The Evolution of Moscow's China Policy

Anatoly Dobrynin arrived in Washington in 1962 – at age 43 the youngest man ever to serve as Soviet Ambassador to the United States – and remained through the 1980s. In this perceptive and arresting analysis, Robin Cohen tells the dramatic events of those two decades, focusing on Moscow's foreign policy toward China. In the early 1960s, after the Sino-Soviet split, Moscow sought to strengthen its position in Asia, which led to a policy of détente with China, the establishment of the Shanghai Cooperation Organization (SCO), and the conclusion of the Sino-Soviet Treaty of Friendship and Cooperation. These policies were based on the premise that China, as a major power, could be used as a counterweight to the United States, and that China's economic development could be used to benefit Soviet interests. However, this policy ultimately failed and led to the Sino-Soviet split.

Sedlar's study is the first in English to deal as a whole with the theme of the Cold War as a whole, the military and political aspects of the confrontation, and the role of the United States in the conflict. It provides an extensive and detailed account of the various aspects of the Cold War, including the political, military, and economic aspects, and draws on a wide range of primary and secondary sources. It is a valuable contribution to the study of the Cold War and its impact on the world order.

In this collection of 30 superb essays, Gordon A. Craig, Daniel Z. Stone, and Richard Teleky present the most important and recent historical works on the topic of East Central Europe. The essays are divided into three parts: The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1944–1949; The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1945–1956; and The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1956–1989. The essays are written by leading historians of East Central Europe and provide a comprehensive overview of the regime establishment process.

Parliament against Soviet tanks. His autobiography and Scholarship 2000. 400 pp., notes, index

Robin Cohen takes us, with stylistic clarity and scholarly self-control, into a startlingly new and challenging landscape of Jewish history and history writing.

Imagining Russian Jewry

M. Holt Ruffin

The Autobiography of Vytautas Landsbergis

In this collection of 30 superb essays, Gordon A. Craig, Daniel Z. Stone, and Richard Teleky present the most important and recent historical works on the topic of East Central Europe. The essays are divided into three parts: The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1944–1949; The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1945–1956; and The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1956–1989. The essays are written by leading historians of East Central Europe and provide a comprehensive overview of the regime establishment process.

Parliament against Soviet tanks. His autobiography and Scholarship 2000. 400 pp., notes, index

Robin Cohen takes us, with stylistic clarity and scholarly self-control, into a startlingly new and challenging landscape of Jewish history and history writing.

Imagining Russian Jewry

M. Holt Ruffin

The Autobiography of Vytautas Landsbergis

In this collection of 30 superb essays, Gordon A. Craig, Daniel Z. Stone, and Richard Teleky present the most important and recent historical works on the topic of East Central Europe. The essays are divided into three parts: The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1944–1949; The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1945–1956; and The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1956–1989. The essays are written by leading historians of East Central Europe and provide a comprehensive overview of the regime establishment process.

Parliament against Soviet tanks. His autobiography and Scholarship 2000. 400 pp., notes, index

Robin Cohen takes us, with stylistic clarity and scholarly self-control, into a startlingly new and challenging landscape of Jewish history and history writing.

Imagining Russian Jewry

M. Holt Ruffin

The Autobiography of Vytautas Landsbergis

In this collection of 30 superb essays, Gordon A. Craig, Daniel Z. Stone, and Richard Teleky present the most important and recent historical works on the topic of East Central Europe. The essays are divided into three parts: The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1944–1949; The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1945–1956; and The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1956–1989. The essays are written by leading historians of East Central Europe and provide a comprehensive overview of the regime establishment process.

Parliament against Soviet tanks. His autobiography and Scholarship 2000. 400 pp., notes, index

Robin Cohen takes us, with stylistic clarity and scholarly self-control, into a startlingly new and challenging landscape of Jewish history and history writing.

Imagining Russian Jewry

M. Holt Ruffin

The Autobiography of Vytautas Landsbergis

In this collection of 30 superb essays, Gordon A. Craig, Daniel Z. Stone, and Richard Teleky present the most important and recent historical works on the topic of East Central Europe. The essays are divided into three parts: The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1944–1949; The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1945–1956; and The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1956–1989. The essays are written by leading historians of East Central Europe and provide a comprehensive overview of the regime establishment process.

Parliament against Soviet tanks. His autobiography and Scholarship 2000. 400 pp., notes, index

Robin Cohen takes us, with stylistic clarity and scholarly self-control, into a startlingly new and challenging landscape of Jewish history and history writing.

