of public sector issues. Supply and demand, consumer and firm behavior, competitive and monopoly markets, income distribution, market failure, government intervention. Policy applications of theory. Prerequisite: elementary economics. Offered: A.

PB AF 517 Economics of the Public Sector (3) Methods of analyzing effects of public expenditures and taxes on behavior of individuals and firms, on economic efficiency, and on equity and distribution of income. Theory and practice of intergovernmental fiscal relations. Application of theory to formulation of public policy. Prerequisite: PB AF 516.

PB AF 519 Law and Economics (4) Offered: jointly with LAW A 561.

PB AF 520 Intergovernmental Relations (3) Comparative study of the issues involved in implementing government programs across multiple jurisdictions. Issues of accountability, feasibility, politics, and constitutional limits are examined by focusing upon various methods used to implement programs across federal, state, regional, and international jurisdictions.

PB AF 521 Water Center Seminar (1) Steinmann Weekly seminars covering water resources and watershed topics with lectures from scientists on- and off campus. Credit/no credit only. Offered: jointly with CFR 529/FISH 529; AWSp.

PB AF 522 Public Budgeting and Financial Management (4) Budgeting as a management process. Study of formulation and administration of government budgets, including role of budgeting in policy processes, approaches to budget formulation and analysis, development of the PPB approach, and aspects of budget administration, such as revenue estimating, allotment control, cost accounting. Prerequisite: PB AF 516 or permission of instructor. Offered: W.

PB AF 523 Financial Management in the Public Sector (3) Exploration of the managerial uses of accounting and other processes of financial management in the public sector. Topics covered include: financial planning and control, fund accounting, cost accounting, asset accounting, internal controls, auditing, financial analysis, and financial reporting. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

PB AF 526 Program Evaluation (3) Theory, practice, and politics of evaluation, from simple feedback mechanisms to evaluation of large-scale ongoing programs and social experiments. Emphasis on applications of experimental and quasi-experimental evaluation. Case studies illustrate various types of evaluation. Prerequisite: background in quantitative methods.

PB AF 527 Quantitative Analysis I (4) Two-quarter sequence explores how to formulate research questions, gain experience with conducting research, and learn how to assess which statistical tools or research methods are appropriate to answer different types of policy or management questions. Covers probability, descriptive statistics, hypothesis testing, and confidence intervals. Prerequisite: graduate status in School of Public Affairs or permission of instructor. Offered: W.

PB AF 528 Quantitative Analysis II (4) Second quarter of a two-quarter sequence aimed at helping students become informed users and critical consumers of research and statistical analysis. Combines material on research design and data collection methods with tools for multivariate analysis. The multivariate analysis methods include correlation and an introduction to multivariate regression. Prerequisite: PB AF 527. Offered: Sp.
PB AF 529 Advanced Multivariate Analysis (3)
Klawitter Prepares students for advanced work with multivariate methods in program evaluation and policy analysis. Includes a data project what results in a professional quality product; reading examples of professional work and presentations of methods and results Offered: A.

PB AF 530 International Affairs (3) Provides a broad understanding of international issues and United States policy. Students explore U.S. foreign relations and major themes in international affairs. Offered: jointly with POL S/SIS 534.

PB AF 531 Development Management in the 21st Century (3) Addresses organization, administration and evaluation in governmental and non-governmental agencies involved in development efforts. Students examine development strategies, alternative management approaches, and management skills such as budgeting, finance, human resource development and program evaluation. Other topics include communication, expatriate/local power imbalances, decentralization, community involvement, culture, and personnel issues. Offered: jointly with POL S/SIS 534.

PB AF 532 Managing Policy in a Global Context (3) Examines different policy environments leaders must address to achieve policy in comparative and international settings. Includes strategies, tactics, and frameworks needed to initiate and sustain policy dealing with authoritarian, democratic, liberal, and one-party states. Focuses on pressures from the international system and issues such as globalization.

PB AF 533 Economics of International Development (3) Introduction to sustainable international development and its physical, human, social, and natural capital components. Students examine the new growth theories and evidence, and their relationship to democracy, trade, and other policies and institutions. Topics include income distribution, poverty, and the environment.

PB AF 534 Rural Development: Economics and Policy (3) Fletschner Surveys current microeconomic questions related to well-being of rural people in developing countries. Strengthens the ability to design appropriate policy tools for rural development by enhancing understanding of economic theory and its applications to rural households and by reviewing findings. Offered: W.

PB AF 535 Seminar in American Foreign Policy (3) Examines how the U.S. foreign policy process works, emphasizing formation, content and implementation of post-Cold War U.S. foreign and national security policy, with emphasis on current foreign and national security policy.

PB AF 536 Program Evaluation in the Developing World (3) Gugerty Provides an overview of issues in the analysis and evaluation of development projects focusing on the developing world with three themes: understanding and analyzing development programs, understanding and using the logic of impact assessment: identifying practical, field-based tools for monitoring and evaluation in low resource environments. Offered: Sp.

PB AF 537 Topics in International Affairs (3, max. 12) Examines topics of interest and import in foreign policy and international affairs. Focuses on the in-depth analysis of issues and the integration of economic, institutional, and political dimensions.

PB AF 538 International Organizations and Ocean Management (3) Survey of the manner in which international regimes and organizations attempt to manage and regulate the uses of the ocean. Primary emphasis is on the analysis of the effectiveness of regimes and of processes that support or constrain these organizations. Prerequisite: SMA 500 or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with SMA 507.

PB AF 539 Values in International Development (3) Fletschner Examines and clarifies international development values, including underlying theories of justice on which they seem to be built, the ways in which they are justified to stakeholders, the general public, and impacts they have upon people, especially the poorest and most vulnerable. Offered: W.

PB AF 540 Integrated Public Management Sequence (3) Analyzes the institutional and political context of modern public management. Cases, readings, and discussion provide an integrated introduction to the major skills needed to successfully lead and manage government and nonprofit organizations. Offered: A.

PB AF 541 Integrated Public Management Sequence (3) Analyzes the institutional and political context of modern public management. Cases, readings, and discussion provide an integrated introduction to the major skills needed to successfully lead and manage government and nonprofit organizations. Prerequisite: PB AF 540. Offered: W.

PB AF 542 Integrated Public Management Sequence (3) Analyzes the institutional and political context of modern public management. Cases, readings, and discussion provide an integrated introduction to the major skills needed to successfully lead and manage government and nonprofit organizations. Prerequisite: PB AF 541. Offered: Sp.

PB AF 543 Public Leadership Seminar (3) Focus on the societal context of managers life. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Public Affairs Evening Degree Program. Offered: A.

PB AF 544 Public Leadership Seminar (1-3, max. 3) Integrated use of analytic and management concepts in the making of policy. Prerequisite: PB AF 543. Offered: W.

PB AF 545 Public Leadership Seminars (3) Provides a forum to reflect on the major dimensions of modern managerial leadership at the end of the program. Includes a team project working with outside clients or organizations. Prerequisite: PB AF 544.

PB AF 550 Management of Not-for-Profit Organizations (3) Focuses upon the roles played by not-for-profit organizations in meeting the public good. Examines internal management issues such as structure, budget, and operations; and external issues such as board functions, legal status, marketing, media relations, and fund-raising.

PB AF 551 Public Management: Program Planning and Design (3) Policy context of planning and programming, the institutionalization of purpose, the planning process, activity design, work scheduling and measurement, and program evaluation.

PB AF 552 Public Arts Policy and Management (3) Role of government in arts. Range of public support at federal, state, and local levels; reasons for its development and viability. Nature, evolution, functions of public arts agencies in implementing arts policy; relation of such agencies to their constituencies. Seattle, King County, and Washington State serve as case studies.

PB AF 553 Nonprofit Organizations and Public Policy (3) Examines the changing role of nonprofit organizations in American society. Selected policy topics include privatization, for-profit/nonprofit competition, public-private partnerships, tax policy, and new sources of revenues.

PB AF 555 Topics in Nonprofit Management (3, max. 12) Examines various topics of public importance in nonprofit management. Integrates the political, managerial, and economic dimensions of these issues.

PB AF 560 Urban Affairs (3) Explores national/local urban policy concerning the major problems confronting cities and metropolitan regions today. Economic globalization, income inequality, and metropolitan decentralization shape the urban agenda, the context for urban policy, and the analytic focus of the course. A project allows the exploration of strategies for intervention. Offered: jointly with URBDP 560.

PB AF 561 Urban Economics and Public Policy (3) Examines the rationale for and consequences of public intervention in urban land, housing, and transportation markets through land use regulations such as zoning and urban growth boundaries, infrastructure investments, and fiscal policies to manage urban development and traffic. Prerequisite: PB AF 516 or equivalent. Offered: jointly with URBDP 561.

PB AF 562 Introduction to Neighborhood Planning and Community Development (3) Provides introduction to basic practices in neighborhood planning and community development, including theoretical/historical bases; developing neighborhood plans/projects; indicators and evaluation of neighborhood quality; community participation; institutional framework, ethical dilemmas, and professional roles. Addresses current issues, including Seattle’s experience, NIMBYism, security, neighborhood character, housing segregation, environmental racism. Offered: jointly with URBDP 562.

PB AF 563 Seminar in Urban Planning and Policy (1) Seminar for students in the MPA/MUP concurrent degree program. Explores topics that intersect urban planning and policy, through exchange with faculty and professionals working in this arena. Focuses on developing thesis topics that explore this intersection. Offered: jointly with URBDP 563.

PB AF 565 Topics in Urban Affairs (3, max. 12) Examines various topics of public importance in urban policy. Integrates the political, managerial, and economic dimensions of these issues.

PB AF 569 Race and Public Policy (3) Analyzes the way in which the persistent problem of race is expressed in the formation and implementation of social and public policy.

PB AF 570 Social Policy Analysis and Management (3) Examines major institutions and programs in the human resources policy area: education, regulation of labor market, health care, income maintenance, social services. Discusses alternative policy instruments, analytic perspectives, intergovernmental issues, and management issues arising across policy areas. Explores challenges of linking services and clients across separate agencies.

PB AF 571 Education, The Workforce, and Public Policy (3, max. 6) Examination of policy issues involving education, training, the economy, and the development of the nation’s human capital. Relationship between education, training, and work, underutilized workers, race and gender discrimination issues, and the role of education and training in economic development. Offered: jointly with EDLPS 563.

PB AF 573 Topics in Education and Social Policy (3, max. 12) Examines various issues of public importance in the areas of education and social policy. Focuses on in-depth analysis of relevant issues and the integration of the economic, administrative, and political dimensions of these issues.

PB AF 575 Public Policy Processes (5) Political science frameworks, approaches, and theories concerning development and implementation of public policies within American political systems. Governmental behaviors and processes, including rational, political, and bureaucratic models of governmental decision making; agenda-building processes; and normative perspectives concerning role of governmental entities.

PB AF 581 Information Technology and the Policy-Making Process (3) Demystifies information base for policy making in democracies. Examines theoretical and practical issues associated with information processing in the public sector. Considers role of new technologies in collecting, analyzing, and disseminating information with special attention to the relationship between these technologies and effective government service, public participation, and organizational accountability.

PB AF 582 News Media and Public Policy (3) Explores impacts of news coverage on public policy. Exposure to journalists’ approaches to coverage of public affairs, as well as to strategies used by leaders of public/non-profit agencies to attract favorable coverage and minimize damaging coverage. Students learn techniques for assessing impacts of news coverage.

PB AF 585 Topics in Science, Technology, and Public Policy (3) Examines relationship between advancement of technical knowledge and pace of technological change, and public policies to induce or respond to these trends. Generic issues of government research, development, and personnel training programs are addressed. Applications of policy issues involving biomedical, communications, energy, environmental, transportation, and weapons technologies.

PB AF 586 International Science and Technology Policy (3) Seminar is designed: first, to analyze the relationships between research and development policy, capabilities, and national technological strategies for advanced industrial and less-developed countries; second, to deal with the international implications of particular technologies as countries try to make policy for them in regional and global organizations. Examples of specific technologies are chosen from such fields as space telecommunication, weather and climate modification, airline transportation, nuclear energy, and seabed exploitation.

PB AF 590 Environmental Policy Processes (3) Presents background to establish the need for environmental policy. Explores in a comparative manner, examining both successes and failures, various strategies that have been used or proposed to protect the environment. Offered: jointly with CFR 592.

PB AF 591 Seminar in Resource Policy and Management (1) Introduction and orientation for concurrent degree program between the Evans School of Public Affairs and the College of Forest Resources. Examines research and literature on contemporary issues related to the integration of natural resource science, policy, and management through discussion among faculty, students, and invited speakers. Offered: jointly with CFR 591.

PB AF 592 Resource Policy and Administra- tion (5) Study based on understanding of the actors, arenas, issues, and policy communities that form the context for policy development and implementation. Exploration of approaches to policy inquiry. Consideration of implications for both policy and management. Students develop a study design for course project. Offered: jointly with CFR 571.

PB AF 593 United States Energy Policy (3) Energy policy formulation and implementation with emphasis on post-1973 developments. Energy conservation programs; changing roles of oil, coal, gas, nuclear, and solar energy; institutional, environmental and equity considerations; government research and development programs.

PB AF 594 Economic Approaches to Environmental Management (3) Layton Examines the economic tools relevant to natural resource and environmental management. Tools are developed in the context of a series of resource problems, with an eye towards building intuition useful for addressing complex policy problems that do not fit neatly into textbook examples. Offered: W.

PB AF 595 Topics in Environmental Policy and Management (1-3, max. 12) Examines various topics of public importance in environmental policy and management. Integrates the political, managerial, and economic dimensions of these issues.

PB AF 596 Ethics and Values in Environment- al and Natural Resource Policy (3) Zerbe Explores environmental values and ethics and their relationship to the policy process. Includes content on value foundations of economic efficiency and its relationship to fairness, legal entitlements, duty to other creatures, and incommensurabilities in valuing goods. Current policy controversies are addressed.

PB AF 597 Role of Scientific Information in Environmental Decisions (3) Cullen, Snover Examines how science contributes to decisions that involve the natural environment; how science and scientists help frame debates and decisions; how scientific findings are incorporated into decision-making processes; how scientists and non-scientists deal with uncertainty about scientific questions. Offered: Sp.

PB AF 598 Administrative and Policy Skills Workshop (1-3, max. 3) Teaches practical administrative and leadership skills that are commonly required of managers and analysts in the public and non-profit sectors. The workshops emphasize hands-on problem resolution, simulations, and actual practice.

PB AF 599 Special Topics (1-6, max. 6) Study and analysis of special topics in public affairs. Topics vary each quarter depending on curricular needs and interests of students and faculty. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

PB AF 600 Independent Study or Research (')

PB AF 605 Degree Project ([1-6], max. 6)

PB AF 606 Public Service Clinic (3-6) Carlton, Madison, Page Serves to meet the degree project requirement as part of the Evans School curriculum. Students work in a supportive environment facilitated by peer and faculty to connect the research, organizational change, and capacity-building needs of community organizations and public agencies.

PB AF 607 Public Service Clinic (3-6) Carlton, Madison, Page Serves to meet the degree project requirement as part of the Evans School curriculum. Students work in a supportive environment facilitated by peer and faculty to connect the research, organizational change, and capacity-building needs of community organizations and public agencies.

Public Policy Management

PPM 500 Proseminar in Public Policy and Management (1) Waddell Engages students with faculty to discuss research in public policy and management. Provides an effective mechanism to become familiar with research agendas and opportunities in this field, and other aspects of socialization into the academic process, including teaching, grant writing, and publishing. Credit/no credit only; valued at Sp.

PPM 502 Research Design (3) Khagram, Thomas Provides a rigorous foundation for interdisciplinary research design. Introduces iconic types of theory (predictive, interpretive, and explanatory) and the philosophical
School of Public Health and Community Medicine

Biostatistics

BIOST 111 Lectures in Applied Statistics (1) NW Weekly lectures illustrating the importance of statistics in a variety of fields, including medical research. Credit/no credit only. Offered: jointly with STAT 111; Sp.

BIOST 290 Introduction to Biomedical Research: Study Design and Interpretation (3) NW Biostatistical concepts necessary for the interpretation, evaluation, and communication of biomedical research are introduced. Course topics include biomedical study design, randomization, graphical data displays, control of bias, variability, confounding, interaction, and ethics of human experimentation. Students participate in group and individual projects, group discussions, and oral presentations.

BIOST 499 Undergraduate Research (*) Supervised reading programs; library and field research; special projects. Credit/no credit only.

BIOST 502 Introduction to Statistics in Health Sciences (4) Description and examples of common concepts in biostatistics. Probability, point and confidence interval estimation, hypothesis testing including two-sample and paired t and chi-square tests, introduction to simple linear regression. Examples in health sciences stressed. Offered: S.

BIOST 503 Application of Statistics to Health Sciences (4) Standard statistical techniques presented with examples drawn from the health sciences literature. Critical interpretation of research results, and introduction to the computer for data processing and statistical analysis. Prerequisite: BIOST 502 or equivalent. Offered: S.

BIOST 509 Special Emphasizes in Biostatistics (3-5, max. 5) Introduction to concepts and methods of descriptive and inferential statistics, with applications in specific disciplines emphasized. Topics include comparison of means and proportions, hypothesis testing, confidence intervals, nonparametric methods, linear regression and correlation. Different sections target specific student populations.

BIOST 510 Biostatistics in Dentistry (3) Introduction to concepts and methods of descriptive and inferential statistics with applications in dentistry emphasized. Topics include comparison of means and proportions, hypothesis testing, confidence intervals, nonparametric methods, linear regression and correlation. Offered: S.

BIOST 511 Medical Biometry I (4) Presentation of the principles and methods of data description and elementary parametric and nonparametric statistical analysis. Examples are drawn from the biomedical literature, and real data sets are analyzed by the students after a brief introduction to the use of standard statistical computer packages. Statistical techniques covered include description of samples, comparison of two sample means and proportions, simple linear regression and correlation. Offered: AS.

BIOST 512 Medical Biometry II (4) Multiple regression, analysis of covariance, and an introduction to one-way and two-way analyses of variance. Inclusion of assumptions, transformations, outlier detection, dummy variables, and variable selection procedures. Examples drawn from the biomedical literature with computer assignments using standard statistical computer packages. Prerequisite: BIOST 511 or BIOST 517, or equivalent. Offered: W.

BIOST 513 Medical Biometry III (4) Analysis of categorical data including two sample methods, sets of 2 x 2 tables, R x C tables, and logistic regression. Classification and discrimination techniques. Survival analysis including product limit estimates and the Cox proportional hazards model. Prerequisite: BIOST 512 or permission of instructor. Offered: Sp.

BIOST 514 Biostatistics I (4) Mathematically sophisticated presentation of principles and methods of data description; graphics; point, confidence interval estimation; hypothesis testing; relative risk; odds ratio; Mantel-Haenszel; chi-square test (matrix algebra required). Examples drawn from biomedical literature; real-data sets analyzed using statistical computer packages. Prerequisite: biostatistics majors or permission of instructor. Offered: A.

BIOST 515 Biostatistics II (4) Mathematically sophisticated introduction to linear models; multiple regression, correlation; residual analysis; dummy variables; analysis of covariance; one-, two-way analysis of variance; randomized blocks; fixed, random effects (repeated measure, factorial designs); multiple comparisons (matrix algebra required). Real biomedical data sets analyzed. Prerequisite: BIOST 514, biostatistics major, or permission of instructor. Offered: W.

BIOST 516 Statistical Methods in Genetic Epidemiology (3) Theory and application of statistical techniques used in genetic epidemiology. Includes discussion of association studies, linkages and segregation analyses. Examples stressed with reference to assumptions and limitations. Prerequisite: either BIOST 513 or BIOST 518; PHG 511/EPI 517, or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with EPI 516/PHG 519.

BIOST 517 Applied Biostatistics I (4) Introduction to the analysis of biomedical data. Descriptive and inferential statistical analysis for discrete, continuous, and right censored random variables. Analytic methods based on elementary parametric and non-parametric models for one sample; two sample (independent and paired), stratified sample, and simple regression problems. Offered: A.

BIOST 518 Applied Biostatistics II (4) Multiple regression for continuous, discrete, and right censored response variables, including dummy variables, transformations, and interactions. Introduction to regression with correlated outcome data. Model and case diagnostics. Computer assignments using real data and standard statistical computer packages. Prerequisite: BIOST 517 or permission of instructor. Offered: W.

BIOST 519 Topics in Epidemiologic Methods (3) Davis Introduces advanced methodologic methods, including recursive partitioning, developing clinical prediction rules, analyses of community-level associations or interventions, case-crossover and case-only designs, propensity scores, two-stage sampling, and missing data imputation. Prerequisite: either BIOST 513 or EPI 512; EPI 513. Offered: jointly with EPI 515. A.

BIOST 521 Biostatistics for Experimentalists (4) Statistical aspects of design and data analytic models appropriate to classes of experiments most commonly employed in biomedical sciences. One-, two-way analyses of variance; factorial, crossed, nested, repeated measures reports for scientific journals, research collaborators, consulting clients. Graduate standing in biostatistics or biostatistics or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with STAT 579; AWSp.

BIOST 580 Doctoral Dissertation (*) Offered: AWSpS.

Environmental Health

ENV H 111 Exploring Environment and Health Connections (3) I&S Camp, Keifer
Introduction to environmental health concepts. Examines current events to illustrate and better appreciate the relationship between environment and health and to explore whether an environmental condition is or is not an important threat to health. Emphasizes the roles of environmental scientists and related professionals. Offered: A.

ENV H 205 Environmental Health in Film (2) I&S Fenske, Luchtel
Viewing and discussion of popular films that explore issues in environmental health. After viewing films, a discussion follows focusing on the ethical, legal, social, and scientific issues raised by the films. Intended for UW freshmen and sophomores from all backgrounds who may have an interest in majoring in Environmental Health. Offered: W.

ENV H 311 Introduction to Environmental Health (3) NW Teser Relationship of people to their environment, how it affects their physical well-being and what they can do to influence the quality of the environment and to enhance the protection of their health. Emphasis on environmental factors involved in transmission of communicable diseases and hazards due to exposure to chemical and physical materials in our environment. Offered: ASp.

ENV H 405 Toxic Chemicals and Human Health (3) Gallagher, Kavanagh
Basic principles governing the behavior and effects of toxic chemicals released into the environment; sources, distribution, and fate of toxic chemicals in the environment; chemicals and cancer; chemicals and birth defects; government regulation of chemical hazards. Focus on human health impacts of chemicals found in the workplace and general environment. Prerequisite: 2.0 in BIOL 220; either 2.0 in CHEM 224, 2.0 in CHEM 239, or 2.0 in CHEM 337. Offered: Sp.

ENV H 417 Non-ionizing Radiation and Electrical Safety (2) Yost
Introduction to health hazards from UV, optical laser hazards, infrared radiation, radio-frequency radiation, heat stress, electrical shock, electric and magnetic fields. Application of current standards for these physical hazards. Emphasis on occupational hazards with additional discussion of environmental exposures where appropriate. Offered: odd years; W.

