Nature of Organization

Duties and Responsibilities

The LIFE Center research team led by Drs. John Bransford and Nancy Vye at the UW College of Education is seeking support for a research project about elementary students science learning. The student assistant will work collaboratively with Graduate Research Assistant, Kari Shutt, to assist with data entry, processing of video tapes, and content logging and transcription.

Minimum Qualifications

We seek someone who is responsible, attentive to details, able to work collaboratively with others, and able to work independently as needed. Must be available to maintain a regular weekly work schedule (approximately 10 hours per week). Must be comfortable working with video equipment and computers. An interest in science learning is preferred but not required.

Educational Benefits

This position offers a great opportunity for students who are interested in gaining experience working in a research setting.
