Indigenous Confluences publishes innovative works that use decolonizing perspectives and transnational approaches to explore the Indigenous experiences of North America, with special emphasis on the Pacific Coast.

SERIES EDITORS: Charlotte Coté, Matthew Sakiestewa Gilbert, and Coll Thrush

ANNOUNCING A NEW BOOK SERIES

Indigenous Confluences

“Driven by oral history interviews and in-depth research, Clifford E. Trafzer, a senior Indigenous scholar is at his best in masterly historicizing the Chemehuevi Way, connecting people and the past in rhythm with nature. This holistic approach is a luminous model for understanding the longue durée of native peoples.”—Donald L. Fixico, (Sac and Fox, Shawnee, Muscogee Creek and Seminole) Distinguished Foundation Professor of History, Arizona State University

A CHEMehUEVI SONG
The Resilience of a Southern Paiute Tribe
CLIFFORD E. TRAFZER
FOREWORD BY LARRY MYERS

$45.00 HARDCOVER, 9780295994581

“Gram offers a highly engaging account of Pueblo Indian students and their experiences at the Albuquerque and Santa Fe Indian schools. His book reveals an intense power dynamic between parents, school officials, the Catholic church, and the students themselves. No other single scholarly work interrogates the ways Pueblo students and their tribal communities experienced these institutions.”—Matthew Sakiestewa Gilbert, author of Education beyond the Mesas: Hopi Students at Sherman Institute, 1902–1929

EDUCATION AT THE EDGE OF EMPIRE
Negotiating Pueblo Identity in New Mexico’s Indian Boarding Schools
JOHN R. GRAM

SYMBOLIC IMMORTALITY
The Tlingit Potlatch of the Nineteenth Century, Second Edition
SERGEI KAN

“A sensitive and comprehensive study of the mortuary complex among the Tlingit Indians of southeastern Alaska. . . . This book will become one of the few classics in the literature of the North Pacific Coast.”—American Indian Quarterly

$40.00 PAPERBACK, 9780295994895

BEING COWLITZ
How One Tribe Renewed and Sustained Its Identity
CHRISTINE DUPRES

Interview and profiles of tribal leaders reveal the narrative and rhetorical strategies that protect and preserve the memory and culture of the tribe. Being Cowlitz offers a blueprint for cultural preservation that current and future Cowlitz tribal leaders—as well as other Indigenous activists—can use to keep tribal memories alive.

“In this one-of-a-kind first-person account Ruth Kirk gives us a long awaited behind the scenes look at one of the most important archaeological finds in the Northwest. From the wonder of the unfolding discovery, including photographs from the dig, to the special relationship that developed with the Makah people as their village at Ozette was revealed, Kirk’s account is a unique gift to readers and to history.” —Lynda Mapes, author of Breaking Ground

120 PP., 90 ILLUS., 70 IN COLOR, 2 MAPS, 8 X 10 IN. $34.95 PAPERBACK, 9780295994628

Bill Holm is the world’s leading authority on the art of the Northwest Coast Indians, and his classic introduction to its fundamental principles is now available in full color in this 50th anniversary edition.

“The drawings, together with suitable photographs and a beautiful format, combine into a masterpiece of printer’s art.” —Art Journal

The first silent feature film with an “all Indian” cast and a surviving original orchestral score, Edward S. Curtis’s 1914 In the Land of the Head Hunters was a landmark of early cinema. In recognition of the film’s centennial and the release of a restored version, this volume offers accounts of its production and circulation, depiction of cultural practices, and Kwakwaka’wakw perspectives on the film.

392 PP., 113 ILLUS., 16 IN COLOR, 7 X 10 IN. $50.00 HARDCOVER, 9780295993447

“This is a densely packed volume, and a corrective to many long-held assumptions about how people who lived (and still live) on the lower Columbia ate, traded, organized their families, and traveled. Chinookan Peoples of the Lower Columbia is a masterful piece of scholarship. . . . A new essential, and will be welcomed by anyone interested in a deeper, more nuanced exploration of our region’s Native history.” —HistoryLink