ENV H 431 Environmental and Occupational Sampling and Analysis I (3) NW Fenske, Yost Laboratory and lecture on sampling. Field and laboratory analysis of chemical and physical agents found in the occupational and ambient environments. Prerequisite: CHEM 162; PHYS 116/119; ENV H 311. Offered: A.

ENV H 432 Environmental and Occupational Sampling and Analysis II (4) NW Simpson Laboratory and lecture on sampling. Field and laboratory analysis of chemical and physical agents found in the occupational and ambient environments. Prerequisite: ENV H 431. Offered: W.

ENV H 433 Environmental and Occupational Sampling and Analysis III (4) NW Geoghegan, Meschke. Shin Laboratory and lecture related to the evaluation of water quality. The identification and analysis of microorganisms in water, food, and air. Prerequisite: ENV H 431; MICROM 301. Offered: Sp.

ENV H 440 Water, Wastewater and Health (3) Meschke, Shin
Review of water supply, water quality, and water/wastewater treatment as they relate to human health. Includes water law and regulations, source water protection, basic treatment technologies for water and waste, chemical and microbial contaminants, and recreational water. Prerequisite: ENV H 311. Offered: A.

ENV H 441 Food Protection (3) Easterberg
Study of identification and characteristics of chemicals and biological agents implicated in foodborne disease outbreaks and conditions or circumstances by which food contamination occurs. Examination of food protection activities conducted by local and state government at the retail level. Prerequisite: either 2.0 in CHEM 155, or 2.0 in both CHEM 160 and CHEM 161, or 2.0 in CHEM 162; 2.0 in MICROM 302. Offered: W.

ENV H 442 Vector Control (3) Teser
Study of the impact and control of rodents and arthropod vectors of disease, including consideration of economic poisons used, their regulation, and safety measures. Prerequisite: 2.0 in BIOL 203. Offered: Sp.

ENV H 445 Solid Waste Management (3) Busch
Examination of the public health, environmental, economic, and materials conservation aspects of solid wastes management; amounts and sources of solid wastes, waste reduction and recycling, methods of storage, transportation and disposal, integrated waste management, identification of present problems and future needs. Prerequisite: 2.0 in CHEM 155, 2.0 in CHEM 160, or 2.0 in CHEM 162; either 2.0 in MATH 124, 2.0 in MATH 127, 2.0 in MATH 134, or 2.0 in MATH 144; recommended: PHYS 115. Offered: Sp.

ENV H 446 Hazardous Waste Management (3) Kiesel
Characterization of hazardous wastes and introduction to pertinent federal and state regulations. Discussion of exposure pathways and description of management options at pre-processing, pre-release, and post-release stages. Emphasis on public health significance. Supplemented with case studies. Prerequisite: either 2.0 in CHEM 155, 2.0 in CHEM 160, 2.0 in CHEM 162; either 2.0 in MATH 124, 2.0 in MATH 127, 2.0 in MATH 234, or 2.0 in MATH 144; recommended: MATH 125, CHEM 224, PHYS 115. Offered: W.

ENV H 449 Health Effects of Air Pollution (2) Koeng
Structure and function of the respiratory system and the changes that may be produced by specific air pollutants, such as ozone, SO2 and fine particles. Air quality criteria and the economic costs of disease are discussed. Several classroom demonstrations. Offered: even years; W.

ENV H 451 Ecology of Environmentally Transmitted Microbiological Hazards (3) Butterfield, Meschke, Shin
Focuses on the transmission of infectious microorganisms by air, food, water, and other environmental media. Provides an introduction to environmentally transmitted pathogens, and discusses factors affecting their environmental fate, transport, and persistence. Offered: A.
ENV H 452 Detection and Control of Environmentally Transmitted Microbiological Hazards (3) Menaghke, Stein Focuses on the detection and control of infections microorganisms in air, food, water, and other environmental media. Provides a discussion on sample collection, processing and detection for infectious microorganisms. Provide coverage of engineered controls and disinfection/contamination processes for infectious microorganisms. Recommended: ENV H 451. Offered: W.

ENV H 453 Industrial Hygiene (3) Morgan Introduction to the principles and scientific foundation of industrial hygiene. Examines the anticipation, recognition, evaluation, and control of work place hazards to health and safety. Focuses on the first three functions, but includes some consideration of control methods. Prerequisite: either BIOL 200 or BIOL 202; CHEM 224; either PHY S 116 or PHY S 123. Offered: A.

ENV H 457 Industrial and Environmental Noise (3) Netzel, Seixas Survey of industrial and community noise problems, including sources, effects, measurement, control, and legislation. Prerequisite: 2.0 in PHY S 115. Offered: even years: Sp.

ENV H 460 Organization and Administering Industrial Safety and Health Programs (3) Gleason Explores industrial organization and methods of integrating safety and industrial hygiene programs with industrial operations. Investigates issues related to industrial safety and health such as responsibility for safety, dependency on safe practice, and hierarchy of prevention. Offered: A.

ENV H 461 Air Pollution Control (4) Pilat Fundamental concepts of air pollution. Emission sources, atmospheric dispersion, ambient concentrations, adverse effects, governmental regulations, emission standards, air-quality standards, processes and equipment for controlling emissions. Offered: jointly with CEE 490; A,Sp.

ENV H 471 Environmental Health Regulation (3) Tresser Introduction to administrative regulation and process. Authority, jurisdiction, and structure of environmental control programs and agencies; the regulatory process; agency acquisition and retention of information; administrative actions; enforcement of environmental health laws; major statutes and cases affecting programs. Prerequisite: ENV H 482. Offered: W.

ENV H 472 Environmental Risk and Society (3) Fenske Examines scientific determinations of environmental risks and explores how such determinations are evaluated by affected communities and society. Employs risk analysis to integrate technical knowledge in hazard identification and exposure assessment to provide a more rational basis for environmental policies. Role of public participation in risk-based decision making discussed. Offered: A.

ENV H 473 Community Responses to Environmental Health Hazards (5) I&S/NW Otski, Tresser Explores the way various government programs are established, organized and operated to control environmental health risks in the United States. Discusses aspects of the law that impact regulation of environmental health hazards. Offered: W.

ENV H 480 Environmental Health Problems (4, max. 6) Treiser Individual projects involving library, laboratory, or field study of a specific environmental health problem. Offered: AWSpS.

ENV H 482 Environmental Health Internship (2-15, max. 15) Treiser Assignment to an environmental health or environmental protection agency for supervised observation and experience in environmental health technology, program planning and utilization of community resources. Prerequisite: 2.5 in ENV H 311. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

ENV H 490 Community Air Pollution (3) NW Kailman, Vedal Fundamental concepts of ambient and indoor air pollution, focusing on air quality issues affecting public health. Discusses sources of air pollution, building dynamics, microenvironments and activity patterns, biological air contaminants, community air pollution issues, management strategies, and monitoring and modeling skills. Offered: Sp.

ENV H 497 Environmental Health Special Electives (1) Offered: AWSpS.

ENV H 499 Undergraduate Research (*) Individual research on a specific topic in environmental health upon which specific conclusions, judgments, and evaluation can be made or upon which facts can be presented. Offered: AWSpS.

ENV H 511 Environmental and Occupational Health (1-3, max. 3) Daniele Effects of exposure to chemical, physical, and biological agents, embracing the community and workplace environments. Current issues, using specific cases from recent literature as basis for classroom discussion and written assignments. Offered: W.

ENV H 512 Waste Management, Recycling, and Pollution Control (3) De Walle Survey of selected technological components of environmental health infrastructure via lecture and weekly field trips to full facilities. Sites visited vary year to year, but may include paper and steel processing, cement kiln using waste as supplemental fuel, municipal wastewater treatment facility, and steam generation plant.

ENV H 513 Basic Concepts in Pharmacogenetics and Toxicogenomics (3) Eaton, Thummel Addresses current DNA sequencing and genotyping approaches, and basic concepts of pharmacogenetics and toxicogenomics. Emphasis placed on applications of genomic technologies to the understanding of “gene-environment interactions” that cause diseases of public health importance, including cancer, chronic neurological diseases, and adverse drug reactions. Prerequisite: GENET 372 or equivalent. Offered: jointly with PHG/IPCUT 513.

ENV H 514 Environmental and Occupational Toxicology I (3) Xia Major topical areas in human and environmental toxicology, including the biochemical, cellular, and physiological mechanisms by which chemicals produce toxic responses; the toxicology of the major classes of chemicals; principles of toxicity testing; interpretation of toxicological data. Prerequisite: BIOL 212, BIOL 440, or permission of instructor. Offered: A.

ENV H 515 Environmental and Occupational Toxicology II (3) Kavanagh Major topical areas in human and environmental toxicology, including the biochemical, cellular, and physiological mechanisms by which chemicals produce toxic responses; the toxicology of the major classes of chemicals; principles of toxicity testing; interpretation of toxicological data. Prerequisite: BIOL 212, BIOL 440, or permission of instructor. Offered: W.

ENV H 516 Environmental and Occupational Toxicology III (3) Costa Major topical areas in human and environmental toxicology, including the biochemical, cellular, and physiological mechanisms by which chemicals produce toxic responses; the toxicology of the major classes of chemicals; principles of toxicity testing; interpretation of toxicological data. Prerequisite: BIOL 212, BIOL 440, or permission of instructor. Offered: S.

ENV H 517 Children’s Environmental Health (3) Burbacher Discussion of environmental health issues as they pertain to children’s health. Includes historical perspective of public health research and policies directed at protecting children’s health and environment, and public health issues such as childhood exposure to mercury and pesticides, childhood asthma, cancer, and environmental justice. Offered: Sp.

ENV H 531 Neurotoxicology (3) Costa Advanced discussions of the principles and methodological approaches to neurotoxicology (including behavioral toxicology), classes of neurotoxic agents, types and mechanisms of neurotoxic effects, as well as the role of neurotoxicology in public health. Prerequisite: ENV H 514, ENV H 515, ENV H 516 or ENV H 405 or permission of instructor. Offered: even years; W.

ENV H 532 Reproductive and Developmental Toxicology (2) Faustman Investigates chemicals that can induce adverse reproductive and developmental outcomes. Discussion topics include identification and characterization of specific classes of toxic agents, mechanisms of action of these agents at the molecular and cellular level, and risk assessment and regulatory issues. Prerequisite: ENV H 514 and ENV H 515 or ENV H 405 or permission of instructor. Offered: even years; S.

ENV H 533 Molecular Toxicology (2) Gallagher Advanced discussion of molecular mechanisms whereby chemical, physical, and biological agents produce their harmful effects on biological systems. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with PHCO 533; odd years; W.

ENV H 535 Inhalation Toxicology (3) Koenig, Luchtel Advanced course on the toxicity of air pollutants and the response of the respiratory system to inhaled gaseous and particulate toxicants. Issues and concepts covered include biology of the respiratory system, exposure technology, experimental design and methodological issues, health effects of air pollutants, and regulatory aspects. Prerequisite: ENV H 514-516, or ENV H 405 or permission of instructor. Offered: even years; A.

ENV H 537 Introduction to Manufacturing Systems (3) Storch Description of manufacturing systems. Includes discussion of current trends in manufacturing, especially lean principles. Introduces process flow analysis, manufacturing organizations including job-shop, assembly lines, and group technology, manufacturing inventory philosophies. time, MRP, OPT), work environment, and work simplification. Offered: jointly with IND E 537; A.

ENV H 541 Ecology of Environmentally Transmitted Microbial Hazards (3) Mescrache, Shin Focuses on the transmission of infectious microorganisms by air, food, water, and other environmental media. Provides an introduction to environmentally transmitted pathogens, and discusses factors affecting their environmental fate, transport, and persistency. Offered: A.

ENV H 542 Detection and Control of Environmentally Transmitted Microbial Hazards (3) Mescrache, Shin Focuses on the detection and control of infectious microorganisms in air, food, water, and other environmental media. Provides a discussion on sample collection, processing, and diction for infectious microorganisms. Provides coverage of engineered controls and disinfection/destamination processes for infectious organisms. Offered: W.

ENV H 545 Water, Wastewater and Health (4) Mescrache, Shin Review of water supply water quality, and water/wastewater treatment as they related to human health. Includes water law and regulations, source water protection, basic treatment technologies for water and waste, chemical and microbial contaminants, and recreational water. Offered: A.

ENV H 546 Pesticides and Public Health (3) Fenske, Keifer Examines health risks and benefits associated with pesticide use in the United States and internationally; reviews exposure, toxicity, epidemiology, and regulation of pesticides, focusing on populations such as workers and children; discusses benefits derived from vector control, food production, and food preservation. Offered: odd years; W.

ENV H 550 Microscopy: Image Acquisition and Analysis (2) Luchtel Sample preparation methods, principles and practical aspects of light microscopy (bright-field, phase, differential interference, polarizing, and confocal), electron microscopy (transmission, scanning, electron diffraction, and energy dispersive x-ray analysis), photographic and digital imaging, computerized image analysis techniques. Student research project required. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

ENV H 551 Principles of Human Exposure Science (3) Examination of the scientific principles and methods used to characterize human exposures to environmental disease agents, discuss sources and pathways of exposure, use of standard factors, analytical approaches for exposure data, exposure biomarkers, and the energetics of physical agents and infectious agents. Prerequisite: CHEM 162; MATH 124. Offered: A.

ENV H 552 Environmental Chemistry of Pollution (4) Kalman, Liu Chemical and physical processes that determine distribution and fate of chemical hazards, detection of low levels of hazardous compounds, and environmental evaluation and prediction. Fundamental chemical concepts and measurable properties of individual compounds to interpret and relate measurement. Prerequisite: admission to graduate program or permission of instructor. Offered: W.

ENV H 553 Environmental Exposure Monitoring Methods (4) Fenske, Morgan, Simpson Provides an in-depth understanding of current monitoring techniques for occupational, residential, and community exposures to hazardous chemical agents. Examines the technical basis for sampling strategies and sampling and analytical methods for chemicals in air, water, food, soil and food, and for biological markers of exposure and effect in humans and other biota. Prerequisite: ENV H 453 or permission of instructor. Offered: W.

ENV H 555 Instrumental Methods for Industrial Hygiene Measurement: Laboratory (3) Morgan, Simpson, Yost Utilizes typical instrumental techniques and analytical methods for the evaluation of potential occupational exposures. Prerequisite: ENV H 453 and ENV H 553 or permission of instructor. Offered: Sp.

ENV H 556 Quantitative Occupational Exposure Analysis (3) Seixas Exploration of industrial hygiene data to understand nature of airborne exposures in the occupational environment, and their interpretation for human health. Focus on reading and discussion of primary exposure assessment literature and statistical analysis of real dataset. Prerequisite: one quarter of statistics or biostatistics and basic industrial hygiene. Offered: odd years; W.

ENV H 557 Exposure Controls (3/4) Yost Presents engineering concepts for selecting exposure controls for chemical, physical, and biological agents. Topics include regulatory mandates, hazard rating strategies, protective clothing, respiratory protection, chemical safety management, building ventilation, local exhaust ventilation, chemical and biohazards controls, airflow measurements, and ventilation troubleshooting. Offered: even years, W.

ENV H 559 Applied Occupational Health and Safety (3) Camp, Johnson Application of occupational safety and health principles. Student teams perform evaluations, assess production methods/processes and exposures, health and safety procedures and programs, and develop engineering and administrative controls. Students perform on a consulting project with a local company including budgeting, project reporting, and presentation. Offered jointly with IND E 567 and NSG 505. Offered: Sp.

ENV H 560 Organizing and Administering Industrial Safety and Health Programs (4) Gleason Explores industrial organization and methods of integrating safety and industrial hygiene programs with industrial operations. Investigates philosophic issues related to industrial safety and health such as responsibility for safety, dependency on safe practice, and hierarchy of prevention. Contains numerous case problems and student involvement opportunities. Offered: jointly with NSG 506; A.

ENV H 562 Critical Technical Aspects of Safety and Health (3) Gleason Explores specific hazards associated with major industries, as well as hazards common to all industries. Covers machine guarding, electrical safety, systems safety analysis, materials handling, and working at heights. Offered: jointly with NSG 507; W.

ENV H 564 Recognition of Health and Safety Problems in Industry (4) Camp, Seixas Develops skills in occupational health and safety hazard recognition in a variety of important northwest industries. Focuses on process understanding and hazard recognition skills during walk-through inspections of several local facilities, stressing a multidisciplinary approach. Offered: jointly with IND E 564.

ENV H 565 Occupational Stress and Management (3) Beaton Relationships between occupational stressors and worker's health, well-being, productivity. Analyzes models of occupational stress. Investigates similarities, differences between job-related stressors and stress responses in various occupations. Explores elements of worksite stress management programs. Prerequisite: graduate standing in nursing or allied health discipline. Offered: jointly with NURS 566; even years; A.

ENV H 566 Introduction to Ergonomics (3) Johnson, Stewart Basic principles of ergonomics in work environment applied to problems of worker and management. Topics include measurement of physical work capacity, problems of fatigue and heat stress, applied biomechanics, worker-machine interactions and communication, design of displays and controls. Prerequisite: basic human physiology or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with IND E 565/NSG 508; W.

ENV H 567 Mechanisms of Carcinogenesis (2) Xia Lectures/presentations of biochemical and molecular basis of carcinogenesis induced by environmental agents, including approaches to identification of carcinogens. Role of cell proliferation and cell death (apoptosis) in cancer formation and cancer treatment. Molecular mechanisms that regulate proliferation and apoptosis. Prerequisite: ENV H 516, ENV H 405, or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with PHCOL 567; even years, A.

ENV H 568 Molecular Epidemiology of Infectious Diseases (2) Application of molecular typing techniques to study of microbial pathogens to increase understanding of epidemiology of infectious diseases. Brief review of molecular biology. Emphasis on use of methods used in outbreaks and epidemics reported in literature. Prerequisite: ENV H 511 or ENV H 512 or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with EPI 568/PABIO 568; W.

ENV H 569 Occupational Biomechanics (4) Johnson Lectures and laboratories address human occupational biomechanical and physiological limits and measurement, analysis, and modeling techniques that are used by ergonomists for design of safe, healthy, and productive physical work. Prerequisite: ENV H 566 or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with IND E 589; even years, Sp.

ENV H 570 Occupational and Environmental Epidemiology (3) Checkoway, Daniel Research in occupational and environmental determinants of disease. Defining exposed populations, characterizing exposure levels, estimating disease risks relative to exposure. Cohort, case-control, cross-sectional designs for various health outcomes. Applications to exposure standard setting and risk assessment. Prerequisite: EPI 511 or EPI 512, EPI 513 or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with EPI 570; Sp.

ENV H 571 Neuroepidemiology and Environmental Risk Factors (3) Kukull Focus on neurologic diseases and etiology. Presenta-Offered: jointly with NURS 580; AWSp.

Medical issues. Prerequisite: environmental history-taking, and the provider's role in workers' compensation. Epidemiologic evidence and pathophysiology for occupational diseases reviewed, emphasizing organ system approach to diagnosis and management. Prerequisite: occupational medicine or preventive medicine residents/fellows, nursing students, or permission of instructor. Offered: S.

ENV H 572 Clinical Occupational Medicine (2) Keiffer For clinicians in training, comprehensive overview of occupational disease principles, occupational history-taking, and the provider's role in workers' compensation. Epidemiologic evidence and pathophysiology for occupational diseases reviewed, emphasizing organ system approach to diagnosis and management. Prerequisite: occupational medicine or preventive medicine residents/fellows, nursing students, or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with EPI 571; odd years; W.

ENV H 573 Methods and Issues in Using Biological Measurements in Epidemiologic Research (3) Stewart Introduction to use of measurements from biological specimens in epidemiologic studies. Prepares epidemiology and laboratory science students for conduct of interdisciplinary human studies. Evaluation of biomarkers, preliminary studies, methodologic issues, quality control. Brief review of molecular biology. Applications and current literature discussed. Prerequisite: EPI 511 or EPI 512. Offered: jointly with EPI 573; W.

ENV H 574 Probabilistic Exposure Analysis (3) Kisse Examines the concept of probabilistic (in contrast to deterministic) approaches to prediction of human exposure to environmental contaminants including explicit separation of population variability from uncertainty due to ignorance. Discusses current methods in laboratory research, and familiarizes the student with specific faculty research interests. Prerequisite: graduate standing and permission of program director. Offered: AWSpS.

ENV H 577 Risk Assessment for Environmental Health Hazards (3/4) Faustman Examinations of methods, data, uncertainties, and institutional arrangements for risk assessment. Qualitative and quantitative approaches to assessment, characterization, and control of environmental hazards to health emphasized through didactic and case studies. Offered: jointly with CEE 560/PB AF 589; A.

ENV H 594 Current Topics in Environmental Health (1, max. 2)

ENV H 596 Current Issues in Occupational and Environmental Medicine (2, max. 12) Kaufman Interdisciplinary seminar on current and emerging topics in the practice of occupational and environmental health. Faculty- and student-led presentations with an interdisciplinary focus, including occupational hygiene, nursing, and medical issues. Prerequisite: environmental health graduate student, occupational health nursing student, or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with NURS 580; AWSp.

ENV H 598 Degree Program Project/Portfolio (1-9, max. 18) Supervised project work on a topic related to student's concentration in graduate study that results in a paper. Offered: AWSpS.

ENV H 599 Field Studies (2-6, max. 6) Assignment to an environmental research or service program to develop field research and evaluation skills. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSpS.

ENV H 600 Independent Study or Research (*) Prerequisite: permission of departmental adviser. Offered: AWSpS.

ENV H 700 Master's Thesis (*) Prerequisite: permission of departmental adviser. Offered: AWSpS.

Epidemiology

EPI 420 Introduction to Epidemiology (3) NW Goldberg For the undergraduate student wishing to devote only one quarter to a course in epidemiologic methods. Description of ways in which variation in disease occurrence is documented and how that variation is studied to understand causes of disease. Offered: Sp.

EPI 497 Epidemiology Special Electives (*) Off-campus course for medical students. Offered: AWSpS.

EPI 499 Undergraduate Research (*) Offered: AWSpS.

EPI 503 Public Health Informatics and Surveillance (3) Covers collection and use of public health surveillance data in formulating policy and managing programs through lectures and real-world interactive exercises. Discusses surveillance for birth defects, environmental exposures, and hospital-acquired infections, and use of tools such as small area analysis and geographic information systems. Offered: jointly with HSERV 503.

EPI 507 HIV and STIs in Women and Children (3) Stewart Examines the emerging global public health crisis and the plight of women and children with HIV/STIs. Reviews targeted approaches pertaining to women and children and their vulnerability to HIV/STIs. Prerequisite: EPI 511 or EPI 512-513. Offered: jointly with OB GYN 590; Sp.

EPI 510 Epidemiologic Data Analysis (2) Hawes, Winer Intended for students planning to take 514. Introduces concepts and programming skills necessary to analyze data sets for case-control and cohort studies. Provides students hands-on experience in using epidemiologic data sets for stratified analyses with SAS and Stata. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: EPI 511 or EPI 512. Offered: W.

EPI 511 Introduction to Epidemiology (4) Kulikoff Epidemiologic methods for non-epidemiology majors. Focuses on research designs and methods to describe disease occurrence and risk factor associations; uses quantitative and biometric information to infer whether causal relationships exist between potential causes and disease in populations. Offered: A.

