Bringing Indians to the Book
Albert Furtwangler

A perceptive and ironic examination of the experiences of the resolutely literate early missionaries to the Northwest Coast Indians, and the explorers who preceded them, as they attempted to change people who for thousands of years had passed on their memories, learning, and values through spoken word and song.

Emil and Kathleen Sick Lecture-Book Series in Western History and Biography

2005. 232 pp., 10 illus., map, notes, bibliog., index

0-295-98523-2  Paper, $22.50

Death of Celilo Falls
Katrine Barber

For thousands of years, Pacific Northwest Indians gathered at Celilo Falls on the Columbia River. Barber examines the negotiations and controversies that took place during the planning and construction of the Dalles Dam in 1957 and the profound impact of the project on both the Indian community of Celilo Village and the non-Indian town of The Dalles.

Vigilante Newspapers
A Tale of Sex, Religion, and Murder in the Northwest

Gerald J. Baldasty

This riveting work of social history documents the role the news media played in spurring the murder of Edmund Creffield, a charismatic “Holy Roller” evangelist who in 1903 enraged the citizenry of Oregon and Washington—and eventually the whole country—by defiantly challenging the religious and sexual mores of the time.

2005. 192 pp., 20 illus., notes, bibliog., index

0-295-98529-1  Paper, $22.50

When the River Ran Wild!
Indian Traditions on the Mid-Columbia and the Warm Springs Reservation

George W. Aguilar Sr.

*Intro*duced by Jarold Ramsey

In this remarkable personal memoir and tribal history, Aguilar tells about his people, the Kiksht-speaking Eastern Chinookans, who lived and worked for centuries connected to the rhythms and resources of the great fishing grounds of the Columbia River.

A Samuel and Althea Stroum Book Pub. with Oregon Historical Society Press

2005. 272 pp., 120 illus., notes, index

0-295-98484-8  Paper, $22.50

Nikkei in the Pacific Northwest
Japanese Americans and Japanese Canadians in the Twentieth Century

Edited by Louis Fiset and Gail M. Nomura

Comprised of all-new research, this is the first anthology to highlight the contributions and histories of Nikkei within the entire Pacific Northwest, including British Columbia. It focuses on the theme of resistance to political, cultural, and legal discrimination.

0-295-98461-9  Paper, $25.00

Keeping It Living
Traditions of Plant Use and Cultivation on the Northwest Coast of North America

Edited by Douglas Deur and Nancy Turner

This book is the first comprehensive overview of how Northwest Coast Native Americans—from the Oregon coast to Southeast Alaska—managed the landscape and cared for the plant communities on which they depended.

2005. 384 pp., 42 illus., 16 tables, bibliog., index

0-295-98512-7  Cloth, $50.00

Paddling to Where I Stand
Agnes Alfred, Qwiqwasutinuxw Noblewoman

Edited by Martine J. Reid

Translated by Daisy Sewid-Smith

Presents the memoirs of Agnes Alfred (c. 1890–1992), a non-literate noble Qwiqwasutinuxw woman of the Kwakwaka’wakw Nation and one of the last great storytellers among her peers in the classic oral tradition.

Beaten Down
A History of Interpersonal Violence in the West
David Peterson del Mar
“The author examines violence in terms of one individual's seeking to assert superiority over another—a power struggle that reflects deep-seated cultural attitudes. This work concentrates on the Pacific Northwest and ranges from Native American cultures and the first European encounters to the early 20th century…. A fascinating examination of a heretofore largely overlooked topic.” – Library Journal 2002. 312 pp., notes, biblog., index