Imagining Russian Jewry

M. Holt Ruffin

The Autobiography of Vytautas Landsbergis

In this collection of 30 superb essays, Gordon A. Craig, Daniel Z. Stone, and Richard Teleky present the most important and recent historical works on the topic of East Central Europe. The essays are divided into three parts: The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1944–1949; The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1945–1956; and The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1956–1989. The essays are written by leading historians of East Central Europe and provide a comprehensive overview of the regime establishment process.

Parliament against Soviet tanks. His autobiography and Scholarship 2000. 400 pp., notes, index

Robin Cohen takes us, with stylistic clarity and scholarly self-control, into a startlingly new and challenging landscape of Jewish history and history writing.

Imagining Russian Jewry

M. Holt Ruffin

The Autobiography of Vytautas Landsbergis

In this collection of 30 superb essays, Gordon A. Craig, Daniel Z. Stone, and Richard Teleky present the most important and recent historical works on the topic of East Central Europe. The essays are divided into three parts: The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1944–1949; The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1945–1956; and The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1956–1989. The essays are written by leading historians of East Central Europe and provide a comprehensive overview of the regime establishment process.

Parliament against Soviet tanks. His autobiography and Scholarship 2000. 400 pp., notes, index

Robin Cohen takes us, with stylistic clarity and scholarly self-control, into a startlingly new and challenging landscape of Jewish history and history writing.

Imagining Russian Jewry

M. Holt Ruffin

The Autobiography of Vytautas Landsbergis

In this collection of 30 superb essays, Gordon A. Craig, Daniel Z. Stone, and Richard Teleky present the most important and recent historical works on the topic of East Central Europe. The essays are divided into three parts: The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1944–1949; The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1945–1956; and The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1956–1989. The essays are written by leading historians of East Central Europe and provide a comprehensive overview of the regime establishment process.

Parliament against Soviet tanks. His autobiography and Scholarship 2000. 400 pp., notes, index

Robin Cohen takes us, with stylistic clarity and scholarly self-control, into a startlingly new and challenging landscape of Jewish history and history writing.

Imagining Russian Jewry

M. Holt Ruffin

The Autobiography of Vytautas Landsbergis

In this collection of 30 superb essays, Gordon A. Craig, Daniel Z. Stone, and Richard Teleky present the most important and recent historical works on the topic of East Central Europe. The essays are divided into three parts: The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1944–1949; The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1945–1956; and The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1956–1989. The essays are written by leading historians of East Central Europe and provide a comprehensive overview of the regime establishment process.

Parliament against Soviet tanks. His autobiography and Scholarship 2000. 400 pp., notes, index

Robin Cohen takes us, with stylistic clarity and scholarly self-control, into a startlingly new and challenging landscape of Jewish history and history writing.

Imagining Russian Jewry

M. Holt Ruffin

The Autobiography of Vytautas Landsbergis

In this collection of 30 superb essays, Gordon A. Craig, Daniel Z. Stone, and Richard Teleky present the most important and recent historical works on the topic of East Central Europe. The essays are divided into three parts: The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1944–1949; The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1945–1956; and The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1956–1989. The essays are written by leading historians of East Central Europe and provide a comprehensive overview of the regime establishment process.

Parliament against Soviet tanks. His autobiography and Scholarship 2000. 400 pp., notes, index

Robin Cohen takes us, with stylistic clarity and scholarly self-control, into a startlingly new and challenging landscape of Jewish history and history writing.

Imagining Russian Jewry

M. Holt Ruffin

The Autobiography of Vytautas Landsbergis

In this collection of 30 superb essays, Gordon A. Craig, Daniel Z. Stone, and Richard Teleky present the most important and recent historical works on the topic of East Central Europe. The essays are divided into three parts: The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1944–1949; The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1945–1956; and The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1956–1989. The essays are written by leading historians of East Central Europe and provide a comprehensive overview of the regime establishment process.

Parliament against Soviet tanks. His autobiography and Scholarship 2000. 400 pp., notes, index

Robin Cohen takes us, with stylistic clarity and scholarly self-control, into a startlingly new and challenging landscape of Jewish history and history writing.

Imagining Russian Jewry

M. Holt Ruffin

The Autobiography of Vytautas Landsbergis

In this collection of 30 superb essays, Gordon A. Craig, Daniel Z. Stone, and Richard Teleky present the most important and recent historical works on the topic of East Central Europe. The essays are divided into three parts: The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1944–1949; The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1945–1956; and The Establishment of the Communist Regimes, 1956–1989. The essays are written by leading historians of East Central Europe and provide a comprehensive overview of the regime establishment process.

Parliament against Soviet tanks. His autobiography and Scholarship 2000. 400 pp., notes, index

Robin Cohen takes us, with stylistic clarity and scholarly self-control, into a startlingly new and challenging landscape of Jewish history and history writing.