EPI 512 Epidemiologic Methods I (4) Holt, Koepsell, Weiss Principles and methods of epidemiology. Covers measures of disease frequency, measures of effect, causal inferences, descriptive epidemiology, study types, misclassification, and effect modification. Designed for students who want to take 513. Prerequisite: prior or concurrent enrollment in BIOST 511 or equivalent. Offered: A.

EPI 513 Epidemiologic Methods II (4) Holt, Koepsell, Weiss Continuation of 512. Considers how designs of epidemiologic studies may be constructed to maximize etiologic inferences. Covers confounding, randomization, cohort studies, case-control studies, and selected topics. Prerequisite: EPI 512. Offered: W.

EPI 514 Application of Epidemiologic Methods (4) Hawes, Mueller, Schiff Practical experience in analysis of data. Students analyze data sets currently on file using contemporary epidemiologic methods as taught in 512 and 513. Prerequisite: EPI 510 or experience in statistical programming; EPI 512, EPI 513 and epidemiology major. Offered: Sp.

EPI 515 Topical Epidemiologic Methods (3) Introduces advanced methodologic methods, including recursive partitioning, developing clinical prediction rules, analyses of community-level associations or interventions, case-crossover and case-only designs, propensity scores, two-stage sampling, and missing data imputation. Prerequisite: EPI 512; EPI 513. Offered: jointly with BIOST 519; A.

EPI 516 Statistical Methods in Genetic Epidemiology (3) Theory and application of statistical techniques used in genetic epidemiology. Includes discussion of association studies, linkages and segregation analyses. Examples stressed with reference to assumptions and limitations. Prerequisite: either BIOST 513 or BIOST 518; PHG 517/EPI 517; or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with BIOST 516/PHG 519.

EPI 517 Genetic Epidemiology (3) Austin Research methods for evaluating genetic influences on disease and risk factors and genetic-environmental interactions. Study designs and statistical methods include twin studies, family studies, population-based association studies, segregation analysis, and linkage analysis. Prerequisite: EPI 511, BIOST 511, and GENET 371, or equivalent. Offered: jointly with PHG 511.

EPI 518 Computer Demonstrations in Genetic Epidemiology (2-4, max. 6) Demonstrations and use of computer programs designed specifically for analysis of genetic epidemiologic data, including heritability, segregation, and sub-pair linkage analysis.
Discussions focus on interpretation of results. Laboratory sections apply methods to data provided by instructor. Prerequisite: EPI 517/PHG 511 or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with PHG 518.

EPI 510 Epidemiology of Cardiovascular Disease (3) Prayat, Sisskovics Principles, methods, and issues in the epidemiology of cardiovascular disease. Focuses on coronary heart disease and its major risk factors; also covers other cardiovascular diseases, such as stroke and sudden death. The format includes informal lectures and discussions of the current literature. Prerequisite: EPI 511 or EPI 512, EPI 513. Offered: A.

EPI 520 Epidemiology of Infectious Diseases (3) Manhart Infectious diseases from a public health perspective. Topics include analytic methods, study design, outbreak investigations, surveillance, vaccine evaluations, global eradication, screening, modeling, and infectious causes of chronic diseases. Homework and discussion based on current examples from the published literature. Prerequisite: EPI 511, EPI 512, or permission of instructor. Offered: W.

EPI 521 Epidemiology of Maternal and Child Health Problems (3-4, max. 4) Williams Contributions to understanding and prevention of major maternal and child health problems, including pregnancy outcome, infant and child morbidity and mortality, maternal morbidity and mortality, abnormal child growth and development, and early-life factors in adult health problems. Prerequisite: graduate, medical, or dental school standing and EPI 511 or EPI 512 or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with HSERV 542; W.

EPI 522 Reproductive Epidemiology (3) Holt Focuses on female reproductive system conditions and diseases, non-birth pregnancy outcomes, and impact of pregnancy on later health. Presentation of current epidemiologic knowledge and discussion of methodologic issues on topics including the menstrual cycle; contraception; infertility; spontaneous and induced abortion; and uterine and ovarian diseases. Prerequisite: either EPI 511 or EPI 512, both EPI 512 and EPI 513, or permission of instructor. Offered: even years; Sp.

EPI 524 Epidemiologic Studies of Cancer Etiology and Prevention (3/4) Li, Rossing Current knowledge of the role of environmental/lifestyle factors and genetic susceptibility in the etiology of several cancers with an emphasis on study design. Prerequisite: either EPI 511 or EPI 512; concurrent enrollment in EPI 513. Offered: W.

EPI 526 Epidemiology of Diseases Communicable from Nature (3) DiGiacomo, Rausch, Weigler Explores the public health aspects of zoonotic diseases, their epidemiology and approaches to control. Focuses on the major viral, rickettsial, bacterial, protozoal, helminthic, and fungal diseases transmitted from wild and domesticated animals to humans. Prerequisite: EPI 511, EPI 512, or EPI 520 or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with C MED 526; Sp.

EPI 527 Vaccines (3) Wald Overview of issues in vaccine development, clinical trials, implementation of vaccination programs, and the role of vaccines in the control of infectious diseases. Emphasizes current issues and real-world challenges in the vaccine field and features critical reading of the literature. Prerequisite: either EPI 511, EPI 512, or EPI 513. Offered: A.

EPI 528 Exposure Measurement in Epidemiology (3) White Principles and methods of measuring exposure (risk factors) in epidemiologic studies. Questionnaire design; quality-control procedures for interviews, record abstraction, and lab methods; validity and reliability of measures; effects of measurement error; maximizing response rates; measurement of specific exposures. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: EPI 513. Offered: Sp.

EPI 529 Emerging Infections of International Public Health Importance (3, max. 3) Kimball Focuses on the nexus between emerging infections and increasing globalisation of the world due to the mobility of people and goods. Examines emerging events through risk factors and associated macro changes implicated in their genesis. Reviews microbial evolutionary strategies and factors of emergence. Offered: jointly with HSERV 536; in residence, odd years; online, even years; W.

EPI 530 AIDS: A Multidisciplinary Approach (2) Farquhar Comprehensive overview of the public health, clinical, and laboratory aspects of human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) infection and disease. Topics include the pathogenesis, natural history, and management of HIV infections. The impact of HIV/AIDS on community and global health care and prospects for prevention and control. Credit/no credit only. Offered: jointly with MED 530/GLOBLH 570; A.

EPI 532 Epidemiology of Infectious Diseases in Resource-Limited Countries (3) McClure A review of major infectious disease problems of the developing world, including AIDS, malaria, tuberculosis, measles, and diarrhea, with an emphasis on public health control strategies. Offered: odd years.

EPI 533 Pharmacoepidemiology (3) Heckbert, Johnson Overview of pharmacoepidemiology including drug development and approval, application of epidemiologic methods to study drug safety and effectiveness; exploration of the interplay between research and public policy; introduction to resources for information about drugs; introduction to biostatistical methodology pertinent to pharmacoepidemiology. Prerequisite: health sciences graduate student or with permission. Offered: jointly with PHARM 533; even years; Sp.

EPI 534 Principles of Publishing Clinical Evidence (2) Johnson, Olson Explains advanced methodologic principles for improving the clarity of published clinical evidence. Students prepare and revise a 1000-word research letter for The Lancet using their own clinical evidence. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with PHARM 536; Sp.

EPI 536 Categorical Data Analysis in Epidemiology (4) Summary of univariate categorical data analysis; introduction to multivariate analysis of categorical epidemiologic data using multiplicative models. Experience at interpretation; familiarity with available programs gained by analysis of bona fide data, critiques of analyses appearing in literature, or participation in community-based survey. Prerequisite: either EPI 511, EPI 512, or EPI 513 and either BIOL 513 or BIOL 518; or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with BIOL 536; A.

EPI 537 Survival Data Analysis in Epidemiology (4) Introduction to the multivariate analysis of survival data using multiplicative models. Application to epidemiologic studies. Familiarity with interpretation and available computer programs gained by analysis of bona fide sets of data and critiques of analyses appearing in the literature. Prerequisite: EPI 536 or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with BIOL 537; W.

EPI 538 Nutritional Epidemiology (3) Beresford Application of epidemiological methods to current studies of diet, nutrition, and chronic disease. A discussion of current issues and controversies enable students to plan studies in nutritional epidemiology and disease prevention. Prerequisite: EPI 511 or EPI 512 or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with NUTR 538; A.

EPI 539 Research Methods in Developing Countries (3/4) Gloyd, Mock Practical, methodologic principles to obtain and validate information regarding health status and health services in developing countries. Usefulness, validity, limitation of vital records, health reports, household (and cluster) surveys, nutritional anthropology, and qualitative methods discussed. Lectures, computer lab, and student participation in community-based survey. Offered: jointly with H H 531; W.

EPI 540 Introduction to Cancer Biology (3) Ulrich Provides a general understanding of cancer biology, covering the carcinogenic process and various biological causes of cancer. Introductory knowledge from different fields of cancer research, guiding students through diverse literature on cancer and carcinogenesis. Prerequisite: GENOME 371, BIOL 355, or permission of instructor. Offered: even years; Sp.

EPI 541 Introduction to Systematic Reviews and Meta-analysis of Evidence (2) Wolf Conceptual understanding of the quantitative methods used to synthesize evidence. Methods for pooling evidence across independent studies, pooling binary/continuous outcomes, differences between fixed and random effects models, and guidelines for appraising published systematic reviews/meta-analyses. Prerequisite: introductory-level courses in statistics, epidemiology, or biostatistics. Offered: jointly with MEBI 541/HSERV 529; Sp.

EPI 542 Clinical Epidemiology (2) Weiss Principles and methods involved in studying the outcome of illness. Prerequisite: EPI 511, or EPI 512 and EPI 513. Offered: S.

EPI 546 Psychiatric Epidemiology (3) Vander Steep Applies epidemiological methods to the study of mental illnesses. Topics include occurrence and distribution of mental illness, classification of psychiatric disorders; treatment-based vs. community-based studies; epidemiology of depression and schizophrenia; familial transmission; developmental epidemiology; mental illness and violence. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: either EPI 511, EPI 512, HSERV 591, or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with PSY 546, Sp.

EPI 548 Social Determinants of Health Research Methods (3) Beresford, Smith Explores study design, measurement and analytic issues applicable to research into the social determinants of health. Semi-weekly graduate-level seminar offered to students with a basic knowledge of epidemiological and biostatistical principles. Prerequisite: either EPI 511 or EPI 512/EPI 513, BIOL 511/BIOLOG 512 or BIOLOG 517/BIOLOG 518. Offered: jointly with HSERV 548; W.
EPI 549 Sociobehavioral and Prevention Research Methods for HIV and STI (3) Kurth Focus on prevention methods for controlling HIV/STI epidemics, identifying a range of alternatives along the prevention continuum as most appropriate and feasible for settings and populations, and solutions to increase HIV/STI prevention agenda in public health and clinical policy and practice. Offered: jointly with NMETH 515; Sp.

EPI 555 Statistical Methods for Spatial Epidemiology (3) Wakefield Motivates the need for, and describes methods for the analysis of spatially indexed epidemiological data. Covers four major topics: clustering and cluster detection, disease mapping, spatial regression, and an introduction to geographical information systems. Considers both point-references and spatially aggregated data. Offered: jointly with BIOST 555.

EPI 568 Molecular Epidemiology of Infectious Diseases (2) DiGiacomo, Roberts Application of molecular typing techniques to study transmission of pathogens to increase understanding of epidemiology of infectious diseases. Brief review of molecular biology. Evaluation of methods used in outbreaks and epidemics reported in literature. Prerequisite: EPI 511 or EPI 512 or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with ENV H 568/PABIO 568. Offered: W.

EPI 570 Occupational and Environmental Epidemiology (3) Checkoway Research methods for studying occupational and environmental determinants of disease. Defining exposed populations, characterizing exposure levels, estimating disease risks relative to exposure. Cohort, case-control, cross-sectional designs for various health outcomes. Applications to exposure standard setting and risk assessment. Prerequisite: EPI 511 or EPI 512, EPI 513 or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with ENV H 570; Sp.

EPI 571 Neuroepidemiology and Environmental Risk Factors (3) Kukull Focus on neurodegenerative diseases and etiology. Presentation of descriptive epidemiology, clinical features, and risk factors, including stroke, Parkinson’s disease, Alzheimer’s disease, multiple sclerosis, and other disorders. Discussion of NIH grantmanship. Guest experts present some topics. Recommended: EPI 511 or equivalent. Offered: jointly with ENV H 571; odd years; W.

EPI 583 Epidemiology Seminar (1, max. 3) Presentation of current epidemiologic research and application of epidemiologic research in the practice of public health. Offered: A/WSp.

EPI 584 Doctoral Dissertation Seminar (1) Davis, Holt Forum for Epidemiology doctoral students to obtain information for doctoral research, including: project ideas; forming a committee; developing a proposal; conducting the project; and presenting results. Prerequisite: Epidemiology PhD, approved to the PhD program, passed the Preliminary Examination or 2nd year status.

EPI 585 Principles of Injury Research and Prevention (3) Schif Focused on broad concepts including a conceptual model, surveillance, research methods, control and prevention of injuries. Topics include unintentional injuries from motor vehicle crashes, falls, drowning, sports injuries and intentional injuries from youth violence, intimate partner violence, homicide and suicide. Recommended: EPI 511. Offered: A.

EPI 586 Responsible Conduct of International Research (3) Farquhar Prepares international and U.S. students to develop research proposals, conduct international field research, and present scholarly work. Topics include proposal writing, human subjects protection, data management, peer review, scholarly integrity, responsible authorship, and grants and budget management. Open to graduate and non-matriculated students. Credit/no credit only. Offered: jointly with GLOBLH 532; A.

EPI 587 Practical Aspects of Research Operations (2) Fitzpatrick Provides the basics necessary to plan, implement, and manage a research study. Topics include human subjects applications, data collection, hiring and training of staff, participant recruitment and retention, data management, quality assurance and control, results reporting, communications, and budgeting. Prerequisite: K12 Clinical Scholar or one course in EPI/BIOST. Credit/no credit only. Offered: A.

EPI 588 Preparing and Writing Research Proposals (2) Kristal, Reiber Experience in preparing, organizing, and writing research proposals, following NIH and AHRQ guidelines. Includes weekly assignments and didactic exercises, leading to final research proposal. All students participate in mock study section to review and critique proposals. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: second-year graduate student (PhD recommended), or PhD or MD in health-related field. Offered: odd years; A.

EPI 590 Selected Topics in Epidemiology or International Health (1-6, max. 6) Tutorials are arranged for a small number of students for in-depth examination of an area of epidemiology or international health, usually of current nature. Seminar format. Prerequisite: EPI 511. Also a special summer format presenting introductory material. May be offered with ENV H 590 and/or HSERV 590. For more information and permission, consult the department program adviser. Offered: A/WSpS.

EPI 591 Current Literature in Epidemiology (1) Articles pertaining to epidemiology and related subjects selected from the current literature to be distributed and read by all participants. Faculty members and enrolled students alternate being responsible for conducting sessions and choosing articles to read. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: EPI 513. Offered: A/WSp.

EPI 592 Program Seminars (1-6, max. 6) Graduate seminars organized to address specific educational needs of students in various specialized programs within the Department of Epidemiology (i.e., Maternal and Child Health), Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: A/WSpS.

EPI 593 Cancer Prevention Research Laboratory (3) White Research experience for pre- and postdoctoral students working on cancer prevention projects at the Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center. Credit/no credit only. Offered: A/WSpS.

EPI 595 Epidemiology Master’s Practicum (1-6, max. 6) Supervised practice experience providing students an opportunity to learn how epidemiology is applied in a public health setting and in the formulation and application of public health policy. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: EPI 512 and BIOST 511 or equivalent and permission of instructor. Offered: A/WSpS.

EPI 600 Independent Study or Research (*) Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of departmental adviser and independent study supervisor. Offered: A/WSpS.

EPI 700 Master’s Thesis (*) Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of thesis chair. Offered: A/WSpS.

EPI 800 Doctoral Dissertation (*) Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of dissertation chair. Offered: A/WSpS.

Public Health Genetics

PHG 511 Genetic Epidemiology (3) Austin, Edwards Research methods for evaluating genetic influences on disease and risk factors and genetic-environmental interactions. Study designs and statistical methods include twin studies, family studies, population-based association studies, segregation analysis, and linkage analysis. Prerequisite: EPI 511, BIOST 511, and GENET 371, or equivalent. Offered: jointly with EPI 517.

PHG 512 Legal, Ethical, and Social Issues in Public Health Genetics (3) Kuszl, Mastroppanni Equips the student to anticipate and assess potential legal, ethical, and social barriers complicating the incorporation of genomic advances, information, and technologies into public and private health care delivery efforts. Prerequisite: GENET 371 or equivalent. Offered: jointly with LAW H 504/MEH 514; A.

PHG 513 Basic Concepts in Pharmacogenetics and Toxicogenomics (3) Eaton, Thummler Addresses current DNA sequencing and genotyping approaches, and basic concepts of pharmacogenetics and toxicogenomics. Emphasis placed on applications of genomic technologies to the understanding of “gene-environment interactions” that cause diseases of public health importance, including cancer, chronic neurological diseases, and adverse drug reactions. Prerequisite: GENET 372 or equivalent. Offered: jointly with ENV H 513/ PCEUT 513; W.

PHG 518 Computer Demonstrations in Genetic Epidemiology (2-4, max. 4) Edwards Demonstrations and use of computer programs designed specifically for analysis of genetic epidemiologic data, including heritability, segregation, and sib-pair linkage analysis. Discussions focus on interpretation of results. Laboratory sections apply methods to data provided by instructor. Corequisites: EPI 517/
PHG 519 Statistical Methods in Genetic Epidemiology (3) Theory and application of statistical techniques used in genetic epidemiology. Includes discussion of association studies, linkage and segregation analyses. Examples stressed with reference to assumptions and limitations. Prerequisite: either BIOST 513 or BIOST 518; PHG 511/EPI 517; or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with BIOST/EPI 516.

PHG 521 Culture, Society, and Genomics (3) McGrath Examines social and cultural issues of human genome sequencing and control of genetic expression. Attitudes and behaviors toward health, illness, and disability are studied using historical, contemporary, and cross-cultural case study material. Offered: jointly with NURS 582/ANTH 574; Sp.

PHG 522 Ethical Frameworks for Public Health Genetics (2) Mastroianni Case-based application of ethical principles in genetic medicine to a range of problems arising in genetics practice, policy, research. Examination of traditional problems including eugenics and testing/screening for genetic disease, as well as emerging problems in population and environmental genetics. Prerequisite: LAW H 504/MHE 514/PHG 512 or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with MHE 516; Sp.

PHG 523 Genetics and the Law (2) Kuzsler Considers the legal issues arising from new genetic technologies and information. Statutes, regulations, and cases used to demonstrate the constitutional, contract, and tort law complications resulting from dissemination of technological advances. Prerequisite: LAW H 504/MHE 514/PHG 512 or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with LAW H 520.

PHG 525 Public Commentary on Ethical Issues in Health Genetics (3) Fryer-Edwards Explores issues in public health genetics through academic commentary, personal narratives, science fiction, and film using ethical frameworks from narrative ethics, feminist ethics, and principlism. Includes cloning, assisted reproduction, prenatal genetic testing, presymptomatic genetic testing, gene therapies, scientific responsibility, and GMOs. Graduate students only. Offered: jointly with MHE 515; Sp.

PHG 536 Bioinformatics and Gene Sequence Analysis (3) Rose Nature and relevance of molecular sequence information, computer-based protein, and DNA sequence analysis, molecular sequence and genomic databases, and methods for database accession and interrogation. Prerequisite: background in molecular biology and permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with PABIO 536/MEBI 536; Sp.

PHG 537 Pharmacoeconomics, Genetics, and Health Care (2) Ramsey, Veenstra Introduction to outcomes research and economic evaluation related to medical technologies, with a focus on methodologies and the use of economic evaluation in healthcare to affect policy decisions. Offered: A.

PHG 541 Economic and Policy Issues for Genetic Technologies and Services (3) Introduction to economic evaluation in healthcare. Students learn and apply economic principles to the political and policy issues surrounding genetic technologies and services.

PHG 542 Genetic Discovery in Medicine and Public Health (3) Burke Addresses the clinical and societal implications of genetic knowledge, with an emphasis on the ethical and policy issues surrounding the use of genetic technology in medicine and public health from 1900 to the present. Offered: jointly with MHE 530; W.

PHG 543 Social and Behavioral Methods in Public Health Research (3) Bowen, McGrath Provides an overview of social and behavioral research design and methods. Reviews methods and findings in the social sciences relevant to public health applications, and using a problem-oriented approach, develops a research plan. Prerequisite: graduate standing in Public Health Genetics, or permission of instructor. Offered: Sp.

PHG 551 Human Genomics: Science, Ethics, and Society (4) Fullerton Places recent advances in human molecular genetics and genomics in ethical and social context. Focuses on the rise of population-based approaches to complex trait mapping and their impact on societal understandings of community, ancestry, and public health. Prerequisite: GENOME 371; GENOME 372; PHG 512; or instructor permission. Offered: jointly with MHE 551; A.

PHG 580 Interactive Seminar (1, max. 6) Austin, Fullerton Seminar series on topics related to public health genetics, including current bioethical, legal, medical, biotechnology, and public policy issues.

PHG 581 Introduction to Bioinformatics and Genetics Services in Public Health Genetics (1) Austin, Doyle, Rose Introduction to bioinformatics computer skills and genetic services related to public health genetics. Credit/no credit only. Offered: W.

PHG 590 Selected Topics in Public Health Genetics (1-4, max. 6) Tutorials are arranged for a small number of students for in-depth examination of an area of public health genetics, usually of a current nature.

PHG 591 Public Health Genetics Journal Club (1) Provides an interdisciplinary forum for the critique of current literature public health genetics and related disciplines. Credit/no credit only. Offered: A/WSp.

PHG 595 Master's Practicum (1-12, max. 12) Supervised practice experience providing students an opportunity to learn how genetics is applied in a public health setting and in the formulation and application of public health policy. Prerequisite: EPI 517/PHG 511, LAW H 504/MHE 514/PHG 512, ENV H/PABIO/PCEUT/ PHG 513, or permission of instructor.

PHG 600 Independent Study or Research (*) Credit/no credit only.

PHG 700 Master’s Thesis (*) Credit/no credit only.

PHG 800 Doctoral Dissertation (*) Credit/no credit only.

Health Services

Health Informatics and Information Management

HIHIM 409 Disease Concepts for Managers (4) Develops a methodology for understanding and communicating dimensions of disease states as all health state that a person might experience. Presents clear, effective ways to describe the diversity of health conditions and focuses on disease from a health information systems perspective.

HIHIM 410 Introduction to Health Care Systems and Health Data Systems (6) Covers current issues in health care, relationship of the health care system to health data systems: accreditation, licensure and professional standards; health records analysis, statistics, data linkage, application of professional standards to health records and record management systems; retrieval, tracking and retention systems.

