THANK YOU FOR YOUR SUPPORT!

We thank you, our donors and supporters, for your commitment to scholarship and the literary arts. By making generous gifts, underwriting book series, and establishing endowments and other funds, you keep UW Press thriving at the University of Washington, creating a world of good.

Your support makes it possible for UW Press to publish more than 60 new books a year, adding to our collection of more than 1,200 titles. We produce two catalogs a year, offering selections that will inspire you to explore and discover—from hiking in the Northwest to tales of Asia and the Arctic.

As a donor you will be recognized in our materials and on our website, and you will be invited to special events throughout the year.

“UW Press books tell the story of who we are by where we’ve been.”

—RICK SIMONSON, The Elliott Bay Book Company

HOW THE PRESS IS FUNDED

Your gift amplifies the intellectual life of our region.

THE IMPACT OF ENDOWMENTS

Endowments to support book series have incredible impact. For example, Weyerhaeuser Environmental Books is the leading series in environmental history in the nation—with more than 60 books published and 130,300 copies sold worldwide.

The Northwest Writers Fund supports the work of some of the region’s most talented nonfiction writers.

HOW TO FUND BOOKS AT THE PRESS

Donors can choose to support the operations of the press or focus on a selected area of interest. Here are some examples:

• With a seed gift of $5,000 donors can receive naming recognition in a new publication.
• A direct-use gift of $50,000 can support a named series of five books.
• With a commitment of $250,000 your gift can support an ongoing series of books.
• Leave a legacy with a planned gift of any amount to the press.

We invite support at all levels. Every gift helps make another great book possible.