HIHIM 420 Health Care Computer Systems and Electronic Health Records (5) Current health information systems and the role of health informatics; technology infrastructure and health informatics standards, electronic health records, definitions, functions, issues, and barriers; hospitals, ambulatory care, home health and long-term care and computer applications. Prerequisite: HIHIM 411; HIHIM 411.

HIHIM 421 Health Information Systems Analysis (5) Examines lifestyle systems development process and tools, project management and team coordination, analysis of health information systems, and user requirements. Prerequisite: HIHIM 420.

HIHIM 450 Organizational Theory in Health Facilities and Healthcare Delivery (3) Addresses the organization of healthcare services across the spectrum of healthcare delivery systems? both governmental (federal, state, local) and private. Financing of healthcare services and related policy issues are explored.

HIHIM 454 Finance Concepts for Health Care Managers (4) Covers finance concepts applied to today’s healthcare environment, financial management tools and budgeting.

HIHIM 455 Professionalism and Leadership (5) Professional development, leadership assessment and ethics, interpersonal skills and effective communication and human resource management requirements.

HIHIM 456 Quality Assurance and Research in Healthcare (5) Quality improvement, risk management and utilization management in health care, design and analysis of quality improvement systems, including use of data systems in quality assurance and research; health data retrieval, analysis and presentation, and review of relevant healthcare informatics research. Prerequisite: Statistics; Medical Terminology.
HHIM 460 Management Project I (3) Explores the development of management skills and competencies, and a seminar through site experience in health care facilities with campus and clinical faculty. Prerequisite: HHIM 410

HHIM 462 Management Project II (3) Explores applied management using a formal capstone project in a healthcare setting. Prerequisite: HHIM 460.

HHIM 470 Legal Concepts for Health Fields (3) Examines principles of law as applied to the health field, with reference to health information management.

HHIM 480 Management, Problem-Solving and Decision-Making (4) Provides the tools and experiences useful at a management level for problem-solving and decision-making in health information administration.

HHIM 499 Independent Study (2-5)

Health Services

HSERV 475 Perspectives in Medical Anthropology (5) Introduction to medical anthropology. Explores the relationship among culture, society, and medicine. Examples from Western medicine as well as from other medical systems, incorporating both interpretive and critical approaches. Offered: jointly with ANTH 475.

HSERV 480 Issues in Public Health (1-3, max. 6) Problems and issues in epidemiology, health services delivery and administration, environmental health, pathobiology, biostatistics, and related fields.

HSERV 482 The Health of Populations (2) Explores what makes a population health or unhealthy. Examines why the USA is less healthy than all the other rich countries, despite being one of the healthiest fifty years ago.

HSERV 490 Undergraduate Special Topics (1-6, max. 12) Collect and analyze literature related to historical and current public health issues, problems and programs; analyze information and develop written summaries to demonstrate increased knowledge and competencies as applied to public health. Prerequisite: HSERV 480.

HSERV 499 Independent Study in Health Services (1-12, max. 12) Individual library or field study project selected in consultation with a faculty adviser.

HSERV 501 Public Health Practice at the Local Level (3) Basic overview of state and local public health practice with leaders in the field and case studies focusing on rural and urban public health challenges. Offers preparation for practice in public health agencies. Prerequisite: HSERV 511 or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with EPI 501.

HSERV 503 Public Health Informatics and Surveillance (3) Covers collection and use of public health surveillance data in formulating policy and managing programs through lectures and real-world interactive exercises. Discusses surveillance for birth defects, environmental exposures, and hospital-acquired infections, and use of tools such as small area analysis and geographic information systems. Offered: jointly with EPI 503.

HSERV 504 Health Communication (1-3, max. 3) Overview of the theory and practice of designing, producing, and evaluating public health communication campaigns, including the use of mass media. Develops greater capacity for critical judgment about the use of communication strategies for achieving public health goals.

HSERV 507 Communication for Health Promotion: Theory and Application (3) Discuss and evaluate health communications theories and applications at the individual level (i.e., persuasion), interpersonal level (i.e. doctor/patient communication), and societal level (i.e., mass media). Investigate intercultural communications and developing presentation levels of health communication. Examines the steps involved in the design of a health communication intervention.

HSERV 508 Dynamics of Community Health Practice (3-5, max. 5) Examination of and experience with basic principles of clinical practice in community settings. Includes family as community constituency, populations at risk, community assessment, and community development. Prerequisite: Graduate standing or permission of course faculty. Offered: jointly with NURS 560.

HSERV 509 Public Health and Informatics (3) Introduction to the emerging field of public health informatics. Covers general public health topics as well as key public health informatics issues and applications. Evaluates a public health information system. Prerequisite: either MEBI 530 or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with MEBI 533; Sp.

HSERV 510 Society and Health (3) Provides an overview of three core areas in the social and behavioral sciences of public health practice and research: social determinants of individual and population health, health promotion and disease prevention, and cultural competency and community collaboration. Prerequisite: HSERV 511 or equivalent or permission of instructor.

HSERV 511 Introduction to Health Services and Public Health (3-4) History, organization, and effectiveness of United States health care and public health systems. Determinants of health, need, and utilization. Public and private financing. Supply and provision of personal and public health services. Managed care. Government and private sector roles. Prerequisite: graduate standing or permission of instructor.

HSERV 512 U.S. Health and Health Care: Population Health, Social Determinants, and Health Disparities (3) Explores the elements and actions of a population health approach, including conceptualizing the determinants of health, synthesizing knowledge about major social determinants, and applying knowledge to improve population health and reduce health disparities. Enrollment priority for Health Services PhD students. Prerequisite: HSERV 511, and permission of instructor; recommended: HSERV 512.

HSERV 514 U.S. Health and Health Care: Health Policy Research (3) Extends students' understanding of the nature of health policy and health policy development in the context of a market-based economy. Enrollment priority for Health Services PhD students. Prerequisite: HSERV 511, and permission of instructor; recommended: HSERV 512/513.

HSERV 516 Introduction to Health Services — Extended Degree (4) Provides overview of health care system, exposes students to current issues and developments affecting organization and delivery of health services, helps students develop ability to frame and analyze questions and issues related to health services. Prerequisite: registration in Extended M.P.H. Degree program.

HSERV 517 Provision of Health Services — Extended Degree (2) Builds on material covered in 516 and provides students with tools used to evaluate alternative health delivery systems; exposes students to various international health delivery systems; encourages students to decide how to organize such a system. Prerequisite: HSERV 516, registration in Extended M.P.H. Degree program.

HSERV 518 Social and Ethical Issues (2-4, max. 4) Presents introduction to ethical issues in public health policy and practice. Additional one credit option focuses on health administration/managed care. Coursework designed to train students in basic skills of ethical analysis and increase competency in recognizing, researching, and analyzing issues arising in public health and health services delivery.

HSERV 520 Methods in Applied Community Research (1-3, max. 3) Skills/knowledge necessary to conduct orderly investigation of specific problems in preparation for M.P.H. thesis or project. Includes problem identification, posing research questions, literature review, consideration of theoretical/practical context, choosing study design, data collection, protection of human subjects, and recognizing potential errors. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: registration in Extended M.P.H. Degree program.

HSERV 521 Qualitative Methods in Health Services Research (3) Provides theoretical training in qualitative research and in depth training in qualitative data management, analysis, interpretation, and presentation. Focuses on how to frame qualitative research questions, design appropriate research strategies, and integrate qualitative and quantitative methods in research designs in public health.

HSERV 522 Health Program Evaluation (3-5) Politics, theory, methods of evaluation, from simple health programs to evaluation of large-scale interventions. Emphasizes experimental and quasi-experimental designs to estimate program impacts, as well as evaluation of program implementation. Case studies drawn from health field illustrate various types of evaluations. Prerequisite: background in introductory statistics.

HSERV 523 Advanced Health Services Research Methods I (4) Examines how to apply research methods and addresses recurring issues in health services research. Covers statistical theory that motivates the methods and empirical work that demonstrates a method’s use. Enrollment priority for Health Services PhD students. Prerequisite: either HSERV 511, BIOST 511/512/513, BIOST 517/518, or EPI 511/512, and permission of instructor.

HSERV 524 Advanced Health Services Research Methods II (4) Emphasizes the application of advanced biostatistical/econometric techniques in applied research. Examines a wide variety of posed research questions and demonstrates how to best obtain answers. Enrollment priority for Health Services PhD students. Prerequisite: either HSERV 511, BIOST 511/512/513, BIOST 517/518, or EPI 511/512, and permission of instructor.

HSERV 525 Advanced Health Services Research Methods III (4) Introduction to methods of assembling and conducting basic analyses in the broad and heterogeneous field of health services research. Examine concepts and conduct hands-on research using using data sets selected by students. Enrollment priority for Health Services PhD students. Prerequisite: either HSERV 511, BIOST 511/512/513, BIOST 517/518, or EPI 511/512, and permission of instructor.

HSERV 526 Qualitative Research Methods for Public Health (4) Covers a range of qualitative, ethnographic tools for practical applications in public health. Methods covered include direct observation, informant interviews, focus groups, and formal methods. Covers Rapid Assessment Procedures and Participatory Action Research. Student teams investigate research questions using these techniques.

HSERV 527 Survey Research Methods (4) Provides students with skills in questionnaire development and survey methods. Develop a questionnaire and design a survey research proposal on a health-related or social topic. Prerequisite: either HSERV 511-513; BIOST 517 7518; or EPI 512-513, which may be taken concurrently or permission of instructor is required, and students should have a survey project in mind. Offered: jointly with C&SS 527.

HSERV 528 Critically Appraising and Applying Evidence in Health Care (3) Literature appraisal skills for various articles (therapy effectiveness, diagnostic tests, literature reviews, clinical measurement, prognosis, quality of care, decision analysis, causation/etiology, guidelines, and economic evaluation). Appraisal of clinical information from literature, strengths/weaknesses of data, analyses, study design/applicability to a current patient/program problem. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with MEBI 540.

HSERV 529 Introduction to Systematic Reviews and Meta-analysis of Evidence (2) Conceptual understanding of the quantitative methods used to synthesize evidence. Methods for pooling evidence across independent studies, pooling binary/continuous outcomes, differences between fixed and random effects models, and guidelines for appraising published systematic reviews/meta-analyses. Prerequisite: introductory-level coursework in epidemiology, biostatistics. Offered: jointly with MEBI 541/EPI 541.

HSERV 532 International Health-Introduction and Topics (4-, max. 8) Encourages students to demonstrate their facility with concepts and readings by creating short essays on selected topics. Overview emphasizing assessment, assurance, policy development, and the future of global health.

HSERV 536 Emerging Infections of International Public Health Importance (3-, max. 3) Focuses on the nexus between emerging infections and increasing globalization of the world due to the mobility of people and goods. Examines emergent events through risk factors and associated macro changes implicated in their genesis. Reviews microbial evolutionary strategies and factors of emergence. Offered: jointly with EPI 529; in residence, odd years; online, even years.

HSERV 537 Economic Development and Health (1, max. 3) Discusses issues of broad interest in the areas of economics, development, and health. Credit/no credit only.

HSERV 540 Nutrition in Developing Countries (3) Introduces issues of nutrition in developing countries, with emphasis on the control and prevention of under nutrition and micronutrient deficiencies. Offered: jointly with NUTR 555.

HSERV 541 Topics in Maternal and Child Health I (3-, max. 3) Historic, legislative, organizational, and financial basis of health and social services for families and children in United States. Effects of changing family structure and norms; factors affecting health care needs of specific populations, including racially and ethnically diverse groups; impact of policies/programs on health and well-being of families and children.

HSERV 542 Epidemiology of Maternal and Child Health Problems (3-, max. 4) Contributions to understanding and prevention of major maternal and child health problems, including pregnancy outcome, infant and child morbidity and mortality, maternal morbidity and mortality, abnormal child growth and development, and early-life factors in adult health problems. Prerequisite: graduate, medical, or dental school standing and 511 or 512 or permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with EPI 521.

HSERV 543 Topics in Maternal and Child Health III (3) Provides an overview of contextually based frameworks for understanding growth and development. Identifies and describes the conceptual basis and theory of change that underlie successful preventive intervention efforts to promote the well being of children and reduce common MCH problems.

HSERV 544 Maternal and Child Health in Developing Countries (3) Mercer Emphasizes critical health problems of women and children in developing countries in social, economic, and cultural contexts. Practical approaches to developing MCH programs shared via lecture/discussions, exercises, and small group work. Students acquire skills in baseline assessment, setting objectives, planning and evaluating interventions, and involving communities.

HSERV 548 Social Determinants of Health Research Methods (3) Explores study design, measurement and analytic issues applicable to research into the social determinants of health. Semi-weekly graduate-level seminar offered to students with a basic knowledge of epidemiological and biostatistical principles. Prerequisite: either EPI 511 or EPI 512/EPI 513; BIOST 511/BIOST 512 or BIOST 517/BIOST 518. Offered: jointly with EPI 548.

HSERV 550 Policy and Economics: Fundamentals and Applications (3) Explores how values drive the structure of societies, economic systems, public policies, and ultimately, allocation and distribution of resources. Explores how science and community values intertwine in the development of health policy, and how ideology, culture, and history influence structure and change a nation’s health system.

HSERV 551 Health Law (2) Analysis of law, the legal system and current legal problems as they relate to the financing and delivery of health care services. Offered: jointly with LAW H 512.

HSERV 552 Health Policy Development (3-, max. 3) Focuses on development of public policy concerning medical care and public health and the relationship between public decisions and the market place. Using contemporary policy issues as case studies, examines the role science, ideology, culture, and history play in influencing the structure of and changes to a nation’s health system.

Health policy making is examined in light of political leadership, the legislature, the initiative process, rule making, interest groups, and lobbying. Prerequisite: HSERV 551, a basic understanding of the American health care system, or permission of instructor.

HSERV 554 Health Legislation Seminar (1) Discussion of current state of health policy, topics with legislative staff and others involved with state health policy. In addition to four sessions on campus, course meets once in Olympia during legislative session. Credit/no credit only.

HSERV 558 Tobacco and Public Health: Impact, Prevention, Treatment, and Policy (2-3) Haugerlin integrates multiple disciplinary perspectives to provide a comprehensive overview of the history, health effects, policy, prevention, and treatment of tobacco use. Utilized readings, stimulates discussions, and hosts renowned experts to provide students with the foundation to understand and address the local, national, and global epidemic of tobacco use. Offered: Sp.

HSERV 560 Adult Learning: Theory and Practice (3) Designed to help students apply Popular Education theory and practice to preparation, presentation, and evaluation of health education. Students design, teach, and evaluate four separate teaching sessions (one between each seminar) using theory and principles of Popular Education learned to date. Prerequisite: graduate standing or permission of instructor.

HSERV 561 Introduction to Health Promotion and Planning (3) Overview of behavior change theory and comprehensive approach to planning, implementing, and evaluating health promotion interventions. Links theory to practice. Uses PRECEDE/PROCEED planning model by Green and Kreuter as framework.

HSERV 571 Cultural Competency for Public Health Practice (1-4, max. 4) Application of cultural competency to clinical practice, health care management, and health services research when working with culturally diverse populations. Methodological orientation is qualitative, historical, and ethnographic. Lecture, narratives, discussions, guest presentations, film, video. Interdisciplinary perspective appropriate for graduate students in public health, health administration, nursing, social work, and anthropology. Offered: Sp.

HSERV 572 Community Development for Health (4) Learn the literature, theory, history, and accepted knowledge in the fields of community development, activism, and community organizing within a health systems context. Provides a forum for exploring approaches to community development and organizing. Gain specific skills and master techniques. Offered: W.

HSERV 573 Community Development for Health Seminar (1) Explores the importance of community development for health and how public health workers can help strengthen communities. Companion course to HSERV 572. Meets Friday afternoons to hear community organizers and leaders in community development.

HSERV 575 Cancer Prevention and Control (3) Provides an overview of research in cancer prevention and control for students training for a career in this field. Students identify major areas of prevention and control research, conduct an analysis of data in cancer prevention and control, and learn to prepare a research project grant. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

HSERV 576 Health, Culture, and Community (3) A theory and skills class concerning development of personal and organizational cultural competence in community-based participatory research. Core concepts of cultural competence are considered as they are practiced in community settings. Fieldwork required. Offered: jointly with NURS 557.

HSERV 577 Health Behavior and Preventative Medicine (2/4), (max. 4) Focuses on psychosocial and cultural factors related to health, preventive health behavior, illness perception, and behavior; theoretical basis for prevention; the interaction of consumers and providers in the delivery of health care services; and clinic and community based applications.

HSERV 580 Society, Chronic Illness, and Disability (3) Definition and assessment of chronic illness, disability, and health status. Analysis of chronic illness and disability using frameworks from social sciences and public health. Dimensions of disablement as they affect provision of health services. Research on effectiveness of services and approaches to improvement. Prerequisite: HSERV 511 or permission of instructor.

HSERV 581 Strategies of Health Promotion (4) Assessment of health promotion planning, implementation, and evaluation strategies for their strengths, weaknesses, and effectiveness. Students critique strategies to modify behavioral factors that influence lifestyles of individuals, including decisions influencing their reciprocal relationship with environmental factors affecting the health of individuals, organizations, and communities. Prerequisite: HSERV 511.

HSERV 582 Theoretical Perspectives on Health Behavior Change (3-4, max. 4) Meischke Overview of theoretical perspectives in health behavior at the individual, interpersonal, and community level. Focuses on increasing skills in describing, applying, and integrating these frameworks in the design and evaluation of health promotion interventions. Prerequisite: HSERV 511 or permission of instructor.

HSERV 583 Economic Evaluation in Health and Medicine (3) Methods and techniques for evaluating costs and cost-effectiveness of health, medical, and pharmaceutical interventions. Emphasis on economic evaluation, decision analysis, and modeling techniques for resource allocation and decision making. Applications to technology assessment, health policy, clinical practice, and resource allocation. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with PHARM 534.

HSERV 584 Evaluating Cost and Outcomes in Health and Medicine 2 (3) Concepts and methods for evaluating cost and outcomes of health and medical interventions with a focus on cost-effectiveness analysis., pharmacoeconomics, health and quality of life assessment, resource allocation, and medical decision-making. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: jointly with PHARM 535.

HSERV 585 Seminar in Medical Geography (5, max. 10) Intensive research seminar dealing with new and emerging research themes in medical geography and public health. Offered: jointly with GEOG 581.

HSERV 586 Medical Geography (3) Geography of disease, consideration to health systems planning. Distributions, diffusion models, migration studies. Application of distance, optimal location models to health systems planning; emergency medical services, distribution of health professions; cultural variations in health behavior. Prerequisite: familiarity with social science research, health-related issues. Offered: jointly with GEOG 580.

HSERV 587 Health Policy Economics (3) Applies economic theory to selected topics in health care, including information, risk and insurance, industry organization, government regulation, and public health issues. Emphasizes policy implications of these applications.

HSERV 588 Community Approaches to Health Promotion (3) Provides opportunities to critically examine community-based health promotion interventions and the design, evaluation, and implementation issues they raise. A wide range of disciplinary perspectives is presented. Case studies and class projects are designed to give students the skills needed to critically assess community projects around health promotion.

HSERV 590 Selected Topics in Health Services (*) By individual arrangement, the student and faculty member(s) develop a program of reading and conference appropriate to the topic selected by the student. The topic chosen will be within the special competence of the faculty participating in the course, in the areas of health-care delivery and health-care administration. Also special summer format presenting introductory material may be taken with ENV H 590 and/or EPI 590. For more information and permission, consult department program adviser.

HSERV 591 Community Oriented Public Health Practice (1-6, max. 42) Seven-quarter integrated sequence covers public health aspects of community assessment, biostatistics, epidemiology, health promotion/disease prevention, behavior change, environmental health, community development, policy development and analysis, and program planning and management. It is taught in a problem-based format. Prerequisite: enrollment in the COPHP program.

HSERV 592 Program Seminars (1-6, max. 20) Graduate seminars organized to address specific educational needs of students in various fellowships, residencies, and other specialized programs within the Department of Health Sciences (i.e., maternal and child health, international health, preventive medicine, social and behavioral sciences). Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

HSERV 595 Practicum/Field Work in Community Medicine (1-12, max. 12) Experience in variable time blocks in community health activities in agencies delivering and planning health services. Sites include neighborhood clinics, health planning bodies, medical practice settings, public health agencies, special problem clinics and facilities, environmental programs and services. Prerequisite: master’s student in health services and permission of instructor.

HSERV 598 Extended Degree Program Project Option (*, max. 9) Supervised project work on a selected topic related to student’s concentration in graduate study. Includes survey of literature, development of approach, and written paper on conclusions. Prerequisite: registration in extended MPH degree program and satisfactory completion of the first summer’s course work.

HSERV 599 Community Oriented Public Health Practice Capstone Masters Project (1-9), (max. 9) Applies and extends the public health skills learned to other settings, develops new skills, expands a professional network, and provides specialized knowledge that can be used to advance the student’s future career and effectiveness in public health.

HSERV 600 Independent Study or Research (*) Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

HSERV 700 Master’s Thesis (*) Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

HSERV 800 Doctoral Dissertation (*)

Health Services Management

HSMGMT 500 Risk and Insurance Seminar (3) Presents the principles and practices of health insurance and risk. Emphasizes health care financing arrangements in the United States, including both private and government-sponsored (public) programs. Discusses comparisons with other developed countries. HSERV 511 is strongly recommended, but not required as a prerequisite.

HSMGMT 501 Epidemiology/Critical Evidence Appraisal (3-4) Basic knowledge about methods used in epidemiology and their application to critical appraisal of clinical, epidemiological, and health administration literature for evidence-based management of healthcare organizations, improvement of delivery of health services, and for creating health policies.

HSMGMT 502 Evidence-Based Health Care Planning (3-4) Applies the techniques of statistics, epidemiology, and critical evidence appraisal to the design and evaluation of population-based health care programs. It is the third course in a three-course sequence.

HSMGMT 512 Introduction to Management in Health Services (3) Overview of managerial roles, such as supervising and motivating, appraising organizational and environmental assessment and change, and development of systems analysis skills. For students pursuing careers in research and teaching who are likely to have management responsibilities.

HSMGMT 513 Seminar in Healthcare Finance (4) Focuses on case studies and modern theory in managerial finance relevant to health care, preparing students to analyze and implement information technology focuses on strategies for representing, organization, and manipulation of issues pertaining to health care, delivery of health care services. Includes demand analysis, production of health services, expenditure growth, markets for hospital and physician services, externalities. Emphasis on using economics to examine issues and solve problems. Prior economics courses not required.

HSMGMT 514 Health Economics (3/4) Uses economic concepts and tools to examine range of issues pertaining to health care, delivery of health care services. Includes demand analysis, production of health services, expenditure growth, markets for hospital and physician services, externalities. Emphasis on using economics to examine issues and solve problems.

HSMGMT 515 Advanced Economics (3) Decision Analysis (1-3, max. 3) Develops skills necessary to conduct economic analyses of public health and health service programs.

HSMGMT 523 Informatics in Health Care Management (3) Medical informatics concerns the representation, organization, and manipulation of biomedical information and knowledge. Exposes students to a high-level understanding of informatics and its health care applications. Discussion of successes and failures in implementing information technology focuses on gaining leadership and management knowledge that embraces informatics.

HSMGMT 543 Social and Behavioral Strategies for Improving Health (3) Explores social dimensions of health and medical care. Learn to identify key social and cultural principles that guide appropriateness in health care. Introduces tools used to influence social expectations and personal behavior in relation to illness, health, and demand for medical treatments.

HSMGMT 545 Capstone Integrative Seminar (4) Designed to assist students in the transition from theory to practice. Emphasis on sharpening analytical and intuitive leadership practices through the use of interactive case studies and team building exercises and field projects. Prerequisite: second-year MHA students.

HSMGMT 546 Long-Term Care (3) Learning experience for graduate students in health services administration, planning, other graduate students to increase their ability to identify and solve problems related to long-term care they confront in their employment. Students are exposed to available knowledge in the field; effective problem-solving attitudes and techniques for organizing information and/or developing strategies, and agencies in the field. Prerequisite: HSERV 511 or permission of instructor.

HSMGMT 550 Management Practice in Health Care and Public Health Organizations (1-4, max. 4) Introduction to leadership and management, focusing on effective strategies for creating a productive work environment. Organizational structure and strategy introduced. Case studies and other problem-solving methods, using health services applications are utilized in order to apply theoretical material. Prerequisite: graduate student.

HSMGMT 560 Strategic Management of Health Care Organizations (3-4, max. 4) Management of goals, strategy, and structure in health care organizations. Designed for midcareer health services professionals for professional, social, and organizational values. Theory, student and practitioner experience, and case studies to enhance repertoire of management approaches and skills. Prerequisite: HSERV 511 and HSMGMT 560 or equivalent.

HSMGMT 563 Personnel Management for Health Professionals (3) Designing a midcareer health services professional developing strategies and skills in human resource management. Focuses on policy and practice issues related to handling day-to-day personnel problems-selection, promotion, performance appraisal, discipline, grievances. Prerequisite: registration in Extended M.P.H. Degree program or permission of instructor; non-business majors.

HSMGMT 565 Quantitative Decision Making for Health Services Management (3) Applications of various quantitative techniques for problem solving, monitoring, controlling, decision making in health services. Identifying problem area, communications with consultant, evaluation to the quality and applicability of analyst’s work. Statistical, mathematical, operations research, industrial engineering techniques. Prerequisite: OMETH 500 or BIOIST 509 or permission of instructor.

HSMGMT 566 Decision Support Models for Health Services (3) Management science and approaches developed as applied to problems in public health. Emphasizes conceptual understanding of processes/applications of systematic, and rational approach to managerial problem solving, including cost-benefit, cost-effectiveness analysis. Prerequisite: BIOIST 502 and 503, or BIOIST 511; registration in Extended M.P.H. Degree program; non-business majors.

HSMGMT 571 Health Care Financial Management (4) Third course in a three-course sequence dealing with the management of health services institutions and programs. Topics covered are: health services law, hospital and program policy decisions, financial planning, and hospital design and architecture; and the presentation of hospital survey and health services research project reports. Prerequisite: HSERV 511 and ACCTG 500 or ACCTG 501 or permission of instructor.

HSMGMT 572 Financial Management for Health Professionals (3) Intensive review of basic accounting principles/terminology and an introduction to financial management/managerial accounting, including budgeting for managerial control, planning, cost accounting, financial health programs. Managerial accounting, program costing, rate setting, budget preparation. Prerequisite: BIOIST 502 and BIOIST 503, or BIOIST 511; registration in Extended M.P.H. Degree program or permission of instructor; non-business majors.

HSMGMT 573 Seminar in Health-Care Finance (3) Practical applications of corporate finance principles. Applies theoretical framework to health-care financial problems, including capital investment analysis, leasing vs. buyout, debt capacity analysis, bond refunding, control of capital, joint venture. Prerequisite: either HSMGMT 514, HSMGMT 587, ECON 400, or ECON 500; ACCTG 503 (or equivalent); HSMGMT 571; or permission of instructor.

HSMGMT 574 Financial Management I (3-4) Designed for midcareer professionals for professional, social, and organizational values. Theory, student and practitioner experience, and case studies to enhance repertoire of management approaches and skills. Prerequisite: HSERV 511 and HSMGMT 560 or equivalent.

HSMGMT 575 Financial Management II (4) Second in a two-part series, the emphasis of this financial management course is on preparing medical executives for managerial and leadership roles in health care organizations. Focus is on tools and analytic frameworks that health care managers use to make forward-looking decisions, including capital budgeting and risk analysis.

HSMGMT 590 Select Topics (1-6, max. 12) By arrangement, students and faculty members develop a program of reading and conference appropriate to the selected topic. The topic chosen is within the special competence of the faculty member participating in the course in the area of health services management.

HSMGMT 592 Health Management Program Seminar (1-6, max. 6)

Pathobiology

PABIO 301 Prevention of Infectious Diseases (3) NW Kenny Consideration of means of prevention of major classes of infectious diseases from the public-health view point. Classes of diseases are defined by site of infection (e.g. respiratory) or common mechanisms of spreading. Respiratory, sexually transmitted, water-borne, and tropical diseases. Prerequisite: either MICROM 301 or BIOI 201. Offered: Sp.

UCONJ 420 Biological Safety Practices (1) Kenny See University Conjoint courses.

PABIO 499 Undergraduate Research (*)

PABIO 500 Introduction to Pathobiology Research (3-9, max. 9) Rotation through research laboratory. Credit/no credit only.

Aerospace Studies

A S 101 Foundations of the United States Air Force I (1) Focuses on the basic characteristics of air doctrine; US Air Force mission and organization; functions of United States strategic offensive and defensive, general-purpose, and aerospace support forces; officership/professionalism and an introduction to communicative skills. Additional one-hour leadership laboratory is mandatory for cadets, but not special students. Offered: A.

A S 102 Foundations in the United States Air Force II (1) Focuses on the basic characteristics of air doctrine; US Air Force mission and organization; functions of United States strategic offensive and defensive, general-purpose, and aerospace support forces; officership/professionalism and an introduction to communicative skills. Additional one-hour leadership laboratory is mandatory for cadets, but not special students. Offered: W.

A S 103 Foundations in the United States Air Force III (1) Focuses on the basic characteristics of air doctrine; US Air Force mission and organization; functions of United States strategic offensive and defensive, general-purpose, and aerospace support forces; officership/professionalism and an introduction to communicative skills. Additional one-hour leadership laboratory is mandatory for cadets, but not special students. Offered: W.

A S 211 The Evolution of Air and Space Power I (1) Factors contributing to the development of air power from its beginnings to the present, and the evolution of air power concepts and doctrine. History of air power employment in military and nonmilitary operations in support of national objectives. Assessment of communicative skills. Additional one-hour leadership laboratory is mandatory for cadets, but not special students. Offered: Sp.

A S 212 The Evolution of Air and Space Power II (1) Factors contributing to the development of air power from its beginnings to the present, and the evolution of air power concepts and doctrine. History of air power employment in military and nonmilitary operations in support of national objectives. Assessment of communicative skills. Additional one-hour leadership laboratory is mandatory for cadets, but not special students. Offered: W.

A S 213 The Evolution of Air and Space Power III (1) Factors contributing to the development of air power from its beginnings to the present, and the evolution of air power concepts and doctrine. History of air power employment in military and nonmilitary operations in support of national objectives. Additional leadership laboratory (mandatory for cadets but not special students) provides leadership experiences, giving students the opportunity to apply learned principles. Offered: A.

A S 311 Aerospace Studies 300 (3) Emphasis on basic leadership and management fundamentals, professional knowledge, and communicative skills required of an Air Force officer. Case studies used to examine leadership and management situations. An additional leadership laboratory (mandatory for cadets but not special students) provides leadership experiences, giving students the opportunity to apply learned principles. Offered: A.

A S 312 Aerospace Studies 400 (3) Emphasis on basic leadership and management fundamentals, professional knowledge, and communicative skills required of an Air Force officer. Case studies used to examine leadership and management situations. An additional leadership laboratory (mandatory for cadets but not special students) provides leadership experiences, giving students the opportunity to apply learned principles. Offered: A.

A S 331 Aerospace Studies 300 (3) Emphasis on basic leadership and management fundamentals, professional knowledge, and communicative skills required of an Air Force officer. Case studies used to examine leadership and management situations. An additional leadership laboratory (mandatory for cadets but not special students) provides leadership experiences, giving students the opportunity to apply learned principles. Offered: A.
A S 333 Aerospace Studies 300 (3) Emphasis on basic leadership and management fundamentals, professional knowledge, and communicative skills required of an Air Force officer. Case studies used to examine leadership and management situations. An additional leadership laboratory (mandatory for cadets but not special students) provides leadership experiences, giving students the opportunity to apply learned principles. Offered: W.

M SCI 201 Military Science and Innovative Team Leadership (3) Explores dimensions of innovative tactical leadership strategies and styles. Practices personal motivation and team building through planning, preparing, and executing group exercises. Develops knowledge of leadership values, and attributes through an understanding of Army leadership examples. Lessons include leadership, personal development, values and ethics, officership, and tactics and techniques. Offered: A.

M SCI 202 Military Science and Foundations of Tactical Leadership (3) Explores creative and innovative tactical leadership strategies and styles by examining team dynamics and leadership theories. Examines challenges of leading teams in complex contemporary environments. Practical exercises focus on dimensions of terrain analysis, patrolling, operation orders, and cultural awareness. Lessons include fundamental of leadership, personal development, and tactics and techniques. Offered: W.

M SCI 203 Military Science and Transformational Leadership (3) Continues study of the theoretical basis of Army leadership and framework and dynamics of transformational leadership in the context of military operations. Develops greater self-awareness by assessing leadership styles and practices oral and written communication skills. Enables progress to applied and advanced tactical leadership study. Offered: Sp.

M SCI 301 Military Science and Tactical Leadership (3) Studies, practices, and evaluates adaptive leadership skills. Develops self-awareness and critical thinking skills using challenging scenarios related to small unit operations. Analyzes and evaluates leadership values, attributes, skills, and actions. Lessons focuses on leadership, land navigation, oral and written presentations, tactics, and physical fitness. Offered: A.

M SCI 302 Military Science and Applied Leadership (3) Continues adaptive approach to leadership applying situations necessary to build skills required in complex scenarios. Develops proficiency in evaluating, decision-making, persuading, and motivating peers through practical exercises. Students evaluate individual leadership values, attributes, skills, and actions, and receive specific feedback on their leadership abilities based on written and oral presentations. Offered: W.

M SCI 303 Military Science and Advanced Tactical Leadership (3) Finalizes M SCI 301 and M SCI 302 leadership skills that are necessary to successfully lead others while solving complex problems. Explores, evaluates, and develops decision-making skills required in contemporary environments. Reviews critical aspects of combat, specifically stability and support operations. Provides specific leadership feedback and prepares for advanced leadership and management. Offered: AWSp.

M SCI 305 Practicum-Techniques of Military Instructions (1-3, max. 3) Analysis, review of techniques used in military training and instructions. Students plan, rehearse, deliver, provide written critique on block of military instruction from the Military Qualification Skills Manual.

M SCI 401 Military Science and Developmental Leadership (3) & S Develops proficiency in planning, executing, and assessing complex problems, functioning as a staff member, and providing leadership-performance feedback. Explores situational opportunities assessing values, risk, and ethical decisions. Performance measured by abilities to give and receive systematic, specified feedback on 16 leadership attributes, skills, and actions focusing advanced leadership development. Offered: A.

M SCI 402 Military Science IV: Advanced (3) & S Explores dynamics of leading in complex situations of contemporary environments. Examines differences in customs and courtesies, military law, principles of war, and rules of engagement. Lessons review aspects of interacting with nongovernmental organizations, civilians, and host nation support with case studies examining complex ethical and practical demands of leadership. Offered: W.

M SCI 403 Military Science and Advanced Leadership (3) & S Completes fundamental learning of advanced leadership attributes, skills, and actions that effectively prepare students for careers in military or civilian leadership. Examines Army modularity, unit organization, joint operations, and the role of junior leaders. Focuses on case studies, situational exercises, student presentations, and battlefield analysis to develop insights on leadership. Offered: Sp.

Military Science

M SCI 101 Military Science and Leadership Development (3) Introduction to challenges and competences critical for effective leadership. Examines how critical thinking, goal setting, time management, and stress relate to leadership. Develops knowledge and comprehension of leadership dimensions. Lessons include history and mission of the Army and leadership, personal development, values and ethics, and tactics and techniques discussions. Offered: A.

M SCI 102 Military Science and Introduction to Tactical Leadership (3) Overview of leadership fundamentals of problem solving, listening skills, briefings, providing feedback, and effective writing. Explores dimensions of leadership values, attributes, skills, and actions in the context of practical, hands-on, and interactive exercises. Introduction of effective oral communication. Develops skills in map reading, land navigation, and tactical maneuvering at team levels. Offered: W.

M SCI 103 Military Science and Introduction to Applied Basic Leadership (3) Final introductory series on leadership. Applies leadership fundamentals emphasizing attributes, skills, and actions. Students assess capabilities simultaneously considering their personal leadership. Lessons apply leadership to military tasks of map reading, navigation, and tactics. Offered: Sp.

M SCI 201 Military Science and Innovative Team Leadership (3) Explores dimensions of innovative tactical leadership strategies and styles. Introduces the management process and the relationship of management functions to leadership. Stresses acceptance of a traditional deep sense of moral responsibility on the part of the aspiring leader. Offered: A.

N SCI 202 Navigation I (3) NW Allen The science and practice of maritime coastal navigation, including visual fixing, dead reckoning, and piloting methods. Computation of tides and currents and nautical rules of the road. Offered: A.
School of Social Work

Social Welfare (BASW)

SOC WF 101 Social Work in Action: Bridging the Gap From Science to Service (5) I&S Explores current social work practice and research applied to major societal problems. Lectures and discussions by leading faculty introduce students to the evidence-based perspective underlying program planning and practice innovation. Topics include: juvenile delinquency, child maltreatment, domestic violence, foster care reform, mental health, school violence, substance abuse, and poverty. Offered: A.

SOC WF 120 International Responses to Human Needs: Social Welfare Polices and Services (5) Focuses on major global social services such as poverty, immigration, and health that are reshaping social welfare policies and services throughout the world. Provides a comparative overview of social welfare policies and programs in the United States and selected other countries.

SOC WF 200 Introduction to Social Welfare Practice (5) I&S Introduction to the field of social work, including the theoretical concepts and institutional framework that guide practice. Overview of social work profession and social welfare system within which it operates. Lectures supplemented by exercises, films, guest lectures, and class discussions. Offered: A.

SOC WF 201 Advances in Prevention Science: Bridging the Gap from Science to Service (5) I&S Investigates the potential for preventing major social problems (child abuse and neglect, alcohol misuse, and interpersonal violence). Critically examines the state of prevention science, dialogue about ways to enhance the exchange of ideas between research and practice communities, and explore implications for social policy.

SOC WF 215 Intergroup Dialogues (3) Explores issues of social identities, differences, and inequalities to build understanding, skills, and values for bringing about greater social justice using dialogic communication.

SOC WF 310 Social Welfare Practice I (3) Provides an introduction to the roles, tasks, and functions of the social welfare practitioner and to theories and methods of intervention; a conceptual framework for social work practice with individuals, families, and small groups; and an opportunity to develop skills in problem assessment, intervention, termination, and evaluation. Offered: A.

SOC WF 311 Social Welfare Practice II (3) Provides an introduction to the roles, tasks, and functions of the social welfare practitioner and to theories and methods of intervention; a conceptual framework for social work practice with individuals, families, and small groups; and an opportunity to develop skills in problem assessment, intervention, termination, and evaluation. Prerequisite: SOC WF 310. Offered: W.

SOC WF 312 Social Welfare Practice III (3) Focus on macro systems in a diverse society using the generalist perspective. The implications of system resources and configurations for meeting human needs are considered. The role and function of generalist social workers to understand and advocate for system development and change is emphasized. Prerequisite: SOC WF 311. Offered: Sp.

SOC WF 315 Community Service Learning (1-5, max. 6) Opportunity for students to apply social work theory to practice, to advocate for social justice, and to be involved in community service. Students learn by connecting classroom theory and community-based experience through the completion of community-based projects in social work-type agencies Majors only.

SOC WF 390 Introduction to Social Welfare Research (5) Introduction to the logic of the scientific method as applied to social work and social welfare practice, to the design and conduct of a research study, and to data collection and summarization. Skill development in critical consumption of social welfare research. Prerequisite: either STAT 220 or QMETH 201. Offered: A.

SOC WF 402 Human Behavior and Social Environment I (5) I&S First of two-quarter sequence focusing on understanding human development across the lifespan. Integrates biological, psychological, structural, environmental, political, global, and socio-cultural perspectives. Explores relationship between the person and the environment including families, groups, organizations, communities, and institutions.

SOC WF 403 Human Behavior and Social Environment II (5) I&S Continuation of SOC WF 402. Prerequisite: SOC WF 402.

SOC WF 404 Cultural Diversity and Justice (5) I&S History and culture of disadvantaged and oppressed groups served by Social Welfare generalist practitioners. Offered: Sp knowledge and skill utilization. Student logs provide a basis for individual goal identification and achievement. Required of social welfare seniors. Offered: AWSp.

SOC WF 409 Readings in Social Welfare (1-5, max. 15)

SOC WF 415 Beginning Field Instruction (4-6, max. 12) Students are placed in selected social service agencies and accept beginning social service assignments under the supervision of competent agency personnel. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSp.

SOC WF 419 Adult Development and Aging (3) Introduces the field of adult development. Interdisciplinary perspective stressing the interaction of psychological, social, and physiological factors affecting the aging process. Goals are to help the student understand the processes and diversity in the aging process that can assist one’s own aging and help the learner work with older adults. Offered: A.

SOC WF 421 Methods of Child Care and Treatment (3) Focuses on an introduction to the continuum of child welfare services and presents practical approaches to working with children and adolescents in a wide variety of practice settings. Offered: alternate years; A.

SOC WF 430 Child Care Work Practice (3) Specialized practice with emotionally disturbed and delinquent children in group-care settings with focus on providing child-care staff with specific tools for teaching alternative behavior. Major topics include: etiology and diagnosis, observation and recording children’s behavior, special problems of group living, life-space interviewing, token economies, activity programming, group interventions, parental involvement, organizational requisites and community linkages. Offered: alternate years; A.

SOC WF 442 Building Competencies for Intergroup Dialogue Facilitation (5) VLP A/I&S Focuses on both knowledge and skills development for peer facilitators. Introduction to analytical tools and concepts needed to take a proactive role in policy development, advocacy, implementation, and policy research. Offered: Sp.

SOC WL 558 Integrative Seminar (1-2, max. 2) Topic-driven seminar that targets professional development of the first and second years (scholarship, research, teaching). Active participation expected in discussions and reflective papers. May require preparation for presentation or demonstration. Offered: A.

SOC WL 559 Preparing to Teach: Instructional Theory and Practice (3) Teaching conceptualized as professional practice. Focuses on the integration of theory, research and educational strategies, techniques, and skills into students’ practice as educators. Classroom discussions and activities promote reflection, exploration, critical analysis and experiential training.

SOC WL 577 Multidisciplinary Research Strategies for Prevention/Health Promotion (3) Nuris interdisciplinary overview of major concepts and methods in health promotion and prevention research, with emphasis on at-risk populations. Attentive to health disparities, collaboration with diverse communities and biobehavioral advances in addition to application of theory and prevention-science framework. Encourages interdisciplinary participation and supporting students in articulating their research perspectives. Offered: Sp.

SOC WL 578 Seminar in Special Topics for NIH Prevention Research Trainees (1, max. 9) Interdisciplinary overview of major concepts in promotion of mental health and prevention of mental distress with prevention science as framework. Provides conceptual foundations for advanced study in specialized aspects of mental health prevention research. Prerequisite: enrollment in Social Welfare Predoctoral Training Program in Prevention of Mental Health Problems and Disorders. Credit/no credit only. Offered: AWSp.

SOC WL 579 Interdisciplinary Approaches to Prevention Science: Children and Adolescents (3) Overview of theory, research, and practice in prevention science. Developmental perspective examining factors that promote or inhibit health development at different stages and during transitions (focus on birth through age 21). Designed for interdisciplinary dialogue, and includes guest faculty from around the University who are specialists in course topics. Credit/no credit only. Offered: A.

SOC WL 580 Quantitative research methods and design (3) Logic, terminology, and methods of quantitative social science approaches to correlational, experimental, quasi-experimental, survey, and program evaluation research. Components of the research process (problem definition, concept explication, ethical evaluation and designing defensible quantitative research studies. Offered: W.

SOC WL 581 Qualitative research methods and design (3) Theoretical and methodological foundations of a range of qualitative methods relevant to social welfare and social science research. Fundamentals of qualitative research design and implementation, including framing research questions, sampling, data collection and analytical methods, and quality criteria. Focus on ethics, cultural sensitivity, and community-based research with vulnerable populations. Offered: Sp.

SOC WL 582 Research Practicum (3-) Development of specific methodological skills in social welfare research through participation in an ongoing research project. Learning contract used to target specific research competencies. Credit/no credit only. Offered: ASpS.

SOC WL 583 Research Practicum (3) Development of specific methodological skills in social welfare research through participation in an ongoing research project. Learning contract used to target specific research competencies. Credit/no credit only. Offered: ASpS.

SOC WL 584 Teaching Practicum (3) Supervised teaching of a required course or teaching as a co-instructor with a faculty member. Learning contract used to target specific teaching competencies, e.g., assessing and evaluating student outcomes, identifying class session goals and objectives, tailoring instruction methods to diverse learning styles. Offered: AWSpS.

SOC WL 585 Qualitative Methods in Social Work Research (1) The first in a two-quarter... sequence offering intensive experience in the theory and application of qualitative and ethnographic research methods. Prepares students for conducting qualitative studies and for combining qualitative and quantitative research methods. Focuses on applications especially relevant to social welfare.

SOC WL 586 Qualitative Methods in Social Work Research II (3) The second in a two-quarter sequence offering intensive experience in the theory and application of qualitative and ethnographic research methods. Prepares students for conducting qualitative studies and for combining qualitative and quantitative research methods. Focuses on applications especially relevant to social welfare.

SOC WL 587 Fundamentals of Social Work Statistics I (4) Descriptive and inferential statistics. Underlying logic of statistical inference. Statistical issues of special relevance in social work, including measurement, research design, and ethics in research. Prerequisite: concurrent registration in SOC WL 580. Offered: A.

SOC WL 589 Multivariate Data Analysis for the Social Sciences (3, max. 6) Erciyesha Provides social scientists with an introduction to multivariate analysis techniques and the knowledge to carry them out. Focuses on statistical methods that explore relationships between observed variables. Topics include principal components, cluster, factor, latent class analysis. Prerequisite: SOC WL 587, 588, or equivalent. Offered: jointly with CS&SS 589; A.

SOC WL 590 Topics in Advanced Research Methods (3) Special topics in social and behavioral research design for advanced graduate students. Topics vary and focus on community-based research methods and measurement construction for culturally diverse populations. Prerequisite: doctoral student in social welfare or related discipline; advanced master’s level students by permission of instructor.

WL 591 Seminar on Topics in Social Welfare (1-3) Focuses on special topics in social welfare and social welfare research relevant to students across a range of research and disciplines. Examines causes of poverty, the role of policy, and socioeconomic dimensions of stratification, including race, ethnicity, class, gender, immigration status, disability, age, sexual orientation, and family structure.

SOC W 503 Social Work for Social Justice: Developing a Professional-Practitioner Stance I (1-3, max. 3) Focuses on personal and professional development toward social work practice for social justice. Engages critically self-reflective, experiential, and dialogic learning processes to engage students to explore personal meaning systems and narratives in the context of professional values of social justice, multiculturalism, empowerment, and globalization.

SOC W 504 Social Work for Social Justice: Developing a Professional-Practitioner Stance II (1-3, max. 3) Focuses on personal and professional development toward social work practice for social justice. Engages critically self-reflective, experiential, and dialogic learning processes to engage students to explore personal meaning systems and narratives in the context of professional values of social justice, multiculturalism, empowerment, and globalization.

SOC W 505 Foundations of Social Welfare Research (3) Alagren, Balassone, Enea, Hoffman Overview of research process/methods in social work, with focus on consuming and performing practice-related research and evaluating one’s own practice. Emphasis on critical understanding of empirical literature, development of useful and appropriate questions about social work practice, and strategies and techniques for doing research and applying findings to practice. Offered: Sp.

SOC W 506 Social Welfare Research and Evaluation (3) Second of a two-quarter research sequence. Introduces a range of methods for informing evidenced-based social work practice. Emphasizes critical appraisal of the literature, development of research questions, and strategies and techniques for conducting research-relevant research, including data collection and analysis.

SOC W 510 Practice I: Introduction to Social Work Practice (3) Foundation knowledge and skills for direct practice with individuals, families, and groups. Assists students toward mastery of interviewing and relationship building skills and knowledge of cross-cultural communication and practice issues and of social work values and ethics. Provides opportunity to develop beginning level skills in assessment. Offered: AWSpS.

SOC W 511 Practice II: Intermediate Direct Service Practice (3) Foundation knowledge and skills for direct practice with individuals, families, and groups. Course assists students toward mastery in assessment, development of treatment plans based on theory and assessment information, goalsetting skills, and selection of appropriate interventions. Offered: AWSpS.

SOC W 512 Practice III: Organizational Practice (3) Focuses on ways in which management activities contribute to service effectiveness for clients and quality of conditions for staff. Various managerial roles, functions, and skills examined. Impact of agency structure, culture, and mission on staff, clients, and organizational outcomes discussed with emphasis on ways social work managers influence change. Offered: W.

SOC W 513 Practice IV: Community Change Practice (3) Provides framework for reference and skills for community-based social work practice. Theories of social change are examined with examples drawn from community organizing and policy advocacy. Offered: Sp.

SOC W 514 Foundation Practice Skills (3) Focus on the teaching of practice skills (micro, mezzo, and/or macro) associated with contemporary themes in social work. Possible topics include social work with American Indian communities, adult interpersonal violence, and assessment and brief intervention in substance abuse and dependence. Offered: SpS.

SOC W 520 Social and Economic Inequality (3) Investigates how and economic inequality in America is established, manifested, and maintained. Also examines interventions that purportedly address inequality. Provides analytic tools to help with critical thinking about competing views of inequality and the interventions that address it.

SOC W 521 Child and Family Inequalities: Policy/Services Platform (3) Advanced study of policy and services relevant to practice with children, adolescents, and families. Applies social justice framework to understanding policy context and organization of services responses to child and family inequalities, especially for historically oppressed and marginalized populations. Examines social construction of policies in historical, political, and comparative context.

SOC W 522 Introduction to Practicum: Advanced Standing (2) Oriented advanced standing students towards their practicum. Covers critical issues related to the advanced standing practicum and prepares students for successful practice in their chosen agencies. Incorporates the knowledge and skills acquired through a generalist (micro, mezzo, and macro levels of practice) undergraduate social work education.

SOC W 523 Introduction to Practicum (0-1) Workshops for preparation for agency-based placement Interviewing and orientations occur at agencies. Credit/no credit only.

SOC W 524 Foundation Practicum (1-8, max. 12) Agency-based practicum with emphasis on development of knowledge, perspectives, and skills needed for practice with individuals, families, groups, organizations, and communities. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: social work major. Offered: AWSPS.

SOC W 525 Advanced Practicum (1-10, max. 24) Agency-based advanced practicum. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: SOC W 515 and foundation courses. Offered: AWSPS.

SOC W 526 Multigenerational Policy-Services Platform: A Feminist, Multicultural Lens (3) Builds social workers' competencies to analyze, critique, and advocate for policies and processes that will support growing numbers of multigenerational families. Presents a feminist, multicultural and multigenerational perspective to analyze how historical and current service structures, policies, and regulations support or undermine families across the lifespan.

SOC W 527 Global and Local Inequalities: Critical Analyses of the Processes and Policies of Globalization (3) Discussion of the health of the planet, economic and cultural globalization, the enduring legacies of imperialism and colonialism in this global era and their local impacts. Foci include international agreements, UN conventions, immigration and refugee policies.

SOC W 528 Health Care Inequalities: Policy/Services Platform (3) Examines the organization, policies, and services of U.S. health care systems from a social justice framework. Topics include the U.S. health care system's historical development, differential access to health and health care, health care system reform, and the analysis of health care policy from contrasting ideological perspectives.

SOC W 529 Mental Health Inequalities: Policy/Services Platform (3) Mental health policy trends and organization of services at national, state, and local levels reflected in legislative, regulatory, and institutional policies. Provides historical perspective on the development of U.S. mental health policies and services. Discusses specific areas of inter-system linkages in terms of equitable access and empowerment.

SOC W 530 Advanced Practice with Diverse Children and Families (3) Builds on foundation frameworks and competencies to develop specialized knowledge and skills for working with vulnerable children and families. An ecological framework informs family- and community-centered assessment and intervention that is empowering, culturally responsive, and clinically relevant. Foci include resilience, violence, attachment, loss, substance abuse, and disability.

SOC W 531 Advanced Practice with Diverse Children and Families: Focus on Child Mental Health (3) Develops specialized knowledge and skills for practice with children with mental health concerns and their families. Emphasis on child and family mental health assessment and interventions that are culturally relevant, collaborative, and strength-promoting. Topics include culture and mental health, system of care, psychotropic medication, ADHD, and depression.

SOC W 532 Advanced Practice with Diverse Children and Families: Focus on Child Welfare (3) Develops advanced knowledge and skills for culturally relevant child welfare practice across a range of settings including child protection, foster care, and adoption. Topics include family dynamics around child maltreatment; trauma and its impact on children; separation, loss, and identity development; and self-care in child welfare practice.

SOC W 533 Multigenerational Advanced Practice with Older Adults (3) Emphasizes a multigenerational, culturally competent empowerment approach and in-depth knowledge on best practices and institutional assessment, diagnosis, and clinical interventions with older adults and their families. Builds on other multigenerational classes.

SOC W 534 Praxis of Intergroup Dialogue (3) Students design, plan, implement, and evaluate intergroup dialogue sessions as peer facilitators. Students facilitate intergroup dialogue in conjunction with SOC W 504. Focuses on intensive in vivo instruction, consultation, and supervision of facilitators.

SOC W 535 Special Topics in Clinical and Contextual Practice (2/3) Examination of current substantive topics in clinical and contextual practice. Content varies according to recent developments in the field and the interests of the instructor.

SOC W 536 Social Movements and Organizing: People, Power, and Praxis (3) Focuses on social, economic, and political problems from an organism's perspective, and strategies, tactics, and strategies to engage in organizing activities. Emphasizes principles common to community, electoral, union, and issue organizing. Addresses why people organize, how organizing works, and what it takes to be a good organizer.

SOC W 537 Empowerment Practice with Refugees (3) Empowerment practice with refugees and immigrants across a transnational continuum of forced migration, including flight, internal displacement, asylum seeking, repatriation, and resettlement. Instruction includes classroom activities, workshops with local service providers, and agency-based projects. Addresses implications for strengths-based social services, policy, and practice skills.

SOC W 538 Critical Empowerment Practice with Multi-ethnic Communities (3) Principles of Empowering practice, critical analyses of models of multiculturalism and paradigms of knowledge and practice proven problematic in our increasingly diverse society. Assists students in developing empowering practice values, knowledge, and skills for work in multi-ethnic communities.

SOC W 539 Ethnographic Interviewing (3) Facilitates empowering and culturally sensitive practice, while providing an understanding of the other from his/her own perspective. Addresses power in worker-client relationships, clients as experts, communication across cultures, the uses and presentation of data to affect social change, ethical issues, and specific ethnographic interviewing techniques.

SOC W 540 Social Work Practice in Prevention, Primary Care, and Emergency Department Settings (3) Teaches theory and strengths-based practice within multi-disciplinary medical clinics and emergency settings from bio-psychosocial, family systems, multi-cultural, contextual, and lifespan perspectives. Advances skills in conducting assessments and cognitive-behavioral, solution-focused, motivational and crisis interventions to support individuals and families experiencing pain and loss associated with trauma and acute or chronic illness.

SOC W 541 Social Work Practice: Inpatient, Hospice, and Long-Term Care (3) Health care theory and practice skills relevant to adults and children in secondary and tertiary care settings, using multicultural, family systems, contextual, and lifespan perspectives. Skills include biopsychosocial and mental status assessments, ethical decision making, discharge planning, crisis intervention, cross-cultural practice, and counseling regarding life-threatening illness.

SOC W 542 Social Work Practice in Community Mental Health I (3) Emphasizes recovery-oriented practice with adults with severe and persistent mental illness and persons with co-occurring mental illness and substance disorders. Trains for generalist social work practice in most community mental health settings: community mental health centers, psychiatric hospitals, residential programs, jails, homeless shelters, on-the-streets, client’s homes, etc.

SOC W 543 Social Work Practice in Community Mental Health II (3) Focuses on social work practice with persons with severe mental illness. Emphasizes recovery, supported housing, supported employment, integrated treatment of co-occurring disorders. Covers practice with diverse populations: multicultural, developmentally disabled, geriatric, and gay/lesbian. Examines partnering with family members and working with Social Security. Complements SOC W 542, but may be taken free-standing.

SOC W 544 Clinical Social Work with Individuals I: Theory and Practice (3) First quarter of a two-quarter sequence on the theory and practice of clinical social work. Focuses on key concepts underlying direct practice. Topics include the therapeutic relationship, therapeutic listening, the ground rules, transference, countertransference, psychological defenses, resistance, phases of treatment, transference, countertransference, and vicarious trauma.

SOC W 545 Clinical Social Work With Individuals II: Theory and Practice (3) Second of a two-quarter sequence on the theory and practice of clinical social work. Focuses on the use of interpretation, obstacles to treatment, intervention techniques, case formulations that link assessment and intervention, monitoring client progress, and on selected theories of therapy.

SOC W 548 Advanced Generalist Practice I (3) First quarter of a two-quarter sequence. Emphasizes preparation of practitioners with capacity to move flexibly among a variety of professional roles, including the provision of direct services, program planning, supervision, and community practice. Emphasizes contextual assessment from micro to macro levels.

SOC W 549 Advanced Generalist Practice II (3) Second quarter of a two-quarter sequence. Highlights program planning, supervision and intervention across all levels of practice.

SOC W 550 Leadership and Program Development in Human Services (3) Focuses on tools and techniques for fulfilling functions of leadership, program planning, implementation, and change. Topics include strategic planning, gap and SWOT analyses, environmental scanning, logic modeling, workplace design, and diversity-promoting management. Lecture, discussion, and exercises. Required for SSW administration concentrators; open to others with permission of instructor.

SOC W 551 Financial Management of Human Services Programs (3) Covers key financial management components of human service programs, including development and use of business plans, budgets, and financial statements. Students demonstrate understanding of financial management through budget preparation, financial statement analysis, new project cost projections, audits, and presentations using computer-based spreadsheets and presentation software.

SOC W 555 Special Topics in Administration (2/3) Examination of current substantive topics in administration and management. Content varies according to recent developments in the field and the interests of the instructor.

SOC W 560 Policy Processes, Institutions, and Influences (3) Focuses on the process and institutions through which social policies are developed, adopted, and implemented, with special attention to the implications of these processes for social justice. Develops practice skills in analyzing and influencing the policy process, including social problem definition, policy design, policy adaptation, and policy implementation.

SOC W 561 Concepts and Methods of Policy Analysis (3) Engages students in the concepts and applied practice of policy analysis and evaluation. Prepares students to address two generic policy questions: Given an identified problem, what policy or program should be selected? Given a particular policy or program, how do we evaluate effectiveness? Particular attention paid to social justice implications.

SOC W 565 Special Topics in Policy Practice (2/3) Examination of current substantive topics in policy practice. Content varies according to recent developments in the field and the interests of the instructor.

SOC W 570 Anti-racist Organizing for Social and Economic Change (3) Applies an institutional analysis of racism and white privilege to the strategies of community organizing by communities of color and indigenous peoples. Examines anti-racist organizational transformation, intersectionality of oppressions and privileges, white allies in anti-racist struggles, and the role of social workers in maintaining and combating institutional racism.

SOC W 571 Assessment of Mental Disorders (3) Provides basic knowledge and skills to assess mental disorders and improve critical thinking concerning assessment and diagnosis. Emphasizes the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders (DSM-IV) for its system of symptom description and classification. Examines challenges of methodological implications of mental health assessment across race, gender, and ethnicity.

SOC W 572 Chemical Dependency — Drug Effects, Assessment, and Treatment Referral Issues (3) Provides students with the knowledge and basic skills to render and understand the dynamics of chemical dependency in the lives of individuals, how to assess the presence of this disorder, and what the issues are in referring individuals to treatment for this disorder.

SOC W 573 Child Welfare and Permanency Planning (3) Focuses on social work interventions within the public child welfare system for children who have been abused and neglected. Includes practice models to ensure safety and permanency for children, federal and state mandates for permanency, cultural determinants, juvenile court dependency system, and research findings pertaining to permanency planning outcomes.

SOC W 574 Collaborative Community-Based Program Evaluation (3) Focuses on carrying out a formative evaluation with evaluation of a community program in conjunction with program staff and clients. In addition to learning about program theory, measurement construction, study design, and data analysis, students develop consultative and presentation skills needed in utilization-focused evaluation.

SOC W 575 Domestic Violence Policy and Intervention (3) Examines policy, theory, research, and intervention in field of intimate partner violence with emphasis on historical, cultural, and political contexts. Advanced study of structural contributors, policy parameters, and service delivery and cross-systems necessary to effective practice and leadership in the field locally, nationally, and globally.

SOC W 576 Empowerment Practice with Persons with Disabilities (3) Provides background in theories and models of disability that contribute to empowerment-oriented intervention techniques. Emphasizes direct practice skills for working with people with disabilities and their families. Emphasizes understanding how disability studies and the disability movement influence social work practice.

SOC W 577 Maintaining Quality Social Work Practice: Ethics, Self-care, and Risk Management (2/3) Develops models for maintaining ethical and legal obligations to clients and others; managing risk; and maintaining ethical, responsible, and self-sustaining practice over a professional career. Examines competing ethical frameworks and material on essential values underlying ethical principles and the basis for ethical and legal regulation of practice.

SOC W 578 Evidence-Based Practice in Child Mental Health (3) Critically examines the program components and empirical research base of selected child mental health treatment program models designed to serve children and youth who present with severe emotional or behavioral disorders. Focuses on treatment models that reflect a “systems of care philosophy” and which offer alternatives to traditional services.

SOC W 579 Faith Matters and Mental Health Practice: Conflict vs Integration (3) Examines the complex interrelation between faith matters and the practice of mental health professions, including approaches to definitions and assessments.

SOC W 580 Grant Writing and Fund Development (3) Prepares students to participate and provide leadership in grant writing and fundraising for community-based human services. Opportunity to practice skills required for developing a successful grant proposal and planning a successful fundraising program. Identify, cultivate, and develop sources of funding. Students assist in writing a complete grant proposal as final project.

SOC W 581 Historical Trauma and Healing (3) Provides specialized knowledge and skills for practice with communities experiencing historical trauma. Covers emerging theories of historical trauma, impact of historical trauma on families and communities, and culturally relevant interventions to promote healing. Builds upon the concepts of empowerment practice and indigenous models of social work.

SOC W 582 Interpersonal Violence and Trauma (3) Examines trauma theory, nature of interpersonal violence, psychological concepts, cognitive behavioral therapy, multidisciplinary and cognitive behavioral interventions with victims and offenders, effects of interpersonal violence, and counter-transference reactions. Format includes lecture, discussion, case presentations, and presentations by community experts.

SOC W 583 Multicultural and Multigenerational Approaches to Healing Grief and Loss (3) Uses critical analysis to expand Western symptom-oriented grief and loss theory to include multicultural approaches, exploring new constructionist models of meaning-making, narrative biography, and cultural traditions through case studies. Assessment and intervention exercises include journaling and project proposals, allowing students to explore how their own grief affects practice.

SOC W 584 Multicultural Mental Health Practice (3) Advanced-practice course that builds upon foundation content in HUB, micro- and macro-practice/HBSE sequences, policy, diversity, and research. Grapples with complex mental health service design and delivery issues often informed by ethnocentric paradigms of knowledge and practice that have proven problematic in their general application in our increasingly diverse society.

SOC W 585 Advanced Group Work (3) Overview of group work and major theorist in the field. Examines differential applicability of methods across diverse populations. Emphasis on developing powers of observation of group process (as opposed to content) and on ability to intervene at the group level (as opposed to individual level). Prerequisite: Group work experience.

SOC W 586 Policy Advocacy (1, max. 3) Focuses on involvement in the policy-making process. Students design projects to influence public policy: local level in the fall, state level in the winter, and federal level in the spring. Readings based on policy materials (proposed and final laws, regulations, budgets, advocacy documents). Credit/no credit only.
SOC W 587 Spirituality in Health Care (2)
Carrigan, McCormick Examination of the beliefs, values, meanings, and spirituality of health professionals for the well-being of their patients as well as for themselves. Offered: jointly with FAMED 547/MHE 518; Sp.

SOC W 588 School Social Work (3) Required for School Social Worker certification. Explores theoretical frameworks, current issues in education, individual, group and family practice; organizational context; and systems change. Also covers legal issues, racism and educational outcomes, special education, culturally sensitive practice, advocacy, family involvement, child abuse mandated reporting, collaboration, and ethics.

SOC W 589 Social Work Practice with Families (3) Philosophical, theoretical, and practice issues relevant to family-centered social work. Presents family systems theory and a generalized model of engagement, assessment, and treatment. Clinical applications with particular client populations and their presenting problems, such as couples, family crisis, child behavioral problems, and affective disorders.

SOC W 590 Social Work Supervision and Consultation (3) Provides knowledge and skills involved in the role of social worker as supervisor and team leader; supervision as a leadership function, power and authority, professional boundaries, staff recruitment, selection, performance evaluation, and addressing staff-related performance problems.

SOC W 591 Social Work Practice in Long-Term Care Across the Lifespan (3) Applies a multigenerational framework to introduce values, skills, and knowledge necessary for social work practice in long-term care settings across all age groups. Meets at a nearby continuing care community and provides regular opportunities to interact with persons requiring long-term care, their families, and formal caregivers.

SOC W 593 Social Work Practice with Chemically Dependent Adults: Cognitive Behavioral Approaches (3) Teaches skills in four contexts: (1) incorporating questions concerning alcohol/drug use in an assessment of new clients, (2) conducting a comprehensive alcohol/drug assessment when a problem has been identified, (3) offering a brief motivational enhancement intervention to ambivalent clients, and (4) delivering cognitive-behavioral counseling focusing on overcoming dependence.

SOC W 594 Women and Poverty(3) Views women’s poverty, domestically and internationally, through a gender lens. Topics include measuring women’s economic contribution, the feminization of poverty, demographic issues (marriage, single, and teen parenting), employment inequality (occupational segregation, discrimination, harassment), and “charity.” Neighborhoods, social security, welfare reforms as causes/cures of women’s poverty. Seminar/lecture, student-led discussions, presentations.

SOC W 596 Statistics in Social Work (1-3 max. 3) Introductory foundation in descriptive statistics, probability theory, statistical inference, and bivariate statistics commonly used in evaluations of social program and clinical practice. Conceptual emphasis on understanding the logic of measurement and statistical inference. Understanding reinforced by hand calculations involving high school algebra. Fulfills SOC W 505 prerequisite.

SOC W 597 Integrative Seminar (1-5, max. 12) Integrates specialized knowledge in social work settings. Offered: AWSp.

SOC W 598 Readings in Social Work (*) Independent Studies. Credit/no credit only. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Offered: AWSp.

SOC W 600 Independent Study or Research (*)

SOC W 700 Master’s Thesis (*)

LAIRD, MARGARET L * Assistant Professor, 2004; MS, 1994, Princeton University, PhD, 2002, Princeton University; ancient Roman art, archaeology; non-elite art; ancient urbanism; Roman imperial cult

LINGO, ESTELLE C * Assistant Professor, 2006; MA, 1993, Brown University, PhD, 1999, Brown University; 17th and 18th century Southern European Art

LINGO, STUART P * Assistant Professor, 2006; MA, 1986, University of London, UK, PhD, 1998, Harvard University; Italian Art of the 14th to 16th century

MATTHEWS, KRISTINE * Assistant Professor, 2007; MA, 1997, Royal College of Art (UK); Visual Communication Design

MCNEEL, AMIE L. * Assistant Professor, 2007; MFA, 1990, University of California (Berkeley); Sculpture

O’TOOLE, HELEN J. * Assistant Professor, 1996; MFA, 1989, The School of Art Institute of Chicago, MFA, 1989, The School of Art Institute of Chicago; studio drawing, painting, and art history

OZUBKO, CHRISTOPHER * Professor, 1981; MFA, 1981, Cranbrook Academy of Art; visual communication design

ROESLER, AXEL * Assistant Professor, 2005; Diploma, 2000, Burg Giebichenstein (Germany), MFA, 2001, Ohio State University, PhD, 2005, Ohio State University; Interaction design

SCHIEFER, SHIRLEY E. * Associate Professor, 1986; MFA, 1985, University of Wisconsin (Madison); printmaking

STEVENS, ANNE HAYDEN, Lecturer, 1998; MA, 1997, University of California (Berkeley)

TAKAMORI, AKIO * Professor, 1988; MFA, 1978, New York State College of Ceramics; ceramic sculpture

WADDEN, DOUGLAS J. * Professor, 1970; MFA, 1970, Yale University; graphic design, photography

WALKER, JAMIE * Professor, 1987; MFA, 1983, Rhode Island School of Design; ceramic arts

WIECZOREK, MAREK K. * Associate Professor, 1997; MA, 1990, University of Amsterdam (Netherlands), MPhil, 1992, Columbia University, PhD, 1997, Columbia University; Modern European art; Mondrian and De Stijl; critical theory

WRIGHT, ROBIN K * Professor, 1985; MA, 1977, University of Wisconsin, PhD, 1985, University of Washington; Native American art, Native art of the Pacific Northwest Coast, Haida art

YOUNG, JOHN T * Professor, 1984; MFA, 1978, Rhode Island School of Design; sculpture, conceptual art

Asian Languages and Literature

ATKINS, PAUL S * Associate Professor, 2002; MA, 1994, Stanford University, PhD, 1999, Stanford University; medieval Japanese literature and culture, especially waka poetry and noh drama

BHOWNIK, DAVINDER L. * Assistant Professor, 1998; MA, 1993, University of Washington, PhD, 1997, University of Washington; Modern Japanese literature from Okinawa

BI, NYAN-PING, Lecturer, 2000; MA, 1988, Indiana University, PhD, 2000, Indiana University

BOLTZ, JUDITH M. * Affiliate Associate Professor, 1988; MA, 1976, University of California (Berkeley), PhD, 1985, University of California (Berkeley); Classical Chinese Literature

BOLTZ, WILLIAM * Professor, 1978; MA, 1969, University of California (Berkeley), PhD, 1974, University of California (Berkeley); classical Chinese

BRAESTER, YOMI * Adjunct Associate Professor, 2000; MA, 1991, Hebrew University (Israel), MA, 1992, Yale University, PhD, 1998, Yale University; Modern Chinese literature, film, literary criticism and theory of art

BRANDAUER, FREDERICK P, Associate Professor Emeritus, 1973; MDiv, 1958, United Theological Seminary, MA, 1965, University of Pittsburgh, PhD, 1973, Stanford University

COOKE, JOSEPH R, Associate Professor Emeritus, 1967; PhD, 1965, University of California (Berkeley)

COX, COLLETT D. * Professor, 1985; MA, 1974, Columbia University, MPhil, 1976, Columbia University, PhD, 1983, Columbia University; Buddhist studies (East and South Asian), Indian philosophy and religion, comparative religion
GETHING, THOMAS W., Affiliate Professor, 1995; MA, 1963, University of Michigan, PhD, 1966, University of Michigan

HAMM, JOHN C. * Associate Professor, 1999; MA, 1994, University of California (Berkeley), PhD, 1999, University of California (Berkeley); Late imperial and modern Chinese literature, fiction and popular culture

HANDEL, ZEV * Associate Professor, 1998; MA, 1992, University of California (Berkeley), PhD, 1998, University of California (Berkeley); Chinese historical phonology; Sino-Tibetan linguistics

KANO, TAMAKO-NIWA, Associate Professor Emeritus, 1962; PhD, 1956, Radcliffe

KESAVATANA-DHORS, WIWORN, Lecturer, 1990; MA, 1984, University of Detroit, PhD, 1989, University of Michigan

KUMAR, VIPIN * Associate Professor, 1988; MS, 1972, University of Rhode Island, MBA, 1974, University of Rhode Island, PhD, 1988, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; manufacturing, polymer processing, microcellular plastics, design theory and methodology

KUNZELMAN, KARYN S, Affiliate Associate Professor, 1991; PhD, 1991, University of Texas (Southwestern)

LEDOUX, WILLIAM R. * Affiliate Associate Professor, 2000; MS, 1993, University of Pennsylvania, PhD, 1999, University of Pennsylvania; Foot biomechanics, soft tissue testing, and computational modeling

LI, JIANGYU * Assistant Professor, 2006; MS, 1996, University of Colorado (Boulder), MS, 1998, University of Colorado (Boulder), PhD, 1998, University of Colorado (Boulder)

LI, WEI * Associate Professor, 2000; MEng, 1993, Asian Institute of Technology (Thailand), MS, 1995, Florida Agriculture And Mech University, PhD, 1999, University of Michigan; Manufacturing, ultrasonic material processing, welding, porous polymer fabrication, sensing, diagnosis

LIANG, YUANCHANG * Research Assistant Professor, 2002; MS, 1997, Lehigh University, PhD, 2002, University of Washington; active materials such as shape memory alloys (SMA) and ferromagnetic SMA

MALTE, PHILIP C * Professor, 1979; MSE, 1966, University of Michigan, PhD, 1971, University of Michigan; combustion, thermodynamics, fluid mechanics

MAMISHEV, ALEXANDER V * Adjunct Associate Professor, 1999; MS, 1994, Texas A&M University, PhD, 1999, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; sensors, non-destructive testing, power, MEMS, inverse problems, optimization

MASON, GREGORY, Affiliate Assistant Professor, 1992; MSME, 1984, Georgia Institute of Technology, PhD, 1992, University of Washington

MATSUOKA, YOKY * Adjunct Associate Professor, 2006; MS, 1995, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, PhD, 1998, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Robotics, brain-machine interface

MC CORMICK, NORMAN J. * Professor Emeritus, 1966; MS, 1961, University of Illinois, PhD, 1965, University of Michigan; radiative transfer and optical oceanography, reliability and risk analysis, mechanical engineering design

MC FERON, DEAN E, Professor Emeritus, 1956; MSME, 1948, University of Colorado (campus unspecified), PhD, 1956, University of Illinois

MESCHER, ANN M. * Associate Professor, 1996; MS, 1992, Ohio State University, PhD, 1995, Ohio State University

MORRISON, JAMES B, Professor Emeritus, 1946; MSME, 1954, University of Washington

NELSON, HAROLD G, Affiliate Associate Professor, 2002; MArch, 1975, University of California (Berkeley), PhD, 1979, University of California (Berkeley)

NICHOLS, KENNETH M. * Affiliate Associate Professor, 1998; MS, 1985, Brigham Young University, PhD, 1987, Brigham Young University; Optimization of combustion processes in the forest products industry

NICOL, DAVID G * Affiliate Assistant Professor, 1996; MSME, 1988, University of Washington, PhD, 1995, University of Washington; Combustion modeling, including computational fluid mechanics and chemical reactor networks

NUCKLEY, DAVID J. * Affiliate Assistant Professor, 2002; PhD, 2002, University of Washington; The Biology and Mechanics of the Maturing and Aging Spine

O’DONNELL, MATTHEW * Adjunct Professor, 2006; PhD, 1976, University of Notre Dame; ultrasound imaging; new imaging modalities in biomedicine, including ultrafast optics, in vivo microscopy, catheter imaging of coronary arteries, optoacoustic arrays, and elasticity and molecular imaging

PRATT, DAVID T, Professor Emeritus, 1981; MS, 1962, University of California (Berkeley), PhD, 1968, University of California (Berkeley)

RAMULU, M * Professor, 1982; MTech, 1976, Indian Institute of Technology (India), PhD, 1982, University of Washington; manufacturing processes, production engineering, applied mechanics, fatigue and fracture mechanics

REINHALL, PER G * Professor, 1982; MS, 1978, California Institute of Technology, PhD, 1982, California Institute of Technology; nonlinear dynamics, vibrations

RILEY, JAMES J * Professor, 1983; PhD, 1971, Johns Hopkins University; fluid mechanics, especially turbulent flows

ROSE, JACOB * Adjunct Research Assoc Professor, 1997; MSC, 1993, Tel Aviv University (Israel), PhD, 1997, Tel Aviv University (Israel); Human Centered Robotics, Medical Robotics, Rehabilitation Robotics, Human Machine Interfaces, Surgical Robotics, Exoskeleton, Medical Simulation, Biomechanics

SANDERS, JOAN ELIZABETH * Adjunct Associate Professor, 1992; MSME, 1985, Northwestern University, PhD, 1991, University of Washington; soft tissue biomechanics and tissue adaptation to mechanical stress

SANDWITH, COLIN J * Research Associate Professor Emeritus, 1966; PhD, 1966, Oregon State University; corrosion, material science, design, manufacturing

SCHEIBE, ROBERT, Affiliate Associate Professor, 1996; MSME, 1982, University of Wisconsin, PhD, 1996, University of Washington

SEIBEL, ERIC J. * Research Associate Professor, 1996; MS, 1984, University of California (Berkeley), PhD, 1996, University of Washington; Opto-mechanics and scanning for image acquisition, display and biomedical sensing

SENGUPTA, GAUTAM, Affiliate Professor, 1993; PhD, 1970, University of Southampton (UK)
SHEKARRIZ, ALIREZA, Affiliate Associate Professor, 2002; MS, 1984, University of Portland, PhD, 1988, Washington State University

SHERRER, ROBERT E, Associate Professor Emeritus, 1960; MSME, 1953, University of Wisconsin, PhD, 1958, University of Wisconsin (Madison)

SHUMAN, TEODORA RUTAR * Affiliate Assistant Professor, 2000; MSME, 1994, University of Washington, PhD, 2000, University of Washington; Kinetics of NOx formation in lean-premixed-prevaporized combustion of hydrocarbon fuels

SHUMLAK, URI * Adjunct Professor, 1994; PhD, 1992, University of California (Berkeley); computational fluid dynamics, parallel computing, plasma physics, magnetohydrodynamics, and electrical propulsion

SIDLES, JOHN ARTHUR * Adjunct Professor, 1984; PhD, 1982, University of Washington; Seeing molecules (i.e., quantum-coherent instrumentation); and regenerating cartilage (i.e., natural history of healing.)

SNIADECKI, NATHAN JOHN * Assistant Professor, 2007; PhD, 2003, University of Maryland, MS, 2003, University of Maryland; engineering of micro- and nanofabricated measurement tools for the understanding of cell mechanics and mechanotransduction

STIPE, CHRISTOPHER B, Affiliate Assistant Professor, 2004; MS, 2001, University of California (Berkeley), PhD, 2003, University of California (Berkeley)

STORTI, DUANE W * Associate Professor, 1983; MS, 1981, Cornell University, PhD, 1983, Cornell University; nonlinear dynamics and vibrations, dynamical systems, perturbations and bifurcations

TAGGART, RAYMOND, Professor Emeritus, 1959; PhD, 1956, Queen’s University (UK)

TAYA, MINORU * Professor, 1986; MS, 1973, Northwestern University, PhD, 1977, Northwestern University; composite materials, elasticity and plasticity, impact physics, fracture theory

TUTTLE, MARK E * Professor, 1985; MS, 1978, Michigan Technological University, PhD, 1984, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University; experimental stress analysis, composite materials, adhesion mechanics, viscoelasticity, applied solid mechanics

WASHINGTON, WEI-CHIH * Research Assistant Professor, 1997; MS, 1992, University of Washington, PhD, 1996, University of Washington; MEMS, Optomechanical Sensors, Biomedical Instrumentation

WILSON, WILLIAM R.D. * Professor Emeritus, 1999; PhD, 1967, Queen’s University of Belfast (Ireland); Manufacturing and tribology, particularly friction, lubrication and surface generation in metal forming

ZABINSKY, ZELDA * Adjunct Professor, 1985; MS, 1984, University of Michigan, PhD, 1985, University of Michigan; operations research, applications in industrial engineering, optimization with stochastic elements

Technical Communication

ATMAN, CYNTHIA J. * Adjunct Professor, 1998; MS, 1983, Ohio State University, PhD, 1990, Carnegie Mellon University; Engineering education issues and developing cognitive models of engineering design

BEREANO, PHIL * Professor Emeritus, 1975; JD, 1965, Columbia University, MRP, 1971, Cornell University; technology assessment, social values, public policy technology; social values, citizen participation

BOYD, SUZANNE M, Affiliate Assistant Professor, 2002; MA, 2000, University of Washington

BRAINARD, SUZANNE GAGE * Affiliate Associate Professor, 1996; MA, 1969, Ohio State University, PhD, 1972, Ohio State University; Mentoring; program evaluation; gender; workforce, diversity, and engineering and science

CECCARELLI, LEAH M. * Adjunct Associate Professor, 1996; MA, 1992, Northwestern University, PhD, 1995, Northwestern University; rhetoric of science, rhetorical criticism

CONWAY, MARY B * Professor Emeritus, 1975; MA, 1963, University of Illinois, PhD, 1973, University of Washington; writing style and theories of technical communication, rhetoric

DALEY, DANIEL J * Adjunct Research Professor, 1988; MS, 1982, University of Washington, PhD, 1988, University of Washington; time series modeling of physical phenomena, optimization, distributed computing, networking

FARKAS, DAVID K. * Professor, 1983; MA, 1969, University of Chicago, PhD, 1976, University of Minnesota; advisory interface of computer systems, interactive multimedia, information design

FREEL, TRACEY ANN, Affiliate Assistant Professor, 2004; MS, 2004, University of Washington

FURNES, THOMAS A. * Adjunct Professor, 1989; PhD, 1981, University of Southampton (UK); display systems engineering, human factors, computer graphics, virtual reality, human computer interface design

HASELDAK, MARK P * Professor, 1985; MA, 1973, University of Michigan, PhD, 1977, University of Michigan, MA, 1980, University of Michigan; real-time information systems, human/machine interaction, the computer in technical communication

KASONIC, KAREN E., Lecturer, 2001; MS, 2001, University of Washington

KATO, MASASHI * Senior Lecturer, 1991; MA, 1980, University of Washington; Technology enhanced language teaching and learning

KOLKO, BETH E * Associate Professor, 2000; MA, 1991, University of Texas (Austin), PhD, 1994, University of Texas (Austin); Computer-mediated communication; virtual worlds; cross-cultural issues in information and communication technologies

Kelsey, JUDITH A * Professor, 1983; MA, 1971, University of Texas (unspecified), PhD, 1983, University of Texas (unspecified); computer documentation, online documentation, user interface design and usability testing

KスポYRĐIĐ, JAN * Professor, 1977; MAT, 1972, University of Washington, PhD, 1986, University of Washington; Comprehension and Usability, Document Design, Web Design, Research Methods

TSUTSUI, MICHIO * Associate Professor, 1990; MA, 1980, University of Illinois, PhD, 1984, University of Illinois; technical Japanese, computer-aided instruction, international technical communication, linguistics

TURNS, JENNIFER A. * Associate Professor, 1999; MS, 1990, University of Virginia, PhD, 1999, Georgia Institute of Technology; User-centered design, engineering education, expertise, design cognition
WHITE, MYRON, Professor Emeritus, 1947; PhD, 1958, University of Washington

WILLIAMS, THOMAS R * Associate Professor, 1977; MCP, 1981, University of Washington, PhD, 1988, University of Washington; text and visual information processing, document design, interactive multimedia

ZACHRY, MARK R * Associate Professor, 2006; MA, 1992, Arizona State University, PhD, 1998, Iowa State University; Organizational communication
College of Forest Resources

Forest Resources

ACKER, STEVEN, Affiliate Associate Professor, 2004; PhD, 1988, University of Wisconsin

AGEE, JAMES K * Professor Emeritus, 1978; MS, 1968, University of California (Berkeley), PhD, 1973, University of California (Berkeley); management of natural systems, forest ecology, fire ecology

ALLAN, G GRAHAM * Professor, 1966; PhD, 1956, University of Glasgow (UK); creativity and innovation

AMMIRATI, JOSEPH F * Adjunct Professor, 1979; MA, 1967, San Francisco State, PhD, 1972, University of Michigan; mycology, taxonomy and ecology of fungi

ANTONELLI, ARTHUR LOUIS, Affiliate Professor, 1996; MS, 1969, Central Washington University, PhD, 1974, University of Idaho

ANTOS, JOSEPH * Affiliate Associate Professor, 1992; MA, 1977, University of Montana, PhD, 1984, Oregon State University; Terrestrial plant ecology, especially of forest understory plants

AUBRY, KEITH B * Affiliate Professor, 1983; MF, 1977, Yale University, PhD, 1983, University of Washington; Ecology, management, and conservation of terrestrial vertebrates

BAKKER, JONATHAN * Assistant Professor, 2006; MSC, 1996, University of Regina (Saskatchewan), PhD, 2005, Northern Arizona University; Ecological restoration; Sustainable ecosystem management

BARBOUR, JAMIE, Affiliate Associate Professor, 1996; MS, 1983, University of Washington, PhD, 1990, University of Washington

BARE, B BRUCE * Professor, 1969; MS, 1965, University of Minnesota, PhD, 1969, Purdue University; harvest scheduling, biometry, forest land management, taxation, finance, management science, forest valuation, forest policy

BIGLEY, RICHARD E., Affiliate Assistant Professor, 1994; MSC, 1981, University of British Columbia (Canada), PhD, 1988, University of British Columbia (Canada)

BILBY, ROBERT E * Affiliate Professor, 1994; PhD, 1979, Cornell University; The ecology of stream ecosystems and their response to land use impacts

BOLTON, SUSAN M * Professor, 1992; MS, 1979, University of North Dakota, MS, 1985, New Mexico State University, PhD, 1991, New Mexico State University; hydrology, watershed management, stream restoration, ecological engineering

BRADLEY, GORDON A * Professor, 1972; MLA, 1972, University of California (Berkeley), PhD, 1986, University of Michigan; Forest land use planning, Conservation area planning and design

BRIGGS, DAVID G * Professor, 1980; MF, 1968, Yale University, PhD, 1980, University of Washington; operations research in forest products industries

BROWN, SALLY L. * Research Associate Professor, 1998; MS, 1993, University of Maryland, PhD, 1996, University of Maryland; Soils scientist working on restoration of metal contaminated sites, land application of residuals and bioavailability of contaminants in soils

BRUBAKER, LINDA B * Professor Emeritus, 1973; MS, 1967, University of Michigan, PhD, 1973, University of Pennsylvania; dendrochronology, forest ecology, quaternary paleocology

BRYANT, BENJAMIN S, Professor Emeritus, 1949; DF, 1951, Yale University

BURA, RENATA * Assistant Professor, 2006; MSC, 2000, University of Toronto (Canada), PhD, 2004, University of British Columbia (Canada); Bioconversion of lignocellulosic biomass; Biomaterials from lignin and plant components

CAMPBELL, ROGER, Affiliate Professor, 1996; PhD, 1973, University of Hawaii

CAREY, ANDREW, Affiliate Professor, 1984; MS, 1974, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, PhD, 1978, Colorado State University

CHALKER-SCOTT, LINDA * Affiliate Associate Professor, 1997; MS, 1981, Oregon State University, PhD, 1988, Oregon State University; Environmental stress physiology of woody plants

CHRISMAN, RAY WALDO, Affiliate Professor, 2007; PhD, 1976, Purdue University

COHEN, MICHAEL F., Affiliate Assistant Professor, 2004; PhD, 1996, University of California (Davis)

COLE, DALE W, Professor Emeritus, 1960; MS, 1957, University of Wisconsin (Madison), PhD, 1963, University of Washington

CONQUEST, LOVEDAY L * Adjunct Professor, 1976; MS, 1972, Stanford University, PhD, 1975, University of Washington; statistics in forestry, fisheries, and environmental pollution monitoring

DE BELL, DEAN S, Affiliate Professor, 1977; MF, 1964, Duke University, PhD, 1970, Duke University

DOTY, SHARON L * Assistant Professor, 2001; PhD, 1995, University of Washington; Molecular biology of pollutant degradation by cottonwood trees

DOWDLE, BARNEY, Professor Emeritus, 1962; MF, 1958, Yale University, PhD, 1962, Yale University

DRIVER, CHARLES H, Professor Emeritus, 1965; MSF, 1950, University of Georgia, PhD, 1954, Louisiana State University

DUNWIDDIE, PETER W, Affiliate Professor, 1998; MS, 1976, University of Wisconsin, PhD, 1983, University of Washington

EASTIN, IVAN * Professor, 1992; MSC, 1985, Michigan Technological University, MSC, 1989, University of Washington, PhD, 1992, University of Washington; marketing strategies and international trade of forest products

EDMONDS, ROBERT L * Professor, 1973; MSF, 1968, University of Washington, PhD, 1971, University of Washington; forest soil microbiology, biology of forest diseases, aerobiology

ETTL, GREGORY J * Associate Professor, 2006; MAT, 1989, University of Washington, PhD, 1995, University of Washington; Sustainable forestry; Forest ecology; Silviculture

EWING, KERN * Professor, 1990; MA, 1970, Texas Technological University, MS, 1978, University of Washington, PhD, 1982, University of Washington; wetland plant ecology, restoration ecology, ecosystem management

FARNUM, PETER, Affiliate Professor, 2003; PhD, 1977, University of Washington

FIMBEL, ROBERT ALAN, Affiliate Assistant Professor, 2005; MSC, 1981, Colorado
State University, PhD, 1992, Rutgers University

FORD, E DAVID * Professor, 1985; PhD, 1968, University College, London (UK); forest ecology and ecophysiology, modeling, spatial statistics, philosophy of science, plant structure and function, analysis of ecological systems

FRANKLIN, JERRY F. * Professor, 1986; MS, 1961, Oregon State University, PhD, 1966, Washington State University; forest ecosystem analysis, vegetation patterns, tree mortality in natural landscapes

FRIDLEY, JAMES * Professor, 1988; MS, 1980, Michigan State University, PhD, 1984, University of Washington; forest engineering systems design, interactive computer simulation

FRITSCHEN, LEO J, Professor Emeritus, 1966; MS, 1958, Kansas State University, PhD, 1960, Iowa State University

FULLER, WILLIAM S, Affiliate Associate Professor, 1982; MS, 1967, University of Washington

GALLUCCI, VINCENT * Adjunct Professor, 1972; MS, 1966, State University of New York (Buffalo), PhD, 1971, North Carolina State University; biometrics and population dynamics

GAOLACH, BRADLEY W., Affiliate Assistant Professor, 2003; MS, 1995, North Carolina State University, PhD, 2001, University of Washington

GARA, ROBERT I * Professor Emeritus, 1968; MS, 1962, Oregon State University, PhD, 1964, Oregon State University; bark beetle, forest insect ecology, forest insect behavior, international forestry

GAYALDO, PERRY R, Affiliate Assistant Professor, 2002; MS, 1996, University of Washington, PhD, 2002, University of Washington

GLAWE, DEAN * Affiliate Professor, 2003; MS, 1978, Washington State University, PhD, 1982, Washington State University; Forest pathology; Plant Pathology; Mycology; biology and taxonomy of Erysiphales, Pyrenomycetes, and Deuteromycetes; and taxonomic databases

GAO, DAYONG * Adjunct Professor, 2004; PhD, 1991, Concordia College; Cryopreservation of living cells and tissues; Artificial organs; Biotechnology and Bioinstrumentation

muscle differentiation, intercellular

junctions

NEILS, CHRISTOPHER, Lecturer, 2001; MS, 1998, University of Texas (Austin), PhD, 2000, University of Texas (Austin)

NELSON, ALAN C., Affiliate Associate Professor, 1986; MA, 1976, University of California (Berkeley), PhD, 1980, University of California (Berkeley)

NESTOROV, IVAN ALEXANDROV * Affiliate Professor, 2005; MSC, 1983, Technical University (Bulgaria), PhD, 1990, Academy of Science (U SSR); developing and implementing engineering approaches and mathematical models for integration of pharmacokinetic (PK) and pharmacody-

namic (PD) information during the drug research and development process

NICKERSON, DEBORAH * Adjunct Professor, 1992; PhD, 1978, University of Tennessee; automating the identification and typing of human DNA variations

O’DONNELL, MATTHEW * Professor, 2006; PhD, 1976, University of Notre Dame; An expert in ultrasound imaging; new imaging modalities in biomedicine, including ultrafast optics, in vivo microscopy, catheter imaging of coronary arteries, optoacoustic arrays, and elasticity and molecular imaging

PATHAK, SAYAN DEV * Affiliate Assistant Professor, 2001; MS, 1997, University of Washington, PhD, 2000, University of Washington; Advanced medical image processing algorithms

POLLACK, GERALD H * Professor, 1968; PhD, 1968, University of Pennsylvania; muscular contraction

PUN, SUZIE H * Assistant Professor, 2003; MS, 1998, California Institute of Technology, PhD, 2000, California Institute of Technology; Biomaterials and intracellular trafficking

QIAN, HONG * Adjunct Professor, 1999; PhD, 1989, Washington University; Mathematical, physical chemistry and biology, statistical physics, stochastic mathematics and modeling

RATNER, BUDDY D * Professor, 1972; PhD, 1972, Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn; synthesis and characterization of polymeric biomaterials

RATNER, DANIEL M. * Assistant Professor, 2007; PhD, 2004, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Engineered Biomaterials and Tissue Bioengineering, Molecular Bioengineering and Nanotechnology

REGNIER, MICHAEL * Associate Professor, 1997; MS, 1983, Portland State University, PhD, 1991, University of Southern California; Mechanics, kinetics and computational modeling of cardiac/skeletal muscle contraction

REH, THOMAS A. * Adjunct Professor, 1989; PhD, 1981, University of Wisconsin; regeneration and development of central nervous system

RENEMAN, ROBERT S., Affiliate Professor, 1985; MD, 1959, University of Amsterdam (Netherlands), PhD, 1968, University of Utrecht (Netherlands)

RUBINSTEIN, JAY T. * Professor, 2004; MS, 1983, Brown University, MD, 1987, University of Washington, PhD, 1988, University of Washington

SANDERS, JOAN ELIZABETH * Associate Professor, 1992; MSME, 1985, Northwestern University, PhD, 1991, University of Washington; soft tissue biomechanics and tissue adaptation to mechanical stress

SAURO, HERBERT M * Associate Professor, 2007; MSC, 1982, University of York (UK), PhD, 1986, Oxford University (UK); Computational and Integrative Bioengineering

SCATENA, MARTA * Research Assistant Professor, 2001; PhD, 1992, University of Padova, Italy; To understand how the extracellular matrix regulates the angiogenesis process

SCHENKMAN, KENNETHA, * Adjunct Associate Professor, 1991; MD, 1986, Indiana University; Oxygen transport in tissue Muscle oxygenation Myocardial performance Optical spectroscopy Mitochondrial function

SCHWARTZ, STEPHEN MARK * Adjunct Professor, 1967; MD, 1967, Boston University, PhD, 1973, University of Washington; vascular biology, atherosclerosis, molecular basis of lineage, developmental biology, cell kinetics

SEIBEL, ERIC J. * Adjunct Research Assoc Professor, 1996; MS, 1984, University of California (Berkeley), PhD, 1996, University of Washington; Opto-mechanics and scanning for image acquisition, display and biomedical sensing

SEITNER, PETER DANA, Affiliate Professor, 2000; MS, 1976, North Carolina State University, PhD, 1980, University of Illinois (Urbana)

SHEN, TUENG T * Adjunct Assistant Professor, 2003; PhD, 1994, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, MD, 1997, Harvard University; corneal tissue engineering for the treatment of corneal blindness. She has a particular interest in raising the public awareness of the importance of tissue donation

SHMULEVICH, ILYA * Affiliate Associate Professor, 2006; MS, 1993, Purdue University, PhD, 1997, Purdue University; Computational and systems biology, genomics, bioinformatics; signal and image processing

SPELMAN, FRANCIS A, Professor Emeritus, 1977; MSEE, 1968, University of Washington, PhD, 1975, University of Washington

SPENCER, MERRILL P., Affiliate Associate Professor, 1968; MD, 1945, Baylor College of Medicine

STAYTON, PATRIC * Professor, 1992; MS, 1989, University of Illinois, PhD, 1989, University of Illinois; engineering proteins for biotechnology, biomaterials, and biomedical therapies/diagnostics

TENCER, ALLAN FRED * Adjunct Professor, 1988; MEng, 1973, McGill University (Canada), PhD, 1981, McGill University (Canada); biomechanics of joints, orthopaedic trauma implants, controlled release of substances for bone formation

THOMAS, WENDY * Assistant Professor, 2003; PhD, 2003, University of Washington, MS, 2003, University of Washington; mechanical regulation of protein structure and function

TRASK, BARBARA J * Adjunct Professor, 1992; MS, 1979, Leiden University (The Netherlands), PhD, 1985, Leiden University (The Netherlands); in situ hybridiza-

tion, analytical cytogenetics, analysis of large-scale DNA polymorphism

VAEZY, SHAHRAM * Associate Professor, 1996; PhD, 1991, University of Washington; Therapeutic Ultrasound, Image-Guided Therapy, Three Dimensional Visualization and Computation

VAN DER VUSSE, GER, Affiliate Professor, 1985; MS, 1971, University of Amsterdam (Netherlands), PhD, 1975, Erasmus University (Netherlands)

VERDUGO, PEDRO * Professor Emeritus, 1969; MD, 1965, University of Chile; microimaging, biomechanics, polymer gel physics, laser spectroscopy, cell biology

VESSELLE, HUBERT J. * Adjunct Associate Professor, 1997; MS, 1986, Case Western Reserve University, PhD, 1990.

Oceanography

AAGAARD, KNUT * Professor, 1966; MS, 1964, University of Washington, PhD, 1966, University of Washington; physical oceanography, ocean circulation, arctic oceanography

ALFORD, MATTHEW H. * Affiliate Assistant Professor, 1998; PhD, 1998, Scripps Oceanographic Institution; Internal waves, turbulence, double diffusion and mixing in the ocean

ANDERSON, GEORGE C, Professor Emeritus, 1951; MA, 1949, University of British Columbia (Canada), PhD, 1954, University of Washington; seventeenth- and eighteenth-century European art

ARMBRUST, E. VIRGINIA * Professor, 1996; PhD, 1990, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; molecular ecology, genetic diversity of microbial populations, diatom sexual reproduction orbit, oculoplastics, neuro-ophthalmology

BAKER, EDWARD T, Affiliate Professor, 1973; MS, 1969, University of Washington, PhD, 1973, University of Washington; orbit, oculoplastics, neuro-ophthalmology

BAROSS, JOHN A * Professor, 1984; MA, 1966, San Francisco State, PhD, 1973, University of Washington; microbial oceanography, bacterial ecology

BULLISTER, JOHN L, Affiliate Associate Professor, 1991; MS, 1980, Texas A&M University, PhD, 1984, University of California (San Diego); pharmacy history

BUTTERFIELD, DAVID A., Affiliate Associate Professor, 1997; PhD, 1990, University of Washington

CANNON, GLENN A. * Affiliate Professor, 1969; MA, 1965, Johns Hopkins University, PhD, 1969, Johns Hopkins University; physical oceanography of coastal waters and deep-sea hydrothermal venting

CARPENTER, ROY, Professor Emeritus, 1968; PhD, 1968, University of California (San Diego)

CATTOLICO, ROSE A. * Adjunct Professor, 1975; MA, 1968, Temple University, PhD, 1973, State University of New York (Stony Brook); plastid replication, nucleic acid biochemistry in synchronized unicellular algae

CREAGER, JOE S, Professor Emeritus, 1958; MS, 1953, Texas A&M University, PhD, 1958, Texas A&M University

CRONIN, MEGHAN * Affiliate Associate Professor, 1998; PhD, 1993, University of Rhode Island; Physical oceanography, air-sea interaction, equatorial dynamics

D’ASARO, ERIC A. * Professor, 1980; MS, 1976, Harvard University, PhD, 1980, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; physical oceanography, internal waves, turbulence and mixing processes

DELANEY, JOHN R. * Professor, 1977; MA, 1967, University of Virginia, PhD, 1977, University of Arizona; geological oceanography, origin of oceanic crust, igneous petrology, ideology, policy and health-care systems, cross-cultural health, mental health, nursing

DEMING, JODY W * Professor, 1988; PhD, 1981, University of Maryland; evolution and ecology of marine bacteria in the pressurized ocean

DEVOL, ALLAN H * Professor, 1974; PhD, 1975, University of Washington; biogeochemistry, sediment diagenesis, anoxic systems, carbon fluxes

DUSHAW, BRIAN D. * Affiliate Assistant Professor, 1999; MA, 1985, University of California (Davis), PhD, 1992, Scripps Oceanographic Institution; Measurement of large-scale temperature and current by ocean acoustic tomography, e.g., waves and climate change

DUXBURY, ALYN C, Associate Professor Emeritus, 1963; MS, 1956, University of Washington, PhD, 1963, Texas A&M University

EMERSON, STEVEN R. * Professor, 1976; MPhil, 1973, Columbia University, PhD, 1974, Columbia University; marine geochemistry, chemical oceanography, sediment diagenesis

ERIKSEN, CHARLES C * Professor, 1986; PhD, 1977, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; experimental physical oceanography; equatorial and upper ocean dynamics, internal waves

EWART, TERRY E, Professor Emeritus, 1959; PhD, 1965, University of Washington

FEELY, RICHARD A. * Affiliate Professor, 1974; MS, 1971, Texas A&M University, PhD, 1974, Texas A&M University; chemical oceanography, oceanic sources and sinks for carbon dioxide

FROST, BRUCE W * Professor Emeritus, 1969; PhD, 1969, University of California (San Diego); biological oceanography, marine zoogeography, plankton ecology and systematics
NELSON, BRUCE K. * Adjunct Professor, 1986; MS, 1980, University of Kansas, PhD, 1985, University of California (Los Angeles); isotopic and geochemical investigations

NEWTON, JAN A. * Affiliate Assistant Professor, 1992; MS, 1984, University of Washington, PhD, 1989, University of Washington; Biological oceanography, coastal and estuarine dynamics, climate and human impacts on water quality

NITTROUER, CHARLES * Professor, 1978; MS, 1974, University of Washington, PhD, 1978, University of Washington; geological oceanography, continental-margin sedimentation medical genetics

NOWELL, ARTHUR R * Professor, 1978; MA, 1971, University of British Columbia (Canada), PhD, 1975, University of British Columbia (Canada); physical oceanography, turbulent boundary layer dynamics, sediment transport

NYSTUEN, JEFFREY A. * Affiliate Associate Professor, 1999; PhD, 1985, University of California (San Diego); Acoustical oceanography - passive monitoring of ambient sound in the ocean Physical oceanography experimental ecology, organization and structure of marine communities

OGSTON, ANDREA S * Associate Professor, 1997; MS, 1993, University of Washington, PhD, 1997, University of Washington; Interaction between geological and physical oceanography of the coastal ocean; sediment transport processes in marine environments from surf zone to continental slope; instrument development. experimental ecology, organization and structure of marine communities

OLTMAN-SHAY, JOAN M. Affiliate Associate Professor, 1991; MS, 1980, Scripps Oceanographic Institution, PhD, 1986, Scripps Oceanographic Institution

PARSONS, JEFFREY D * Affiliate Assistant Professor, 2000; MSCE, 1995, University of Illinois (Urbana), PhD, 1998, University of Illinois (Urbana); Sediment dynamics, environmental fluid mechanics, submarine and Martian morphology

PERRY, MARY J., Affiliate Professor, 1976; PhD, 1974, University of California (San Diego)

PRATT, THOMAS L. * Affiliate Professor, 2003; MS, 1982, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, PhD, 1986, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University; Earthquake hazards, active fault structures, seismic imaging

QUAY, PAUL D * Professor, 1977; MPhil, 1975, Columbia University, PhD, 1977, Columbia University; chemical oceanography, stable isotope geochemistry, ocean tracers and mixing

RATTRAY, MAURICE, Professor Emeritus, 1950; MS, 1947, California Institute of Technology, PhD, 1951, California Institute of Technology; metabolism and endocrinology, diabetes

RESING, JOSEPH A., Affiliate Assistant Professor, 2001; MS, 1992, University of Hawaii, PhD, 1997, University of Hawaii

RICHARDSON, STEPHEN C * Associate Professor, 1999; MS, 1996, California Institute of Technology, PhD, 1997, Cambridge University (UK); the circulation of the oceans and evolution of climate

FENG, ZIDING * Affiliate Professor, 1990; MS, 1985, Cornell University, PhD, 1990, Cornell University; correlated data methods, mixture models, cancer prevention

FISHER, LLOYD D. Professor Emeritus, 1966; MA, 1965, Dartmouth College, PhD, 1966, Dartmouth College

FLEMING, THOMAS RICHARD * Professor, 1984; MA, 1974, University of Maryland, PhD, 1976, University of Maryland; survival analysis, cancer clinical trials, AIDS research, sequential analysis

FLEMMING, T. RICHARD * Professor, 2002; MS, 1994, University of Washington, PhD, 1996, University of Washington; HIV vaccine trials and statistical methods for HIV studies

GOOLEY, THEODORE A. * Affiliate Professor, 1993; PhD, 1990, University of Arizona; Design and analysis of clinical trials

HALLORAN, M. ELIZABETH * Professor, 2006; MD, 1983, Freie University of Berlin (Germany), MPH, 1985, Harvard University, DSc, 1989, Harvard University

HALLSTROM, ALFRED * Professor, 1969; MSC, 1961, Brown University, PhD, 1968, Brown University; clinical trial methodologies in cardiovascular research and emergency medical services applications

HANEUSE, SEBASTIEN * Affiliate Assistant Professor, 2006; MS, 1998, Northern Arizona University, PhD, 2004, University of Washington; Bayesian statistics, Bayesian non-parametrics, epidemiological study design, spatial statistics, multi-stage modeling, repeated measures analysis

HEAGERTY, PATRICK J. * Professor, 1995; MS, 1991, State University of New York (Albany), PhD, 1995, Johns Hopkins University; longitudinal and dependent data analysis

HOERING, ANGIE, Affiliate Assistant Professor, 1991; MA, 1988, Oregon State University, PhD, 1991, University of Heidelberg (Germany)

HUFF, PETER D * Associate Professor, 2000; MS, 1994, University of Wisconsin, PhD, 2000, University of Wisconsin; Nonparametric Bayesian methods, mixture models, two-sided matching models

HUGHES, JAMES P * Professor, 1993; MS, 1987, University of Oregon, PhD, 1990, University of Oregon; Mathematical and statistical modeling of biological process data, with specific interest in models using systems of differential equations, stochastic processes and associated statistical methods such as nonlinear random effects models

HUANG, YIJIAN * Affiliate Associate Professor, 1997; MS, 1994, University of Minnesota, PhD, 1997, University of Minnesota; Censored Outcomes, Contaminated Covariates, and Applications to Clinical Research

HUGUES, JAMES P * Professor, 1993; MS, 1980, University of Washington, PhD, 1993, University of Washington; Statistical methods in STD/AIDS research, longitudinal methods, Markov models

KERR, KATHLEEN F. * Associate Professor, 2001; MA, 1994, University of Southern California, MS, 1998, University of Southern California, PhD, 1999, University of Southern California; Statistical analysis of genomic data, experimental design
KOOPERBERG, CHARLES L * Affiliate Professor, 1991; MA, 1985, Delft University of Technology (Netherlands), PhD, 1991, University of California (Berkeley); statistical methods in chronic disease epidemiology, nonparametric density estimation, computer algorithms, cardiovascular data analysis

KOPECKY, KENNETH J * Affiliate Professor, 1977; MS, 1975, Oregon State University, PhD, 1977, Oregon State University; Clinical trials design and analysis, survival data analysis, epidemiologic methodology, radiation epidemiology, biomedical and cancer-related applications

KRONMAL, RICHARD A * Professor, 1964; PhD, 1964, University of California (Los Angeles); nonparametric density estimation, computer algorithms, cardiovascular disease analysis

LE BLANC, MICHAEL * Research Professor, 1989; MA, 1984, University of Waterloo (Canada), PhD, 1989, University of Washington; Tree-based methods for regression and exploratory survival analysis. Development and application of adaptive regression and classification techniques

LEISENRING, WENDY M. * Affiliate Associate Professor, 1992; MS, 1990, Harvard University, DSc, 1992, Harvard University; Design and analysis of clinical trials, statistical methods for diagnostic tests, oncology, reproductive epidemiology

LEROUX, BRIAN * Associate Professor, 1991; MSC, 1985, University of British Columbia (Canada), PhD, 1989, University of British Columbia (Canada); random effect models, stochastic processes, dental research, toxicology

LONGINI, IRA M. * Professor, 2006; MA, 1984, University of Minnesota; Survival analysis; medical decision making, correlated data methods, child health issues

LU, I-LI, Affiliate Assistant Professor, 2008; MA, 1987, University of Virginia, PhD, 1991, University of Virginia

LUEBECK, GEORG, Affiliate Associate Professor, 2007; MS, 1983, University of Washington, PhD, 1986, University of Washington

LUMLEY, THOMAS S. * Associate Professor, 1998; MSC, 1994, University of Oxford (UK), PhD, 1998, University of Washington; statistical methods applied to public health, medicine and environmental science

MANCL, LLOYD A. * Adjunct Research Assoc Professor, 1992; MS, 1988, University of Washington, PhD, 1992, University of Washington; statistical methodology in periodontal disease and TMD research

MASSE, BENOIT R., Affiliate Assistant Professor, 2003; MS, 1988, University of Montreal (Canada), PhD, 1993, University of North Carolina

MCKNIGHT, BARBARA * Professor, 1981; MS, 1979, University of Wisconsin, PhD, 1981, University of Wisconsin; Statistical methods in chronic disease epidemiology, human genetics and animal carcinogenicity testing; survival analysis

MIGLIORETTI, DIANA LYNN * Affiliate Associate Professor, 2000; MS, 1996, Johns Hopkins University, PhD, 2000, Johns Hopkins University; Research Interests: latent class models, hierarchical models, longitudinal and clustered data analysis, diagnostic testing

MOOLGAJKAR, SURESH H. * Adjunct Professor, 1982; MBBS, 1966, University of Bombay, PhD, 1973, Johns Hopkins University; cancer epidemiology, development of quantitative methodology

NELSON, JENNIFER L. * Affiliate Assistant Professor, 2004; MS, 1996, University of Washington, PhD, 1999, University of Washington; statistical methods for measuring agreement; cardiovascular and infectious disease epidemiology

NICHOL, GRAHAM, Adjunct Professor, 2004; MD, 1988, University of Western Ontario (Canada), MPH, 1995, Harvard University

PEPE, MARGARET * Professor, 1987; MS, 1984, University of Washington, PhD, 1986, University of Washington; survival analysis, medical decision making, correlated data methods, child health issues

PETERTON, ARTHUR V * Professor, 1975; MS, 1971, Stanford University, PhD, 1975, Stanford University; survival data methodology, competing risks, design of disease prevention trials

POLISSAR, NAYAK LINCOLN * Affiliate Associate Professor, 1974; MA, 1968, Princeton University, PhD, 1974, Princeton University; Statistical consulting, community surveys, clinical trials, demography, epidemiology, statistics in law and environmental issues

PRENTICE, ROSS L. * Professor, 1974; MSC, 1968, University of Toronto (Canada), PhD, 1970, University of Toronto (Canada); failure time analysis, disease prevention trials, epidemiologic methods, dietary factors and disease

QIN, LI, Affiliate Assistant Professor, 2005; PhD, 2004, University of Pennsylvania

RICE, KENNETH M. * Assistant Professor, 2004; PhD, 2002, Cambridge University (UK); Biostatistics, linking Bayesian and classical methods, cardiovascular disease, genetics, fMRI

RICHARDS, BARBARA * Research Associate Professor, 1993; MS, 1989, University of California (Los Angeles), PhD, 1993, University of California (Los Angeles); statistical methods for data from AIDS/STD clinical trials

RUTTER, CAROLYN * Affiliate Associate Professor, 1996; MS, 1988, University of California (Los Angeles), PhD, 1991, University of California (Los Angeles); evaluation of diagnostic tests, ROC curve analysis & correlated data problems

SCHADT, ERIC E., Affiliate Associate Professor, 2006; MA, 1993, University of California (Davis), PhD, 2001, University of California (Los Angeles)

SELF, STEVEN G * Professor, 1984; MS, 1977, California State University, Long Beach, PhD, 1981, University of Washington; longitudinal data analysis, survival time models, cancer prevention, HIV vaccine evaluation

SHEPPARD, ELIZABETHA. * Research Associate Professor, 1993; MSC, 1985, Johns Hopkins University, PhD, 1992, University of Washington; aggregate data, survival analysis, biostatistical methods in environmental health

STOREY, BARRY E. * Affiliate Professor, 1996; MA, 1977, University of Montana, PhD, 1984, University of Washington; statistical methods in clinical trials and epidemiology

STOREY, JOHN D * Affiliate Associate Professor, 2003; PhD, 2002, Stanford University; Statistical and computational methods for genomics and molecular biology

TANG, HUA, Affiliate Assistant Professor, 2004; PhD, 2002, Stanford University

TANGEN, CATHERINE M. * Affiliate Associate Professor, 2002; MS, 1990, University of North Carolina, PhD, 1997, University of North Carolina; randomized clinical trials; genitourinary cancer; nonparametric analysis of covariance

TEMKIN, NANCY R. * Professor, 1977; MS, 1971, University of Connecticut, PhD, 1976, State University of New York (Buffalo); clinical trials, recovery models, statistical modeling of epileptic phenomena, survival analysis

THOMPSON, ELIZABETHA. * Adjunct Professor, 1985; PhD, 1974, Cambridge University (UK), MA, 1974, University of Cambridge (UK); statistical analysis of human genetic data, statistics of conservation and computational biology

THOMPSON, MARY LOU * Research Professor, 1985; PhD, 1979, University of Washington; diagnostic methods and reference ranges with particular application to environmental and maternal and child health

THORQUINST, MARK DANIEL * Affiliate Associate Professor, 1985; MA, 1978, University of Wisconsin (Madison), MS, 1982, University of Wisconsin (Madison), PhD, 1985, University of Wisconsin (Madison); Ordinal response, repeated measures data, categorical response, chemoprevention trials, group randomized trials

VAN BELLE, GERALD * Professor Emeritus, 1974; MA, 1964, University of Toronto (Canada), PhD, 1967, University of Toronto (Canada); biostatistics, environmental risk factors for neurodegenerative diseases, risk communication

WAHL, PATRICIA W * Professor, 1971; PhD, 1971, University of Washington; multivariate statistical techniques, especially regression analysis applied to cardiovascular data

WAKEFIELD, JONATHAN C * Professor, 1959; PhD, 1992, University of Nottingham (UK); Epidemiological methods, pharmacokinetic/pharmacodynamic models, Bayesian methods, biostatistical methods

WANG, CHING-YUN * Affiliate Professor, 1993; MS, 1985, National Taiwan University, PhD, 1993, Texas A&M University; case-control study, missing data, measurement error, kernel smoothing
